PREFACE.

This work revises Remington and Ballinger's Annotated Codes and Statutes of Washington published in 1910, and the Supplementary Pony Code known as Remington's 1915 Code. It embraces all laws of a general nature now in force, including those passed at the regular biennial Session of 1921.

In this state, the well-known policy of the courts to sustain the most general titles to acts has minimized the importance of legislative titles and has encouraged the legislature to embrace in one act various matters but slightly related—matters which naturally fall under different familiar legal titles, or different chapters of a given title. To republish these disarranged acts as they appear in the session laws is to offer a mere "reprint," and not a book of "compiled statutes."

On the other hand, the legislature, from the first Territorial Session in 1854 to the present time, following the universal system so familiar to all lawyers, has, from time to time, enacted Codes of Procedure (Civil, Probate, Justice and Criminal) constituting logically and harmoniously arranged "compiled laws." To disarrange the subject matter contained in such practice acts and to mix and confuse it with laws of a general nature, the various parts of which are already confused and disarranged, upon any alphabetical or other arbitrary classification, can result only in confusion worse confounded.

The primary aim, therefore, of this compilation has been to arrange systematically all those acts and parts of acts which the legislature has not properly arranged, and to leave undisturbed all those more general acts which the legislature has harmoniously arranged to the entire satisfaction of the profession and the public.

It is, therefore, obvious that the laws of the state must be generally divided, as they have ever been in all other states, into two parts. The first part, embraced in Volume I of this work, includes the Codes of Procedure: Civil, Probate, Justice and Criminal; and the logical and systematic arrangement of those acts made by the legislature, now familiar and acceptable to all, cannot be improved upon or safely departed from.

This has enabled me, in Volume I of this work, to make use, for the most part, of the section numbers employed in Remington and Ballinger's Annotated Codes and Statutes (1910) and Remington's 1915 Code. The advantage of so doing will be apparent from the perusal of the latest sixty-odd volumes of our State Reports. The pages of these volumes are replete with citations to these practice Codes, as heretofore compiled in my former works; and by retaining the same section numbers, so far as possible, the future citations of the practice acts of this state will continue, and tie to, the past citations, from Volume 57, Washington Reports, down to date.

It should be carefully noted, in this connection, that this does not apply to the new Probate Code, which the legislature completely rewrote in 1917, condensing into 223 sections the subject matter contained in some 380 sections of the old Probate Code. This new Probate Code is inserted in this work in place of sections 1371 to 1692 of the old Probate Code, which, together with sections 1278 to 1340 of the old Probate Code, were repealed, and are dropped out of this work. This leaves the chapters on Descent and Distribution, sections 1341 to 1370, as they were before, and gives to Volume I of this work (the practice acts) the same section numbers as before, with the exception of the Probate Code and a few other scattering sections of no moment.

The appendix to Remington and Ballinger's Code (sections 2722 to 2991), relating to prosecutions under former laws, has, by lapse of time, lost further significance; and, together with all other repealed laws has been dropped out.

The second part of this work, embraced in Volume II and III, constitutes all the laws of a general nature outside of the four general practice acts. The reception accorded my former compilations of these general laws leaves open to me no other course than to adopt the classification which has proved so satisfactory to the bar and to the public, and which is now more or less familiar to all.

Recognizing some of the difficulties at the time I made my first compilation of the laws of the state, I conceived the idea of minimizing the inconvenience of turning from one part of the work to another distant part in the search for a given statute by the employment of the most general titles possible, with a full preliminary table of contents thereof. In my judgment the greatest mistake a compiler can make is to employ many specific heads, little known or used, such as are, properly, chapters or subdivisions of related matters; for this only serves to scatter, to all the letters of the alphabet, under new, unfamiliar heads, subject matter which every lawyer recognizes as belonging to some well-known legal topic to which he should always be able to turn without disappointment. The few familiar heads necessary can be easily memorized. The prefixed table of contents of each title shows at a glance what the title contains, and the exact location of the particular part desired; and it is only in this way that closely related subjects may be brought together for quick and ready reference from one part to another.

Continuing the consecutive numbering through to the end of the work, the General Laws, Volume II, starts with section 2723, and all the numbers are new, with the exception of those of the Negotiable Instrument Act, which I was able so to place as to use the old numbers of the former Codes, consistently cited in the State Reports since Volume 57 Washington. In the case of all other sections formerly embraced in Remington and Ballinger's, or Remington's, Codes, the old numbers of these compilations appear in brackets in the section headlines. An asterisk indicates that the section has since been amended. This will be a convenience in the use of the Washington State Reports, Volume 57 to date, which cites those statutes by such bracketed numbers; and the use of this Code will be greatly facilitated by bearing these bracketed numbers in mind, wherever they have heretofore been cited in the Reports. This is the only object of inserting the numbers in brackets, which are not for reference.

It is one of the functions of the compiler to notice the titles of the acts, to place his matter accordingly, and call attention to any defects. This I have attempted to do in the customary manner. The title of an act, in the rare cases in which it is material, can be learned from the historical references given; and ordinarily has no more, oftentimes less, to do with the construction of the act than the legislative debates and records or other extraneous proceedings, which, of course, cannot be inserted in compiled laws.

Statute law always presents many perplexing problems touching conflicting, superseded, obsolete and repealed provisions, requiring the greatest care and some legal learning on the part of the compiler. Where the validity of a statute or any part thereof is in doubt, it has been retained. When a law has been expressly repealed, or held by the Supreme Court to be impliedly repealed, it has been omitted. Many laws have been, in part, impliedly repealed; in which case such part has been dropped out, with explanatory footnotes appended. For example, note the many sections of the attachment law, impliedly repealed in part by the chapter on Garnishments, which construction has now, after many years, been confirmed by the Supreme Court since this part went to press.

The peculiar situation in this state, where an act passed by the legislature is subjected to a referendum and suspended until after an election which is pending when a Code is published, leaves no other course to the compiler than to include both the old and the new suspended law, either one of which may be the choice of the people. This course has been adopted in a way that cannot mislead.

All these, and the other ordinary problems of a compiler, I have, kind friends lead me to believe, successfully met in my other works; and they have given me no anxiety or new concern. But there has been one new problem of the most serious nature; and time alone can tell whether I have successfully met it. This relates to the annotations.

To annotate completely these compiled statutes with full references from the syllabi of 116 Volumes of Washington Reports would have added at least two volumes to the work, and nearly doubled its cost. Either these compiled laws had to assume the bulk of a five or six volume work, or the annotations had to be greatly reduced in form. I confidently believe and trust that my solution of this problem will meet the needs and receive the favor of the profession in particular, and the public in general.

Nearly all lawyers in active practice own, and all of them have access to, my Digest of Washington Reports, including all decisions down to Volume 103 Washington. Full annotations in this work would have been but a repetition of the matter in the Digest, and it is very doubtful to my mind whether the same could have been published in the shape of annotations to a Code in the available form in which the Digest presents it.

My aim has been to refer, under each section, to all cases bearing thereon, and also to the particular place in the Digest where the decisions in the cited cases are more fully set out. In addition, all citations of the section are given. Owners of the Digest have this additional aid in its use, and they may save themselves the trouble of examining each case cited in these compiled statutes by readily referring to the Digest paragraph setting out the point at greater length. Those who have no access to the Digest still have the citations to the cases in point. The annotations under each section are carefully classified, with black letter catchwords, plainly indicating the purport of the cases. This applies particularly to mere applications of the statute. In addition, it has been my aim to set out more fully the principal and more important direct constructions of the statutes, and cases determining the validity thereof; and this is particularly true of all the later decisions not included in the Digest, commencing with 104 Washington. I am convinced, from some slight experience and practice in its use, that the plan adopted will prove entirely satisfactory and that it is the only one, under the circumstances, entitled to consideration.

I desire to call attention to a most valuable feature that has not heretofore been included in any Code or Compiled Statutes in this state. The annotations include references, most carefully prepared, to the invaluable series of notes in the selected series of American Reports, including the American State Reports, Annotated Cases, Lawyers Reports Annotated, and American Law Reports. The practitioner will find these of the greatest value.

The practice acts require an independent index, which is in the first volume. No pains have been spared to make this the best index of these practice acts that has ever been offered. At the end of the third volume is a consolidated index of the entire work which has been prepared with the greatest care. The alphabetical arrangement of the General Laws in Volumes II and III, together with an intelligent use of the elaborate table of contents preceding each title, will almost dispense with the use of an index of the general laws in Volumes II and III. The experience of many able lawyers with my former work in such use is ample proof of this fact. This classification, with the numerous cross-reference heads pointing the way, and the sectional cross-reference tables, will be material aids in the use of the Codes, index and annotations.

Accordingly, after three years of strenuous labor, it is with pleasure and confidence that I now offer this work to the indulgent consideration of the profession and the public.

ARTHUR REMINGTON. .

PREFACE TO REMINGTON AND BALLINGER'S ANNOTATED CODES AND STATUTES, 1910

This work revises "Ballinger's Annotated Codes and Statutes of the State of Washington," published in 1897. The added laws embrace acts passed at six regular biennial sessions of the legislature, 1899 to 1909, inclusive, and the extraordinary sessions of the years 1901 and 1909, as well as a few earlier enactments that have been discovered to be in force. The new annotations cover the decisions reported in Washington Reports, volumes 16 to 52, inclusive.

The Codes of Procedure (Civil, Probate, Justice and Criminal) in the first volume follow the order of arrangement of the earlier work; except that the chapters relating to Wills, and Descent and Distribution, have been taken from the General Statutes and inserted in the Probate Code, and the schedule of taxable fees of officers and witnesses has been inserted in the chapter on Costs. No other material changes have been made in this volume, except that the preliminary matter, constitutions, and constitutional index have been placed in front to avoid confusion with the index and tables.

Modern methods, and the vast increase in general legislation, require an alphabetical arrangement for the general statutes embraced in the second volume. It has been impossible to achieve an entirely satisfactory plan. Any alphabetical classification is more or less arbitrary, and should be familiarized by users of the book. Accordingly, the heads used are as few and as general as possible. Cross-reference heads are employed to point the way, but this feature has not been extended to take the place of an index. Each general title is preceded by a complete table of contents, and subdivided when necessary. One who bears these simple points in mind will avoid the principal difficulties encountered in the use of a new classification.

Judge Ballinger's invaluable historical references at the end of each section are preserved and the same system adopted for the subsequent enactments, except that the Ballinger Code numbers appear in parentheses immediately after the current code section numbers; an asterisk indicating a later enactment or amendment. His cross-references have also been adopted, amplified, and the system extended to the new enactments.

But few liberties have been taken with Judge Ballinger's annotations to the first fifteen volumes of Washington Reports, but the necessity for more condensation, in the work on the subsequent thirty-seven volumes, has been recognized, and is obvious from these covers. Much has necessarily been sacrificed to brevity, and it has been exceedingly difficult—I will say impossible—to decide where to draw the line to one's entire satisfaction. All citations of current laws, from the earliest times to date, have been briefly noted, at the expense of great labor; this being the first attempt that has been made to reduce to the same terms the ever-varying citations of early acts, re-enactments and compilations.

It has been deemed advisable to print in the form of an appendix, with a separate index immediately following, all the old criminal laws governing prosecutions for crimes committed prior to June 9, 1909. For convenience in reference, the consecutive numbering of sections has been carried through this appendix. The tables of sectional cross-references to earlier compilations and session laws hardly need explanation. The tables for the session laws include only the acts passed since the publication of Ballinger's Code.

Mr. E. G. Kreider's work on the indexes speaks for itself. My thanks are due to him for other valuable assistance, and also to Mr. W. L. Sachse, and Mr. Robert M. Davis, of the Tacoma Bar, Mr. George R. Biddle of the Seattle Bar, and others.

I cannot take leave of this work without acknowledging my renewed appreciation of Judge Ballinger's original compilation of the laws of the Territory and State. It has been my happy purpose to see that none of its value should be lost, and it is with pleasure and confidence that I place it all anew before an appreciative and indulgent profession and the less discriminating general public.

ARTHUR REMINGTON.

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

IN CONGRESS, JULY 4, 1776.

THE UNANIMOUS DECLARATION OF THE THIRTEEN UNITED STATES OF AMERICA IN CONGRESS ASSEMBLED.

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; that, to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that, whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and, accordingly, all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present king of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation, till his assent should be obtained; and, when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature,—a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly for opposing, with manly firmness, his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused, for a long time after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the state remaining, in the mean time, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these states; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners, refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislature.

He has effected to render the military independent of and superior to the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation:—

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us;

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these states;

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world;

For imposing taxes on us without our consent;

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury;

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses;

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies;

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering, fundamentally, the forms of our government;

For suspending our own legislature, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny, already begun, with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring, on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions, we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms. Our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

Nor have we been wanting in attention to our British brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts, by their legislature, to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them, by the ties of our common kindred, to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They, too, have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war; in peace, friends.

We, therefore, the representatives of the United States of America, in general congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name and by authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare that these united colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the state of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that, as free and independent states, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent states may of right do. And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

PREAMBLE.

We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I.

§ 1. LEGISLATIVE POWER—CONGRESS.—All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a congress of the United States, which shall consist of a senate and house of representatives.

§ 2. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.—The house of representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several states, and the electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislature.

No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen.

Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states which may be included within this Union, according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand; but each state shall have at least one representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the state of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three.

When vacancies happen in the representation from any state, the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

The house of representatives shall choose their speaker and other officers, and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

§ 3. SENATE.—The senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, chosen by the legislature thereof, for six years; and each senator shall have one vote.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year; and if vacancies happen by resignation, or otherwise, during the recess of the legislature of any state, the executive thereof may make temporary appointment until the next meeting of the legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.

No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state for which he shall be chosen.

The vice president of the United States shall be president of the senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided.

The senate shall choose their other officers, and also a president pro tempore, in the absence of the vice president, or when he shall exercise the office of president of the United States.

The senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose, they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the president of the United States is tried, the chief justice shall preside; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust, or profit under the United States; but the party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment according to law.

§ 4. ELECTIONS OF SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES.—The times, places, and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof; but the congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing senators.

SESSIONS OF CONGRESS.—The congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

§ 5. POWERS OF HOUSES OF CONGRESS—QUORUM.—Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns, and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each house may provide.

Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may, in their judgment, require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

Neither house, during the session of congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

§ 6. COMPENSATION OF MEMBERS—PRIVILEGES—DISABILITIES.—The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall, in all cases except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased, during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

§ 7. MANNER OF PASSING BILLS—ORDERS, RESOLUTIONS, ETC.—All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives; but the senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills.

Every bill which shall have passed the house of representatives and the senate, shall, before it become a law, be presented to the president of the United States. If he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his objections to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such reconsideration two thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two thirds of that house it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the president within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the congress by their adjournment prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

Every order, resolution, or vote to which the concurrence of the senate and house of representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment), shall be presented to the president of the United States; and before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the senate and house of representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

§ 8. POWERS OF CONGRESS.—The congress shall have power,—

To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts, and excises, to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts, and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States;

To borrow money on the credit of the United States;

To regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the several states and with the Indian tribes;

To establish an uniform rule of naturalization; and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States;

To coin money, regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coin, and fix the standard of weights and measures;

To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States;

To establish post-offices and post-roads;

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

To define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas and offenses against the law of nations;

To declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water;

To raise and support armies; but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years;

To provide and maintain a navy;

To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces;

To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections, and repel invasions;

To provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the states, respectively, the appointment of the officers, and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by congress;

To exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever, over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular states, and the acceptance of congress, become the seat of the government of the United States, and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the consent of the legislature of the state in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock-yards, and other needful buildings; and

To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

§ 9. LIMITATIONS OF POWERS OF CONGRESS.—The migration or importation of such persons as any of the states now existing shall think proper to admit shall not be prohibited by the congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight, but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in cases of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it.

No bill of attainder or ex post facto law shall be passed.

No capitation or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration hereinbefore directed to be taken.

No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any state.

No preference shall be given by any regulation of commerce or revenue to the ports of one state over those of another; nor shall vessels bound to or from one state be obliged to enter, clear, or pay duties in another.

No money shall be drawn from the treasury, but in consequence of appropriations made by laws; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditure of all public money shall be published from time to time.

No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States; and no person holding any office of profit or trust under them shall, without the consent of the congress, accept of any present, emolument, office, or title of any kind whatever, from any king, prince, or foreign state.

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

§ 10. LIMITATION OF POWERS OF STATES.—No state shall enter into any treaty, alliance, or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit; make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts; or grant any title of nobility.

No state shall, without the consent of the congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws; and the net produce of all duties and imposts, laid by any state on imports or exports, shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the congress.

No state shall, without the consent of congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another state or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

§ 1. EXECUTIVE POWER—PRESIDENT AND VICE PRESIDENT. The executive power shall be vested in a president of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the vice president, chosen for the same term, be elected as follows:—

Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the congress; but no senator or representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

[The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the vote shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the house of representatives shall immediately choose by ballot one of them for president; and if no person have a majority, then from the five highest on the list, the said house shall in like manner choose the president. But in choosing the president, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote. A quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the president, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the vice president. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the senate shall choose from them, by ballot, the vice president.]

The congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes, which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

No person, except a natural-born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this constitution, shall be eligible to the office of president; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

In case of the removal of the president from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice president, and the congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation, or inability, both of the president and vice president, declaring what officer shall then act as president, and such officer shall act accordingly, until the disability be removed, or a president shall be elected.

The president shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

Before he enter on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation:—"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the constitution of the United States."

§ 2. POWERS AND DUTIES OF PRESIDENT.—The president shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several states, when called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices, and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to make treaties, provided two thirds of the senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the senate shall appoint, ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, judges of the supreme court, and all other officers of the United States, whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law; but the congress may by law vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper in the president alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

The president shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate, by granting commissions, which shall expire at the end of their next session.

§ 3. MESSAGES—CONVENING AND ADJOURNING CONGRESS, ETC.—He shall from time to time give to the congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them, and in case of disagreement between them, with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers; he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

§ 4. IMPEACHMENT OF OFFICERS.—The president, vice president, and all civil officers of the United States, shall be removed from office on impeachment for and conviction of treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III.

§ 1. JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.—The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

§ 2. JUDICIAL POWER.—The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity, arising under this constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority;—to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls;—to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction;—to controversies to which the United States shall be a party;—to controversies between two or more states;—between a state and citizens of another state;—between citizens of different states;—between citizens of the same state claiming lands under grants of different states, and between a state, or the citizens thereof, and foreign states, citizens, or subjects.

In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be party, the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned, the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the congress shall make.

The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury; and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as the congress may by law have directed.

§ 3. TREASON—EVIDENCE—PUNISHMENT.—Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason, unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

The congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attainted.

ARTICLE IV.

§ 1. RECORDS AND PROCEEDINGS OF STATES—EFFECT—AUTHENTICATION.—Full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of every other state. And the congress may by general laws prescribe the manner in which such acts, records, and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

§ 2. PRIVILEGES OF CITIZENS.—The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states.

A person charged in any state with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice, and be found in another state, shall, on demand of the executive authority of the state from which he fled, be delivered up to be removed to the state having jurisdiction of the crime.

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

No person held to service or labor in one state, under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.

§ 3. NEW STATES.—New states may be admitted by the congress into this Union; but no new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state; nor any state be formed by the junction of two or more states, or parts of states, without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned, as well as of the congress.

The congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States, or of any particular state.

§ 4. REPUBLICAN FORM OF GOVERNMENT—GUARANTEE OF. The United States shall guarantee to every state in this Union a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion; and on application of the legislature, or of the executive (when the legislature cannot be convened), against domestic violence.

ARTICLE V.

AMENDMENTS.—The congress, whenever two thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this constitution, or, on the application of the legislatures of two thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the congress: Provided, That no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first articles; and that no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the senate.

ARTICLE VI.

DEBTS—SUPREME LAW—NO RELIGIOUS TEST.—All debts contracted and engagements entered into, before the adoption of this constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this constitution as under the confederation.

This constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, anything in the constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding.

The senators and representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several state legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several states, shall be bound by oath or affirmation to support this constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

ARTICLE VII.

RATIFICATION.—The ratification of the conventions of nine states shall be sufficient for the establishment of this constitution between the states so ratifying the same.

Done in convention by the unanimous consent of the states present the seventeenth day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven, and of the independence of the United States of America the twelfth. In witness whereof we have hereunto subscribed our names.

TREATY BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN.

IN REGARD TO LIMITS WESTWARD OF THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS.

PREAMBLE.

Whereas, a treaty between the United States of America and her Majesty, the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, was concluded and signed by their plenipotentiaries at Washington, on the fifteenth day of June last, which treaty is word for word as follows:—

The United States of America and Her Majesty, the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, deeming it to be desirable for the future welfare of both countries that the state of doubt and uncertainty which has hitherto prevailed respecting the sovereignty and government of the territory on the northwest coast of America, lying westward of the Rocky or Stony Mountains, should be finally terminated by an amicable compromise of the right mutually asserted by the two parties, over the said territory, have respectively named plenipotentiaries to treat and agree concerning the terms of such settlement; that is to say: The President of the United States of America has, on his part, furnished with full powers James Buchanan, Secretary of State of the United States, and her Majesty, the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, has, on her part, appointed the right honorable Richard Pakenham, a member of her Majesty's most honorable Privy Council, and her Majesty's envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the United States; who, after having communicated unto each other their respective full powers, found in good and due form, have agreed upon and concluded the following articles:—

ARTICLE I.

From the point on the forty-ninth parallel of north latitude, where the boundary laid down in existing treaties and conventions between the United States and Great Britain terminates, the line of boundary between the territory of the United States, and those of her Britannic Majesty shall be continued westward along the said forty-ninth parallel of north latitude to the middle of the channel which separates the continent from Vancouver's Island, and thence southerly, through the middle of the said channel, and of Fuca Straits to the Pacific Ocean: Provided, however, That the navigation of the whole of said channel and straits, south of the forty-ninth parallel of north latitude, remain free and open to both parties.

ARTICLE II.

From the point at which the forty-ninth parallel of north latitude shall be found to intersect the great northern branch of the Columbia River, the navigation of the said branch shall be free and open to the Hudson's Bay Company, and to all British subjects trading with the same, to the point where the said branch meets the main stream of the Columbia, and thence down the said main stream to the ocean, with free access into and through the said river or rivers, it being understood that all the usual portages along the line thus described shall, in like manner, be free and open. In navigating the said river or rivers, British subjects, with their goods and produce, shall be treated on the same footing as citizens of the United States; it being, however, always understood that nothing in this article shall be construed as preventing, or intended to prevent, the government of the United States from making any regulations respecting the navigation of the said river or rivers, not inconsistent with the present treaty.

ARTICLE III.

In the future appropriation of the territory south of the forty-ninth parallel of north latitude, as provided in the first articles of this treaty, the possessory rights of the Hudson's Bay Company, and of all British subjects who may be already in the occupation of land or other property lawfully acquired within the said territory, shall be respected.

"POSSESSORY RIGHTS" OF BRITISH SUBJECTS.—The stipulation of the United States as to the possessory rights of British subjects in the occupation of land in Oregon did not constitute a grant to such British subjects, nor confer upon them any interest in the soil: Cowenia et al. v. Hannah et al.,

3 Or. 465; Town v. De Haven et al., 5 Saw. 146.

Such stipulation was merely a promise by the United States to Great Britain, for a violation of which the only remedy would be a claim upon the United States for compensation: Id.

ARTICLE IV.

The farms, lands, and other property of every description belonging to the Puget Sound Agricultural Company on the north side of the Columbia River shall be confirmed to the said company. In case, however, the situation of those farms and lands should be considered by the United States to be of public and political importance, and the United States government should signify a desire to obtain possession of the whole, or of any part thereof, the property so required shall be transferred to the said government, at a proper valuation, to be agreed upon between the parties.

ARTICLE V.

The present treaty shall be ratified by the President of the United States, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate thereof, and by her Britannic Majesty; and the ratifications shall be exchanged at London, at the expiration of six months from the date hereof, or sooner if possible.

In witness whereof, the respective plenipotentiaries have signed the same, and have affixed hereto the seals of their arms.

Done at Washington, the fifteenth day of June, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty-six.

JAMES BUCHANAN. [L. S.]

TREATY BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN.

And whereas, the said treaty has been duly ratified on both parts, and the respective ratifications of the same were exchanged at London on the seventeenth ultimo, by Louis McLane envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States, and Viscount Palmerston, her Britannic Majesty's principal secretary of state for foreign affairs, on the part of their respective governments,—

Now, therefore, be it known, that I, James K. Polk, President of the United States of America, have caused the said treaty to be made public, to the end that the same, and every clause and article thereof, may be observed and fulfilled with good faith by the United States and the citizens thereof.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this fifth day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty-six, and of the [L. S.] independence of the United States the seventy-first.

JAMES K. POLK.

By the President:

JAMES BUCHANAN, Secretary of State.

ORGANIC ACT OF THE TERRITORY OF WASHINGTON.

AN ACT TO ESTABLISH THE TERRITORIAL GOVERNMENT OF WASHINGTON.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That from and after the passage of this act, all that portion of Oregon Territory lying and being south of the forty-ninth degree of north latitude, and north of the middle of the main channel of the Columbia River, from its mouth to where the forty-sixth degree of north latitude crosses said river, near Fort Walla Walla, thence with said forty-sixth degree of latitude to the summit of the Rocky Mountains, be organized into and constitute a temporary government by the name of the Territory of Washington: Provided, That nothing in this act contained shall be construed to affect the authority of the government of the United States to make any regulation respecting the Indians of said Territory, their lands, property, or other rights, by treaty, law, or otherwise, which it would have been competent to the government to make if this act had never been passed: Provided further, That the title to the land, not exceeding six hundred and forty acres, now occupied as missionary stations among the Indian tribes in said Territory, or that may have been so occupied as missionary stations prior to the passage of the act establishing the Territorial government of Oregon, together with the improvements thereon, be, and is hereby confirmed and established to the several religious societies to which said missionary stations respectively belong.

§ 2. And be it further enacted, That the executive power and authority in and over said Territory of Washington shall be vested in a governor, who shall hold his office for four years, and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed by the President of the United States. The governor shall reside in said Territory, shall be the commander-in-chief of the militia thereof, shall perform the duties and receive the emoluments of Superintendent of Indian affairs; he may grant pardons and remit fines and forfeitures for offenses against the laws of said Territory, and respites for offenses against the laws of the United States until the decision of the President can be made known thereon; he shall commission all officers who shall be appointed to office under the laws of the said Territory, where, by law, such commissions shall be required, and shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

§ 3. And be it further enacted, That there shall be a Secretary of said Territory, who shall reside therein, and hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the President of the United States; he shall record and preserve all the laws and proceedings of the Legislative Assembly hereinafter constituted, and all the acts and proceedings of the Governor in his Executive department; he shall transmit one copy of the laws and journals of the Legislative Assembly within thirty days after the end of each session, and one copy of the executive proceedings and official correspondence semi-annually, on the first days of January and July in each year, to the President of the United States, and two copies of the laws to the President of the Senate and to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, for the use of Congress. And in case of the death, removal, resignation, or absence of the Governor from the Territory, the Secretary shall be, and he is hereby authorized and required to execute and perform all the powers and duties of the Governor during such vacancy or absence, or until another Governor shall be duly appointed and qualified to fill such vacancy.

§ 4. And be it further enacted, That the Legislative power and authority of said Territory shall be vested in a Legislative Assembly, which shall consist of a Council and House of Representatives. The Council shall consist of nine members, having the qualifications of voters, as hereinafter prescribed, whose term of service shall continue three years. Immediately after they shall be assembled, in consequence of their first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the members of Council of the first class, shall be vacated at the expiration of the first year, of the second class at the expiration of the second year, and of the third class at the expiration of the third year, so that one-third may be chosen every year; and if vacancies happen, by resignation or otherwise, the same shall be filled at the next ensuing election. The House of Representatives shall, at its first session, consist of eighteen members, possessing the same qualifications as prescribed for members of the Council, and whose term of service shall continue one year. The number of representatives may be increased by the Legislative Assembly, from time to time, in proportion to the increase of qualified voters: Provided, That the whole number shall never exceed thirty. An apportionment shall be made, as nearly equal as practicable, among the several counties or districts, for the election of the Council and Representatives, giving to each section of the Territory representation in the ratio of its qualified voters, as nearly as may be. And the members of the Council and of the House of Representatives shall reside in, and be inhabitants of, the district or county or counties, for which they may be elected, respectively. Previous to the first election, the Governor shall cause a census or enumeration of the inhabitants and qualified voters of the several counties and districts of the Territory to be taken, by such persons, and in such mode, as the Governor shall designate and appoint; and the persons so appointed shall receive a reasonable compensation therefor. And the first election shall be held at such time and places, and be conducted in such manner, both as to the persons who shall superintend such election and the returns thereof, as the Governor shall appoint and direct; and he shall at the same time declare the number of members of the Council and House of Representatives to which each of the counties or districts shall be entitled under this act; and the Governor shall, by his proclamation, give at least sixty days' previous notice of such apportionment, and of the time, places, and manner of holding such election. The persons having the highest number of legal votes in each of said council districts for members of the Council shall be declared by the Governor to be duly elected to the Council, and the persons having the highest number of legal votes for the House of Representatives shall be declared by the Governor to be duly elected members of said House: Provided, That in case two or more persons voted for shall have an equal number of votes, and in case a vacancy shall otherwise occur in either branch of the Legislative Assembly, the Governor shall order a new election; and the persons thus elected to the Legislative Assembly shall meet at such place, and on such day, within ninety days after such elections, as the Governor shall appoint. But thereafter the time, place, and manner of holding and conducting all elections by the people, and the apportioning the representation in the several counties or districts to the Council and House of Representatives, according to the number of qualified voters, shall be prescribed by law, as well as the day of the commencement of the regular session of the Legislative Assembly: Provided, That no session in any one year shall exceed the term of sixty days, except the first session, which shall not exceed one hundred days.

§ 5. And be it further enacted, That every white male inhabitant above the age of twenty-one years, who shall have been a resident of said Territory at the time of the passage of this act, and shall possess the qualifications hereinafter prescribed, shall be entitled to vote at the first election, and shall be eligible to any office within the said Territory; but the qualifications of voters and of holding office at all subsequent elections shall be such as shall be prescribed by the Legislative Assembly: Provided, That the right of suffrage and of holding office shall be exercised only by citizens of the United States above the age of twenty-one years, and those above that age who shall have declared on oath their intention to become such, and shall have taken an oath to support the constitution of the United States and the provisions of this act: And provided further, That no officer, soldier, seaman, mariner, or other person in the army or navy of the United States, or attached to troops in the service of the United States, shall be allowed to vote in said Territory, by reason of being on service therein, unless said Territory is, and has been for the period of six months, his permanent domicil: Provided further, That no person belonging to the army or navy of the United States shall ever be elected to or hold any civil office or appointment in said Territory.

§ 6. And be it further enacted, That the Legislative power of the Territory shall extend to all rightful subjects of legislation not inconsistent with the constitution and laws of the United States. But no law shall be passed interfering with the primary disposal of the soil; no tax shall be imposed upon the property of the United States; nor shall the lands or other property of nonresidents be taxed higher than the lands or other property of residents. All the laws passed by the Legislative Assembly shall be submitted to the congress of the United States, and, if disapproved, shall be null and of no effect: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be construed to give power to incorporate a bank or any institution with banking powers, or to borrow money in the name of the Territory, or to pledge the faith of the people of the same for any loan whatever, directly or indirectly. No charter granting any privileges of making, issuing, or putting into circulation any notes or bills in the likeness of bank-notes, or any bonds, scrip, drafts, bills of exchange, or obligations, or granting any other banking powers or privileges, shall be passed by the Legislative Assembly; nor shall the establishment of any branch or agency of any such corporation, derived from other authority, be allowed in said Territory; nor shall said Legislative Assembly authorize the issue of any obligation, scrip, or evidence of debt, by said Territory, in any mode or manner whatever, except certificates for service to said Territory. And all such laws, or any law or laws inconsistent with the provisions of this act, shall be utterly null and void. And all taxes shall be equal and uniform; and no distinctions shall be made in the assessments between different kinds of property, but the assessments shall be according to the value thereof. To avoid improper influences, which may result from intermixing in one and the same act such things as have no proper relation to each other, every law shall embrace but one object, and that shall be expressed in the title.

§ 7. And be it further enacted, That all township, district, and county officers not herein otherwise provided for, shall be appointed or elected in such manner as shall be provided by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Washington.

§ 8. And be it further enacted, That no member of the Legislative Assembly shall hold or be appointed to any office which shall have been created, or the salary or emoluments of which shall have been increased while he was a member, during the term for which he was elected and for one year after the expiration of such term; but this restriction shall not be applicable to members of the first Legislative Assembly; and no person holding a commission or appointment under the United States shall be a member of the Legislative Assembly, or shall hold any office under the government of said Territory.

§ 9. And be it further enacted, That the judicial power of said Territory shall be vested in a supreme court, district courts, probate courts, and in justices of the peace. The supreme court shall consist of a chief justice and two associate justices, any two of whom shall constitute a quorum, and who shall hold a term at the seat of government of said Territory annually, and they shall hold their offices during the period of four years, and until their successors shall be appointed and qualified. The said Territory shall be divided into three judicial districts, and a district court shall be held in each of said districts by one of the justices of the supreme court, at such times and places as may be prescribed by law; and the said judges shall, after their appointments, respectively reside in the districts which shall be assigned them. The jurisdiction of the several courts herein provided for, both appellate and original, and that of the probate courts and of justices of the peace, shall be as limited by law: Provided, That justices of the peace shall not have jurisdiction of any case in which the title to land shall in any wise come in question, or where the debt or damages claimed shall exceed one hundred dollars; and the said supreme and district courts, respectively shall possess chancery as well as common-law jurisdiction. Each district court, or the judge thereof, shall appoint its clerk, who shall also be the register in chancery, and shall keep his office at the place where the court may be held. Writs of error, bills of exception, and appeals, shall be allowed in all cases from the final decisions of said district court to the supreme court under such regulations as may be prescribed by law; but in no case removed to the supreme court shall trial by jury be allowed in said court. The supreme court, or the justices thereof, shall appoint its own clerk, and every clerk shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court for which he shall have been appointed. Writs of error, and appeals from the final decisions of said supreme court, shall be allowed, and may be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States, in the same manner and under the same regulations as from the circuit court of the United States, where the value of the property, or the amount in controversy, to be ascertained by the oath or affirmation of either party, or other competent witness, shall exceed two thousand dollars, and in all cases where the constitution of the United States, or acts of congress, or a treaty of the United States, is brought in question; and each of the said district courts shall have and exercise the same jurisdiction in all cases arising under the constitution of the United States and the laws of said Territory, as is vested in the circuit and district courts of the United States; writs of error and appeal in all such cases shall be made to the supreme court of said Territory the same as in other cases. Writs of error, and appeals from the final decisions of said supreme court, shall be allowed and may be taken to the supreme court of the United States in the same manner as from the circuit courts of the United States, where the value of the property, or the amount in controversy, shall exceed two thousand dollars, and each of said district courts shall have and exercise the same jurisdiction, in all cases arising under the constitution and laws of the United States, as is vested in the circuit and district courts of the United States; and also of all cases arising under the laws of said Territory, and otherwise. The said clerk shall receive in all such cases the same fees which the clerks of the district courts of the Territory of Oregon receive for similar services.

§ 10. And be it further enacted, That there shall be appointed an attorney for said Territory, who shall continue in office for four years and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed by the President, and who shall receive the same fees and salary as is provided by law for the attorney of the United States for the Territory of Oregon. There shall also be a marshal for the Territory appointed, who shall hold his office for four years and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed by the President, and who shall execute all processes issuing from the said courts when exercising their jurisdiction as circuit and district courts of the United States; he shall perform the duties, be subject to the same regulation and penalties, and be entitled to the same fees, as are provided by law for the marshal of the Territory of Oregon, and shall, in addition, be paid the sum of two hundred dollars annually as a compensation for extra services.

§ 11. And be it further enacted, That the governor, secretary, chief justice, and associate justices, attorney, and marshal, shall be nominated, and, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, appointed by the President of the United States. The governor and secretary to be appointed as aforesaid shall, before they act as such, respectively take an oath or affirmation before the district judge, or some justice of the peace in the limits of said Territory duly authorized to administer oaths and affirmations by the laws in force therein, or before the chief justice or some associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, to support the constitution of the United States, and faithfully to discharge the duties of their respective offices, which said oaths, when so taken, shall be certified by the person before whom the same shall have been taken; and such certificates shall be received and recorded by the said Secretary among the executive proceedings; and the Chief Justice and Associate Justices, and all other civil officers in said Territory, before they act as such, shall take a like oath or affirmation before the said Governor or Secretary, or some judge or justice of the peace of the Territory who may be duly commissioned and qualified, which said oath or affirmation shall be certified and transmitted, by the person taking the same, to the Secretary, to be by him recorded as aforesaid; and afterwards, the like oath or affirmation shall be taken, certified and recorded in such manner and form as may be prescribed by law. The Governor shall receive an annual salary of fifteen hundred dollars as Governor, and fifteen hundred dollars as Superintendent of Indian affairs. The Chief Justice, and Associate Justices, shall each receive an annual salary of two thousand dollars. The Secretary shall receive an annual salary of fifteen hundred dollars. The said salaries shall be paid quarterly, from the dates of the respective appointments, at the Treasury of the United States, but no such payment shall be made until said officers shall have entered upon the duties of their respective appointments. The members of the legislative assembly shall be entitled to receive three dollars each per day during their attendance at the session thereof, and three dollars each for every twenty miles' travel in going to and returning from said sessions, estimated according to the nearest usually traveled route. And a chief clerk, one assistant clerk, a sergeant-at-arms, and door-keeper, may be chosen for each house; and the chief clerk shall receive five dollars per day, and the said other officers three dollars per day, during the session of the legislative assembly; but no other officers shall be paid by the United States: Provided, That there shall be but one session of the legislative assembly annually, unless, on an extraordinary occasion, the Governor shall deem it expedient and proper to call the legislature together. There shall be appropriated, annually, the sum of fifteen hundred dollars, to be expended by the Governor, to defray the contingent expenses of the Territory, including the salary of a clerk of the executive department; and there shall also be appropriated, annually, a sufficient sum to be expended by the Secretary of the Territory, and upon an estimate to be made by the Secretary

§ 12. And be it further enacted, That the laws now in force in said Territory of Washington, by virtue of the legislation of Congress in reference to the Territory of Oregon, which have been enacted and passed subsequent to the first day of September, eighteen hundred and forty-eight, applicable to the said Territory of Washington, together with the legislative enactments of the Territory of Oregon, enacted and passed prior to the passage of, and not inconsistent with, the provisions of this act, and applicable to the said Territory of Washington, be, and they are hereby, continued in force in said Territory of Washington until they shall be repealed or amended by future legislation.

§ 13. And be it further enacted, That the legislative assembly of the Territory of Washington shall hold its first session at such time and place in said Territory as the Governor thereof shall appoint and direct; and at said first session, or as soon thereafter as they shall deem expedient, the legislative assembly shall proceed to locate and establish the seat of government for said Territory, at such place as they may deem eligible; which place, however, shall thereafter be subject to be changed by said legislative assembly. And the sum of five thousand dollars, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, is hereby appropriated and granted to said Territory of Washington, to be there applied by the Governor to the election of suitable buildings at the seat of government.

§ 14. And be it further enacted, That a delegate to the House of Representatives of the United States, to serve for the term of two years, who shall be a citizen of the United States, may be elected by the voters qualified to elect members of the legislative assembly, who shall be entitled to the same rights and privileges as have been heretofore exercised and enjoyed by the delegates from the several other Territories of the United States to the House of Representatives, but the delegate first elected shall hold his seat only during the term of the Congress to which he shall be elected. The first election shall be held at such time, and places, and be conducted in such manner, as the Governor shall appoint and direct; of which, and the time, place, and manner of holding such elections, he shall give at least sixty days' notice by proclamation; and at all subsequent elections the time, places, and manner of holding the elections shall be prescribed by law. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be declared by the Governor to be duly elected, and a certificate thereof shall be given accordingly. The delegate from said Territory shall be entitled to receive the same per diem compensation and mileage at present allowed the delegate from the Territory of Oregon.

§ 15. And be it further enacted, That all suits, complaints, process, and proceedings, civil and criminal, at law and in chancery, and all indictments and informations, which shall be pending and undetermined in the courts established within and for said Territory of Oregon, by act of congress, entitled "An act to establish the territorial government of Oregon," approved August fourteen, one thousand eight hundred and forty-eight, wherein the venue in said cases, suits at law, or in chancery, or criminal proceedings, shall be included within the limits hereinbefore declared and established for the said Territory of Washington; then, and in that case, said actions so pending in the Supreme or Circuit Courts of the Territory of Oregon shall be, by the clerks of said courts, duly certified to the proper courts of said Territory of Washington; and thereupon said causes shall, in all things concerning the same, be proceeded on, and judgments, verdicts, decrees, and sentences rendered thereon, in the same manner as if the said Territory had not been divided. All bonds, recognizances, and obligations of every kind whatsoever, valid, under the existing laws, within the limits of said Territory of Oregon, shall be held valid under this act, and all crimes and misdemeanors against the laws now in force within the said limits of the Territory of Washington may be prosecuted, tried, and punished in the courts established by this act, and all penalties, forfeitures, actions, and causes of action, may be recovered and enforced, under this act, before the Supreme and Circuit Courts established by this act as aforesaid: Provided, That no right of action whatever shall accrue against any person for any act done in pursuance of any law heretofore passed by the legislative assembly of the Territory of Oregon, and which may be declared contrary to the constitution or laws of the United States.

§ 16. And be it further enacted, That all justices of the peace, constables, sheriffs, and other judicial and ministerial officers, who shall be in office within the limits of said Territory of Washington when this act shall take effect, shall be and they are hereby authorized and required to continue to exercise and perform the duties of their respective offices, as officers of said Territory, until they or others shall be duly elected or appointed, and qualified, to fill their places in the manner herein directed, or until their offices shall be abolished.

§ 17. And be it further enacted, That the sum of five thousand dollars be, and the same is hereby, appropriated, out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be expended, by and under the direction of the Governor of Washington, in the purchase of a library, to be kept at the seat of government for the use of the Governor, legislative assembly, Judges of the Supreme Court, secretary, marshal, and Attorney of said Territory, and such other persons, and under such regulations, as shall be prescribed by law.

§ 18. And be it further enacted, That until otherwise provided for by law, the Governor of said Territory may define the judicial districts of said Territory, and assign the judges who may be appointed for said

ORGANIC ACT OF TERRITORY OF WASHINGTON.

Territory to the several districts, and also appoint the times and places for holding courts in the several counties or subdivisions in each of said judicial districts by proclamation, to be issued by him; but the legislative assembly, at their first or any subsequent session, may organize, alter, or modify such judicial districts, and assign the judges, and alter the times and places of holding the courts, as to them shall seem expedient and proper.

§ 19. [Approved February 22, 1889.]

§ 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the inhabitants of all that part of the area of the United States now constituting the territories of Dakota, Montana, and Washington, as at present described, may become the states of North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, and Washington, respectively, as hereinafter provided.

§ 2. The area comprising the territory of Dakota shall, for the purposes of this act, be divided on the line of the seventh standard parallel produced due west to the western boundary of said territory; and the delegates elected as hereinafter provided to the constitutional convention in districts north of said parallel shall assemble in convention, at the time prescribed in this act, at the city of Bismarck; and the delegates elected in districts south of said parallel shall at the same time assemble in convention at the city of Sioux Falls.

§ 3. That all persons who are qualified by the laws of said territories to vote for representatives to the legislative assemblies thereof are hereby authorized to vote for and choose delegates to form conventions in said proposed states; and the qualifications for delegates to such conventions shall be such as by the laws of said territories, respectively, persons are required to possess to be eligible to the legislative assemblies thereof; and the aforesaid delegates to form said conventions shall be apportioned within the limits of the proposed states, in such districts as may be established as herein provided, in proportion to the population of each of such counties and districts, as near as may be, to be ascertained at the time of making said apportionments by the persons hereinafter authorized to make the same, from the best information obtainable, in each of which districts three delegates shall be elected, but no elector shall vote for more than two persons for delegates to such conventions; that said apportionments shall be made by the governor, the chief justice, and the secretary of said territories; and the governors of said territories shall, by proclamation, order an election of the delegates aforesaid in each of said proposed states, to be held on the Tuesday after the second Monday in May, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine, which proclamation shall be issued on the fifteenth day of April, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine; and such election shall be conducted, the returns made, the result ascertained, and the certificates to persons elected to such convention issued in the same manner as is prescribed by the laws of said territories regulating elections therein for delegates to Congress; and the number of votes cast for delegates in each precinct shall also be returned. The number of delegates to said conventions respectively shall be seventy-five; and all persons residents in said proposed states, who are qualified voters of said territories as herein provided, shall be entitled to vote upon the election of delegates, and under such rules and regulations as said conventions may prescribe, not in conflict with this act, upon the ratification or rejection of the constitutions.

§ 4. That the delegates to the conventions elected as provided for in this act shall meet at the seat of government of each of said territories, except the delegates elected in South Dakota, who shall meet at the city of Sioux Falls, on the fourth day of July, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine, and after organization shall declare, on behalf of the people of said proposed states, that they adopt the constitution of the United States; whereupon the said conventions shall be, and are hereby, authorized to form constitutions and state governments, for said proposed states respectively. The constitutions shall be republican in form, and make no distinction in civil or political rights on account of race or color, except as to Indians not taxed, and not be repugnant to the constitution of the United States and the principles of the Declaration of Independence. And said conventions shall provide, by ordinances irrevocable without the consent of the United States, and the people of said states:—

First. That the perfect toleration of religious sentiment shall be secured, and that no inhabitant of said states shall ever be molested in person or property on account of his or her mode of religious worship.

Second. That the people inhabiting said proposed states do agree and declare that they forever disclaim all right and title to the unappropriated public lands lying within the boundaries thereof, and to all lands lying within said limits owned or held by any Indian or Indian tribes; and that until the title thereto shall have been extinguished by the United States, the same shall be and remain subject to the disposition of the United States, and said Indian lands shall remain under the absolute jurisdiction and control of the congress of the United States; that the lands belonging to citizens of the United States residing without the said state shall never be taxed at a higher rate than the lands belonging to residents thereof; that no taxes shall be imposed by the states on lands or property therein belonging to or which may hereafter be purchased by the United States, or reserved for its use. But nothing herein, or in the ordinances herein provided for, shall preclude the said states from taxing as other lands are taxed any lands owned or held by any Indian who has severed his tribal relations, and has obtained from the United States or from any person a title thereto by patent or other grant, save and except such lands as have been or may be granted to any Indian or Indians under any act of congress containing a provision exempting the lands thus granted from taxation; but said ordinances shall provide that all such lands shall be exempt from taxation by said states so long and to such extent as such act of congress may prescribe.

Third. That the debts and liabilities of said territories shall be assumed and paid by said states, respectively.

ENABLING ACT.

Fourth. That provision shall be made for the establishment and maintenance of systems of public schools, which shall be open to all the children of said states, and free from sectarian control.

§ 5. That the convention which shall assemble at Bismarck shall form a constitution and state government for a state to be known as North Dakota, and the convention which shall assemble at Sioux Falls shall form a constitution and state government for a state to be known as South Dakota: Provided, That at the election for delegates to the constitutional convention in South Dakota, as hereinbefore provided, each elector may have written or printed on his ballot the words "For the Sioux Falls constitution," or the words "Against the Sioux Falls constitution," and the votes on this question shall be returned and canvassed in the same manner as for the election provided for in section three of this act; and if a majority of all votes cast on this question shall be "For the Sioux Falls constitution," it shall be the duty of the convention which may assemble at Sioux Falls, as herein provided, to resubmit to the people of South Dakota, for ratification or rejection at the election hereinafter provided for in this act, the constitution framed at Sioux Falls and adopted November third, eighteen hundred and eighty-five, and also the articles and propositions separately submitted at that election, including the question of locating the temporary seat of government, with such changes only as relate to the name and boundary of the proposed state, to the reapportionment of the judicial and legislative districts, and such amendments as may be necessary in order to comply with the provisions of this act; and if a majority of the votes cast on the ratification or rejection of the constitution shall be for the constitution irrespective of the articles separately submitted, the state of South Dakota shall be admitted as a state in the Union under said constitution as hereinafter provided; but the archives, records, and books of the territory of Dakota shall remain at Bismarck, the capital of North Dakota, until an agreement in reference thereto is reached by said states. But if at the election for delegates to the constitutional convention in South Dakota a majority of all the votes cast at that election shall be "Against the Sioux Falls constitution," then and in that event it shall be the duty of the convention which will assemble at the city of Sioux Falls on the fourth day of July, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine, to proceed to form a constitution and state government as provided in this act the same as if that question had not been submitted to a vote of the people of South Dakota.

§ 6. It shall be the duty of the constitutional convention of North Dakota and South Dakota to appoint a joint commission, to be composed of not less than three members of each convention, whose duty it shall be to assemble at Bismarck, the present seat of government of said territory, and agree upon an equitable division of all property belonging to the territory of Dakota, the disposition of all public records, and also adjust and agree upon the amount of the debts and liabilities of the territory, which shall be assumed and paid by each of the proposed states of North Dakota and South Dakota; and the agreement reached respecting the territorial debts and liabilities shall be incorporated in the respective constitutions, and each of said states shall obligate itself to pay its proportion of such debts and liabilities the same as if they had been created by such states respectively.

ENABLING ACT.

§ 7. If the constitutions formed for both North Dakota and South Dakota shall be rejected by the people at the elections for the ratification or rejection of their respective constitutions, as provided for in this act, the territorial government of Dakota shall continue in existence the same as if this act had not been passed. But if the constitution formed for either North Dakota or South Dakota shall be rejected by the people, that part of the territory so rejecting its proposed constitution shall continue under the territorial government of the present territory of Dakota, but shall, after the state adopting its constitution is admitted into the Union, be called by the name of the territory of North Dakota, or South Dakota, as the case may be: Provided, That if either of the proposed states provided for in this act shall reject the constitution which may be submitted for ratification or rejection at the election provided therefor, the governor of the territory in which such proposed constitution was rejected shall issue his proclamation reconvening the delegates elected to the convention which formed such rejected constitution, fixing the time and place at which said delegates shall assemble; and when so assembled they shall proceed to form another constitution, or to amend the rejected constitution, and shall submit such new constitution, or amended constitution, to the people of the proposed state for ratification or rejection, at such time as said convention may determine; and all the provisions of this act, so far as applicable, shall apply to such convention so reassembled, and to the constitution which may be formed, its ratification or rejection, and to the admission of the proposed state.

§ 8. That the constitutional convention which may assemble in South Dakota shall provide by ordinance for resubmitting the Sioux Falls constitution of eighteen hundred and eighty-five, after having amended the same as provided in section five of this act, to the people of South Dakota for ratification or rejection at an election to be held therein on the first Tuesday in October, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine; but if said constitutional convention is authorized and required to form a new constitution for South Dakota, it shall provide for submitting the same in like manner to the people of South Dakota for ratification or rejection at an election to be held in said proposed state on the said first Tuesday in October. And the constitutional conventions which may assemble in North Dakota, Montana, and Washington shall provide in like manner for submitting the constitutions formed by them to the people of said proposed states, respectively, for ratification or rejection, at elections to be held in said proposed states on said first Tuesday in October; at the elections provided in this section, the qualified voters of said proposed states shall vote directly for or against the proposed constitutions, and for or against any articles or propositions separately submitted. The returns of said elections shall be made to the secretary of each of said territories, who, with the governor and chief justice thereof, or any two of them, shall canvass the same; and if a majority of the legal votes cast shall be for the constitution, the governor shall certify the result to the President of the United States, together with a statement of the votes cast thereon, and upon separate articles or propositions, and a copy of said constitution, articles, propositions, and ordinances. And if the constitutions and governments of said proposed states are republican in form, and if all the provisions of this act have been complied with in the formation thereof, it shall be the duty of the President of the United States to issue his proclamation announcing the result of the election in each, and thereupon the proposed states which have adopted constitutions and formed state governments as herein provided shall be deemed admitted by congress into the Union, under and by virtue of this act, on an equal footing with the original states, from and after the date of said proclamation.

§ 9. That until the next general census, or until otherwise provided by law, said states shall be entitled to one representative in the House of Representatives of the United States, except South Dakota which shall be entitled to two; and the representatives to the fifty-first Congress, together with the governors and other officers provided for in said constitutions, may be elected on the same day of the election for the ratification or rejection of the constitutions; and until said state officers are elected and qualified under the provisions of each constitution, and the states, respectively, are admitted into the Union, the territorial officers shall continue to discharge the duties of their respective offices in each of said territories.

§ 10. That upon the admission of each of said states into the Union, sections numbered sixteen and thirty-six in every township of said proposed states, and where such sections, or any parts thereof, have been sold or otherwise disposed of by or under the authority of any act of congress, other lands equivalent thereto, in legal subdivisions of not less than one quarter section, and as contiguous as may be to the section in lieu of which the same is taken, are hereby granted to said states for the support of common schools, such indemnity lands to be selected within said states in such manner as the legislature may provide, with the approval of the Secretary of the Interior: Provided, That the sixteenth and thirty-sixth sections embraced in permanent reservations for national purposes shall not, at any time, be subject to the grants nor to the indemnity provisions of this act, nor shall any lands embraced in Indian, military, or other reservations of any character be subject to the grants or to the indemnity provisions of this act, until the reservation shall have been extinguished and such lands be restored to and become a part of the public domain.

§ 11. That all lands herein granted for educational purposes shall be disposed of only at public sale, and at a price not less than ten dollars per acre, the proceeds to constitute a permanent school fund, the interest of which only shall be expended in the support of said schools. But said lands may, under such regulations as the legislatures shall prescribe, be leased for periods of not more than five years, in quantities not exceeding one section to any one person or company; and such land shall not be subject to pre-emption, homestead entry, or any other entry under the land laws of the United States, whether surveyed or unsurveyed, but shall be reserved for school purposes only.

§ 12. That upon the admission of each of said states into the Union, in accordance with the provisions of this act, fifty sections of the unappropriated public lands within said states, to be selected and located in legal subdivisions, as provided in section ten of this act, shall be and are hereby granted to said states for the purpose of erecting public buildings at the capital of said states for legislative, executive, and judicial purposes.

§ 15. The provision in this section authorizing the taking of lands for private ways of necessity is not self-executing: Long v. Billings, 7 Wash. 267, 34 Pac. 936.

This section prevents the taxation of costs in condemnation proceedings against the land owner only in the lower court, and does not exempt him from the costs of his appeal to the supreme court, when, under section 929, infra, he fails to recover a greater amount of damages on the appeal: Kitsap County v. Melker, 52 Wash. 49, 100 Pac. 150.

Private ways of necessity, within this section has reference to the common-law definition of the term, requiring the element of grant, and having no reference to the land of strangers: Healy Lumber Co. v. Morris, 33 Wash. 490, 74 Pac. 681, 99 Am. St. Rep. 964, 63 L. R. A. 820.

A party owning land appropriated for a public purpose cannot be compelled to present a claim for damages, as under this section the amount of damage for such appropriation must be first ascertained and paid to such property owner directly or into court for his benefit: Peterson v. Smith, 6 Wash. 163, 32 Pac. 1050; Snohomish County v. Hayward, 11 Wash. 420, 39 Pac. 652; Seanor v. County Commrs., 13 Wash. 48, 42 Pac. 552; Adams County v. Dobschlag, 19 Wash. 356, 53 Pac. 339; State ex rel. Smith v. Superior Court, 26 Wash. 278, 66 Pac. 385.

By the express provisions of the constitution, the question whether a contemplated use is really a public use is a judicial question: Peterson v. Smith, 6 Wash. 163, 32 Pac. 1050; Healy Lumber Co. v. Morris, 33 Wash. 490, 74 Pac. 681.

The declaration that the question of public use shall be a judicial question does not mean that it is to be determined without reference to constitutional assertions upon the subject: State ex rel. Galbraith v. Superior Court, 59 Wash. 621, 110 Pac. 429, 140 Am. St. Rep. 893.

Under this section the supreme court has power to issue the writ of certiorari for the purpose of bringing the determination of that question by the superior court before it for review, where the special statute governing appeals in condemnation cases restricts the supreme court to an inquiry into the "propriety and justness of the damages" awarded: Seattle & M. R. Co. v. Bellingham Bay etc. R. Co., 29 Wash. 491, 69 Pac. 1107, 92 Am. St. Rep. 907; State ex rel. Smith v. Superior Court, 30 Wash. 219, 70 Pac. 484; State ex rel. Trumble v. Superior Court, 31 Wash. 445, 72 Pac. 89, 66 L. R. A. 897; Samish River Boom Co. v. Union Boom Co., 32 Wash. 586, 73 Pac. 670; Healy Lumber Co. v. Morris, 33 Wash. 490, 74 Pac. 681, 99 Am. St. Rep. 964, 63 L. R. A. 820; State ex rel. Morrell v. Superior Court, 33 Wash. 542, 74 Pac. 686.

That portion of Laws of 1893, page 301, providing for the appropriation of right of way for the construction of county roads is unconstitutional, since it conflicts with this section: Seanor v. County Commissioners, 13 Wash. 48, 42 Pac. 552.

This section does not authorize compensation for depreciation in value caused by a legal act which is in law damnum absque injuria: Taylor v. Chicago & St. Paul R. Co., 85 Wash. 592, 148 Pac. 887, L. R. A. 1915E, 634.

A county is construed to be a purely municipal corporation under this section: Lincoln County v. Brook, 37 Wash. 14, 79 Pac. 477.

Ballinger's Code, section 3787, providing that when condemnation proceedings are instituted against any person to whom tender has been made, and such person shall fail to recover judgment for a greater sum than the amount tendered, all costs of such condemnation proceedings shall be taxed against him, is in conflict with this section: Adams County v. Dobschlag, 19 Wash. 356, 53 Pac. 339.

This section prevents the taxation of costs in condemnation proceedings against the land owner only in the lower court, and does not exempt him from the costs of his appeal to the supreme court, when he fails to recover a greater amount of damages on the appeal: Kitsap County v. Melker, 52 Wash. 49, 100 Pac. 150.

This section abates the right of arrest given by the territorial act of 1854 (§§ 748—757, infra) for certain causes not including absconding debtors: Hamilton v. Pacific Drug Co., 78 Wash. 689, 139 Pac. 642.

There being no statute in this state authorizing the arrest of absconding debtors, the provisions of this section permitting such arrest not being self-executing, a person causing the arrest of another is liable therefor: Hayes v. Hutchinson & Shields, 81 Wash. 394, 142 Pac. 865.

A judgment debtor in a civil action, arrested on a personal execution, is entitled to be admitted to bail pending the appeal, where the right to execute the judgment by arrest was questioned under this section: State ex rel. Syverson v. Foster, 84 Wash. 58, 146 Pac. 169, L. R. A. 1915E, 588.

§ 19. FREEDOM OF ELECTIONS.—All elections shall be free and equal, and no power, civil or military, shall at any time interfere to prevent the free exercise of the right of suffrage.

A law for second choice voting does not violate this section where there is no interference with the freedom of the elector in casting his first choice ballot: State ex rel. Zent v. Nichols, 50 Wash. 508, 97 Pac. 728.

§ 20. BAIL, WHEN AUTHORIZED.—All persons charged with crime shall be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for capital offenses, when the proof is evident, or the presumption great.

§ 21. TRIAL BY JURY.—The right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate, but the legislature may provide for a jury of any number less than twelve in courts not of record, and for a verdict by nine or more jurors in civil cases in any court of record, and for waiving of the jury in civil cases where the consent of the parties interested is given thereto.

Right to Trial by Jury.—Civil Cases: See Remington's Digest, Const. Law, § 141; Dacres v. Oregon R. & Nav. Co., 1 Wash. 525, 20 Pac. 601; Oregon R. & Nav. Co. v. Dacres, 1 Wash. 195, 23 Pac. 415; State ex rel. Mullen v. Doherty, 16 Wash. 382, 47 Pac. 958, 58 Am. St. Rep. 39; State ex rel. Orr v. Fawcett, 17 Wash. 188, 49 Pac. 346; State ex rel. Davis-Smith Co. v. Clausen, 65 Wash. 156, 117 Pac. 1101, 37 L. R. A. (N. S.) 166.

This section means that the right, as it existed in the territory when the constitution was adopted, shall continue unimpaired and inviolate: State v. Strasburg, 60 Wash. 106, 110 Pac. 1020, Ann. Cas. 1912B, 917, 32 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1216.

This section has no application to actions of equitable cognizance: Garey v. Pasco, 89 Wash. 382, 154 Pac. 433.

Under this section, the defendant is entitled to a jury trial, where plaintiff sues upon a contract for legal services and seeks to recover a specific and designated fund in the hands of the probate court; since it is an action for recovery of specific personal property: Winston v. Crowe, 28 Wash. 65, 68 Pac. 174.

Right to Trial by Jury.—Criminal Cases: See Remington's Digest, Const. Law, §§ 122-2, 122-3; State v. Holedger, 15 Wash. 443, 46 Pac. 652; State v. Strasburg, 60 Wash. 106, 110 Pac. 1020, Ann. Cas. 1912B, 917, 32 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1216.

This section is not violated by the trial court in taking from the consideration of the jury the questions upon which there was no conflict in the evidence: Furth v. Snell, 13 Wash. 660, 43 Pac. 935; Creagh v. Equitable Life Assur. Soc., 19 Wash. 108, 52 Pac. 526.

Laws of 1895, page 139, providing as a qualification for jurors that they be householders, does not violate this section: Redford v. Spokane St. R. Co., 15 Wash. 419, 46 Pac. 650; State v. Holedger, 15 Wash. 443, 46 Pac. 652.

A proceeding to recover specific real or personal property must be tried by jury: Alfstad's Estate, In re, 27 Wash. 175, 67

Pac. 593; Winston v. Crowe, 28 Wash. 65, 68 Pac. 174; Filley v. Murphy, 30 Wash. 1, 70 Pac. 107. And so of an action to enjoin defendant from enforcing a judgment against plaintiff: Spokane Co-operative Min. Co. v. Pearson, 28 Wash. 118, 68 Pac. 165. As to when an action is an equitable one, see Bluett v. Wilce, 43 Wash. 492, 86 Pac. 853.

The jury law of 1913, page 50, providing for a twelve dollar jury fee in civil cases, is not unconstitutional as imposing any unreasonable conditions upon the right of trial by jury: State ex rel. Clark v. Neterer, 33 Wash. 535, 74 Pac. 668.

This section is not violated by Rem. & Bal. Code, section 94, requiring jurors to be taxpayers: State v. McDowell, 61 Wash. 398, 112 Pac. 521, Ann. Cas. 1912C, 782, 32 L. R. A. (N. S.) 414.

Under this section the courts cannot trench on the province of the jury upon questions of fact if there is any evidence, direct or circumstantial, to warrant their verdict: Jensen v. Shaw Show Case Co., 76 Wash. 419, 136 Pac. 698.

The compulsory industrial insurance law is not unconstitutional as denying the right to trial by jury: State v. Mountain Timber Co., 75 Wash. 581, 135 Pac. 645, L. R. A. 1917D, 10, 4 N. C. C. A. 811.

While the statute provides for the selection of petit and grand jurors by drawing names by chance without use of the word "impaneled," there is no such distinction between the words "drawn" and "impaneled" as here used, as to permit the judge to select without chance, a grand jury, in view of this section: State ex rel. Murphy v. Superior Court, 82 Wash. 284, 144 Pac. 32.

This section is simply intended as a limitation upon the right of the legislature to take away the right of trial by jury, and is not intended to interfere with the right of the individual to waive such privilege: State v. Ellis, 22 Wash. 129, 60 Pac. 136.

The constitutional right of trial by jury is not impaired by the summary trial and punishment of a person for the violation of a city ordinance: State ex rel. Belt v. Kennan, 25 Wash. 621, 66 Pac. 62.

General scope of constitutional provisions guaranteeing right of trial by jury. 1 Ann. Cas. 703.

§ 22. RIGHTS OF ACCUSED PERSONS.—In criminal prosecutions, the accused shall have the right to appear and defend in person, and by counsel, to demand the nature and cause of the accusation against him, to have a copy thereof, to testify in his own behalf, to meet the witnesses against him face to face, to have compulsory process to compel the attendance of witnesses in his own behalf, have a speedy public trial by an impartial jury of the county in which the offense is alleged to have been committed, and the right to appeal in all cases; and in no instance shall any accused person before final judgment be compelled to advance money or fees to secure the rights herein guaranteed.

It is error to send the jurors back for further deliberation with general instructions as to their duty to arrive at a verdict if possible when neither the defendant nor his attorneys were present or notified: State v. Shutzler, 82 Wash. 365, 144 Pac. 284.

Error cannot be predicated upon instructions to the jurors while the accused was absent from the court room, where the address was to all jurors in attendance on the court touching a matter foreign to the case: State v. Haffer, 94 Wash. 136, 162 Pac. 45, Ann. Cas. 1917E, 229, L. R. A. 1917C, 610.

Under this section a change of venue to another county cannot be had over the objection of the accused: State ex rel. Howard v. Superior Court, 88 Wash. 344, 153 Pac. 7; State ex rel. O'Phelan v. Superior Court, 88 Wash. 669, 163 Pac. 1078.

A venire to summon a jury in a police court "from a body of your city" violates this section: State ex rel. Fugita v. Milroy, 71 Wash. 592, 129 Pac. 384.

The right to a speedy trial is waived by failure to ask for a trial and acquiescence in the delay until the case has been set for trial upon the request of the state, where the state did not act arbitrarily and had a plausible excuse for the delay: State v. Miller, 72 Wash. 154, 129 Pac. 1100.

An information for bringing liquor into a dry unit in a certain county is insufficient where it fails to allege in which one of several dry units the offense was committed: State v. Muller, 80 Wash. 368, 141 Pac. 910.

This section and section 2091 of this code, providing that a copy of the charge shall be served, merely grant a privilege that is waived by plea and entering upon the trial without request for the copy, service of which is not jurisdictional: State v. Quinn, 56 Wash. 295, 105 Pac. 818; State v. Newcomb, 58 Wash. 414, 109 Pac. 355.

This section is not violated by Rem. & Bal. Code, section 94, which provides that the county shall be divided into jury districts, and that an equal number of the jurors shall be drawn from each district for service in any month: State v. Newcomb, 58 Wash. 414, 109 Pac. 355.

In a criminal prosecution, it is error for the court to direct a verdict of guilty in view of this section: State v. Holmes, 68 Wash. 7, 122 Pac. 345.

Under this section it is error to keep the accused in manacles during the progress of the trial and in the presence of the jury, unless it plainly appears that the prisoner is such a dangerous character as to warrant such precaution: State v. Williams, 18 Wash. 47, 50 Pac. 580, 63 Am. St. Rep. 869, 39 L. R. A. 821.

Under this section it is error for the court to refuse a continuance to procure the presence of a material witness for defendant, when proper application has been made therefor: State v. Williams, 18 Wash. 47, 50 Pac. 580, 63 Am. St. Rep. 869, 39 L. R. A. 821.

One guilty as an accessory to the crime of rape cannot be convicted under an information charging him as a principal, as such an information would be in violation of his constitutional right to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation against him: State v. Gifford, 19 Wash. 464, 53 Pac. 709.

Rem. & Bal. Code, § 2015, violates this section, and a demurrer should be sustained to an information for burglary committed in one county, filed in another county into which the property was alleged to have been taken: State v. Carroll, 55 Wash. 588, 104 Pac. 814, 133 Am. St. Rep. 1047, 19 Ann. Cas. 1234.

It is in the discretion of the trial court to exclude the jury during the argument of counsel upon instructions in criminal prosecutions: State v. Coella, 3 Wash. 99, 28 Pac. 28.

Under this section a justice of the peace is not required to prepare a copy of the complaint in a criminal action and deliver it to the accused: State v. White, 8 Wash. 230, 35 Pac. 1100.

RIGHTS TO JUSTICE AND REMEDIES FOR INJURIES.—Nature of remedies guaranteed—Right to appear and defend: See Remington's Digest, Const. Law, § 143; State v. Mayo, 42 Wash. 540, 85 Pac. 251, 7 Ann. Cas. 881; State v. Williams, 18 Wash. 47, 50 Pac. 580, 63 Am. St. Rep. 869, 39 L. R. A. 821.

A law requiring the city council in cities of the third class to sit as a board of equalization, for which they may receive compensation, merely imposes a special duty, and the repeal of such law does not violate the provisions of this section: Heilig v. Puyallup City Council, 7 Wash. 29, 34 Pac. 164.

The contention that by the terms of the act under which District No. 10 was incorporated a different and better system of education was provided for cities than was enjoyed by the rest of the state, amounting to special legislation, will not be sustained: Holmes & Bull Furn. Co. v. Hedges, 13 Wash. 696, 707, 43 Pac. 944.

A law is not necessarily a general law merely because it applies to all communities in the state similarly situated: Denver v. Spokane Falls, 7 Wash. 226, 34 Pac. 926.

As to regulation of government and affairs of counties, towns and municipalities, see Newman v. North Yakima, 7 Wash. 220, 34 Pac. 921.

Laws of 1903, page 209, chapter 115, appropriating certain sums for the construction of armories in three specified cities, violates the provisions of subdivision 6 of this section: Terry v. King County, 43 Wash. 61, 86 Pac. 210, 9 Ann. Cas. 1170.

A law conferring the right of eminent domain upon boom companies does not violate subdivision 6 of this section: North River Boom Co. v. Smith, 15 Wash. 138, 45 Pac. 750.

The drainage act of 1895, page 143, granting the power of eminent domain, applying alike to all lands and persons similarly situated, is not special legislation: Lewis County v. Gordon, 20 Wash. 80, 54 Pac. 779; Skagit County v. McLean, 20 Wash. 92, 54 Pac. 781.

A law authorizing the validation of invalid warrants of a city is not special legislation, but is a curative act, applicable only to what has been done before the date of the act: Baker v. Seattle, 2 Wash. 576, 27 Pac. 462; Hunt v. Fawcett, 8 Wash. 396, 36 Pac. 318. And so, of a law authorizing a municipal corporation to assume and ratify an indebtedness created by the residents of a de facto municipality: State ex rel. Traders' Bank v. Winter, 15 Wash. 407, 46 Pac. 644. And the legislature may authorize the payment of an indebtedness incurred under an unconstitutional law: Lewis County v. Gordon, 20 Wash. 80, 54 Pac. 779; Skagit County v. McLean, 20 Wash. 92, 54 Pac. 781; State ex rel. Latimer v. Henry, 28 Wash. 38, 68 Pac. 368. Or the legislature may validate municipal contracts entered into by a de facto municipality: Pullman v. Hungate, 8 Wash. 519, 36 Pac. 483; State ex rel. Hemen v. Ballard, 16 Wash. 418, 47 Pac. 970; Abernethy v. Medical Lake, 9 Wash. 112, 37 Pac. 306.

The power to create municipal corporations is vested exclusively in the legislature: Territory ex rel. Kelly v. Stewart, 1 Wash. 98, 23 Pac. 405, 8 L. R. A. 106; Ferguson v. Snohomish, 8 Wash. 668, 36 Pac. 969, 24 L. R. A. 795; State ex rel. Traders' Bank v. Winter, 15 Wash. 407, 46 Pac. 644.

Under the provisions of our state constitution the power is delegated to cities of the first class to frame charters for their own government, subject to the general laws of the state: Reeves v. Anderson, 13 Wash. 17, 42 Pac. 625; Scurry v. Seattle, 8 Wash. 278, 36 Pac. 145.

The prohibition of the state constitution against special legislation incorporating cities and towns is prospective in its operation, and does not affect existing special charters: Tacoma Land Co. v. Pierce County, 1 Wash. 482, 25 Pac. 904.

Chapter 3, Laws of 1917, page 2, compelling Pierce county to levy a tax for the purpose of acquiring a federal mobilization training camp and supply station for the federal army and other military organizations under the federal government, does not violate this section: State ex rel. Board of Commissioners of Pierce County v. Clausen, 95 Wash. 214, 163 Pac. 744.

Section 4706, infra, prohibiting actions against school districts relating to certain matters does not violate this section: Swanson v. School Dist. No. 15, 109 Wash. 652, 187 Pac. 386.

§ 29. CONVICT LABOR.—After the first day of January, eighteen hundred and ninety, the labor of convicts of this state shall not be let out by contract to any person, copartnership, company, or corporation, and the legislature shall by law provide for the working of convicts for the benefit of the state.

§ 30. BRIBERY OR CORRUPT SOLICITATION.—The offense of corrupt solicitation of members of the legislature, or of public officers of the state or any municipal division thereof, and any occupation or practice of solicitation of such members or officers to influence their official action, shall be defined by law, and shall be punished by fine and imprisonment. Any person may be compelled to testify in any lawful investigation or judicial proceeding against any person who may be charged with having committed the offense of bribery or corrupt solicitation, or practice of solicitation, and shall not be permitted to withhold his testimony on the ground that it may criminate himself or subject him to public infamy, but such testimony shall not afterwards be used against him in any judicial proceeding, except for perjury in giving testimony; and any person convicted of either of the offenses aforesaid shall, as part of the punishment therefor, be disqualified from ever holding any position of honor, trust, or profit in this state. A member who has a private interest in any bill or measure proposed or pending before the legislature shall disclose the fact to the house of which he is a member, and shall not vote thereon.

Cited in 67 Wash. 520.

§ 31. LAWS, WHEN TO TAKE EFFECT.—No law, except appropriation bills, shall take effect until ninety days after the adjournment of the session at which it was enacted, unless in case of any emergency (which emergency must be expressed in the preamble or in the body of the act) the legislature shall otherwise direct by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each house; said vote to be taken by yeas and nays and entered on the journals.

§ 32. LAWS, HOW SIGNED.—No bill shall become a law until the same shall have been signed by the presiding officer of each of the two houses in open session, and under such rules as the legislature shall prescribe.

An enrolled bill properly certified is conclusive, and courts cannot inquire into the proceedings before its passage: State ex rel. Reed v. Jones, 6 Wash. 452, 34 Pac. 201, 23 L. R. A. 340. Distinguished in Scouten v. Whatcom, 33 Wash. 273, 74 Pac. 389, allowing the enrolled bill to be impeached to determine the legislative intent when there was an ambiguity. If it appears from the history of the act that a clause repealing a former act was included through inadvertence, such clause will be held qualified by the intention of the legislature as manifested in other parts of the same act: Howlett v. Cheetam, 17 Wash. 626, 50 Pac. 522.

§ 33. OWNERSHIP OF LANDS BY ALIENS, PROHIBITED—EXCEPTIONS.—The ownership of lands by aliens, other than those who in good faith have declared their intention to become citizens of the United States, is prohibited in this state, except where acquired by inheritance, under mortgage or in good faith in the ordinary course of justice in the collection of debts; and all conveyances of lands hereafter made to any alien directly, or in trust for such alien, shall be void: Provided, that the provisions of this section shall not apply to lands containing valuable deposits of minerals, metals, iron, coal, or fire clay, and the necessary land for mills and machinery to be used in the development thereof and the manufacture of the products therefrom. Every corporation, the majority of the capital stock of which is owned by aliens, shall be considered an alien for the purposes of this prohibition.

In general: See Remington's Digest, Aliens, § 3, and cases cited.

Under this section a lease of lands for a period of ninety-nine years is for such an unreasonable term as to fall within the meaning and spirit of the constitutional prohibition against alien ownership: State ex rel. Winston v. Morrison, 18 Wash. 664, 52 Pac. 228.

And a lease of forty-five years made to a corporation becomes void upon a majority of the stock being conveyed to aliens: State ex rel. Winston v. Hudson Land Co., 19 Wash. 85, 52 Pac. 574, 40 L. R. A. 430.

But a deed to an alien of mortgaged lands, in satisfaction of a bona fide mortgage debt is not void: Oregon Mortgage Co. v. Carstens, 16 Wash. 165, 47 Pac. 421, 35 L. R. A. 841.

This constitutional inhibition against the ownership of lands by corporations, the majority of whose stock is held by aliens, applies to the acquisition of a right of way for a water flume: State ex rel. Morrell v. Superior Court, 33 Wash. 542, 74 Pac. 686.

But the inhibition of this section places no restriction upon the granting of fishing licenses to such a corporation: See Hastings v. Anacortes P. Co., 29 Wash. 224, 69 Pac. 776. An alien can acquire land in this state containing deposits of limestone, silica and silicated rock, such deposits being minerals within the meaning of this section, and not to be restricted by the words "metals, iron, coal or fireclay": State ex rel. Atkinson v. Evans, 46 Wash. 219, 89 Pac. 565, 10 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1163.

One who conveys land to an alien has no right to the property since only the state can raise objection to the alien ownership of real property: Abrams v. State, 45 Wash. 327, 88 Pac. 327, 122 Am. St. Rep. 914, 13 Ann. Cas. 527, 9 L. R. A. (N. S.) 186; Prentice v. How, 84 Wash. 136, 146 Pac. 388.

Grantees of an owner who leased the property to an alien, a Japanese citizen, cannot resist claims to the property in a suit for specific performance brought by an assignee of the lessee, an American citizen on the constitutional ground that ownership of lands by aliens is prohibited in this state: Keene v. Zindorf, 81 Wash. 152, 142 Pac. 484.

"Good faith," under this section, was not shown where the applicant evaded military duty: State ex rel. Tanner v. Staeheli, 112 Wash. 344, 192 Pac. 991; State ex rel. Tanner v. Rychen, 113 Wash. 90, 193 Pac. 220.

§ 34. BUREAU OF STATISTICS, AGRICULTURE AND IMMIGRATION.—There shall be established in the office of the secretary of state a bureau of statistics, agriculture, and immigration, under such regulations as the legislature may provide.

§ 35. PROTECTION OF EMPLOYEES.—The legislature shall pass necessary laws for the protection of persons working in mines, factories, and other employments dangerous to life or deleterious to health, and fix pains and penalties for the enforcement of the same.

Police power, in general: See Remington's Digest, Const. Law, §§ 43—51, and cases cited.

ART. II, §§ 36-39 CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF WASHINGTON.

§ 36. WHEN BILLS MUST BE INTRODUCED.—No bill shall be considered in either house unless the time of its introduction shall have been at least ten days before the final adjournment of the legislature, unless the legislature shall otherwise direct by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each house, said vote to be taken by yeas and nays and entered upon the journal, or unless the same be at a special session.

§ 37. REVISION OR AMENDMENT.—No act shall ever be revised or amended by mere reference to its title, but the act revised or the section amended shall be set forth at full length.

§ 39 FREE TRANSPORTATION TO PUBLIC OFFICERS PROHIBITED.—It shall not be lawful for any person holding public office in this state to accept or use a pass or to purchase transportation from any railroad or other corporation, other than as the same may be purchased by the general public, and the legislature shall pass laws to enforce this provision.

A member of the state board of education is an executive officer within the meaning of this section: Id.; State ex rel. Stearns v. Smith, 6 Wash. 496, 33 Pac. 974.

This section does not limit the executive officers of the state to those enumerated therein. The object was to classify the executive department, rather than to exclusively establish its officers: State v. Womack, supra.

§ 4. RETURNS OF ELECTIONS, CANVASS, ETC.—The returns of every election for the officers named in the first section of this article shall be sealed up and transmitted to the seat of government by the returning officers, directed to the secretary of state, who shall deliver the same to the speaker of the house of representatives at the first meeting of the house thereafter, who shall open, publish, and declare the result thereof in the presence of a majority of the members of both houses. The person having the highest number of votes shall be declared duly elected, and a certificate thereof shall be given to such person, signed by the presiding officers of both houses; but if any two or more shall be highest and equal in votes for the same office, one of them shall be chosen by the joint vote of both houses. Contested elections for such officers shall be decided by the legislature in such manner as shall be decided by law. The terms of all officers named in section one of this article shall commence on the second Monday in January after their election, until otherwise provided by law.

§ 3. ELECTION AND TERMS OF SUPREME JUDGES.—The judges of the supreme court shall be elected by the qualified electors of the state, at large, at the general state election, at the times and places at which state officers are elected, unless some other time be provided by the legislature. The first election of judges of the supreme court shall be at the election which shall be held upon the adoption of this constitution, and the judges elected thereat shall be classified by lot, so that two shall hold their office for the term of three years, two for the term of five years, and one for the term of seven years. The lot shall be drawn by the judges who shall for that purpose assemble at the seat of government, and they shall cause the result thereof to be certified to the secretary of state, and filed in his office. The judge having the shortest term to serve, not holding his office by appointment or election to fill a vacancy, shall be the chief justice, and shall preside at all sessions of the supreme court, and in case there shall be two

§ 4. JURISDICTION.—The supreme court shall have original jurisdiction in habeas corpus and quo warranto and mandamus as to all state officers, and appellate jurisdiction in all actions and proceedings, excepting that its appellate jurisdiction shall not extend to civil actions at law for the recovery of money or personal property when the original amount in controversy or the value of the property does not exceed the sum of two hundred dollars, unless the action involves the legality of a tax, impost, assessment, toll, municipal fine, or the validity of a statute. The supreme court shall also have power to issue writs of mandamus, review, prohibition, habeas corpus, certiorari, and all other writs necessary and proper to the complete exercise of its appellate and revisory jurisdiction. Each of the judges shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus to any part of the state upon petition by or on behalf of any person held in actual custody, and may make such writs returnable before himself, or before the supreme court, or before any superior court of the state, or any judge thereof.

§ 5. SUPERIOR COURT—ELECTION OF JUDGES, TERMS OF, ETC.—There shall be in each of the organized counties of this state a superior court, for which at least one judge shall be elected by the qualified electors of the county at the general state election: Provided, that until otherwise directed by the legislature one judge only shall be elected for the counties of Spokane and Stevens; one judge for the county of Whitman; one judge for the counties of Lincoln, Okanogan, Douglas, and Adams; one judge for the counties of Walla Walla and Franklin; one judge for the counties of Columbia, Garfield, and Asotin; one judge for the counties of Kittitas, Yakima, and Klickitat; one judge for the counties of Clark, Skamania, Pacific, Cowlitz, and Wahkiakum; one judge for the counties of Thurston, Chehalis, Mason, and Lewis; one judge for the county of Pierce; one judge for the county of King; one judge for the counties of Jefferson, Island, Kitsap, San Juan, and Clallam; and one judge for the counties of Whatcom, Skagit, and Snohomish. In any county where there shall be more than one superior judge, there may be as many sessions of the superior court at the same time as there are judges thereof, and whenever the governor shall direct a superior judge to hold court in any county other than that for which he has been elected, there may be as many sessions of the superior court in said county at the same time as there are judges therein or assigned to duty therein by the governor, and the business of the court shall be so distributed and assigned by law, or, in the absence of legislation therefor, by such rules and orders of court as shall best promote and secure the convenient and expeditious transaction thereof. The judgments, decrees, orders, and proceedings of any session of the superior court held by any one or more of the judges of such court shall be equally effectual as if all the judges of said court presided at such session. The first superior judges elected under this constitution shall hold their offices for the period of three years, and until their successors shall be elected and qualified, and thereafter the term of office of all superior judges in this state shall be for four years from the second Monday in January next succeeding their election, and until their successors are elected and qualified. The first election of judges of the superior court shall be at the election held for the adoption of this constitution. If a vacancy occurs in the office of judge of the superior court, the governor shall appoint a person to hold the office until the election and qualification of a judge to fill the vacancy, which election shall be at the next succeeding general election, and the judge so elected shall hold office for the remainder of the unexpired term.

The intention of the constitution is that the regular term of all superior court judges shall be uniform both as to duration, commencement and ending thereof, hence the act (Laws of 1890, p. 346) providing for additional judges is void in so far as it changed the term of office of judges appointed thereunder: *State ex rel. The constitution and laws of this state recognize the distinction between the superior courts and the judges thereof: State ex rel. Romano v. Yakey, 43 Wash. 15, 85 Pac. 990, 9 Ann. Cas. 1071. The term "court" is broader than the term "judge," as the former continues while the latter may change: Gunderson v. Cochran, 3 Wash. 476, 28 Pac. 1105; Shephard v. Gove, 26 Wash. 452, 67 Pac. 256.

A judge of the superior court, who has been elected to fill an unexpired term, is entitled to qualify and take office as soon as the result of the election has been declared, the provision herein as to beginning of term of office only applying to original terms, and not to unexpired terms: State ex rel. Linn v. Millett, 20 Wash. 221, 54 Pac. 1124.

If a vacancy occurs in the office of a judge of the superior court, the appointee's term ends at the election or when the judge elected to fill the vacancy has qualified: State ex rel. Sears v. Gilliam, 93 Wash. 248, 160 Pac. 757.

§ 6. JURISDICTION OF SUPERIOR COURTS.—The superior court shall have original jurisdiction in all cases in equity and in all cases at law which involve the title or possession of real property, or the legality of any tax, impost, assessment, toll, or municipal fine, and in all other cases in which the demand or the value of the property in controversy amounts to one hundred dollars, and in all criminal cases amounting to felony, and in all cases of misdemeanor not otherwise provided for by law; of actions of forcible entry and detainer; of proceedings in insolvency; of actions to prevent or abate a nuisance; of all matters of probate, of divorce, and for annulment of marriage; and for such special cases and proceedings as are not otherwise provided for. The superior court shall also have original jurisdiction in all cases and of all proceedings in which jurisdiction shall not have been by law vested exclusively in some other court; and said court shall have the power of naturalization and to issue papers therefor. They shall have such appellate jurisdiction in cases arising in justices' and other inferior courts in their respective counties as may be prescribed by law. They shall always be open, except on nonjudicial days, and their process shall extend to all parts of the state. Said courts and their judges shall have power to issue writs of mandamus, quo warranto, review, certiorari, prohibition, and writs of habeas corpus, on petition by or on behalf of any person in actual custody in their respective counties. Injunctions and writs of prohibition and of habeas corpus may be issued and served on legal holidays and nonjudicial days.

See notes to § 15 of the Civil Code, infra.

Under this section real property can be sold under execution in a foreclosure case only in the county in which it is situated, and an execution sale in one county, of lands situated in two counties foreclosed in one action, is void: Vietzen v. Otis, 46 Wash. 402, 90 Pac. 264.

Jurisdiction of the superior court does not extend to a contest of the election of a city officer, in the absence of any statute providing for such contest: State ex rel. Fawcett v. Superior Court, 14 Wash. 604, 45 Pac. 23, 33 L. R. A. 674.

Under this section any act of a judicial nature performed by a judge is, in contemplation of law, done in open court, although it is in reality performed by the judge at chambers: Peterson v. Dillon, 27 Wash. 78, 67 Pac. 397; Meisenheimer v. Meisenheimer, 55 Wash. 32, 104 Pac. 159, 133 Am. St. Rep. 1005.

This section cannot be construed as prohibiting the reception of a verdict on nonjudicial days, since such act is a ministerial, and not a judicial, one: State v. Straub, 16 Wash. 111, 47 Pac. 227.

Under this section the superior court is authorized to assume jurisdiction to enjoin the officers of a county, who in excess of their powers are seeking to create a burden on taxpayers by directing an illegal expenditure of public moneys; Krieschel v. County Commrs., 12 Wash. 428, 41 Pac. 186.

Laws of 1909, page 82, providing that the county commissioners may divide a county into judicial districts, each of which is constituted a separate and distinct constitutional county, contravenes this section: State ex rel. Lytle v. Superior Court, 54 Wash. 378, 103 Pac. 464.

ART. IV, §§ 7-10 CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF WASHINGTON.

This section is sufficiently broad to embrace general chancery jurisdiction to appoint guardians of the local estate of nonresident insane persons: Sall, In re, 59 Wash. 539, 110 Pac. 32, 626, 140 Am. St. Rep. 885; Stewart, In re, 85 Wash. 190, 147 Pac. 1153.

This section does not confer jurisdiction in naturalization proceedings, independent of federal law: State ex rel. Gorelick v. Superior Court, 75 Wash. 239, 134 Pac. 916, Ann. Cas. 1915C, 425.

In nonintervention wills the superior court has jurisdiction to entertain an application by the executor for an order of distribution of the estate which was in effect a construction of the will and within its general jurisdiction: Bayer v. Bayer, 83 Wash. 430, 145 Pac. 433.

The superior courts of this state have concurrent jurisdiction with justices of the peace where the sum sued for is less than one hundred dollars: State ex rel. Shannon v. Hunter, 3 Wash. 92, 27 Pac. 1076.

§ 7. EXCHANGE OF JUDGES—JUDGE PRO TEMPORE.—The judge of any superior court may hold a superior court in any county at the request of the judge of the superior court thereof, and upon the request of the governor it shall be his duty to do so. A case in the superior court may be tried by a judge pro tempore, who must be a member of the bar, agreed upon in writing by the parties litigant or their attorneys of record, approved by the court, and sworn to try the case.

Cited in 12 Wash. 172.

Authority and Powers of Substitute Judges in General.—The provision of this section empowering the judge of any superior court to hold court in any county at the request of the judge of the superior court of such county, is self-executing: State v. Holmes, 12 Wash. 169, 40 Pac. 735, 41 Pac. 887.

The visiting judge has the same powers as the regularly elected judge of the county: Demaris v. Barker, 33 Wash. 200, 74 Pac. 362.

Where a case is heard by a judge pro tempore appointed for the purpose, he has jurisdiction to hear and determine a motion to vacate and set it aside: Fisher v. Puget Sound Brick etc. Co., 34 Wash. 578, 76 Pac. 107.

A visiting judge of the superior court may hold a session of the court at the request of a resident judge, without any request by the governor: Hindman v. Boyd, 42 Wash. 17, 84 Pac. 609.

§ 8. ABSENCE OF JUDICIAL OFFICER.—Any judicial officer who shall absent himself from the state for more than sixty consecutive days shall be deemed to have forfeited his office: Provided, that in cases of extreme necessity the governor may extend the leave of absence such time as the necessity therefor shall exist.

§ 9. REMOVAL OF JUDGES, ATTORNEY GENERAL, ETC.—Any judge of any court of record, the attorney general, or any prosecuting attorney may be removed from office by joint resolution of the legislature, in which three-fourths of the members elected to each house shall concur, for incompetency, corruption, malfeasance, or delinquency in office, or other sufficient cause stated in such resolution. But no removal shall be made unless the officer complained of shall have been served with a copy of the charges against him as the ground of removal, and shall have an opportunity of being heard in his defense. Such resolution shall be entered at length on the journal of both houses, and on the question of removal the ayes and nays shall also be entered on the journal.

§ 10. JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.—The legislature shall determine the number of justices of the peace to be elected in incorporated cities or towns and in precincts, and shall prescribe by law the powers, duties and jurisdiction of justices of the peace: Provided, that such jurisdiction granted by the legislature shall not trench upon the jurisdiction of superior or other courts of record, except that justices of the peace may be made police justices of incorporated cities and towns. In incorporated cities or towns having more than five thousand inhabitants, the justices of the peace shall receive such salary as may be provided by law, and shall receive no fees for their own use.

Cited in 2 Wash. 3; 4 Wash. 92, 93; 15 Wash. 49; 25 Wash. 267; 31 Wash. 306; 41 Wash. 48; 54 Wash. 455; 57 Wash. 627; 58 Wash. 27; 78 Wash. 624; 88 Wash. 551; 92 Wash. 378; 113 Wash. 648.

The last clause of this section does not apply to justices of the peace in incorporated cities which contained less than five thousand inhabitants by the last federal census, but which contained more than five thousand inhabitants by a census taken pursuant to Code of 1881, section 2754: Rohde v. Seavey, 4 Wash. 91, 29 Pac. 768.

This section is self-executing with reference to the matter of population, merely the matter of fixing salaries being referred to the legislature, and the courts are justified in receiving testimony to determine the amount of population: Anderson v. Whatcom County, 15 Wash. 47, 45 Pac. 665, 33 L. R. A. 137.

Under this section an official determination of the population is essential to entitle a justice to the salary: State ex rel. Elwood v. Lovering, 78 Wash. 624, 139 Pac. 617.

§ 11. COURTS OF RECORD.—The supreme court and the superior court shall be courts of record, and the legislature shall have power to provide that any of the courts of this state, excepting justices of the peace, shall be courts of record.

Cited in 58 Wash. 27; 88 Wash. 550.

That justices' courts are not courts of record does not mean that they may not keep dockets and records: State ex rel. Brockway v. Whitehead, 88 Wash. 549, 153 Pac. 349.

§ 12. INFERIOR COURTS.—The legislature shall prescribe by law the jurisdiction and powers of any of the inferior courts which may be established in pursuance of this constitution.

Cited in 71 Wash. 594.

The power conferred upon the legislature to create additional inferior courts is not one of its original, inherent powers, which can be delegated by it, but is a delegated power which must be exercised in the manner pointed out, and cannot be again delegated: Cloherly, In re, 2 Wash. 137, 27 Pac. 1064.

The legislature being originally vested with authority to create police courts, it cannot delegate that power to a city: Id.

§ 13. SALARIES OF JUDICIAL OFFICERS—HOW PAID, ETC.—No judicial officer, except court commissioners and unsalaried justices of the peace, shall receive to his own use any fees or perquisites of office. The judges of the supreme court and judges of the superior courts shall severally, at stated times, during their continuance in office, receive for their services the salaries prescribed by law therefor, which shall not be increased after their election, nor during the term for which they shall have been elected. The salaries of the judges of the supreme court shall be paid by the state. One-half of the salary of each of the superior court judges shall be paid by the state, and the other one-half by the county or counties for which he is elected. In cases where a judge is provided for more than one county, that portion of his salary which is to be paid by the counties shall be apportioned between or among them according to the assessed value of their taxable property, to be determined by the assessment next preceding the time for which such salary is to be paid.

§ 14. SALARIES OF SUPREME AND SUPERIOR COURT JUDGES. Each of the judges of the supreme court shall receive an annual salary of four thousand dollars ($4,000); each of the superior court judges shall receive an annual salary of three thousand dollars ($3,000), which said salaries shall be payable quarterly. The legislature may increase the salaries of the judges herein provided.

§ 17. ELIGIBILITY OF JUDGES.—No person shall be eligible to the office of judge of the supreme court or judge of a superior court unless he shall have been admitted to practice in the courts of record of this state or of the territory of Washington.

Eligibility.—An attorney who is suspended from practice at the time he becomes a candidate or is required to qualify is not eligible to the office of superior court judge: State ex rel. Willis v. Monfort, 93 Wash. 4, 159 Pac. 889, L. R. A. 1917B, 801.

§ 18. SUPREME COURT REPORTER.—The judges of the supreme court shall appoint a reporter for the decisions of that court, who shall be removable at their pleasure. He shall receive such annual salary as shall be prescribed by law.

Cited in 64 Wash. 329.

§ 19. JUDGES MAY NOT PRACTICE LAW.—No judge of a court of record shall practice law in any court of this state during his continuance in office.

§ 20. DECISIONS, WHEN TO BE MADE.—Every case submitted to a judge of a superior court for his decision shall be decided by him within ninety days from the submission thereof: Provided, that if within said period of ninety days a rehearing shall have been ordered, then the period within which he is to decide shall commence at the time the cause is submitted upon such a rehearing.

Cited in 33 Wash. 202.

The failure of a judge to decide a case within ninety days from its submission does not render the judgment void for want of jurisdiction: Demaris v. Barker, 33 Wash. 200, 74 Pac. 362.

§ 21. PUBLICATION OF OPINIONS.—The legislature shall provide for the speedy publication of opinions of the supreme court, and all opinions shall be free for publication by any person.

§ 22. CLERK OF SUPREME COURT.—The judges of the supreme court shall appoint a clerk of that court, who shall be removable at their pleasure, but the legislature may provide for the election of the clerk of the supreme court and prescribe the term of his office. The clerk of the supreme court shall receive such compensation by salary only as shall be provided by law.

§ 23. COURT COMMISSIONERS.—There may be appointed in each county, by the judge of the superior court having jurisdiction therein, one or more court commissioners, not exceeding three in number, who shall have authority to perform like duties as a judge of the superior court at chambers, subject to revision by said judge, to take depositions and to perform such other business connected with the administration of justice as may be prescribed by law.

§ 24. RULES FOR SUPERIOR COURTS.—The judges of the superior courts shall, from time to time, establish uniform rules for the government of the superior courts.

§ 25. REPORTS OF SUPERIOR COURT JUDGES.—Superior judges shall, on or before the first day of November in each year, report in writing to the judges of the supreme court such defects and omissions in the laws as their experience may suggest, and the judges of the supreme court shall, on or before the first day of January in each year, report in writing to the governor such defects and omissions in the laws as they may believe to exist.

§ 26. CLERK OF THE SUPERIOR COURT.—The county clerk shall be, by virtue of his office, clerk of the superior court.

§ 27. STYLE OF PROCESS.—The style of all process shall be "The State of Washington," and all prosecutions shall be conducted in its name and by its authority.

§ 28. OATH OF JUDGES.—Every judge of the supreme court, and every judge of a superior court shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, take and subscribe an oath that he will support the constitution of the United States and the constitution of the state of Washington, and will faithfully and impartially discharge the duties of judge to the best of his ability, which oath shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state.

ARTICLE V.

Impeachment.

§ 1. IMPEACHMENT—POWER OF AND PROCEDURE.—The house of representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment. The concurrence of a majority of all the members shall be necessary to an impeachment. All impeachments shall be tried by the senate, and when sitting for that purpose, the senators shall be upon oath or affirmation to do justice according to law and evidence. When the governor or lieutenant-governor is on trial, the chief justice of the supreme court shall preside. No person shall be convicted without a concurrence of two-thirds of the senators elected.

§ 2. OFFICERS LIABLE TO.—The governor and other state and judicial officers, except judges and justices of courts not of record, shall be liable to impeachment for high crimes or misdemeanors, or malfeasance in office, but judgment in such cases shall extend only to removal from office and disqualification to hold any office of honor, trust, or profit in the state. The party, whether convicted or acquitted, shall, nevertheless, be liable to prosecution, trial, judgment and punishment according to law.

Impeachments under this article are limited to superior state officers, of the executive and judiciary departments: State ex rel. Stearns v. Smith, 6 Wash. 496, 33 Pac. 974.

Alleged malfeasance shall be stated as definitely as in an information in a criminal action: State ex rel. Whitney v. Friars, 10 Wash. 348, 39 Pac. 104.

whether his term of office be for a fixed or for an indefinite period: State ex rel. Howlett v. Cheetham, 19 Wash. 330, 53 Pac. 349.

Elections and Elective Rights.

§ 1. QUALIFICATIONS OF ELECTORS.—All male persons of the age of twenty-one years or over, possessing the following qualifications, shall be entitled to vote at all elections: They shall be citizens of the United States; they shall have lived in the state one year, and in the county ninety days, and in the city, town, ward or precinct thirty days immediately preceding the election at which they offer to vote; they shall be able to read and speak the English language: Provided, that Indians not taxed shall never be allowed the elective franchise: And further provided, that this amendment shall not effect [affect] the right of franchise of any person who is now a qualified elector of this state. The legislature shall enact laws defining the manner of ascertaining the qualifications of voters as to their ability to read and speak the English language, and providing for punishment of persons voting or registering in violation of the provisions of this section.

This section is amended: See 2d and 5th Amendments, infra.

The right to vote in this state at any election resides in those possessing the qualifications prescribed in this section, subject only to reasonable legislative provisions respecting registration and regulating the exercise of the right: Stallcup v. Tacoma, 13 Wash. 141, 42 Pac. 541, 52 Am. St. Rep. 25.

§ 2. SCHOOL ELECTIONS—FRANCHISE, HOW EXTENDED.—The legislature may provide that there shall be no denial of the elective franchise at any school election on account of sex.

& Bull Furniture Co. v. Hedges, 13 Wash. 696, 43 Pac. 944.

§ 3. WHO DISQUALIFIED.—All idiots, insane persons, and persons convicted of infamous crime unless restored to their civil rights, are excluded from the elective franchise.

Cited in 13 Wash. 362; 69 Wash. 270, 271.

This section cannot be taken as a construction of the existing territorial statute (§ 5112, infra), to mean that such persons lost their civil rights, when the act only forfeited their right to vote, a political and not a civil right: State v. Collins, 69 Wash. 268, 124 Pac. 903.

§ 4. RESIDENCE, CONTINGENCIES AFFECTING.—For the purpose of voting and eligibility to office, no person shall be deemed to have gained a residence by reason of his presence, or lost it by reason of his absence, while in the civil or military service of the state or of the United States, nor while a student at any institution of learning, nor while kept at public expense at any poorhouse or other asylum, nor while confined in public prison, nor while engaged in the navigation of the waters of this state or of the United States, or of the high seas.

§ 5. VOTER—WHEN PRIVILEGED FROM ARREST.—Voters shall, in all cases except treason, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at elections and going to and returning therefrom. No elector shall be required to do military duty on the day of any election except in time of war or public danger.

Power to Confer and Regulate—State Legislatures.—This section is subject to regulation by the legislature in any reasonable way not prohibited: State ex rel.

Section 5300, infra, providing for the use of voting machines, does not violate this section: State ex rel. Empire Voting Machine Co. v. Carroll, 78 Wash. 83, 138 Pac. 306.

§ 7. REGISTRATION.—The legislature shall enact a registration law, and shall require a compliance with such law before any elector shall be allowed to vote: Provided, that this provision is not compulsory upon the legislature, except as to cities and towns having a population of over five hundred inhabitants. In all other cases the legislature may or may not require registration as a prerequisite to the right to vote, and the same system of registration need not be adopted for both classes.

Cited in 13 Wash. 145; 108 Wash. 342; 113 Wash. 56, 57.

§ 8. ELECTIONS, TIME OF HOLDING.—The first election of county and district officers not otherwise provided for in this constitution, shall be on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November, eighteen hundred and ninety, and thereafter all elections for such officers shall be held biennially on the Tuesday next succeeding the first Monday in November. The first election of all state officers not otherwise provided for in this constitution, after the election held for the adoption of this constitution, shall be on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November, eighteen hundred and ninety-two, and the elections for such state officers shall be held in every fourth year thereafter on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday in November.

Judges of the superior courts are state officers within the purview of this section: State ex rel. Dyer v. Twichell, 4 Wash. 715, 31 Pac. 19.

Term of Office, Vacancies and Holding Over.—Under this section, the term of office for county officers is for two years commencing on the second Monday of January next succeeding their election: McMurray v. Hollis, 5 Wash. 458, 32 Pac. 293.

This section must be construed in connection with constitution, article XI, section 5, which authorizes the legislature to provide for the election of county commissioners and fix their terms of office: State ex rel. Hays v. Twichell, 9 Wash. 530, 38 Pac. 134; State ex rel. Fair v. Hamilton. 92 Wash. 347, 159 Pac. 379.

Sections 4038, 4041, infra, providing that at the biennial election, one county commissioner shall be chosen for four years, does not violate this section: State ex rel. Gowan v. Superior Court, 81 Wash. 18, 142 Pac. 452.

Justices of the peace and constables belong to the judicial department of the state and are not county officers: State ex rel. Fair v. Hamilton, 92 Wash. 347, 159 Pac. 379.

Revenue and Taxation.

Cited in 74 Wash. 279; 84 Wash. 536, 538; 94 Wash. 304.

§ 1. ANNUAL STATE TAX.—All property in the state not exempt under the laws of the United States, or under this constitution, shall be taxed in proportion to its value, to be ascertained as provided by law. The legislature shall provide by law for an annual tax sufficient, with other sources of revenue, to defray the estimated ordinary expenses of the state for each fiscal year. unconstitutional: Mason v. Purdy, 11 Wash. 591, 40 Pac. 130.

Section 8355, infra, fixing the license fees to be collected from peddlers for county licenses, does not violate this section, since the constitution has reference only to taxes on property: State v. Shepard, 79 Wash. 328, 140 Pac. 332.

The authority given by the legislature to validate certain municipal indebtedness, under act of February 26, 1890 (§ 5, p. 225), already created in excess of the limit of one and one-half per cent, is not a void exercise of legislative power, or an attempt to assess and collect taxes on municipal corporations in violation of this section: *Baker v. The act authorizing a city to initiate special assessments for local improvements which provides that the apportionment of the tax shall be made by commissioners appointed by the superior court subject to revision by the court, is not obnoxious to this section: Westlake Avenue, In re, 40 Wash. 144, 82 Pac. 279.

A local assessment upon contiguous property to pay the cost of the construction of a sewer, levied upon all the property in the assessment district, in proportion to the assessment of the property for general taxation, is invalid: Monk v. Ballard, 42 Wash. 35, 84 Pac. 397.

Laws of 1897, page 77, which requires the county treasurer to collect assessments for street improvements certified to him by the legislative body of cities of the first class within his county, is not unconstitutional as rendering taxation unequal and ununiform: State ex rel. Olmstead v. Mudgett, 21 Wash. 99, 57 Pac. 351.

Section 938, Ballinger's Code, providing that cities of the third class may levy upon and collect from every male inhabitant between certain ages, an annual street poll tax, but exempting therefrom members of volunteer fire companies, is unconstitutional and void: State v. Ide, 35 Wash. 576, 77 Pac. 961, 102 Am. St. Rep. 914, 1 Ann. Cas. 634, 67 L. R. A. 280.

It is not necessary that a jury be impaneled in order to levy the assessment: Jackson Street, In re, 62 Wash. 432, 113 Pac. 1112.

Local improvement assessments must be limited to the amount of the benefits: Eighth Avenue Northwest, In re, 77 Wash. 570, 138 Pac. 10.

General benefits cannot be made the basis of a levy: Shilshole Avenue, In re, 85 Wash. 522, 148 Pac. 781.

A local improvement for a street lighting system, the operation of which was limited to a period of ten years, is not unconstitutional since permanency is not an essential element: Ankeny v. Spokane, 92 Wash. 549, 159 Pac. 806, L. R. A. 1917A, 1093.

Special benefits are judicial questions reviewable by the courts: Shilshole Avenue, In re, 94 Wash. 583, 162 Pac. 1010.

The county commissioners are not authorized to submit to a vote the question of ratifying or validating county indebtedness incurred in excess of the one and one-half per cent limitation in the absence of any statutory authority therefor: Rehmke v. Goodwin, 2 Wash. 676, 27 Pac. 473.

Under Laws of 1893, page 181, section 1, provision is made for the ratification of such invalid county indebtedness only as was incurred prior to March 9, 1893, and the submission to the voters for ratification of an indebtedness subsequent thereto, joined with prior indebtedness, vitiates the whole proceeding: Hunt v. Fawcett, 8 Wash. 396, 36 Pac. 318.

It is not necessary under this section that a proposition for increasing the county's indebtedness submitted at a general election should receive more than three-fifths of the votes cast by the voters who specially vote thereon: Strain v. Young, 25 Wash. 578, 66 Pac. 64; Fox v. Seattle, 43 Wash. 74, 86 Pac. 379, 117 Am. St. Rep. 1037.

Where a county has reached the constitutional limit of its indebtedness, it may thereafter issue its obligation for those expenses necessary to maintain its existence: Duryce v. Friars, 18 Wash. 55, 50 Pac. 583; Rauch v. Chapman, 16 Wash. 568, 48 Pac. 253, 58 Am. St. Rep. 52, 36 L. R. A. 407; Farquharson v. Yeargin, 24 Wash. 549, 64 Pac. 717.

School districts are, within contemplation of the legislative and constitutional enactments of this state, municipal corporations: Maxon v. School District No. 34, 5 Wash. 142, 31 Pac. 462, 32 Pac. 110; State ex rel. School District No. 24 v. Grimes, 7 Wash. 270, 34 Pac. 836.

An irrigation district is not a municipal corporation within the meaning of this section: Board of Directors v. Peterson, 4 Wash. 147, 29 Pac. 995.

An irrigation district is a municipal corporation within the meaning of § 7417, infra, conferring certain powers on such districts: Peters v. Union Gap Irr. District, 98 Wash. 412, 167 Pac. 1085; Whitten v. Silverman, 105 Wash. 238, 177 Pac. 737.

This provision is self-executing and sufficient, without further legislative sanction, to authorize the voters to give or withhold assent to the incurring of indebtedness: Holmes v. Bull Furn. Co. v. Hedges, 13 Wash. 696, 43 Pac. 944.

An act authorizing counties to condemn land for a ship canal, entirely within the county, does not violate the provisions of this section as to incurring debt for any other than county purposes: Lancey v. King County, 15 Wash. 9, 45 Pac. 645, 34 L. R. A. 817.

The construction of a county road is a strictly county purpose within this section: Rust v. Kitsap County, 111 Wash. 170, 189 Pac. 994.

The city authorities have power to incur indebtedness within the one and one-half per cent limit at any and all times: State ex rel. Olympia v. Holmes, 81 Wash. 403, 142 Pac. 1148. See, also: Uhler v. Olympia, 87 Wash. 1, 151 Pac. 117, 152 Pac. 998.

Laws of 1911, page 412 (section 9688, infra), authorizing the creation of port districts as municipal corporations, is not unconstitutional as creating municipal corporations not recognized by the constitution in view of this section referring to "other municipal corporations" than those specially mentioned: Paine v. Port of Seattle, 70 Wash. 294, 126 Pac. 628, 127 Pac. 580.

Bonds issued for the purchase of waterworks, payable out of the city's general fund, may be considered as part of the five per cent additional indebtedness allowed by the constitution for water, light and sewer purposes, although the city had not reached its five per cent limit for general indebtedness: *Dean v. The public school system shall include common schools, and such high schools, normal schools, and technical schools as may hereafter be established. But the entire revenue derived from the common school fund, and the state tax for common schools, shall be exclusively applied to the support of the common schools.

Laws of 1915, page 239, providing an entrance and tuition fees to be charged to students of the university of Washington, is a valid exercise of legislative authority: Litchman v. Shannon, 90 Wash. 186, 155 Pac. 783.

Laws of 1887, page 15, requiring bonds to be taken by school districts as municipal corporations from contractors for payment of mechanics, etc., does not violate this section: Pacific Mfg. Co. v. School District, 6 Wash. 121, 33 Pac. 68.

A common school, within this section means one that is common to all children of proper age and capacity, free, and subject to, and under the control of the qualified voters of the district: School District v. Bryan, 51 Wash. 498, 99 Pac. 28, 20 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1033.

§ 1. WHO LIABLE TO MILITARY DUTY.—All able-bodied male citizens of this state between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years, except such as are exempt by laws of the United States or by the laws of this state, shall be liable to military duty.

Under the article the legislature may distribute the burden upon its political subdivisions as it sees fit: State ex rel.

Board of Commissioners of Pierce County v. Clausen, 95 Wash. 214, 163 Pac. 744.

§ 2. ORGANIZATION — DISCIPLINE — OFFICERS — POWER TO CALL OUT.—The legislature shall provide by law for organizing and disciplining the militia in such manner as it may deem expedient, not incompatible with the constitution and laws of the United States. Officers of the militia shall be elected or appointed in such manner as the legislature shall from time to time direct, and shall be commissioned by the governor. The governor shall have power to call forth the militia to execute the laws of the state to suppress insurrections and repel invasions.

Cited in 3 Wash. 397.

The governor is not bound in any case where, in his judgment, the danger of riot and bloodshed is imminent, to observe the antecedent formalities required by Laws of 1889-90, page 627, section 1, subdivision 12, before calling forth the military power of the state: Chapin v. Ferry, 3 Wash. 386, 28 Pac. 754, 15 L. R. A. 116.

§ 3. SOLDIERS' HOME.—The legislature shall provide by law for the maintenance of a soldiers' home for honorably discharged Union soldiers, sailors, marines and members of the state militia disabled while in the line of duty, and who are bona fide citizens of the state.

§ 4. PUBLIC ARMS.—The legislature shall provide by law for the protection and safekeeping of the public arms.

§ 5. PRIVILEGE FROM ARREST.—The militia shall, in all cases, except treason, felony and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during the attendance at musters and elections of officers, and in going to and returning from the same.

§ 6. EXEMPTION FROM MILITARY DUTY.—No person or persons having conscientious scruples against bearing arms shall be compelled to do militia duty in time of peace: Provided, such person or persons shall pay an equivalent for such exemption.

ARTICLE XI.

County, City and Township Organization.

§ 1. EXISTING COUNTIES RECOGNIZED.—The several counties of the territory of Washington existing at the time of the adoption of this constitution are hereby recognized as legal subdivisions of this state.

Cited in 108 Wash. 242.

§ 2. COUNTY SEATS—LOCATION AND REMOVAL.—No county seat shall be removed unless three-fifths of the qualified electors of the county voting on the proposition at a general election shall vote in favor of such removal, and three-fifths of all votes cast on the proposition shall be required to relocate a county seat. A proposition of removal shall not be re-submitted in the same county more than once in four years.

Rem. Wash. Code, Vol. I—7

The majority required to carry the question submitted to the electors under this section and section 6, article VIII, is a majority of those who vote upon that proposition: Metcalf v. Seattle, 1 Wash. 297, 29 Pac. 1010.

The superior court has no jurisdiction of the subject matter of an action which seeks to enjoin the removal of a county seat on the ground of fraud committed in the election thereof: Parmeter v. Bourne; 8 Wash. 45, 35 Pac. 586, 757.

The removal of a county seat is a political question, the regulation and control of which are within the exclusive jurisdiction of the legislative department: Id. A private citizen and taxpayer has no such property interest in the location of a county seat as will give him a right of action to contest its removal: Id.; but in Rickey v. Williams, 8 Wash. 479, 36 Pac. 480, held, that an injunction will lie at the suit of a county officer to enjoin the removal of the county seat, when the board of commissioners had never obtained jurisdiction by proper petition to order the submission of the question.

A board of county commissioners is not vested with exclusive discretion in the matter of declaring the result of an election for removal of the county seat, but an attempt on their part to declare a result contrary to law is sufficient to give the superior court jurisdiction to enjoin them: Krieschell v. County Commissioners, 12 Wash. 428, 41 Pac. 186.

The commissioners may go behind the returns and examine the ballots for the purpose of determining the result: Heffner v. Board of County Commrs., 16 Wash. 273, 47 Pac. 430. Their decision cannot be reviewed by the courts: Id. The general act authorizing appeals from their decisions does not apply: Lawry v. Board of County Commrs., 12 Wash. 446, 41 Pac. 190.

§ 3. NEW COUNTIES.—No new county shall be established which shall reduce any county to a population less than four thousand, nor shall a new county be formed containing a less population than two thousand. There shall be no territory stricken from any county unless a majority of the voters living in such territory shall petition therefor, and then only under such other conditions as may be prescribed by a general law applicable to the whole state. Every county which shall be enlarged or created from territory taken from any other county or counties shall be liable for a just proportion of the existing debts and liabilities of the county or counties from which such territory shall be taken: Provided, that in such accounting neither county shall be charged with any debt or liability then existing, incurred in the purchase of any county property or in the purchase or construction of any county buildings then in use or under construction which shall fall within and be retained by the county: Provided, further, that this shall not be construed to affect the rights of creditors.

§ 4. COUNTY GOVERNMENT AND TOWNSHIP ORGANIZATION.—The legislature shall establish a system of county government, which shall be uniform throughout the state, and by general laws shall provide for township organization, under which any county may organize whenever a majority of the qualified electors of such county voting at a general election shall so determine; and whenever a county shall adopt township organization the assessment and collection of the revenue shall be made, and the business of such county and the local affairs of the several townships therein, shall be managed and transacted in the manner prescribed by such general law.

This section does not authorize township organization upon a majority of those voting upon the question, although the legislature so construed the clause in Laws of 1895, page 473, but only upon a majority of the total votes cast at the election: State ex rel. Milliken v. Board of Commrs., 49 Wash. 70, 94 Pac. 897.

Townships organized under this section are made bodies corporate, and vested with full control over highways to the exclusion of the county proper, and liable for injuries caused by reason of the defective condition of its highways: Orrock v. South Moran Township, 97 Wash. 144, 165 Pac. 1096; Nipges v. Mountain View Township, 100 Wash. 268, 170 Pac. 560.

§ 5. ELECTION AND COMPENSATION OF COUNTY OFFICERS.

The legislature, by general and uniform laws, shall provide for the election in the several counties of boards of county commissioners, sheriffs, county clerks, treasurers, prosecuting attorneys, and other county, township, or precinct and district officers, as public convenience may require, and shall prescribe their duties and fix their term of office. It shall regulate the compensation of all such officers, in proportion to their duties, and for that purpose may classify the counties by population. And it shall provide for the strict accountability of such officers for all fees which may be collected by them, and for all public moneys which may be paid to them, or officially come into their possession.

This section should be construed with section 7, and when so construed, it seems clear that the "term" referred to in section 7 is the term authorized to be provided for in this section: Smalley v. Snell, 6 Wash. 161, 32 Pac. 1062.

Laws of 1903 creating the office of county fruit inspector, to be appointed by the county commissioners for a term of years, violates the mandatory provisions of this section: State ex rel. Egbert v. Blumberg, 46 Wash. 270, 89 Pac. 708.

The prosecuting attorney of a county is a county officer, and a vacancy in the office must be filled by appointment of the county commissioners and not by the governor: State ex rel. McMartin v. Whitney, 9 Wash. 377, 37 Pac. 473.

The power to fill county offices provisionally in new counties is a necessary incident of the legislative power to create new counties: Farquharson v. Yeargin, 24 Wash. 549, 64 Pac. 717.

Road supervisors are mere employees or deputies of the commissioners, and not county officers: State ex rel. Griffith v. Newland, 37 Wash. 428, 79 Pac. 983.

The act of March 26, 1899, providing that counties shall be divided into commissioner's districts and county commissioners elected therein, and the act of February 28, 1891, fixing the term of office of county commissioners in the various districts, part of whom are to hold office for four years, does not violate this section: State ex rel. Hays v. Twichell, 9 Wash. 530, 38 Pac. 134.

The term "county officers" does not extend to clerks and deputies: Nelson v. Troy, 11 Wash. 435, 39 Pac. 974.

The board of eminent domain commissioners created by section 9235, infra, are city officials, and not within this section: Blewett Street, Seattle, In re, 59 Wash. 485, 110 Pac. 29.

Commissioners to equalize a county assessment for the construction of a ship canal are not county officers, and may be appointed: Bilger v. State, 63 Wash. 457, 116 Pac. 19.

County game commissions and county game wardens are state and not county officers: State ex rel. Lopas v. Shagren, 91 Wash. 48, 157 Pac. 31.

The primary election law making a distinction in the method of nominating candidates between parties casting more and those casting less than ten per cent of the total vote at the last general election does not violate this section: State ex rel. Rogers v. Howell, 92 Wash. 381, 159 Pac. 118.

It is the duty of the county commissioners, in the absence of any law pointing out how population should be ascertained, to determine the fact by proof, and for this purpose the most recent federal census is competent evidence: State ex rel. Smith v. Neal, 25 Wash. 264, 65 Pac. 188, 68 Pac. 1135.

§ 6. VACANCIES IN COUNTY, ETC., OFFICES, HOW FILLED.—The board of county commissioners in each county shall fill all vacancies occurring in any county, township, precinct, or road district office of such county by appointment, and officers thus appointed shall hold office till the next general election, and until their successors are elected and qualified.

This section does not prohibit the holding of office for two full terms after the organization of the state: Smalley v. Snell, 6 Wash. 161, 32 Pac. 1062.

The fact that the incumbent has held office for two terms is immaterial, since his term does not end until his successor is elected and qualified: State ex rel. Meredith v. Tallman, 24 Wash. 426, 64 Pac. 759.

A duly elected and qualified road overseer does not become disqualified to hold his office by reason of the fact that the county commissioners have so changed the boundaries of the road district for which he was elected as to leave his residence outside thereof: State ex rel. O'Connell v. Nelson, 7 Wash. 114, 34 Pac. 562.

The incumbency of an office for a part of a term under the appointment of the county commissioners will not disqualify the officer from holding the office for two succeeding terms: Koontz v. Kurtzman, 12 Wash. 59, 40 Pac. 622.

§ 8. SALARIES AND LIMITATIONS AFFECTING. — The legislature shall fix the compensation by salaries of all county officers, and of constables in cities having a population of five thousand and upwards, except that public administrators, surveyors, and coroners may or may not be salaried officers. Rem. 1915 Code, section 680-1, subjecting the salary of county officers to garnishment does not diminish their salaries after election: Hanson v. Hodge, 92 Wash. 425, 159 Pac. 388.

The amendment to the city charter of Seattle creating a municipal plans commission, does not violate this section: Bussell v. Gill, 58 Wash. 468, 108 Pac. 1080, 137 Am. St. Rep. 1070.

§ 10. INCORPORATION OF MUNICIPALITIES.—Corporations for municipal purposes shall not be created by special laws; but the legislature, by general laws, shall provide for the incorporation, organization, and classification, in proportion to population, of cities and towns, which laws may be altered, amended, or repealed. Cities and towns heretofore organized or incorporated may become organized under such general laws whenever a majority of the electors voting at a general election shall so determine, and shall organize in conformity therewith; and cities or towns heretofore or hereafter organized and all charters thereof framed or adopted by authority of this constitution shall be subject to and controlled by general laws. Any city containing a population of twenty thousand inhabitants or more shall be permitted to frame a charter for its own government consistent with and subject to the constitution and laws of this state, and for such purpose the legislative authority of such city may cause an election to be had, at which election there shall be chosen by the

Where a county superintendent of schools was elected for a term to begin on the second Monday in January next succeeding his election and continue for two years and until his successor is elected and qualified and upon a change of the law during his term making the term "begin on the first Monday in August next succeeding his election," he is entitled to hold the office until the qualification of his successor for the term beginning in August: State ex rel. Such proposed charter shall be submitted to the qualified electors of said city, and if a majority of such qualified electors voting thereon ratify the same, it shall become the charter of said city, and shall become the organic law thereof, and supersede any existing charter, including amendments thereto, and all special laws inconsistent with such charter. Said proposed charter shall be published in two daily newspapers published in said city for at least thirty days prior to the day of submitting the same to the electors for their approval, as above provided. All elections in this section authorized shall only be had upon notice, which notice shall specify the object of calling such election, and shall be given for at least ten days before the day of election in all election districts of said city. Power to provide a tribunal and clothe it with authority to contest election cases is not implied in the grant of authority: State ex rel. Fawcett v. Superior Court, 14 Wash. 604, 45 Pac. 23, 33 L. R. A. 674.

Under this section a city may adopt the initiative and referendum plan of government: Hartig v. Seattle, 53 Wash. 432, 102 Pac. 408.

The constitutional provision authorizing cities of the first class to frame charters for themselves is not self-executing to such an extent as to render invalid an act of the legislature the object of which is to further the exercise of the right and make it available: Reeves v. Anderson, 13 Wash. 17, 42 Pac. 625.

This section requires a majority of the voters voting upon an amendment of a city charter and not a majority voting at the election: State ex rel. Wiesenthal v. Denny, 4 Wash. 135, 29 Pac. 791, 16 L. R. A. 214; Strain v. Young, 25 Wash. 578, 66 Pac. 64.

Under this section a city may provide for proposed amendments to its special charter to be submitted to the electors at a special election: State ex rel. Hindley v. Superior Court, 70 Wash. 352, 126 Pac. 920.

The power of cities of the first class to frame a charter for themselves is a continuing right vested in the voters of the city, and it does not become exhausted because once exercised: Reeves v. Anderson, 13 Wash. 17, 42 Pac. 625.

Laws of 1911, page 521, authorizing the adoption of the commission form of city government by any city now or hereafter having the required population, is not unconstitutional because of its optional features: State ex rel. Hunt v. Tausiek, 64 Wash. 69, 116 Pac. 651, 35 L. R. A. (N. S.) 802.

General laws cannot be affected by the adoption of a freeholders' charter, but they are binding upon the corporation: Seymour v. Tacoma, 6 Wash. 138, 32 Pac. 1077.

The prohibition against special legislation in incorporating cities and towns is prospective in its operation, and does not affect existing special charters created under the territorial regime: Tacoma Land Co. v. Pierce County, 1 Wash. 482, 25 Pac. 904. See Art. II, § 28, subd. 8.

The act of March 9, 1893 (p. 183), validating de facto towns, ineffectually attempting to incorporate under prior void acts, is constitutional, and not special legislation: Pullman v. Hungate, 8 Wash. 519, 36 Pac. 483; State ex rel. Bradley v. Berry, 13 Wash. 708, 42 Pac. 622; State ex rel. Rice v. Centralia, 8 Wash. 659, 36 Pac. 484.

The act of March 27, 1890 (p. 135, § 6), authorizing reincorporation of void municipal corporations, violates the constitutional inhibition against creating municipal corporations by special laws: Town of Denver v. Spokane Falls, 7 Wash. 226, 34 Pac. 926.

The act of March 27, 1890 (p. 138), authorizing cities and towns to consolidate, and to hold special elections therefor in each of the cities and towns proposed to be consolidated, does not contravene the provisions of this section: State ex rel. Cole v. New Whatcom, 3 Wash. 7, 27 Pac. 1020.

The majority prescribed by this section requisite to carry a proposition authorized to be submitted to the electors is a majority of those who vote upon the proposition: Metcalf v. Seattle, 1 Wash. 297, 29 Pac. 1010; and the vote necessary for the ratification of a proposed amendment to a freeholders' charter is a majority of those voting on the specific proposition, if submitted at a general election: State ex rel. Wiesenthal v. Denny, 4 Wash. 135, 29 Pac. 991, 16 L. R. A. 214.

The act of February 26, 1890, requiring the incorporation, organization and classification of cities in proportion to population, does not violate this section, since the same authority was conferred upon municipal corporations to be thereafter organized by other legislation at the same session: Baker v. Seattle, 2 Wash. 576, 27 Pac. 462.

This section must be construed to require the same publication of proposed amendments to a city charter as is required upon the adoption of the charter itself: Wade v. Tacoma, 4 Wash. 85, 92 Pac. 983.

The boundaries of a city, acting under a freeholders' charter cannot be extended by an amendment of its charter; for an extension to be valid under the constitution it must be consummated by virtue of action under the general laws: State ex rel. Snell v. Warner, 4 Wash. 773, 31 Pac. 25, 17 L. R. A. 263.

The constitution and statutes thereunder, authorizing the incorporation of cities and towns, do not confine the limits of the corporation to those of any pre-existing city or town, but the boundary may be established by the vote of the people within the limits of the proposed incorporation: Ferguson v. Snohomish, 8 Wash. 668, 36 Pac. 969, 24 L. R. A. 795.

This section authorizes cities to frame their own charters for self-government within certain limitations, hence article IV, section 33, freeholders' charter of Seattle, providing that a claim for damages against the city shall be presented within six months after the claim accrues and that no action should be maintained until sixty days after such presentation, is not unconstitutional, although the general law of limitations prescribes a three years' limit: Scurry v. Seattle, 8 Wash. 278, 36 Pac. 145.

Cities authorized by the constitution to frame their own charters have no authority to provide therein for the creation of municipal or police courts. Such power is delegated by the constitution to the legislature, which can alone exercise it: Cloherly, In re, 2 Wash. 137, 27 Pac. 1064.

A city cannot adopt a charter empowering it to fix the price of gas to be furnished its inhabitants, under this section, authorizing cities of a specific population to frame charters, etc., where a general law authorizes such cities to regulate and control the use of gas, but contains no provision as to price: Tacoma Gas Co. v. Tacoma, 14 Wash. 288, 44 Pac. 655.

Where the legislature has passed a general law upon the particular subject, the power to fix rates for lighting the city must be found therein, and not under section 11 of this article: Id.

The salary of elective officers must be provided for in the charter and cannot be redelegated by the charter framers to the legislative bodies of such cities: Taylor v. Tacoma, 8 Wash. 174, 35 Pac. 584; Bardsley v. Sternberg, 18 Wash. 612, 52 Pac. 251, 524.

The legislature having no authority to pass laws partaking of the character of special legislation, it cannot delegate such power to a city council: Tacoma v. Krech, 15 Wash. 296, 46 Pac. 255, 34 L. R. A. 68.

The vacation of streets is a legislative function which may be delegated by the legislature to municipal corporations: Ponischil v. Hoquiam Sash & Door Co., 41 Wash. 303, 83 Pac. 316.

The constitutional authority to frame a freeholders' charter does not authorize a city to exercise the power of eminent domain: Tacoma v. State, 4 Wash. 64, 29 Pac. 847. Nor to require registration at city elections: Seymour v. Tacoma, 6 Wash. 138, 32 Pac. 1077. Nor to provide a tribunal and clothe it with authority to determine an election contest: State ex rel. Fawcett v. Superior Court, 14 Wash. 604, 45 Pac. 23, 33 L. R. A. 674. Nor to decide all questions as to qualifications and election of members of the city council in cases of contest: State ex rel. Navin v. Wier, 26 Wash. 501, 67 Pac. 226.

The proper classification of municipal corporations may be determined by a census taken for that purpose by the local authorities: Anderson v. Whatcom County, 15 Wash. 47, 45 Pac. 665, 33 L. R. A. 137; State ex rel. Smith v. Neal, 25 Wash. 264, 65 Pac. 188, 68 Pac. 1135.

A charter of the city of the first class may be amended by a general law which affects every city of such class: State ex rel. Seattle v. Carson, 6 Wash. 250, 33 Pac. 428.

It is the evident policy of the state constitution that charters of cities of the first class and amendments thereto shall be subject to the control of general laws: Hindman v. Boyd, 42 Wash. 17, 84 Pac. 609; Benton v. Seattle Electric Co., 50 Wash. 156, 96 Pac. 1033. Permitting amendments to a charter to be adopted by a vote of the people is not an unwarranted delegation of legislative power: State ex rel. Mullen v. Doherty, 16 Wash. 382, 47 Pac. 958, 58 Am. St. Rep. 39.

The adoption of charter amendments requiring the submission of the matter of granting franchises to a vote of the people is not unconstitutional as an unlawful delegation of legislative power to the people: Hindman v. Boyd, 42 Wash. 17, 84 Pac. 609.

An ordinance fixing the minimum fine for a misdemeanor is not void, although the general law of the state fixes no minimum: Seattle v. Pearson, 15 Wash. 575, 46 Pac. 105. See, also, Seattle v. Chin Let, 19 Wash. 38, 52 Pac. 324.

This section does not permit the adoption of unreasonable charter limitations against claims and actions for damages against the city: Hase v. Seattle, 51 Wash. 174, 98 Pac. 370, 20 L. R. A. (N. S.) 938.

§ 11. POLICE AND SANITARY REGULATIONS.—Any county, city, town or township, may make and enforce within its limits all such local, police, sanitary, and other regulations as are not in conflict with general laws.

Concurrent and Conflicting Exercise of Power by State and Municipality.—The power conferred upon cities to regulate the traffic in intoxicating liquors within their limits, relates more especially to what are usually termed "police powers," and must be exercised consistently with the general laws of the state, one of which is that only pure liquors shall be sold: State ex rel. Christie v. Meek, 26 Wash. 405, 67 Pac. 76.

Police power to regulate the frequency of street-car service is conferred upon a city by this section: Tacoma v. Bontelle, 61 Wash. 434, 112 Pac. 661.

The right of a city to exercise the police power within its limits by regulations not in conflict with general laws ceases as to any particular subject matter when the state acts by passing a general law on the subject, unless there is room for the exercise of concurrent jurisdiction: Seattle Electric Co. v. Seattle, 78 Wash. 203, 138 Pac. 892.

A city cannot adopt a charter empowering it to fix the price of gas to be furnished its inhabitants, where a general law authorizes such cities to regulate and control the use of gas, but contains no provision as to price: Tacoma Gas & Elec. Light Co. v. Tacoma, 14 Wash. 288, 44 Pac. 655.

This section delegates to the city police, power to legislate upon the subject of weights and measures to prevent frauds: Seattle v. Goldsmith, 73 Wash. 54, 131 Pac. 456.

The legislative body of a city of the first class has the power to prescribe a higher rate of wages than the prevailing rate, as a minimum of wages to be paid for common labor on public work to be paid for by special assessments against property specially benefited: Malette v. Spokane, 77 Wash. 205, 137 Pac. 496, Ann. Cas. 1915D, 225, 51 L. R. A. (N. S.) 686.

Sports or Amusements.—A city has authority under its police power, to prohibit the opening of theaters on Sunday, in the absence of any general law expressly permitting them to be opened: Ferguson, In re, 80 Wash. 102, 141 Pac. 322.

The action of the city in granting a franchise ordinance to a railway to construct bridges over certain streets is not ultra vires as being in excess of corporate powers: Detamore v. Hindley, 83 Wash. 322, 145 Pac. 462.

This section is not violated by the enactment of the statute (Laws 1893, p. 301), providing for the establishment and improvement of highways in counties, and an assessment therefor is not a tax within the meaning of the constitution: Seanor v. County Commissioners, 13 Wash. 48, 42 Pac. 552.

Section 9961, infra, et seq., as amended by Laws of 1911, page 180, which provides for a state bureau of inspection to secure a uniform system of accounts, empowered to make examinations of the accounts and records of all county and city officers at the expense of such local municipalities, does not violate this section: State ex rel. Clausen v. Burr, 65 Wash. 524, 118 Pac. 639.

Municipal Taxes and Other Revenue.—This provision is not violated by the enactment of the statute (Laws 1893, p. 301), providing for the establishment and improvement of highways in counties: Seanor v. County Commissioners, 13 Wash. 48, 42 Pac. 552.

Laws of 1903, page 393, requiring the municipal authorities to submit to a vote of the people a charter amendment when petitioned so to do by fifteen persons of the qualified voters of the city, thereby compelling the city to incur expense of such election, does not violate this section: Hindman v. Boyd, 42 Wash. 17, 84 Pac. 609.

An act authorizing a county to levy a special assessment for benefits accruing from a public improvement is not the imposition of a tax upon the county by the state, prohibited by this section: Bilger v. State, 63 Wash. 457, 116 Pac. 19.

Section 4262, infra, is not unconstitutional in that it authorizes the exercise of extraterritorial jurisdiction and enables the taxing of land outside the district which may be within another district, since the charges are measurable only by the benefits resulting to the land charged: State ex rel. Conner v. Superior Court, 81 Wash. 480, 143 Pac. 112.

Laws of 1915, page 587, section 1, validating tax levies made by cities of the third class in excess of the legal limit, is not in violation of this section: Owings v. Olympia, 88 Wash. 289, 152 Pac. 1019.

The enactment of § 2812, Bal. Code, is in perfect harmony with this provision, and applies to public officers, such as city treasurer: State v. Krug, 12 Wash. 288, 41 Pac. 126; State v. Boggs, 16 Wash. 143, 47 Pac. 417.

Depositing funds of a city in a bank subject to repayment on demand, is neither a loan nor an investment of the funds: Bardsley v. Sternberg, 18 Wash. 612, 52 Pac. 251, 524.

§ 15. DEPOSIT OF PUBLIC FUNDS.—All moneys, assessments, and taxes belonging to or collected for the use of any county, city, town, or other public or municipal corporation, coming into the hands of any officer thereof, shall immediately be deposited with the treasurer, or other legal depository, to the credit of such city, town, or other corporation respectively, for the benefit of the funds to which they belong.

Section 9603, infra, providing for the excavation of public waterways and for liens, does not violate this section; as the claim for liens for the work is not a debt of any such corporation: Seattle & Lake Washington Waterway Co. v. Seattle Dock Co., 35 Wash. 503, 77 Pac. 845.

ARTICLE XII.

Corporations Other Than Municipal.

§ 1. CORPORATIONS, HOW FORMED.—Corporations may be formed under general laws, but shall not be created by special acts. All laws relating to corporations may be altered, amended, or repealed by the legislature at any time, and all corporations doing business in this state may, as to such business, be regulated, limited, or restrained by law.

Cited in 19 Wash. 498; 51 Wash. 390; 67 Wash. 44, 383; 80 Wash. 171; 104 Wash. 60.

§ 2. EXISTING CHARTERS.—All existing charters, franchises, special or exclusive privileges, under which an actual and bona fide organization shall not have taken place, and business been commenced in good faith, at the time of the adoption of this constitution, shall thereafter have no validity.

§ 3. EXISTING CHARTERS NOT TO BE EXTENDED NOR FORFEITURE REMITTED.—The legislature shall not extend any franchise or charter, nor remit the forfeiture of any franchise or charter of any corporation now existing, or which shall hereafter exist under the laws of this state.

Cited in 67 Wash. 383.

The striking of delinquent names for failure to pay license fees is not the forfeiture of a franchise or charter within the meaning of this section: State ex rel. Preston Mill Co. v. Howell, 67 Wash. 377, 121 Pac. 861.

§ 4. LIABILITY OF STOCKHOLDERS.—Each stockholder in all incorporated companies, except corporations organized for banking or insurance purposes, shall be liable for the debts of the corporation to the amount of his unpaid stock, and no more, and one or more stockholders may be joined as parties defendant in suits to recover upon this liability.

Cited in 64 Wash. 299, 300; 78 Wash. 609; 80 Wash. 389.

Liabilities of stockholders, see Remington's Digest, Corp., §§ 30—48, 212, and cases cited.

Section 8611, infra, permitting mining claims to be transferred to such corporation in full payment of the capital stock without the necessity of stock subscriptions, does not apply to coal mining companies, the stockholders of which are accordingly liable to creditors upon unpaid stock subscriptions: Davies v. Ball, 64 Wash. 292, 116 Pac. 833; Ann. Cas. 1914B, 750.

The stockholders of an insolvent corporation do not continue liable upon stock subscriptions as long as liability exists against the corporation: Chilberg v. Siebenbaum, 41 Wash. 663, 84 Pac. 598.

This section is not a limitation upon the power of the stockholder to contract with the corporation in reference to a surplus fund: Johns v. Clothier, 78 Wash. 602, 139 Pac. 755.

§ 5. TERM "CORPORATION," DEFINED—RIGHT TO SUE AND BE SUED.—The term "corporations," as used in this article shall be construed to include all associations and joint stock companies having any powers or privileges of corporations not possessed by individuals or partnerships, and all corporations shall have the right to sue and shall be subject to be sued in all courts in like cases as natural persons.

§ 6. LIMITATIONS UPON ISSUANCE OF STOCK.—Corporations shall not issue stock, except to bona fide subscribers therefor, or their assignees; nor shall any corporation issue any bond or other obligation for the payment of money, except for money or property received or labor done. The stock of corporations shall not be increased, except in pursuance of a general law, nor shall any law authorize the increase of stock, without the consent of the person or persons holding the larger amount in value of the stock, nor without due notice of the proposed increase having been previously given in such manner as may be prescribed by law. All fictitious increase of stock or indebtedness shall be void.

A bond by a corporation guaranteeing dividends in a sum equal to the amount paid for the stock makes the stock subscription a fictitious one and violates this section: Jorguson v. Apex Gold Mines Co., 74 Wash. 243, 133 Pac. 465, 46 L. R. A. (N. S.) 637.

There is a fraud upon creditors and a violation of this section, where stock was subscribed under an agreement to take a certain number of shares of preferred stock at its par value for each of which three shares of common stock was to be given as a bonus: Gordon v. Cummings, 78 Wash. 515, 139 Pac. 489.

A contract whereby a corporation agreed to sell and give an option on from three hundred thousand to five hundred thousand shares, of the par value of one dollar each, at the stated purchase price of seven cents, is ultra vires and unenforceable: Fox v. Seattle Contact Copper Co., 98 Wash. 557, 168 Pac. 185.

§ 7. FOREIGN CORPORATIONS.—No corporation organized outside the limits of this state shall be allowed to transact business within the state on more favorable conditions than are prescribed by law to similar corporations organized under the laws of this state.

Subjection to Laws Governing Domestic Corporations: See Remington's Digest, Corp., § 248; State ex rel. Amalgamated Republic Mines Co. v. Nichols, 47 Wash. 117, 91 Pac. 632; State ex rel. Baker River & Shuiksan R. Co. v. Nichols, 51 Wash. 619, 99 Pac. 876.

Alien companies cannot do business in this state without making the deposit required of domestic corporations, although not required by its home laws to make a deposit, in view of this section: State ex rel. Leach v. Fishback, 79 Wash. 290, 140 Pac. 387.

A foreign express company having an interstate business in this state is not free to renounce intrastate business, in the absence of any suggestion that the local business is done at a loss: State v. Northern Express Co., 76 Wash. 636, 136 Pac. 1160.

§ 8. ALIENATION OF FRANCHISE NOT TO RELEASE LIABILITIES.—No corporation shall lease or alienate any franchise, so as to relieve the franchise, or property held thereunder, from the liabilities of the lessor or grantor, lessee or grantee, contracted or incurred in the operation, use, or enjoyment of such franchise or any of its privileges.

Cited in 8 Wash. 286, 287; 86 Wash. 322.

The transfer by an insolvent corporation of all its property to the mortgagee thereof is not inhibited by this section: Klosterman v. Mason County etc. R. Co., 8 Wash. 281, 36 Pac. 136.

A telephone franchise is not violated and a cause of forfeiture does not arise by the giving of a voluntary mortgage, followed by an involuntary foreclosure and sale under which another telephone company acquired the franchise and telephone system: State ex rel. Tacoma v. Sunset Telephone & Telegraph Co., 86 Wash. 309, 150 Pac. 427, L. R. A. 1917F, 1178.

§ 9. STATE NOT TO LOAN ITS CREDIT OR SUBSCRIBE FOR STOCK.—The state shall not in any manner loan its credit, nor shall it subscribe to or be interested in the stock of any company, association or corporation.

Cited in 35 Wash. 513.

§ 10. EMINENT DOMAIN AFFECTING.—The exercise of the right of eminent domain shall never be so abridged or construed as to prevent the legislature from taking the property and franchises of incorporated companies, and subjecting them to public use the same as the property of individuals.

Cited in 32 Wash. 595; 57 Wash. 430.

The more extended and beneficial public use employed by a municipal corporation amounts to a reasonable necessity for and authorizes the taking of the property of a public service corporation already devoted to the same public use under this section: Tacoma v. Nisqually Power Co., 57 Wash. 420, 107 Pac. 199.

§ 11. PROHIBITION AGAINST ISSUANCE OF MONEY AND LIABILITY OF STOCKHOLDERS IN BANKS.—No corporation, association, or individual shall issue or put in circulation as money anything but the lawful money of the United States. Each stockholder of any banking or insurance corporation or joint stock association shall be individually and personally liable equally and ratably, and not one for another, for all contracts, debts, and engagements of such corporation or association accruing while they remain such stockholders, to the extent of the amount of their stock therein at the par value thereof, in addition to the amount invested in such shares.

Liability for Debts and Acts of Bank—In General.—The double liability imposed by this section upon stockholders of a banking corporation in addition to the amount of their stock subscriptions, is a secondary, and not a primary liability. the stockholders occupying the position of sureties: Wilson v. Book, 13 Wash. 676, 43 Pac. 939; Watterson v. Masterson, 15 Wash. 511, 46 Pac. 1041.

But this rule has no application to the limitation of actions, but only to the equitable application of the funds, and does not require that the primary assets be exhausted and applied before recourse be had against the stockholders: Bennett v. Thorne, 36 Wash. 253, 78 Pac. 936, 68 L. R. A. 113.

The superadded liability of a stockholder of a bank, under this section, is personal, and does not follow the stock: Shuey v. Holmes, 21 Wash. 223, 57 Pac. 818; Shuey v. Adair, 24 Wash. 378, 64 Pac. 536.

§ 12. RECEIVING DEPOSITS BY BANK AFTER INSOLVENCY. ART. XII, §§ 13-15 CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF WASHINGTON.

§ 13. COMMON CARRIERS, REGULATION OF.— All railroad, canal, and other transportation companies are declared to be common carriers, and subject to legislative control. Any association or corporation organized for the purpose, under the laws of this state, shall have the right to connect at the state line with railroads of other states. Every railroad company shall have the right with its road, whether the same is now constructed or may hereafter be constructed, to intersect, cross, or connect with any other railroad, and when such railroads are of the same or similar gauge they shall, at all crossings, and at all points where a railroad shall begin or terminate at or near any other railroad, form proper connections so that the cars of any such railroad companies may be speedily transferred from one railroad to another. All railroad companies shall receive and transport each the other's passengers, tonnage, and cars, without delay or discrimination.

§ 14. PROHIBITION AGAINST COMBINATIONS BY CARRIERS. Cited in 51 Wash. 349.

This section is not violated by an arrangement between two railroad companies operating competing lines between Spokane and Seattle, Washington, whereby each subscribed for one-half of the capital stock of a new and distinct railroad corporation and contributed one-half of the cost of constructing a new railroad from Spokane to Portland, Oregon, opening up and serving new territory, each road continuing its individual identity and control: State ex rel. Cascade R. Co. v. Superior Court, 51 Wash. 346, 98 Pac. 739.

§ 15. PROHIBITION AGAINST DISCRIMINATING CHARGES.— No discrimination in charges or facilities for transportation shall be made by any railroad or other transportation company between places or persons, or in the facilities for the transportation of the same classes of freight or passengers within this state, or coming from or going to any other state. Persons and property transported over any railroad, or by any other transportation company, or individual, shall be delivered at any station, landing, or port at charges not exceeding the charges for the transportation of persons and property of the same class, in the same direction, to any more distant station, port, or landing. Excursion and commutation tickets may be issued at special rates.

This section is not self-executing: Northwestern Warehouse Co. v. Oregon R. & Nav. Co., 32 Wash. 218, 73 Pac. 388.

The state having no power to place a burden upon interstate commerce, an interstate express company doing business in this state is free to renounce its intrastate business, notwithstanding the constitutional and statutory provisions (overruling on rehearing Id., 76 Wash.

636, 136 Pac. 1160): State v. Northern Express Co., 80 Wash. 309, 141 Pac. 757.

Section 10433, infra, providing that all claims concerning transportation overcharges shall be filed with the public service commission within two years from the time the cause of action accrues is not unconstitutional or beyond the power of the legislature, as curtailing the common law, as declared by this section: Hewitt Logging Co. v. Northern Pac. R. Co., 97 Wash. 597, 166 Pac. 1153.

§ 16. PROHIBITION AGAINST CONSOLIDATION OF COMPETING LINES.—No railroad corporation shall consolidate its stock, property, or franchises with any other railroad corporation owning a competing line.

Cited in 51 Wash. 349; 80 Wash. 170.

A private citizen cannot raise the question whether a railroad corporation in owning all the stock of other companies violated this section, or § 10463 infra, since the question should be left open for the state for such action as it deems wise: Day v. Tacoma R. & Power Co., 80 Wash. 161, 141 Pac. 347, L. R. A. 1915B, 547.

§ 17. ROLLING STOCK, PERSONALTY FOR PURPOSES OF TAXATION.—The rolling stock and other movable property belonging to any railroad company or corporation in this state shall be considered personal property, and shall be liable to taxation and to execution and sale in the same manner as the personal property of individuals, and such property shall not be exempted from execution and sale.

A railroad and transportation commission may be established, and its powers and duties fully defined by law.

The constitutional provision requiring the legislature to establish reasonable maximum transportation rates does not prevent the delegation of such power to a railroad commission: State ex rel. Great Northern R. Co. v. Railroad Commission, 52 Wash. 33, 100 Pac. 184.

§ 19. TELEGRAPH AND TELEPHONE COMPANIES.—Any association or corporation, or the lessees or managers thereof, organized for the purpose, or any individual, shall have the right to construct and maintain lines of telegraph and telephone within this state, and said companies shall receive and transmit each other's messages without delay or discrimination, and all of such companies are hereby declared to be common carriers and subject to legislative control. Railroad corporations organized or doing business in this state shall allow telegraph and telephone corporations and companies to construct and maintain telegraph lines on and along the rights of way of such railroads and railroad companies, and no railroad corporation organized or doing business in this state shall allow any telegraph corporation or company any facilities, privileges, or rates for transportation of men or material or for repairing their lines not allowed to all telegraph companies. The right of eminent domain is hereby extended to all telegraph and telephone companies. The legislature shall, by general law of uniform operation, provide reasonable regulations to give effect to this section.

See supra, Art. I, § 16, eminent domain.

This section is not self-operative, but by its own terms imposes the duty on the legislature of providing by general law reasonable regulations to give effect to the section, and hence confers no power to use the streets and highways other than as the legislature may provide: State ex rel. Spokane & B. C. Tel. Co. v. Spokane, 24 Wash. 53, 63 Pac. 1116.

The provision in Ballinger's Code, section 4369, "that where the right of way, as herein contemplated, is within the corporate limits of any incorporated city, the consent of the city council thereof shall be first obtained before such telegraph or telephone line can be erected thereon," is valid: State ex rel. Spokane & B. C. Tel. Co. v. Spokane, 24 Wash. 53, 63 Pac. 1116.

Under this section and section 11342, infra, telegraph and telephone companies may condemn a strip of land privately owned, although it is adjacent to a railroad right of way: State ex rel. De Soucy v. Superior Court, 77 Wash. 31, 137 Pac. 311.

§ 20. PROHIBITION AGAINST FREE TRANSPORTATION FOR PUBLIC OFFICERS.—No railroad or other transportation company shall grant free passes, or sell tickets or passes at a discount, other than as sold to the public generally, to any member of the legislature, or to any person holding any public office within this state. The legislature shall pass laws to carry this provision into effect.

Cited in 10 Wash. 312; 45 Wash. 584.

§ 21. EXPRESS COMPANIES.—Railroad companies, now or hereafter organized or doing business in this state shall allow all express companies organized or doing business in this state transportation over all lines of railroad owned or operated by such railroad companies upon equal terms with any other express company; and no railroad corporation organized or doing business in this state shall allow any express corporation or company any facilities, privileges, or rates for transportation of men or materials or property carried by them, or for doing the business of such express companies, not allowed to all express companies.

See supra, § 15.

§ 22. MONOPOLIES AND TRUSTS.—Monopolies and trusts shall never be allowed in this state, and no incorporated company, copartnership, or association of persons in this state shall directly or indirectly combine or make any contract with any other incorporated company, foreign or domestic, through their stockholders, or the trustees, or assignees of such stockholders, or with any copartnership or association of persons, or in any manner whatever, for the purpose of fixing the price or limiting the production or regulating the transportation of any product or commodity. The legislature shall pass laws for the enforcement of this section by adequate penalties, and in case of incorporated companies, if necessary for that purpose, may declare a forfeiture of their franchise.

An ordinance granting a franchise for the construction and operation of a system of street railways, which authorizes the grantees to acquire existing railway lines and surrender their franchises, for the purpose of operating a new system under the proposed franchise, does not violate this section: Wood v. Seattle, 23 Wash. 1, 62 Pac. 135, 52 L. R. A. 369.

The provision of the act of 1893, relating to the excavation of public waterways, is not invalid or contrary to this section: Seattle & Lake Wash. Waterway Co. v. Seattle Dock Co., 35 Wash. 503, 77 Pac. 845.

A monopoly does not preclude a boom company from so locating its site as to control the booming on a certain river: Nicomen Boom Co. v. North Shore etc. Co., 40 Wash. 315, 82 Pac. 412.

A monopoly in the warehouse business in a locality is not shown by the fact that the business was restricted to locations upon the lands of a railway company: Northwest Warehouse Co. v. Oregon R. & Nav. Co., 32 Wash. 218, 73 Pac. 388.

A contract between two steamship companies operating boats between the same points, whereby one, in consideration of $1,500, agreed to withdraw its boats from the route for a period of three years, contravenes this provision: Manson v. Hunt, 82 Wash. 291, 144 Pac. 45.

State Institutions.

§ 1. EDUCATIONAL, REFORMATORY AND PENAL INSTITUTIONS.—Educational, reformatory, and penal institutions, those for the benefit of blind, deaf, dumb, or otherwise defective youth, for the insane or idiotic, and such other institutions as the public good may require, shall be fostered and supported by the state, subject to such regulations as may be provided by law. The regents, trustees, or commissioners of all such institutions existing at the time of the adoption of this constitution, and of such as shall thereafter be established by law shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate; and upon all nominations made by the governor, the question shall be taken by ayes and noes, and entered upon the journal.

ex rel. Board of Commrs. v. Clausen, 95 Wash. 214, 163 Pac. 744.

Seat of Government.

§ 1. STATE CAPITAL, LOCATION OF.—The legislature shall have no power to change or to locate the seat of government of this state; but the question of the permanent location of the seat of government of the state shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the territory, at the election to be held for the adoption of this constitution. A majority of all the votes cast at said election, upon said question, shall be necessary to determine the permanent location of the seat of government for the state; and no place shall ever be the seat of government which shall not receive a majority of the votes cast on that matter. In case there shall be no choice of location at said first election, the legislature shall, at its first regular session after the adoption of this constitution, provide for submitting to the qualified electors of the state, at the next succeeding general election, thereafter, the question of choice of location between the three places for which the highest number of votes shall have been cast at the said first election. Said legislature shall provide further, that in case there shall be no choice of location at said second election, the question of choice between the two places for which the highest number of votes shall have been cast shall be submitted in like manner to the qualified electors of the state at the next ensuing general election: Provided, that until the seat of government shall have been permanently located as herein provided the temporary location shall remain at the city of Olympia.

Cited in 25 Wash. 583; 49 Wash. 74; 55 Wash. 287.

§ 2. CHANGE OF STATE CAPITAL.—When the seat of government shall have been located as herein provided, the location thereof shall not thereafter be changed except by a vote of two-thirds of all the qualified electors of the state voting on that question, at a general election, at which the question of location of the seat of government shall have been submitted by the legislature.

§ 3. RESTRICTIONS ON APPROPRIATIONS FOR CAPITOL BUILDINGS.—The legislature shall make no appropriations or expenditures for capitol buildings or grounds, except to keep the territorial capitol buildings and grounds in repair, and for making all necessary additions thereto, until the seat of government shall have been permanently located, and the public buildings are erected at the permanent capital in pursuance of law.

Harbors and Tide Waters.

Cited in 93 Wash. 134, 137; 95 Wash. 245—247.

§ 1. HARBOR LINE COMMISSION AND RESTRAINT ON DISPOSITION OF CERTAIN TIDE LANDS.—The legislature shall provide for the appointment of a commission whose duty it shall be to locate and establish harbor lines in the navigable waters of all harbors, estuaries, bays, and inlets of this state, wherever such navigable waters lie within or in front of the corporate limits of any city, or within one mile thereof on either side. The state shall never give, sell, or lease to any private person, corporation, or association any rights whatever in the waters beyond such harbor lines, nor shall any of the area lying between any harbor line and the line of ordinary high tide, and within not less than fifty feet nor more than six hundred feet of such harbor line (as the commission shall determine) be sold or granted by the state, nor its rights to control the same relinquished, but such area shall be forever reserved for landings, wharves, streets, and other conveniences of navigation and commerce.

See infra, Art. XVII, tide lands.

“Tide lands” are “state” lands in a certain sense—that is, they belong to the state; but in all the nomenclature of our constitution and statutes the latter term does not include the former: Seattle & M. Ry. Co. v. State, 7 Wash. 150, 34 Pac. 551, 38 Am. St. Rep. 866, 22 L. R. A. 217.

Under this section a riparian proprietor within a mile of the corporate limits of any city, has no right to extend wharves in front of his land below highwater mark except by permission of the state: Eisenbach v. Hatfield, 2 Wash. 236, 26 Pac. 539, 12 L. R. A. 632.

The territorial act, Ballinger's Code, section 4077, providing that cities may authorize the construction of a wharf at the terminus of a street, has been superseded by this section: State ex rel. Port Angeles v. Morse, 56 Wash. 654, 106 Pac. 147.

The act of March 21, 1895 (Laws 1895, p. 406), authorizing the disestablishment of harbor lines in front of towns under certain conditions, is unconstitutional as being in conflict with this section, which contemplates that such lines, when once established, shall forever remain so: Wilson v. Board of State Land Commrs., 13 Wash. 65, 42 Pac. 524.

The board of harbor line commissioners is authorized, under this section, to establish harbor lines in front of towns as well as cities: State ex rel. Stimson Mill Co. v. Board of Harbor Line Commrs., 4 Wash. 6, 29 Pac. 938.

The duty and power prescribed does not constitute a limitation of power upon the legislature touching harbor lines in front of second-class tide lands: Puget Mill Co. v. State, 93 Wash. 128, 160 Pac. 310.

The term "commerce" must be construed as modified by the employment of the term "navigation," and the commercial use of such areas must be restricted to such as are aids to navigation; consequently the erection of structures on such areas for the "curing and canning of fish maintaining retail and wholesale fish markets and the storage of ice for packing and handling fish," are not "conveniences of navigation and commerce," and hence not permissible under the constitution: State ex rel. Denny v. Bridges, 19 Wash. 44, 52 Pac. 326, 40 L. R. A. 593.

This section applies to navigable rivers and lakes as well as tide waters: State ex rel. Seattle v. Savidge, 95 Wash. 240, 163 Pac. 738.

The state may establish pier-head lines beyond the harbor lines, whenever it pleases; and hence a lessee of the state of abutting tidelands cannot show the establishment of change of pier-head lines at locations advantageous to his leasehold for the purpose of enhancing the value thereof, in an action to recover for damages thereto: Wilson v. Oregon-Washington R. & Nav. Co., 71 Wash. 102, 127 Pac. 847.

The term "other structures" is governed by the rule of ejusdem generis, and falls within the genus "conveniences of navigation and commerce," and the statute, § 7999, infra: State ex rel. Denny v. Bridges, 19 Wash. 44, 52 Pac. 326, 40 L. R. A. 593.

§ 2. LEASING AND MAINTENANCE OF WHARVES, DOCKS, ETC.—The legislature shall provide general laws for the leasing of the right to build and maintain wharves, docks, and other structures, upon the areas mentioned in section one of this article, but no lease shall be made for any term longer than thirty years, or the legislature may provide by general laws for the building and maintaining upon such area wharves, docks, and other structures.

Under this section the state may lease the right to build a railroad on the harbor area; "other structures" being equivalent to "other conveniences" of commerce in section 1: State ex rel. Hulme v. Grays Harbor & Puget Sound R. Co., 54 Wash. 530, 103 Pac. 809.

§ 3. EXTENSION OF STREETS OVER TIDE LANDS.—Municipal corporations shall have the right to extend their streets over intervening tide lands to and across the area reserved as herein provided.

School and Granted Lands.

§ 1. DISPOSITION OF.—All the public lands granted to the state are held in trust for all the people, and none of such lands, nor any estate or interest therein, shall ever be disposed of unless the full market value of the estate or interests disposed of, to be ascertained in such manner as may be provided by law, be paid or safely secured to the state; nor shall any lands which the state holds by grant from the United States (in any case in which the manner of disposal and minimum price are so prescribed) be disposed of except in the manner and for at least the price prescribed in the grant thereof, without the consent of the United States.

Disposal of, in general: See Remington's Digest, Pub. Lands, §§ 75—83, and cases cited.

§ 2. MANNER AND TERMS OF SALE.—None of the lands granted to the state for educational purposes shall be sold otherwise than at public auction to the highest bidder; and the value thereof, less the improvements, shall, before any sale, be appraised by a board of appraisers, to be provided by law, the terms of payment also to be prescribed by law, and no sale shall be valid unless the sum bid be equal to the appraised value of said land. In estimating the value of such lands for disposal, the value of improvements thereon shall be excluded: Provided, that the sale of all school and university land heretofore made by the commissioners of any county or the university commissioners, when the purchase price has been paid in good faith, may be confirmed by the legislature.

Waters of a non-navigable stream upon state lands granted for a scientific school cannot be appropriated by a nonriparian owner; since they are considered as part of the soil and as an incident to the owner's estate: Colburn v. Winchell, 97 Wash. 27, 165 Pac. 1078.

Lands deeded to the territorial board of regents of the university are "public lands" within the constitution and laws of the state, empowering the state board of land commissioners to dispose of the same; State v. Hewitt Land Co., 74 Wash. 573, 134 Pac. 474.

The state's relinquishment of rights to unsurveyed school sections which had not vested because of national forest reservations or settler's rights, is not a disposition of public lands in violation of this section: Thompson v. Savidge, 110 Wash. 486, 188 Pac. 397.

§ 3. LIMITATIONS ON SALES.—No more than one-fourth of the land granted to the state for educational purposes shall be sold prior to January first, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, and not more than one-half prior to January first, nineteen hundred and five: Provided, that nothing herein shall be so construed as to prevent the state from selling the timber or stone off of any of the state lands in such manner and on such terms as may be prescribed by law: And provided further, that no sale of timber lands shall be valid unless the full value of such lands is paid or secured to the state.

§ 4. HOW MUCH MAY BE OFFERED IN CERTAIN CASES—PLATTING OF.—No more than one hundred and sixty acres of any granted lands of the state shall be offered for sale in one parcel, and all lands within the limits of any incorporated city, or within two miles of the boundary of any incorporated city, where the valuation of such lands shall be found by appraisement to exceed one hundred dollars per acre shall, before the same be sold, be platted into lots and blocks of not more than five acres in a block, and not more than one block shall be offered for sale in one parcel.

Bonds issued by a city under Laws of 1901, page 177, to defray the cost of the construction of waterworks, payable only out of a special fund derived from the revenues of the waterworks system, are not municipal bonds within the meaning of this section: State ex rel. Port Townsend v. Clausen, 40 Wash. 95, 82 Pac. 187.

Tide Lands.

§ 1. DECLARATION OF STATE OWNERSHIP.—The state of Washington asserts its ownership to the beds and shores of all navigable waters in the state up to and including the line of ordinary high tide in waters where the tide ebbs and flows, and up to and including the line of ordinary high water within the banks of all navigable rivers and lakes: Provided, that this section shall not be construed so as to debar any person from asserting his claim to vested rights in the courts of the state.

Grays Harbor Boom Co., 54 Wash. 542, 103 Pac. 833; Gifford v. Horton, 54 Wash. 595, 103 Pac. 988.

The title to tide waters and beds of navigable streams is at common law and by this section, in the state, subject to the paramount right of the public use of navigable waters but this does not affect the rights of riparian owners on non-navigable streams, though their source is in navigable waters: New Whatcom v. Fairhaven Land Co., 24 Wash. 493, 64 Pac. 735, 54 L. R. A. 190.

Under this section, the owner of upland under patents from the federal government has no riparian or littoral rights as against the state, which holds the title of the beds and shores in fee, free from encumbrances or easements of any kind: Bilger v. State, 63 Wash. 457, 116 Pac. 19.

Under this section the riparian owner on a navigable lake has no common-law right as such owner to the waters of the lake for the purposes of irrigation superior to the right of appropriation possessed by owners of land not bordering upon the lake under the laws of the state relating to the appropriation of water for irrigation: State ex rel. Ham, Yearsley & Ryrie v. Superior Court, 70 Wash. 442, 126 Pac. 945.

A riparian owner upon a navigable stream has no title to the gravel in the bed of the stream, in view of this section: Commissioners Commerical Waterway District No. 2 v. Seattle Factory Sites Co., 76 Wash. 181, 135 Pac. 1042.

The state being the owner of the beds of navigable rivers, under this section, riparian owners are not, in eminent domain proceedings to establish a waterway district, entitled to damages from the fact that the state will divert the course of the stream and leave their property without access to the water: Newell v. Loeb, 77 Wash. 182, 137 Pac. 811.

A stream is not navigable, in contemplation of this section, where it merely appears that, for some distance, the tide ebbs and flows, and that, on various occasions, tugboats and small craft had gone up and down the stream at high tide for the purpose of towing logs: Wilson v. Prickett, 79 Wash. 89, 139 Pac. 754.

Where a stream is navigable only for the purpose of floating logs and shingle-bolts, and not in the general commercial sense, the title to the bed of the stream is in the owner of the adjacent land, as far as the thread of the stream, and not in the state: State ex rel. Davis v. Superior Court, 84 Wash. 252, 146 Pac. 609.

Under the federal grant to the state, and the assertion of title by this section, the title of the state is paramount and absolute, and not restricted to the power of regulation for the purposes of navigation: Hill v. Newell, 86 Wash. 227, 149 Pac. 951.

Shore lands on a navigable lake between ordinary high water and ordinary low water belong to the state, where they were unpatented at the time of the adoption of the state constitution: Kalez v. Spokane Valley Land & Water Co., 89 Wash. 514, 154 Pac. 1097.

The state, under this section, being the owners of the beds and shores of navigable streams, a railroad grant of designated lots across which there was an unmeandered navigable slough does not convey the title to the shores or bed of the slough, the limit of the grant being ordinary high water where there is no meander line: Washington Boom Co. v. Chehalis Boom Co., 90 Wash. 350, 156 Pac. 24.

§ 2. LAWS IN FORCE CONTINUED.—All laws now in force in the territory of Washington which are not repugnant to this constitution shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitation, or are altered or repealed by the legislature: Provided, that this section shall not be so construed as to validate any act of the legislature of Washington Territory granting shore or tide lands to any person, company, or any municipal or private corporation.

Where the highest judicial authority of the territory has decided a law invalid because its object was not clearly expressed in the title, the above section does not continue it as a law "then in force":

State v. Halbert, 14 Wash. 306, 44 Pac. 538; State v. Smith, 15 Wash. 698, 46 Pac. 1119.

This section cannot be construed as reenacting a statute, but merely as continuing in force all valid laws which were then in existence: State v. Ellis, 22 Wash. 129, 60 Pac. 136.

The constitution and laws have abrogated the act of the territorial legislature of 1884 authorizing certain owners to build wharves in front of their premises: Eisenbach v. Hatfield, 2 Wash. 26, 26 Pac. 539, 12 L. R. A. 632.

Session Laws 1869, page 408, and Bal. Code, §§ 155-164, regarding the payment of interest on warrants, were carried forward and made a part of the statutes by virtue of this section: State ex rel. Capital Nat. Bank v. Young, 22 Wash. 547, 61 Pac. 725.

As to the duties of the attorney general, under territorial laws, kept in force by this section, see State ex rel. Atty. Gen. v. Seattle Gas & Elec. Co., 28 Wash. 488, 68 Pac. 946, 70 Pac. 114.

§ 3. DEBTS, FINES, ETC., TO INURE TO THE STATE.—All debts, fines, penalties, and forfeitures which have accrued or may hereafter accrue to the territory of Washington shall inure to the state of Washington.

§ 5. CRIMINAL PROSECUTIONS AND PENAL ACTIONS.—All criminal prosecutions and penal actions which may have arisen, or which may arise, before the change from a territorial to a state government, and which shall then be pending, shall be prosecuted to judgment and execution in the name of the state. All offenses committed against the laws of the territory of Washington, before the change from a territorial to state government, and which shall not be prosecuted before such change, may be prosecuted in the name and by the authority of the state of Washington, with like effect as though such change had not taken place; and all penalties incurred shall remain the same as if this constitution had not been adopted. All actions at law and suits in equity which may be pending in any of the courts of the territory of Washington at the time of a change from a territorial to a state government shall be continued and transferred to the court of the state having jurisdiction of the subject matter thereof.

Where an action was commenced in justice court before the admission of the state when the justice had jurisdiction up to $300, and judgment was not rendered until after the admission of the state, when the justice had jurisdiction for only $100, in a sum over that amount, the justice's only authority was to transfer the case to the superior court; and an appeal having been taken and the case transferred by the justice under the appeal, it will be considered as a proper transfer of the case, within this section: Moore v. Perrott, 2 Wash. 1, 25 Pac. 900.

§ 6. RETENTION OF TERRITORIAL OFFICERS.—All officers now holding their office under the authority of the United States, or of the territory of Washington, shall continue to hold and exercise their respective offices until they shall be superseded by the authority of the state.

Cited in 102 Wash. 475.

§ 8. CHANGE OF COURTS—TRANSFER OF CAUSES.—Whenever the judge of the superior court of any county, elected or appointed under the provisions of this constitution, shall have qualified, the several causes then pending in the district court of the territory, except such causes as would have been within the exclusive jurisdiction of the United States district court, had such court existed at the time of the commencement of such causes within such county, and the records, papers, and proceedings of said district court, and the seal and other property pertaining thereto, shall pass into the jurisdiction and possession of the superior court of such county. And where the same judge is elected for two or more counties, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the district court having custody of such papers and records to transmit to the clerk of such county or counties other than that in which such records are kept the original papers in all cases pending in such district court and belonging to the jurisdiction of such county or counties, together with transcript of so much of the records of said district court as relate to the same; and until the district courts of the territory shall be superseded in manner aforesaid, the said district courts and the judges thereof shall continue with the same jurisdiction and powers, to be exercised in the same judicial districts respectively, as heretofore constituted under the laws of the territory. Whenever a quorum of the judges of the supreme court of the state shall have been elected and qualified, the causes then pending in the supreme court of the territory, except such causes as would have been within the exclusive jurisdiction of the United States circuit court had such court existed at the time of the commencement of such causes, and the papers, records, and proceedings of said court, and the seal and other property pertaining thereto, shall pass into the jurisdiction and possession of the supreme court of the state, and until so superseded the supreme court of the territory and the judges thereof shall continue with like powers and jurisdiction as if this constitution had not been adopted.

§ 9. SEALS OF COURTS AND MUNICIPALITIES.—Until otherwise provided by law, the seal now in use in the supreme court of the territory shall be the seal of the supreme court of the state. And until the expiration of the term of office of the probate judges, such probate judges shall perform the duties now imposed upon them by the laws of the territory. The superior courts shall have appellate and revisory jurisdiction over the decisions of the probate courts as now provided by law until such latter courts expire by limitation.

Cited in 34 Wash. 308.

Under this section, the superior court would have jurisdiction to review a judgment of the old probate court for apparent error or fraud by bill of review, under its general equity jurisdiction, whether expressly authorized by statute or not: Ball v. Clothier, 34 Wash. 299, 75 Pac. 1099.

§ 11. DUTIES OF FIRST LEGISLATURE.—The legislature, at its first session, shall provide for the election of all officers whose election is not provided for elsewhere in this constitution, and fix the time for the commencement and duration of their term.

§ 12. § 13. REPRESENTATION IN CONGRESS.—One representative in the congress of the United States shall be elected from the state at large at the first election provided for in this constitution, and thereafter at such times and places and in such manner as may be prescribed by law. When a new apportionment shall be made by congress, the legislature shall divide the state into congressional districts, in accordance with such apportionment. The vote cast for representative in congress at the first election shall be canvassed and the result determined in the manner provided for by the laws of the territory for the canvass of the vote for delegate in congress.

§ 14. DURATION OF TERM OF CERTAIN OFFICERS.—All district, county, and precinct officers who may be in office at the time of the adoption of this constitution, and the county clerk of each county elected at the first election, shall hold their respective offices until the second Monday of January, A. D. eighteen hundred and ninety-one, and until such time as their successors may be elected and qualified, in accordance with the provisions of this constitution; and the official bonds of all such officers shall continue in full force and effect as though this constitution had not been adopted, and such officers shall continue to receive the compensation now provided until the same be changed by law.

Cited in 5 Wash. 459, 460.

Under this section, the term of office of county officers is for two years, commencing on the second Monday of January next succeeding their election; and the act of February 4, 1886, entitled "an act to prescribe the tenure of office, etc.," has been abrogated by such constitutional provisions: McMurray v. Hollis, 5 Wash. 458, 32 Pac. 293.

By virtue of this section the office of district attorney ceased to exist on the first Monday in January, 1891, and the office of county attorney being a new office created by the constitution, the former officer could not succeed or hold over in the latter: Humason, In re, 46 Fed. 392.

§ 15. ELECTION ON ADOPTION OF CONSTITUTION, HOW TO BE CONDUCTED.—The election held at the time of the adoption of this constitution shall be held and conducted in all respects according to the laws of the territory; and the votes cast at said election for all officers (where no other provisions are made in this constitution), and for the adoption of this constitution, and the several separate articles, and the location of the state capital, shall be canvassed and returned in the several counties in the manner provided by territorial laws, and shall be returned to the secretary of the territory in the manner provided by the Enabling Act.

§ 16. WHEN CONSTITUTION TO TAKE EFFECT.—The provisions of this constitution shall be in force from the day on which the president of the United States shall issue his proclamation declaring the state of Washington admitted into the Union, and the terms of all officers elected at the first election under the provisions of this constitution shall commence on the Monday next succeeding the issue of said proclamation, unless otherwise provided herein.

The provisions of the constitution were in force from November 11, 1889, when the proclamation of the President of the United States was issued admitting the state of Washington into the Union, consequently the terms of all officers thereunder began on Monday, Nov. 18, 1889: Moore v. Perrott, 2 Wash. 1, 25 Pac. 906.

§ 17. SEPARATE ARTICLES.—The following separate articles shall be submitted to the people for adoption or rejection at the election for the adoption of this constitution:—

dispose of any alcoholic, malt, or spirituous liquors, except for medicinal, sacramental, or scientific purposes.”

If a majority of the ballots cast at said election on said separate articles be in favor of the adoption of either of said separate articles, then such separate article so receiving a majority shall become a part of this constitution, and shall govern and control any provision of the constitution in conflict therewith.

§ 18. BALLOT.—The form of ballot to be used in voting for or against this constitution, or for or against the separate articles, or for the permanent location of the seat of government, shall be,— public money or property shall be appropriated for or applied to any religious worship, exercise, or instruction, or support of any religious establishment. Provided, however, that this article shall not be so construed as to forbid the employment by the state of a chaplain for the state penitentiary, and for such of the state reformatories as in the discretion of the legislature may seem justified. And further provided, that this amendment shall not affect the rights of franchise of any person who is now a qualified elector of this state. The legislative authority shall enact laws defining the manner of ascertaining the qualifications of voters as to their ability to read and speak the English language, and providing for punishment of persons voting or registering in violation of the provision of this section. In case of the death, disability, failure or refusal of the person regularly elected to the office of governor to qualify at the time provided by law, the duties of the office shall devolve upon the person regularly elected to and qualified for the office of lieutenant-governor who shall act as governor until the disability be removed, or a governor be elected; and in case of the death, disability, failure or refusal of both the governor and the lieutenant-governor elect to qualify, the duties of the governor shall devolve upon the secretary of state; and in addition to the line of succession to the office and duties of governor as hereinabove indicated, if there shall be the failure or refusal of any officer named above to qualify, and if the necessity shall arise by reason thereof, then in that event in order to fill the vacancy in the office of governor, the following state officers shall succeed to the duties of governor in the order named, viz.: Treasurer, auditor, attorney general, superintendent of public instruction and commissioner of public lands. Any person succeeding to the office of governor as in this section provided, shall perform the duties of such office until the disability be removed, or a governor be elected and qualified; and if a vacancy occur more than thirty days before the next general election occurring within two years after the commencement of the term, a person shall be elected at such election to fill the office of governor for the remainder of the unexpired term. [L. 1909, p. 642, § 1.]

Approved November, 1910.

AMENDMENT 7.

ART. II, § 1. LEGISLATIVE POWERS, WHERE VESTED.—The legislative authority of the state of Washington shall be vested in the legislature, consisting of a senate and house of representatives, which shall be called the legislature of the state of Washington, but the people reserve to themselves the power to propose bills, laws, and to enact or reject the same at the polls, independent of the legislature, and also reserve power, at their own option, to approve or reject at the polls any act, item, section or part of any bill, act or law passed by the legislature.

(a) Initiative: The first power reserved by the people is the initiative. Ten per centum, but in no case more than fifty thousand, of the legal voters shall be required to propose any measure by such petition, and every such petition shall include the full text of the measure as proposed. Initiative petitions shall be filed with the secretary of state not less than four months before the election at which they are to be voted upon, or not less than ten days before any regular session of the legislature. If filed at least four months before the election at which they are to be voted upon, he shall submit the same to the vote of the people at the said election. If such petitions are filed not less than ten days before any regular session of the legislature, he shall transmit the same to the legislature as soon as it convenes and organizes. Such initiative measure shall take precedence over all other measures in the legislature except appropriation bills and shall be either enacted or rejected without change or amendment by the legislature before the end of such regular session. If any such initiative measure shall be enacted by the legislature it shall be subject to the referendum petition, or it may be enacted and referred by the legislature to the people for approval or rejection at the next regular election. If it is rejected or if no action is taken upon it by the legislature before the end of such regular session, the secretary of state shall submit it to the people for approval or rejection at the next ensuing regular general election. The legislature may reject any measure so proposed by initiative petition and propose a different one dealing with the same subject, and in such event both measures shall be submitted by the secretary of state to the people for approval or rejection at the next ensuing regular general election. When conflicting measures are submitted to the people the ballots shall be so printed that a voter can express separately by making one cross (X) for each, two preferences, first, as between either measure and neither, and secondly, as between one and the other. If the majority of those voting on the first issue is for neither, both fail, but in that case the votes on the second issue shall nevertheless be carefully counted and made public. If a majority voting on the first issue is for either, then the measure receiving a majority of the votes on the second issue shall be law.

(b) Referendum. The second power reserved by the people is the referendum, and it may be ordered on any act, bill, law, or any part thereof passed by the legislature, except such laws as may be necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety, support of the state government and its existing public institutions, either by petition signed by the required percentage of the legal voters, or by the legislature as other bills are enacted. Six per centum, but in no case more than thirty thousand, of the legal voters shall be required to sign and make a valid referendum petition.

(c) No act, law, or bill subject to referendum shall take effect until ninety days after the adjournment of the session at which it was enacted. No act, law, or bill approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon shall be amended or repealed by the legislature within a period of two years following such enactment. But such enactment may be amended or repealed at any general regular or special election by direct vote of the people thereon.

(d) The filing of a referendum petition against one or more items, sections or parts of any act, law or bill shall not delay the remainder of the measure from becoming operative. Referendum petitions against measures passed by the legislature shall be filed with the secretary of state not later than ninety days after the final adjournment of the session of the legislature which passed the measure on which the referendum is demanded. The veto power of the governor shall not extend to measures initiated by or referred to the people. All elections on measures referred to the people of the state shall be had at the biennial regular elections, except when the legislature shall order a special election. Any measure initiated by the people or referred to the people as herein provided shall take effect and become the law if it is approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon: Provided, that the vote cast upon such question or measure shall equal one-third of the total votes cast at such election and not otherwise. Such measure shall be in operation on and after the thirtieth day after the election at which it is approved. The style of all bills proposed by initiative petition shall be: "Be it enacted by the people of the state of

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

Washington." This section shall not be construed to deprive any member of the legislature of the right to introduce any measure. The whole number of electors who voted for governor at the regular gubernatorial election last preceding the filing of any petition for the initiative or for the referendum shall be the basis on which the number of legal voters necessary to sign such petition shall be counted. All such petitions shall be filed with the secretary of state, who shall be guided by the general laws in submitting the same to the people until additional legislation shall especially provide therefor. This section is self-executing, but legislation may be enacted especially to facilitate its operation.

The legislature shall provide methods of publicity of all laws or parts of laws, and amendments to the constitution referred to the people with arguments for and against the laws and amendments so referred, so that each voter of the state shall receive the publication at least fifty days before the election at which they are to be voted upon. AMENDMENT 8.

ART. I was amended by adding the two following sections:

§ 33. RECALL OF ELECTIVE OFFICERS.—Every elective public officer in the state of Washington except judges of courts of record is subject to recall and discharge by the legal voters of the state, or of the political subdivision of the state, from which he was elected whenever a petition demanding his recall, reciting that such officer has committed some act or acts of malfeasance or misfeasance while in office, or has violated his oath of office, stating the matters complained of, signed by the percentages of the qualified electors thereof, hereinafter provided, the percentage required to be computed from the total number of votes cast for all candidates for his said office to which he was elected at the preceding election, is filed with the officer with whom a petition for nomination, or certificate for nomination, to such office must be filed under the laws of this state, and the same officer shall call a special election as provided by the general election laws of this state, and the result determined as therein provided.

Laws of 1913, page 454, intended to provide for the recall of elective officers, as required by this section, is not defective in carrying out the provisions of the amendment, in that while the amendment provides for a recall upon the filing of charges against an officer, the law fails to make any provision for determining the truth of the charges upon which the officer is to be recalled; and this section does not give any right to a judicial hearing upon the charges: Cudihoe v. Phelps, 76 Wash. 314, 136 Pac. 367.

Laws of 1913, page 454 (3 Rem. & Bal. Code, § 4940-1 et seq.), providing the method of procedure for recalling elective officers, pursuant to the constitutional amendment adopted at the general election in November, 1912, is remedial and retroactive in effect, to the extent that it authorizes the recall of an officer elected in November, 1912, for subsequent official misconduct committed, however, prior to the taking effect of the law in June, 1913: Cudihee v. Phelps, 76 Wash. 314, 136 Pac. 367.

Sections 33 and 34 supersede the recall provisions of special charters adopted by cities of the first class; since such special charters are controlled by general laws: State ex rel. Lynch v. Fairley, 76 Wash. 332, 136 Pac. 374; Tabor v. Walla Walla, 77 Wash. 579, 137 Pac. 1040.

The words "for his said office to which he was elected at the preceding election," must be construed as meaning the number of votes cast at the next preceding election held for the election of such officer; the words "his office to which he was elected," being considered as a general designation of the office held by him and his associates, the evident purpose of the provision being to determine the question of recall by the required percentage of present qualified voters: Mills v. Nickeus, 81 Wash. 409, 142 Pac. 1145.

The percentage of signatures will be computed upon the vote cast at the election next previous to the time of filing petitions with the city clerk, although formal charges against the officer may have been filed prior to such election: Mills v. Nickeus, 81 Wash. 409, 142 Pac. 1145.

Validity of statute providing for recall of public officers. 21 Ann. Cas. 808; Ann. Cas. 1916A, 1155.

§ 34. SAME.—The legislature shall pass the necessary laws to carry out the provisions of section thirty-three (33) of this article, and to facilitate its operation and effect without delay: Provided, that the authority hereby conferred upon the legislature shall not be construed to grant to the legislature any exclusive power of lawmaking nor in any way limit the initiative and referendum powers reserved by the people. The percentages required shall be state officers, other than judges, senators and representatives, city officers of cities of the first class, school district boards in cities of the first class; county officers of counties of the first, second and third classes, twenty-five per cent. Officers of all other political subdivisions, cities, towns, townships, precincts and school districts not herein mentioned, and state senators and representatives, thirty-five per cent. [L. '11, p. 504, § 1.]

ART. I, § 16. EMINENT DOMAIN.—Private property shall not be taken for private use, except for private ways of necessity, and for drains, flumes, or ditches on or across the lands of others for agricultural, domestic, or sanitary purposes. No private property shall be taken or damaged for public or private use without just compensation having been first made, or paid into court for the owner, and no right-of-way shall be appropriated to the use of any corporation other than municipal until full compensation therefor be first made in money, or ascertained and paid into court for the owner, irrespective of any benefit from any improvement proposed by such corporation, which compensation shall be ascertained by a jury, unless a jury be waived, as in other civil cases in courts of record, in the manner prescribed by law. Whenever an attempt is made to take private property for a use alleged to be public, the question whether the contemplated use be really public shall be a judicial question, and determined as such, without regard to any legislative assertion that the use is public: Provided, that the taking of private property by the state for land reclamation and settlement purposes is hereby declared to be for public use.

§ 1. Jurisdiction—Powers Incident to Appellate Jurisdiction—Writs of Habeas Corpus.

The supreme court shall have original jurisdiction in habeas corpus and quo warranto and mandamus as to all state officers, and appellate jurisdiction in all actions and proceedings, excepting that its appellate jurisdiction shall not extend to civil actions at law for the recovery of money or personal property, when the original amount in controversy or the value of the property does not exceed the sum of two hundred dollars, unless the action involves the legality of a tax, impost, assessment, toll, municipal fine, or the validity of a statute. The supreme court shall also have power to issue writs of mandamus, review, prohibition, habeas corpus, certiorari, and all other writs necessary and proper to the complete exercise of its appellate and revisory jurisdiction. Each of the judges shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus to any part of the state, upon petition by or on behalf of any person held in actual custody, and may make such writs returnable before himself or before the supreme court, or before any superior court of the state, or any judge thereof. § 2. A Court of Record—General Powers.

The supreme court shall be a court of record, and shall be vested with all power and authority necessary to carry into complete execution all its judgments, decrees, and determinations in all matters within its jurisdiction, according to the rules and principles of the common law, and the constitution and laws of this state. [L. '90, p. 323, § 10; 2 H. C., § 2; Const., Art. IV, § 11.]

§ 3. Courthouse and Rooms—Furnishing.

If proper rooms in which to hold the court, and for the accommodation of the officers thereof, are not provided by the state, together with attendants, furniture, fuel, lights, record books and stationery, suitable and sufficient for the transaction of business, the court, or any three justices thereof, may direct the clerk of the supreme court to provide the same; and the expense thereof, certified by any three justices to be correct, shall be paid out of the state treasury, out of any funds therein not otherwise appropriated. Such moneys shall be subject to the order of the clerk of the supreme court, and be by him disbursed on proper vouchers, and accounted for by him in annual settlements with the state auditor. [L. '90, p. 322, § 4; 2 H. C., § 3; Const., Art. IV, § 2.]

The first part of this section is omitted, as it is covered by the next section.

§ 4. Always Open—Sessions.

The supreme court shall always be open for the transaction of business except on nonjudicial days. It shall hold regular sessions for the hearing of causes en banc, and in each of its departments, at the capital of the state [on the second Mondays of January, May, and October of each year]. Special sessions at the same place may be held at such other times as may be prescribed by the judges of such court. [L. '09, p. 36, § 7.]

See infra, § 64, business authorized to be transacted on nonjudicial days.

There are no terms of the supreme court in the sense in which they were formerly held, but only a division of its sittings into sessions: Skagit R. & L. Co. v. Cole, 1 Wash. 330, 26 Pac. 535.

The close and termination of a session, provided for by this section, does not preclude the court from entertaining an application to recall a remittitur and vacate a judgment entered at such term: Gordon v. Hillman, 102 Wash. 411, 173 Pac. 22.

§ 5. Effect of Adjournments.

§ 6. Style of Process.

Its process shall run in the name of the "state of Washington," bear test in the name of the chief justice, be signed by the clerk of the court, dated when issued, sealed with the seal of the court, and made returnable according to law, or such rule or orders as may be prescribed by the court. [L. '90, p. 323, § 11; 2 H. C., § 7.]

§ 7. The Seal.

The seal of the supreme court shall be the vignette of General George Washington, with the words "Seal of the Supreme Court, State of Washington," surrounding the vignette. [L. '90, p. 324, § 17; 2 H. C., § 8; Const., Art. XXVII, § 9.]

§ 8. Two Departments—Assignment of Judges—Quorum.

There shall be two departments of the supreme court, denominated respectively department one and department two. The chief justice shall assign four of the associate judges to each department and such assignment may be changed by him from time to time: Provided, that the associate judges shall be competent to sit in either department and may interchange with one another by agreement among themselves, or if no such agreement be made, as ordered by the chief justice. The chief justice may sit in either department and shall preside when so sitting, but the judges assigned to each department shall select one of their number as presiding judge. Each of the departments shall have the power to hear and determine causes, and all questions arising therein, subject to the provisions in relation to the court en banc. The presence of three judges shall be necessary to transact any business in either of the departments, except such as may be done at chambers, but one or more of the judges may from time to time adjourn to the same effect as if all were present, and a concurrence of three judges shall be necessary to pronounce a decision in each department: Provided, that if three do not concur, the cause shall be reheard in the same department or transmitted to the other department, or to the court en banc. [L. '09, p. 34, § 3. For former laws relating to quorum, see L. '90, p. 322, § 5; 2 H. C., § 5; Bal. Code, § 4654; L. '05, p. 14, § 2. See, also, Const., Art. IV, § 2.]

It was competent for the legislature to increase the number of judges provided by Const., Art. IV, § 2: State ex rel. Vanderveer v. Gormley, 53 Wash. 453, 102 Pac. 435.

§ 9. Apportionment of Business—Order for Hearings en Banc.

The chief justice shall from time to time apportion the business to the departments, and may, in his discretion, before a decision is pronounced, order any cause pending before the court to be heard and determined by the court en banc. When a cause has been allotted to one of the departments and a decision pronounced therein, the chief justice, together with any two associate judges, may order such cause to be heard and decided by the court en banc. Any four judges may, either before or after decision by a department, order a cause to be heard en banc. [L. '09, p. 34, § 4.]

§ 10. Decisions of Department—Finality—Rehearings.

The decision of a department, except in cases otherwise ordered as hereinafter provided, shall not become final until thirty days after the filing thereof, during which period a petition for rehearing, or for a hearing en banc, may be filed, the filing of either of which, except as hereinafter otherwise provided, shall have the effect of suspending such decision until the same shall have been disposed of. If no such petition be filed the decision of a department shall become final thirty days from the date of its filing, unless during such thirty-day period an order for a hearing en banc shall have been made: Provided, that if for any cause the chief justice or a majority of the department rendering any decision shall be of the opinion that such decision should go into effect prior to thirty days after its filing, it shall go into effect, and a judgment issue thereon, any time after its filing and prior to such thirty-day period, upon being in writing approved by the chief justice and any two associate judges who took no part in rendering such decision. The effect of granting a petition for a rehearing, or of ordering a cause once decided by department to be heard en banc, shall be to vacate and set aside the decision. Whenever a decision shall become final, as herein provided, a judgment shall issue thereon. [L. '09, p. 35, § 4.]

Cited in 53 Wash. 554. 555.

§ 11. Hearings en Banc—Quorum—Finality of Decision.

The chief justice, or any four judges, may convene the court en banc at any time, and the chief justice shall be the presiding judge of the court when so convened. The presence of five judges shall be necessary to transact any business, and a concurrence of five judges present at the argument shall be necessary to pronounce a decision in the court en banc: Provided, that if five of the judges so present do not concur in a decision, then reargument shall be ordered and all the judges qualified to sit in the cause shall hear the argument, but to render a decision a concurrence of five judges shall be necessary; and every decision of the court en banc shall be final except in cases in which no previous decision has been rendered in one of the departments, and in such cases the decision of the court en banc shall become final thirty days after its filing, unless during such period a petition for rehearing be filed. The filing of such petition within such period shall have the effect of suspending the decision until disposed of by the concurrence of five judges:

Provided, that if for any cause five judges shall be of the opinion that such decision should go into effect prior to thirty days after its filing, it shall go into effect any time after its filing and prior to such thirty-day period upon being in writing approved by six judges of such court. Whenever a decision shall become final as herein provided, a judgment shall issue thereon. [L. '09, p. 35, § 5.]

§ 12. Acting Chief Justice.

In cases of the absence of the chief justice, or his inability to act, the judge having the shortest term to serve, not holding his office by appointment or election to fill a vacancy, shall perform the duties and exercise the powers of the chief justice during such absence or inability to act. In case there shall be two or more judges having in like manner the same short term, the other judges of the supreme court shall determine which of them shall perform the duties and exercise the powers of the chief justice during such absence or inability to act. [L. '09, p. 36, § 6.]

§ 13. Rules of Practice and Form of Process.

The supreme court may from time to time institute such rules of practice and prescribe such forms of process to be used in such court and in the court en banc and each of its departments, and for the keeping of the dockets, records and proceedings, and for the regulation of such court, including the court en banc and in departments, as may be deemed most conducive to the due administration of justice. [L. '09, p. 36, § 8. Cf. L. '90, p. 323, § 12; 2 H. C., § 6; Bal. Code, § 4655.]

The superior courts of the several counties shall have jurisdiction, and it shall be their duty to hear applications and proofs by aliens to become citizens of the United States, and to grant certificates of citizenship to such applicants, in accordance with section 2165 of the Revised Statutes of the United States. § 18. Courts of Record—Always Open—Sessions.

The superior courts are courts of record, and shall be always open, except on nonjudicial days. They shall hold their sessions at the county seats of the several counties, respectively. They shall hold regular and special sessions in the several counties of this state at such times as may be prescribed by the judge or judges thereof. [L. '90, p. 343, § 7; 2 H. C., § 13. Cf. L. § 26. Effect of Adjournments.

§ 27. Judge of Another County to Sit—Designation by Governor.

Whenever a judge of the superior court of any county in this state, or a majority of such judges in any county in which there is more than one judge of said court, shall request the governor of the state to direct a judge of the superior court of any other county to hold a session of the superior court of any such county as is first herein above mentioned, the governor shall thereupon request and direct a judge of the superior court of some other county, making such selection as the governor shall deem to be most consistent with the state of judicial business in other counties, to hold a session of the superior court in the county the judge shall have requested the governor as aforesaid. Such request and direction by the governor shall be made in writing, and shall specify the county in which he directs the superior judge to whom the same is addressed to hold such session of the superior court, and the period during which he is to hold such session. Thereupon it shall be the duty of the superior judge so requested, and he is hereby empowered, to hold a session of the superior court of the county specified by the governor, at the seat of judicial business thereof, during the period specified by the governor, and in such quarters as the county commissioners of said county may provide for the holding of such session. Under constitution, article IV, section 7, a visiting judge of the superior court may hold a session of the court at the request of a resident judge, without any request by the governor, and although all of the resident judges are also holding sessions in the same county at the same time: Hindman v. Boyd, 42 Wash. 17, 84 Pac. 609.

§ 28. Sessions Held at Request of Another Judge.

Whenever a like request shall be addressed by the judge, or by a majority of the judges (if there be more than one) of the superior court of any county to the superior judge of any other county, he is hereby empowered, if he deem it consistent with the state of judicial business in the county or counties whereof he is a superior judge (and in such case it shall be his duty to comply with such request), to hold a session of the superior court of the county the judge or judges whereof shall have made such request, at the seat of judicial business of such county, in such quarters as shall be provided for such session by the board of county commissioners, and during such period as shall have been specified in the request, or such shorter period as he may deem necessary by the state of judicial business in the county or counties whereof he is a superior judge. § 29. Number of Sessions at Same Time—Effect of Acts of Visiting Judge.

In any county where there shall be more than one superior judge, or in which a superior judge of another county may be holding a session of the superior court, as in this chapter provided, there may be as many sessions of the superior court at the same time as there are judges thereof, or assigned to duty therein by the governor, or responding to a request made as provided in the last preceding section. In such cases the business of the court shall be so distributed and assigned by law, or in the absence of legislation therefor, by such rules and orders of the court as shall best promote and secure the convenient and expeditious transaction thereof. Judgments, decrees, orders and proceedings of any session of the superior court held by one or more of the judges of said court, or by any judge of the superior court of another county pursuant to the provisions of this charter, shall be equally effectual as if all the judges of such court presided at such session. [L. '90, p. 341, § 2; 2 H. C., § 16; L. '93, p. 68, § 3.]

Under the rules of allotment of causes in the superior court of King county an order transferring an equity cause from the equity department to the civil jury department for the sole purpose of having the question of title in partition tried by a jury is unauthorized: State ex rel. Hill v. Lichtenberg, 4 Wash. 553, 30 Pac. 659.

Where there are several departments of a court and one presides temporarily over a department not his own and grants an order appointing a guardian, a petition thereafter filed asking that the order be vacated may be heard by the judge usually presiding over that department: Wetmore's Guardianship, In re, 6 Wash. 271, 33 Pac. 615.

There being but one superior court in a county, it is not error to refuse to transfer a cause for trial from one department to another in which preliminary orders had been made, as the court has jurisdiction: State v. Newcomb, 58 Wash. 414, 109 Pac. 355.

§ 30. Expenses of Judge Called to Another County.

Any judge of the superior court of any county in this state who shall hold a session of the superior court of any other county, in pursuance of the provisions of this chapter, shall be entitled to receive from the county in which he shall hold such sessions the amount of his actual traveling expenses from his residence to the place where he shall hold such sessions, and on his return to his residence, and of the actual traveling expenses of his sojourn at the place where he shall hold such sessions during the continuance thereof. The county clerk of such county shall, upon the presentation to him by such judge of a statement of such expenses, verified by his affidavit, issue to such judge a certificate that he is entitled to the amount thereof; and upon presentation of such certificate to the auditor of such county he shall draw a warrant on the general fund of such county for the amount in favor of such judge. [L. '93, p. 69, § 4; Const., Art. IV, § 14.]

§ 32. Jurisdiction—Process—Venue.

The process of the superior courts shall extend to all parts of the state: Provided, that all actions for the recovery of the possession of, quieting the title to, or for the enforcement of liens upon real estate shall be commenced in the county in which the real estate, or any part thereof, affected by such action or actions is situated. [L. '90, p. 343, § 9; 2 H. C., § 17; Const., Art. IV, § 6.]

See Const., Art. IV, § 27, style of process.

An action upon a promissory note in which real estate was attached is not an action for the recovery of, quieting title to, or for the enforcement of liens upon real estate, within this section; since the attachment is but an ancillary proceeding not affecting the same: State ex rel. Owen v. Superior Court, 110 Wash. 49, 187 Pac. 708.

§ 35. Process, to Whom Directed.

Unless otherwise provided by statute, all process issuing out of the [superior] court shall be directed to the sheriff of the county in which it is to be served, and be by him executed according to law. [L. '91, p. 84, § 5; 2 H. C., § 795.]

§ 36. Judges to Establish Uniform Rules.

The judges of the superior courts shall, from time to time, establish uniform rules for the government of the superior courts. [L. '90, p. 344, § 13; 2 H. C., § 18; Const., Art. IV, § 24.]

§ 38. Seal.

The seals of the superior courts of the several counties of the state shall be, until otherwise provided by law, the vignette of General George Washington, with the words, "Seal of the Superior Court of — County, State of Washington," surrounding the vignette. § 39. Limit of Time for Decision.

Every case submitted to a judge of a superior court for his decision shall be decided by him within ninety days from the submission thereof: Provided, that if within said period of ninety days a rehearing shall have been ordered, then the period within which he is to decide shall commence at the time the cause is submitted upon such rehearing, and upon willful failure of any such judge so to do, he shall be deemed to have forfeited his office. [L. '90, p. 344, § 12; 2 H. C., § 20; Const., Art. IV, § 20.]

Cited in 21 Wash. 630.

The failure of a judge to decide a case within ninety days from its submission does not render the judgment void for want of jurisdiction: Demaris v. Barker, 33 Wash. 200, 74 Pac. 362. See, also, Moylan v. Moylan, 49 Wash. 341, 95 Pac. 271.

The action of the superior court in dismissing an appeal from the board of state land commissioners, although made more than ninety days after the submission of the question to the court for decision, contrary to the provisions of this section, is reviewable on appeal, and therefore mandamus will not lie to compel the court to redocket the cause with a view to a retrial in said court: State ex rel. Washington Dredging etc. Co. v. Moore, 21 Wash. 629, 59 Pac. 505.

§ 40. Judges Pro Tempore—Appointment—Oath—Compensation.

A case in the superior court of any county may be tried by a judge pro tempore, who must be a member of the bar, agreed upon in writing by the parties litigant, or their attorneys of record, approved by the court, and sworn to try the case; and his action in the trial of such cause shall have the same effect as if he were a judge of such court. A judge pro tempore shall, before entering upon his duties in any cause, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation:—

I do solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be) that I will support the constitution of the United States and the constitution of the state of Washington, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office of judge pro tempore in the cause wherein — is plaintiff and — defendant, according to the best of my ability.

He shall receive a compensation of ten dollars for each day engaged in said trial, to be paid in the same manner as the salary of the superior judge. [L. '90, p. 343, § 11; 2 H. C., § 21; Const., Art. IV, § 7.]

§ 41. Powers of Judge in Other Counties of His District.

Any judge of the superior court of the state of Washington shall have power, in any county within his district: (1) To sign all necessary orders and papers in probate matters pending in any other county in his district; (2) to issue restraining orders, and to sign the necessary orders of continuance in actions or proceedings pending in any other county in his district; (3) to decide and rule upon all motions, demurrers, issues of fact or other matters that may have been submitted to him in any other county. All such rulings and decisions shall be in writing and shall be filed immediately with the clerk of the proper county: Provided, that nothing herein contained shall authorize the judge to hear any matter outside of the county wherein the cause or proceeding is pending, except by consent of the parties. [L. '01, p. 76, § 1.]

There is no law requiring the judge who tried the case to sign the findings and judgment in the county where it is pending: Matheson v. Ward, 24 Wash. 407, 64 Pac. 520, 85 Am. St. Rep. 955.

The court has no power to adjourn the settlement of a statement of facts to a county other than the one of trial, when the respondent had not consented thereto: Prospectors' Development Co. v. Brooks, 31 Wash. 187, 71 Pac. 774.

An order extending time for filing a statement of facts, made by the judge outside of the county, without consent of the parties, is invalid: Driscoll v. Dufur, 45 Wash. 494, 88 Pac. 929.

A judge cannot properly hear a motion for a new trial outside of the county wherein the cause is pending, except by consent of the parties: Shaw v. Spencer, 57 Wash. 587, 107 Pac. 383.

§ 42. Decisions and Rulings Out of His Own District.

Any judge of the superior court of the state of Washington who shall have heard any cause, either upon motion, demurrer, issue of fact, or other matter in any county out of his district, may decide, rule upon, and determine the same in any county in this state, which decision, ruling and determination shall be in writing and shall be filed immediately with the clerk of the county where such cause is pending. Under sections 28, 41, and this section, the parties to an action in D. county may stipulate that a motion to vacate the judgment may be heard at the county seat of S. county, before the superior judge of W. county: Meisenheimer v.

Meisenheimer, 55 Wash. 32, 104 Pac. 159, 133 Am. St. Rep. 1005.

Under this section a judge having heard a cause out of his district may decide and rule thereon in any other county in the state: Rice v. Ahlman, 70 Wash. 6, 126 Pac. 64; State ex rel. Calhoun v. Superior Court, 86 Wash. 492, 150 Pac. 1168; Allen v. Allen, 96 Wash. 689, 165 Pac. 889.

§ 42-1. Official Court Reporter—Appointment—Term—Removal—Bond.

It shall be the duty of each superior court judge in counties or judicial districts in the state of Washington having a population of over twenty-seven thousand inhabitants to appoint a stenographer to be attached to the court holden by him (except, for the sake of economy, wherein counties or judicial districts having more than one judge there is not sufficient trial work to require the services of two or more official reporters, the judges of such courts may, provided their trial dockets can be satisfactorily arranged so as not to delay the trials of cases, appoint one official reporter jointly to act as official reporter for their respective courts), who shall have had at least three years' experience as a skilled, practical court reporter, or who upon examination shall be able to report and transcribe accurately one hundred fifty words per minute of the judge's charge or one hundred seventy-five words of testimony for five consecutive minutes; said test of efficiency, in the event of inability to meet the qualifications as to length of time of experience, to be given by a committee of three of the attorneys of the county or district in which the said stenographer is seeking to act as official reporter, and such stenographer shall thereupon become an officer of the court and shall be designated and known as the official reporter for the court or district for which he is appointed. Each official reporter so appointed shall hold office during the term of office of the judge appointing him, but may be removed for incompetency, misconduct or neglect of duty, and before entering upon the discharge of his duties shall take an oath to perform faithfully the duties of his office, and file a bond in the sum of two thousand dollars ($2,000) for the faithful discharge of his duties. No person shall be appointed to the office of official reporter who is not a citizen of and a duly qualified elector in the state of Washington. [L. '21, p. 147, § 1. Cf. L. '13, p. 386, § 1.]

This act not applicable to counties having a population of 280,000. See infra, § 42-13. Cited in 79 Wash. 228—231; 84 Wash. 467; 102 Wash. 329.

§ 42-2. Duties of Reporter.

It shall be the duty of each official reporter appointed under this act to attend every term of the superior court in the county or judicial district for which he is appointed, at such times as the judge presiding may direct; and upon the trial of any cause in any court, if either party to the suit or action, or his attorney, request the services of the official reporter, the presiding judge shall grant such request, or upon his own motion such presiding judge may order a full report of the testimony, exceptions taken, and all other oral proceedings; in which case the official reporter shall cause accurate shorthand notes of the oral testimony, exceptions taken, and other oral proceedings had, to be taken, except when the judge and attorneys dispense with his services with respect to any portion of the proceedings therein, which notes shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the superior court where such trial is had. [L. '13, p. 387, § 2.]

§ 42-3. Compensation of Reporter.

Each official reporter so appointed shall be paid a compensation at the rate of ten dollars ($10) per diem for every day that he is actually in attendance upon said court pursuant to the direction of the court, which compensation shall be paid out of the county treasury where such court is held, as other expenses of the court are paid; and the sworn statement of the official reporter as to the number of days' attendance upon the court, when certified as correct by the judge presiding, shall be a sufficient voucher to the county auditor, upon which he shall draw his warrant upon the treasurer of the county in favor of the official reporter. [L. '13, p. 387, § 3.]

Cited in 102 Wash. 329.

Under this section the reporter is entitled to the per diem for each day regardless of the period of time that such attendance covers: State ex rel. Greb v. Hurn, 102 Wash. 328, 172 Pac. 1147.

§ 42-4. Additional Fees to be Paid Reporter.

In each civil action hereafter commenced the sum of one dollar ($1) shall be paid by the plaintiff at the time of the filing of the complaint to the clerk of the court, and at the time of the appearance of the defendant, or any defendant appearing separately, there shall be paid in to the clerk of the court one dollar ($1), and these sums so paid shall be taxed as costs in the case, and collected from the unsuccessful party in said action, and shall be known as stenographers' costs, and shall be paid by the clerk of said court into the county treasury of the county in which said action is commenced. [L. '13, p. 387, § 4.]

This section does not violate constitution, article VII, sections 1, 2 and 9, guaranteeing a uniform and equal rate of taxation; the fee not being a tax or the act a revenue act: State ex rel. Lindsey v. Derbyshire, 79 Wash. 227, 140 Pac. 540.

§ 42-5. Transcript of Notes—Fees—Criminal Cases.

When shorthand notes have been taken in any cause as in this act provided, if the court, or either party to the suit or action, or his attorney, requests a transcript of the notes into longhand, the official reporter shall make, or cause to be made, with reasonable diligence, full and accurate typewritten transcript of the testimony and other proceedings, which shall, when certified to, as hereinafter provided, be filed with the clerk of the court where such trial is had for the use of the court or parties to the action. The fees of the reporter for making such transcript shall be fifteen cents per folio of one hundred words for the original copy, and five cents per folio for each carbon copy ordered before the original is made, or made at the same time as the original, and when such transcript is ordered by any party to any such suit or action said fees shall be paid forthwith by the party ordering the same, and in all cases where a transcript is made as provided for under the provisions of this act the cost thereof shall be taxable as costs in the case, and shall be so taxed as other costs in the case are taxed: Provided, that when the defendant in any criminal cause shall present to the judge presiding satisfactory proof, by affidavit or otherwise, that he is unable to pay for such transcript the presiding judge, if in his opinion justice will thereby be promoted, may order said transcript to be made by the official reporter, in which case the official reporter shall be paid for preparing said transcript ten cents per folio for the original copy and five cents per folio for each carbon copy ordered at the same time as the original or made at the same time as the original, which transcript fee shall be paid in like manner as the per diem fees are paid as specified in section 42-3. [L. '13, p. 388, § 5.]

§ 42-6. Transcript Accorded Verity.

The report of the official reporter, when transcribed and certified as being a correct transcript of the stenographic notes of the testimony, or other oral proceedings had in the matter, shall be prima facie a correct statement of such testimony or other oral proceedings had, and the same may thereafter, in any civil cause, be read in evidence as competent testimony, when satisfactory proof is offered to the judge presiding that the witness originally giving such testimony is then dead or without the jurisdiction of the court, subject, however, to all objections the same as though such witness were present and giving such testimony in person. [L. '13, p. 389, § 6.]

The refusal of a clerk of court to file a complaint until the stenographer's fee of $1 is paid, as required by this act, does not raise any question as to the validity of that portion of the act re-

§ 42-7. Subsequent Transcript.

When the official reporter who has taken notes in any cause, shall thereafter cease to be such official reporter, any transcript thereafter made by him therefrom, or made by any competent person under the direction of the court, and duly certified to by the person making the same, under oath, as a full, true and correct transcript of said notes, the same shall have full force and effect the same as though certified by an official reporter of said court. [L. '13, p. 389, § 7.]

§ 42-8. Reporter Pro Tem.

In the event of the absence or inability of the official reporter to act, the presiding judge may appoint a competent stenographer to act pro tem, who shall perform the same duties as the official reporter, and whose report when certified to, shall have the same legal effect as the certified report of the official reporter. The reporter pro tem shall possess the qualifications and take the oath prescribed for the official reporter, and shall file a like bond, and shall receive the same compensation. [L. '13, p. 389, § 8.]

§ 42-9. Court Amanuensis—Compensation.

In all counties or judicial districts, except counties of the first class and class "A" counties, having a regularly appointed official reporter, such official reporter shall act as amanuensis to the court where he is appointed, and the court shall allow per diem therefor as provided in this act: Provided, that in no event shall the per diem for such work exceed ten days in any one calendar month: And provided further, that said official reporter shall be allowed at least ten days' per diem for his services as reporter and amanuensis in each calendar month that the court where he is appointed is in session. [L. '19, p. 133, § 2. Cf. L. '13, p. 389, § 9.]

§ 42-10. Court Files Accessible to Reporters.

Official reporters or reporters pro tem may, without order of court, upon giving a proper receipt therefor, procure at all reasonable hours from the office of the clerk of the court, any files or exhibits necessary for use in the preparation of statements of fact or transcribing portions of testimony or proceedings in any cause reported by them. [L. '13, p. 389, § 10.]

§ 42-11. Office Expenses.

Necessary supplies for reporting and for the preparation of transcripts in criminal cases shall be furnished by the county. Typewriters and all other supplies in all other cases shall be furnished by the stenographers. In counties where arrangements can be made therefor, suitable office room shall be furnished the official reporter. [L. '13, p. 390, § 11.]

§ 42-12. Substituted Reporters.

At the request of either party to an action an official reporter from the same or any other district in the state may be substituted for the official reporter of the court in which the action is being tried for the purpose of reporting the trial of said action: Provided, that the party or parties to the action requesting such substitution pay or secure to be paid to the clerk of the court the necessary traveling and hotel expenses of the official reporters so substituted as aforesaid. [L. '13, p. 390, § 12.]

§ 42-13. Application of Act.

This act shall not apply to any county having a population of two hundred and eighty thousand, or over. [L. '19, p. 133, § 1. Cf. L. '13, p. 390, § 13.]

Cited in 79 Wash. 228—231.

Whether this section violates any constitutional provision will not be determined in an action in which such a district is not concerned, since its invalidity would not affect the validity of the balance of the act: State ex rel. Lindsey v. Derbyshire, 79 Wash. 227, 140 Pac. 540.

This section is not so inseparably connected with the balance of the act that the act would not have been passed without it; hence the invalidity of such section would not affect the validity of the balance of the act: State ex rel. Lindsey v. Derbyshire, 79 Wash. 227, 140 Pac. 540.

Justice Code: See infra, §§ 1755-1924.

§ 43. General Powers of Justices of the Peace.

Every justice of the peace elected in any precinct in this state is hereby authorized to hold a court for the trial of all actions in the next section enumerated, to hear, try, and determine the same according to law; and for that purpose, where no special provision is otherwise made by law, such court shall be vested with all the necessary powers which are possessed by courts of record in this state; and all laws of a general nature shall apply to such justice's court, as far as the same may be applicable, and not inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter. § 45. Restrictions on Civil Jurisdiction.

The jurisdiction conferred by the last section shall not, however, extend to the following civil actions:—

1. In which the title to real property shall come in question;
2. Nor to an action for the foreclosure of a mortgage, or enforcement of a lien on real estate;
3. Nor to an action for false imprisonment, libel, slander, malicious prosecution, criminal conversation, or seduction;
4. Nor to any action against an executor or administrator as such. [L. '54, p. 227, § 24; Cd. '81, § 1711; 2 H. C., § 24; Const., Art. IV, §§ 6, 10.]

§ 46. Jurisdiction in Criminal Cases—Cities of First and Other Classes.

Justices of the peace shall have jurisdiction concurrent with the superior courts of all misdemeanors and gross misdemeanors committed in or which may be tried in their respective counties: Provided, that justices of the peace in cities of the first class shall in no event impose greater punishment than a fine of five hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail for six months; and justices of the peace other than those elected in cities of the first class shall in no event impose greater punishment than a fine of one hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail for thirty days. This section does not deprive justices in towns of the fourth class of jurisdiction in causes arising under a town ordinance, in view of the intent of the amending act to merely enlarge the jurisdiction, and of section 9180, infra, providing that the violation of any ordinance of a town of the fourth class shall be a misdemeanor: State ex rel. Hall v. Wicker, 60 Wash. 238, 110 Pac. 992.

A change of venue will not lie from the police court of a city of the third class to a justice court, when the action is to recover a penalty or fine declared by city ordinance which exceeds $100 in amount; in view of this section, expressly limiting the jurisdiction of justices of the peace, while police judges in cities of the third class have jurisdiction by section 9143, infra, in criminal cases to impose a fine of $300: State ex rel. Kiggins v. Woolson, 98 Wash. 505, 167 Pac. 1088.

Under this section a justice of the peace is not limited to a fine of $100 in cases coming under city ordinances: State v. Hagimori, 57 Wash. 623, 107 Pac. 855.

an offense cognizable by a justice of the peace may be prosecuted before any justice of the county: State ex rel. Calderwood v. Schomber, 23 Wash. 573, 63 Pac. 221.

§ 48. Office, Where Held—Process.

Every justice of the peace shall keep his office in the precinct for which he may be elected, and not elsewhere, but he may issue process in any place in his county. [L. '54, p. 226, § 20; Cd. '81, § 1707; 2 H. C., § 28.]

§ 49. Not to Office With an Attorney, Except.

No justice of the peace shall hold his office in the same room with a practicing attorney, unless such attorney shall be his law partner; and in that case, such partner shall not be permitted to appear or practice as an attorney in any case tried before such justice of the peace. The following persons are magistrates:—

1. The justices of the supreme court;

§ 54. Judicial Officer Defined—When Disqualified.

A judicial officer is a person authorized to act as a judge in a court of justice. Such officer shall not act as such in a court of which he is a member in any of the following cases:—

1. In an action, suit or proceeding to which he is a party, or in which he is directly interested;
2. When he was not present and sitting as a member of the court at the hearing of a matter submitted for its decision;
3. When he is related to either party by consanguinity or affinity within the third degree. The degree shall be ascertained and computed by ascending from the judge to the common ancestor and descending to the party counting a degree for each person in both lines, including the judge and party and excluding the common ancestor;

4. When he has been attorney in the action, suit or proceeding in question for either party; but this section does not apply to an application to change the place of trial, or the regulation of the order of business in court. In the cases specified in subdivisions three and four, the disqualification may be waived by the parties, and except in the supreme court shall be deemed to be waived unless an application for a change of the place of trial be made as provided by law. 3. To compel the attendance of persons to justify[testify] in a proceeding pending before him in the cases and manner provided in this code;

§ 59. Judges to Exercise Certain Powers.

1. The proof and acknowledgment of a conveyance of real property, or any other written instrument authorized or required to be proved or acknowledged;

§ 60. Inferior Judicial Officers—Powers.

Every other judicial officer may, within the county, city, district, or precinct in which he is chosen,—

1. Exercise the powers mentioned in subdivisions one, two, and three of the last preceding section;
2. Exercise any other power and perform any other duty conferred or imposed upon him by other statute. [L. '91, p. 93, § 9; 2 H. C., § 40.]

§ 61. Legal Holidays.

The following days are legal holidays, namely: Sunday; the first day of January, commonly called New Year's Day; the fourth day of July; the twenty-second day of February; the twenty-fifth day of December, commonly called Christmas Day; and any day designated by public proclamation of the chief executive of the state as a legal holiday, or as a day of thanksgiving; the day known and observed as Memorial or Decoration Day; and the day on which a general election is held throughout the state. Judgment rendered on Sunday is void: Fox v. Nachtsheim, 3 Wash. 684, 29 Pac. 140.

The verdict of a jury may be received on Sunday: State v. Straub, 16 Wash. 111, 47 Pac. 227.

The court may discharge a jury in a criminal case on a holiday because of its inability to agree: State v. Lewis, 31 Wash. 515, 72 Pac. 121.

A contract to perform certain services each day during the term of contract does not include Sundays, and services performed on Sundays cannot be offset against shortages on other days: Go Fun v. Fidalgo Island Canning Co., 37 Wash. 238, 79 Pac. 797.

The defendant having admitted the due and legal service of a summons and complaint on a legal holiday cannot thereafter question the legality of such service: McClellan v. Gaston, 18 Wash. 472, 51 Pac. 1062.

Proceedings under a judgment will not be restrained on the ground that the judgment was entered on a holiday, where it merely appears from the complaint that on a holiday the judge heard the arguments, announced his decision, and directed a judgment to be entered; since it will be presumed that the judgment was properly entered at a subsequent date; Stewart v. State Board of Medical Examiners, 48 Wash. 655, 94 Pac. 472.

A final judgment entered on a judicial day is not void by reason of the fact that prior proceedings were had in the case upon a legal holiday proclaimed by the governor, where no objection was made at the time to such prior proceedings: State ex rel. Walter v. Superior Court, 49 Wash. 1, 94 Pac. 665, 17 L. R. A. (N. S.) 257.

§ 61-1. Holiday Follows Sunday.

§ 62. Labor Day.

The first Monday of September of each year is hereby declared to be a legal holiday in the state of Washington, to be known as Labor Day. [L. '91, p. 39, § 1; 2 H. C., § 43.]

§ 64. No Courts on Legal Holidays, Except, etc.

No court shall be open, nor shall any judicial business be transacted, on a legal holiday, except,—

1. To give, upon their request, instructions to a jury when deliberating of their verdict;
2. To receive the verdict of a jury;
3. For the exercise of the powers of a magistrate in a criminal action, or in a proceeding of a criminal nature;
4. For hearing an application for writs of habeas corpus, injunction, prohibition, and attachment. [L. '91, p. 80, § 2; 2 H. C., § 44; see Cd. '81, § 1267; Const., Art. IV, § 6.]

Cited in 49 Wash. 3, 6.

§ 65. Sitting Deemed Adjourned Over Legal Holiday.

If any legal holiday happen to be a day appointed for the sitting of a court, or to which it is adjourned, such sitting shall be deemed appointed for or adjourned to the next day which is not a legal holiday. [L. '91, p. 81, § 3; 2 H. C., § 45.]

Cited in 35 Wash. 129.

§ 66. Proceedings may be Adjourned from Time to Time.

A court or judicial officer has power to adjourn any proceeding before it or him from time to time, as may be necessary, unless otherwise expressly provided by law. [L. '91, p. 93, § 10; 2 H. C., § 46.]

§ 67. Proceedings not to Fail for Want of Judge or Court.

No proceeding in a court of justice, in any action, suit, or proceeding pending therein, is affected by a vacancy in the office of any or all of the judges, or by the failure of a session of the court. [L. '91, p. 89, § 2; 2 H. C., § 47.]

Cited in 1 Wash. 338, 340; 9 Wash. 220; 102 Wash. 13.

In view of this section, upon the death of a judge who tried the case, his successor in office has power to grant a new trial: Carkonen v. Columbia & Puget Sound R. Co., 102 Wash. 11, 172 Pac. 816.

§ 68. Court may Provide Rooms, etc.

If the proper authority neglects to provide any supreme or superior court with rooms, furniture, fuel, lights, and stationery, suitable and sufficient for the transaction of its business, and for the jury attending upon it, if there be one, the court may order the sheriff to do so, at the place within the county designated by law for holding such court; and the expense incurred by the sheriff in carrying such order into effect, when ascertained and ordered to be paid by the court, is a charge upon the county. Cited in 3 Wash. 400; 4 Wash. 713; 5 Wash. 165; 14 Wash. 311.

The board of county commissioners is the proper authority, and the court can order the sheriff to make such provisions only in case the county commissioners neglect to do so: Barnett v. Ashmore, 5 Wash. 163, 31 Pac. 466.

The proper remedy on the part of the county commissioners to prevent improper expenditure is injunction and not prohibition: State ex rel. Stopper v. Hunter, 4 Wash. 712, 30 Pac. 1055.

§ 69. Proceeding When Mode not Prescribed.

When jurisdiction is, by the constitution of this state, or by statute, conferred on a court or judicial officer all the means to carry it into effect are also given; and in the exercise of the jurisdiction, if the course of proceeding be not specifically pointed out by statute, any suitable process or mode of proceeding may be adopted which may appear most conformable to the spirit of this code. [L. '91, p. 94, § 12; 2 H. C., § 49.]

Hill's Code, section 2170, conferring the right of appeal from decisions of the state board of control, is not nugatory for failure to provide a method of appeal, as this section provides for any suitable process in such a case: Hays v. Merchants' Bank, 10 Wash. 573, 39 Pac. 98.

The right to personal service outside of the state must be specially conferred by statute, and hence is not given by this section: State ex rel. Hopman v. Superior Court, 88 Wash. 612, 153 Pac. 315.

Under this section the court has power to appoint a commissioner to act for an irrigation district: State ex rel. Dyer v. Middle Kittitas Irr. Dist., 56 Wash. 488, 106 Pac. 203.

A venire to summon a jury in a police court "from a body of your city" is not authorized by this section: State ex rel. Fugita v. Milroy, 71 Wash. 592, 129 Pac. 384.

§ 70. Bond of Clerk—Conditions—When Filed, etc.

Every county clerk, before he enters on the duties of his office, shall enter into bond, payable to the state of Washington, with good and sufficient sureties, as provided by law for other county officers, the amount to be fixed and the bond to be approved by the judge or a majority of the judges presiding over the court of which he is clerk. The bond shall be conditioned that he will faithfully perform the duties of his office, and account for and pay over all moneys which may come into his hands by virtue of his office, and that he, his executors or administrators will deliver to his successor, safe and undefaced, all books, records, papers, seals, apparatus and furniture belonging to his office, and cause said bond to be filed in the office of the county treasurer of his said county, after it has been recorded in a book kept for that purpose by the county auditor. For text treatment of "Clerks of Court," see 5 B. C. L. 619.

§ 72. New Bond, When may be Required—Penalty for Failure to File.

When the judge or judges of any court, or a majority of them, shall believe that the clerk of said court has not a good and sufficient bond on file, or that said bond is not large enough in amount, as herein required, the said judge or judges shall enter an order requiring him, within such time as may be specified in said order, to execute and present to said judge or judges a good and sufficient bond, as hereinbefore described, in such sum as may be fixed by said order; and in case of his failure to make and file said bond within ten days from the expiration of the date fixed by said order for the making of the same, it shall be the duty of the judge or judges of said court to declare the office of said county clerk vacant. [L. '95, p. 96, § 3.]

§ 73. Office—Where Kept—When to be Open.

The office of the clerk of the superior court shall be kept at the county seat of the county of which he is clerk. Each clerk of a superior court shall keep his office open for the transaction of business on every judicial day from eight to twelve in the forenoon, and from one to five in the afternoon. [Cf. Cd. '81, § 2125; L. '91, p. 98, §§ 1, 2; 2 H. C., §§ 71, 72.]

§ 75. Books to be Kept by County Clerk.

1. He shall, at the expense of the county, provide and keep a book, in which he shall enter all appearances and the time of filing all pleadings in any cause pending in said court;

One copy of this docket he shall furnish for the use of the court, and another for the use of the members of the bar;

5. He shall also provide and keep well-bound books, one for an execution docket, one for a book of levies, and one for a final record, in which he shall make a full and perfect record of all criminal cases in which a final judgment is rendered, and all civil cases in which by any order or final judgment the title to real estate, or any interest therein, is any way affected, and such other final judgments, orders, or decisions as either party may require, and may pay him for recording;

6. He shall also provide and keep such other books as are prescribed by law and required in the discharge of the duties of his office. [Cf. L. '54, p. 366, § 6; L. '63, p. 317, § 6; Cd. '81, § 2179; 1 H. C., § 173.]

§ 90. Different Kinds of Juries.

There shall be three kinds of juries:—

1. A grand jury;
2. A petit jury;
3. A jury of inquest. [L. '91, p. 86, § 2; 2 H. C., § 51.]

§ 91. Grand Jury, Defined.

§ 92. Petit Jury, Defined.

A petit jury is a body of men, twelve in number in the superior court, and six in number in courts of justices of the peace, drawn in the superior court by lot from the jurors in attendance upon the court at a particular session, and sworn to try and determine a question of fact; but in justice's court the jury is drawn according to the mode specially provided for such court. [L. '91, p. 87, § 4; 2 H. C., § 53.]

§ 93. Jury of Inquest, Defined.

A jury of inquest is a body of men, six in number, summoned from the qualified inhabitants of a particular district, before the coroner, or other ministerial officer, to inquire of particular facts. [L. '91, p. 87, § 5; 2 H. C., § 54.]

§ 94. Qualification of Jurors.

No person shall be competent to serve as a juror in the superior courts of the state of Washington unless he be (1) an elector and taxpayer of the state, (2) a resident of the county in which he is called for service for more than one year preceding such time, (3) over twenty-one years of age, (4) in full possession of his faculties and of sound mind, (5) able to read and write the English language. [L. '11, p. 314, § 1. Cf. L. '09, p. 131, § 1.]

Qualifications of jurors under former laws: See Remington's Digest, Grand Jury, § 3; Jury, §§ 27—30, and cases cited.

This act impliedly repeals laws of 1905, page 270, section 4, requiring the drawing of a grand jury to serve during the ensuing three months: State ex rel. Gibson v. Gilliam, 56 Wash. 29, 104 Pac. 1131.

Payment of Taxes.—Constitution, article I, section 21, providing that the right to trial by jury, "shall remain inviolate," is not violated by requiring jurors to be taxpayers: State v. McDowell, 61 Wash. 398, 112 Pac. 521, Ann. Cas. 1912C, 782, 32 L. R. A. (N. S.) 414.

A juror need not be a taxpayer within the county in which he is called: State v. Jahns, 61 Wash. 636, 112 Pac. 747; Lasityr v. Olympia, 61 Wash. 651, 112 Pac. 752.

§ 95. Persons Exempt—Preparation of Lists—Claim of Exemption by Women.

Officers of the United States and of the state, attorneys at law, school teachers, practicing physicians, licensed embalmers, active members of the fire and police departments of any municipality, women, and all persons over sixty years of age, shall not be compelled to serve as jurors; and in preparing jury lists, the names of such persons, other than women and persons over sixty years of age, shall, if it be known that they are entitled to be excused from jury service, be omitted from the jury list: Provided, however, that the right of any such person to be excused from jury service shall not be cause for challenge as to his competency if he desires to serve: Provided further, that any woman desiring to be excused from jury service may claim exemption by signing a written or printed notice thereof and returning same to the sheriff before the date for appearance and if exemption is claimed by reason of sex no fee shall be allowed for her appearance. And it shall be the duty of the person serving any summons for jury service to inform the person served of this provision. [L. '11, p. 314, § 2.]

See infra, § 103, an earlier enactment.

§ 96. Jury List—Yearly Revision—Exempting Women—Jury-boxes.

Upon the taking effect of this act, the judge or judges of the superior court of each county in this state shall divide the county into not less than three nor more than six jury districts, following the lines of voting precincts and arranging the districts in such manner that the population in each district shall be as nearly equal as may be, and the fixing of the boundaries of the district shall be evidenced by an order made by the court and entered upon its records. The county assessor in each county in the state shall prepare annually a list of all persons qualified and subject to serve as a juror, giving the name, age, sex, whether naturalized or native born citizens, occupation, judicial district and postoffice address of such persons and file a copy thereof with the county clerk on or before the first day of June of each year. Any female who upon being listed by the county assessor shall claim her exemption to serve as a juror, shall not be listed by the said county clerk in the preparation of the list of jurors. During the month of July of each year the county clerk of each county in the state shall make up and revise in a book kept for that purpose a jury list containing the names of all the qualified jurors in the county. The county clerk shall provide boxes sufficient in number to correspond with the number of jury districts fixed by the court, and numbered to correspond therewith, and having written the names of the jurors in each district upon slips of paper, which shall be similar in size, quality of paper, and writing, and shall deposit such slips in the jury-box of the proper district. The jury list shall be revised from year to year, new lists being made up each year, adding thereto the names of new residents, and omitting therefrom the names of persons who have removed from the county, or who may have served as jurors within five years theretofore (unless they shall be necessary to make up a sufficient list) and the names of the new lists shall be deposited in the box for service for that year, as hereinbefore provided. [L. '21, p. 92, § 1; L. '11, p. 314, § 3.]

Jury list—Making and requisites of list and record: See Remington's Digest, Jury, § 32; State v. Payne, 6 Wash. 563, 34 Pac. 317; State v. Bokien, 14 Wash. 403, 44 Pac. 889; State v. Vance, 29 Wash. 435, 70 Pac. 34.

This section is directory merely; and a list made up from additional sources of information, such as memoranda by deputy assessors and the personal knowledge of the clerk, does not render the panel subject to challenge, where there was no attempt to show any prejudice or consequent injury: State v. Rholeder, 82 Wash. 618, 144 Pac. 914.

Constitution, article I, section 22, guaranteeing to accused the right to a trial before "a jury of the county," is not violated by this section, providing that the county shall be divided into jury districts, and that an equal number of the jurors shall be drawn from each district for service in any month: State v. Newcomb, 58 Wash. 414, 109 Pac. 355.

§ 97. Jury Terms—Jury, How Drawn.

Jury terms shall commence on the first Monday of each month, and shall end on the Saturday preceding the first Monday of each month, unless the day of commencing or ending said term be changed by order of the judge or judges of the superior court; but it shall not be necessary to call a jury for any term in any county unless the judge or judges of the superior court of that county shall consider that there is sufficient business to be submitted to a jury to require that one be called. When the judge or judges of the superior court of any county shall deem that the public business requires a jury term to be held, he or they shall require the county clerk to draw a jury to serve for the ensuing term, and the county clerk, on the second Saturday of the calendar month preceding the month on which the jury is to be called to serve, shall be blindfolded, and in the presence of the judge or judges or of a court commissioner of the superior court, shall draw from the jury-boxes such number of names as the judge or judges may have ordered to be summoned as jurors for the ensuing term. The names shall be drawn in equal numbers from each jury-box, and before the drawing is made the boxes shall be shaken up so that the slips bearing the names thereon may be thoroughly mixed, and the drawing of the slips shall depend purely upon chance. [L. '11, p. 315, § 4.]

Drawings in absence of judge: See infra, § 105.

Cited in 76 Wash. 17; 82 Wash. 285; 85 Wash. 385.

Selection and drawing of panel: See Remington's Digest, Jury, § 33; State v. Payne, 6 Wash. 563, 34 Pac. 317; Mercereau v. Maughlin Mill Co., 53 Wash. 475, 102 Pac. 232; State v. Barnes, 54

Wash. 493, 103 Pac. 792, 23 L. R. A. (N. S.) 932.

Term of Service.—Under Laws 1911, p. 315, § 4, an order extending a jury term should be made before the term expired, and an order made thereafter is not a substantial compliance with the statute: Jennings v. Puget Sound Traction, Light & Power Co., 76 Wash. 15, 135 Pac. 468.

If a jury is properly drawn and impaneled, and enters upon a trial within the regular jury term, it is a properly constituted jury to complete the trial, though it may carry them over their statutory term as jurors: Beach v. Seattle, 85 Wash. 379, 148 Pac. 39.

§ 98. Grand Jurors—How Drawn.

Whenever the judge or judges of the superior court of any county in the state shall desire to summon a grand jury, the names of persons to serve as grand jurors shall be drawn from the jury list, as hereinbefore provided: Provided, however, that the names of the persons who shall serve as grand jurors shall not be stricken from the jury list, and such service shall not excuse them from service upon petit juries, as though they had not been summoned upon the grand jury. [L. '11, p. 316, § 5.]

Cited in 82 Wash. 286.

A grand jury is illegally drawn where the necessary seventeen grand jurors were arbitrarily selected by the court from forty of the attending qualified jurors drawn by the clerk by chance, as required by this and the preceding section: State ex rel. Murphy v. Superior Court, 82 Wash. 284, 144 Pac. 32.

There is no such distinction between the words "drawn" and "impaneled" as here used, as to permit the judge to select without chance, a grand jury: State ex rel. Murphy v. Superior Court, 82 Wash. 284, 144 Pac. 32.

A grand jury may be selected by the clerk's drawing a certain number from the jury list, and qualifying them singly until sufficient jurors are obtained; or all drawn might be first qualified, and a sufficient number drawn by chance to make up the grand jury: State ex rel. Murphy v. Superior Court, 82 Wash. 284, 144 Pac. 32.

A similar section (Rem. & Bal., § 104), providing that grand jurors shall be "drawn from the jury list as hereinbefore provided" held to have no application to the portions of the preceding section requiring monthly jury terms and fixing the time for the commencement of the term: State ex rel. Gibson v. Gilliam, 56 Wash. 29, 104 Pac. 1131.

§ 99. Additional Names—Open Venire.

If for any reason the jurors drawn for service upon a petit jury for any term shall not be sufficient to dispose of the pending jury business, or where no jury is in regular attendance and the business of the court may require the attendance of a jury before a regular term, the judge or judges of the superior court may draw from the jury list such additional names as they may consider necessary, and the persons whose names are so drawn shall thereupon be summoned to serve as jurors forthwith. The judge or judges drawing such additional names, may, in his or their discretion, order and direct that, of such additional jurors, only those living nearest to the county seat or most conveniently reached and found shall be at first summoned by the sheriff, and at any time when a sufficiency of such persons has been summoned and produced in court, such judge or judges may, in his or their discretion, order and direct the sheriff not to summon the remainder of the additional jurors so drawn. By stipulation or agreement made in open court as a part of the record, the parties to any action may agree that an open venire may be issued to make up a jury in that action and upon order of the court approving such stipulation and directing the number of jurors to be drawn, the clerk shall issue an open venire, and the sheriff shall fill the same by summoning from the bystanders, or elsewhere, a sufficient number of persons to fill the open venire. [L. '11, p. 316, § 6.]

Construction of former statutory provisions: See Remington's Digest, Jury, § 31; Thompson v. Territory, 1 W. T. 547; State v. Croncy, 31 Wash. 122, 71 Pac. 783; Cathey v. Seattle Elec. Co., 58 Wash. 176, 108 Pac. 443.

Special venire or panel: See Remington's Digest, Jury, § 36; Blanton v. State, 1 Wash. 265, 24 Pac. 439; State v. Payne, 6 Wash. 563, 34 Pac. 317; State ex rel. King v. Trimbell, 12 Wash. 440, Talesmen or additional jurors: See Remington's Digest, Jury, § 38; Meeker v. Gardella, 1 Wash. 139, 23 Pac. 837; State v. Holmes, 12 Wash. 169, 40 Pac. 735, 41 Pac. 887.

§ 100. Excused from Service.

A person summoned as a juror may be excused from acting as such on account of any of the reasons stated in section 95 hereof; when his own health requires, on account of death in his family, or of illness in his family of such character that he is required to be in attendance thereupon, or when his business interests would be seriously prejudiced by such service. No person, however, shall be excused from service as a juror on account of business reasons unless his service is such as would lead to the waste or destruction of his property; and unless it shall appear that after having been summoned as a juror he had made every reasonable effort to permit of his serving as a juror without causing waste or destruction of his property. When excused for any of the foregoing reasons, or for any reason deemed sufficient by the court, the name of the juror so excused shall remain upon the jury list from which jurors are drawn, and his name returned to the jury box from which it was drawn. Any person applying to be excused from jury service for any of the causes herein specified, may be placed upon oath or affirmation to testify truly in all respects as to the cause of such excuse, and that he will answer truly any question put to him by the judge with respect thereto. [L. '11, p. 317, § 7.]

§ 101. Separation of Jury.

In no action or proceeding whatever, except felony cases shall the jury sworn to try the issues therein be kept together and in the custody of the officers of the court, save during the actual progress of the trial, until the case shall have been finally submitted to them for their decision. Whenever the jury are kept together in the custody of the officers when the trial is not in progress, they shall be supplied with meals at regular hours, and with comfortable sleeping and toilet accommodations. [L. '11, p. 317, § 8. Cf. 1 Rem. & Bal. Code, § 346, repealed by this act.]

§ 102. Felon not Competent.

This section is superseded by § 94, supra, except as to subdivision 6, which is retained.

§ 103. Who are Exempt—Effect of Disqualification on Verdict.

Civil officers of the United States, civil and judicial officers of the state, attorneys at law, ministers of the gospel or priests, school teachers, practicing physicians, locomotive engineers, active members of the fire department of any city or village, all persons who have served twice as a juror within two years, and all persons over sixty years of age, shall not be compelled to serve as jurors, and in preparing jury lists the county commissioners shall omit the names of such persons; but no act of a grand or petit jury shall be invalid by reason of such person or persons aforesaid, qualified in other respects, serving thereon; nor shall any disqualification of any member of a grand or petit jury affect the indictment or verdict, unless the juror for that specific cause was challenged or excepted to before the finding of the indictment or rendition of the verdict, and the challenge or exception overruled, and error specifically assigned upon the overruling of such challenge or exception. § 104. Public Interest as an Excuse.

A person may be excused from acting as a juror when, for any reason, . . . interests . . . of the public will be materially injured by his attendance; but no person shall be excused on account of the causes in this section mentioned, unless it appear that after he was summoned he could not, by reasonable precaution, have provided against them. [L. '91, p. 87, § 7; 2 H. C., § 57.]

§ 105. Drawing in Certain Counties in Absence of Judge.

When, pursuant to any statute of this state, there is elected but one judge of the superior court in and for two or more counties, the superior court of any such county may by an order made and entered of record direct that until such order be altered or revoked, the drawing from such box of the names of persons to serve as jurors in that court shall take place in the courtroom in such county and not in open court and without the presence of the judge; and while such order remains in force the drawing shall be made accordingly; but the names of the persons drawn shall nevertheless be entered upon the journal of such court, together with the clerk's certificate prescribed in section 4 of this act, and the judge of the superior court for any such county may, while he is within or without such county, make in writing and sign the order prescribed in said section 4 for drawing persons to serve as jurors; but he shall then forward such order to the clerk of such court in time to reach such clerk on or before 10 o'clock A. M. of the last Saturday in the current month; and such drawing shall then take place at said hour on said Saturday. If at the time when the said judge would otherwise make said order, it appears to the judge of said court that no jury will be needed in the ensuing month, the judge may omit said order and no jury need be drawn for such ensuing month. [L. '05, p. 275, § 14.]

It is doubtful if this section is in force. "Section 4" is repealed.

§ 106. Irregularities Do not Invalidate.

The failure on the part of any officer to perform the duties required within the time, or other irregularity in said drawing, shall in no way invalidate the selecting, summoning or drawing of said jurors. [Cf. L. '88, p. 116, § 4; L. '90, p. 332, § 2; 2 H. C., § 62.]

Cited in 12 Wash. 291.

This section shows the intention of the legislature to be that the regulations for the drawing of jurors is not mandatory: State v. Krug, 12 Wash. 288, 41 Pac. 126.

§ 107. Proceedings When Venire Set Aside.

If for any cause the court shall see fit to set aside the venire for grand or petit jurors, returned as above provided, an open venire may thereupon issue to the sheriff, who shall thereupon complete the panel by such open venire as speedily as possible. [Cf. L. '90, p. 332, § 3; L. '91, p. 88, § 8; 2 H. C., § 63.]

Cited in 12 Wash. 295; 17 Wash. 550; 20 Wash. 558.

§ 108. Sheriff to Summon Jurors.

When a venire is delivered to the sheriff he shall without delay proceed to summon the jurors as therein directed, and shall immediately thereafter make and file in the court a return of his doings thereon. [L. '91, p. 88, § 10; 2 H. C., § 65.]

The fact that the sheriff does not make a return of his acts in summoning a special venire of jurors until after the

§ 110. Venire to Fill Incomplete Panel.

If for any cause a sufficient number of grand or petit jurors are not returned by the sheriff in the manner first herein contemplated, or if a sufficient number of grand or petit jurors are not in attendance, the court may order the panel filled by summoning a sufficient number by an open venire issued and directed to the sheriff. [Cf. L. '90, p. 332, § 4; L. '91, p. 88, § 9; 2 H. C., § 64.]

§ 111. Juror not to be Summoned Twice in One Year.

No person shall be summoned as a petit juror in any superior court upon an open venire more than once in one year. [L. '91, p. 88, § 11; 2 H. C., § 66.]

For balance of this section, see infra, § 328.

Cited in 24 Wash. 257.

An act making service upon a jury within the previous year a ground for challenge, does not render one incompetent to serve as a juror, in the absence of a challenge: State v. Hall, 24 Wash. 255, 64 Pac. 153.

§ 114. Appointment by the Court.

When from illness or other cause the prosecuting attorney is temporarily unable to perform his duties, the court or judge may appoint some qualified person to discharge the duties of such officer in court until such disability is removed. [L. '91, p. 95, § 5; 2 H. C., § 87.]

being a county officer, under the constitution and laws of this state, a vacancy in the office should be filled by appointment of the county commissioners and not by the governor: State ex rel. McMartin v. Whitney, 9 Wash. 377, 37 Pac. 473. See Swanson v. Hoyle, 32 Wash. 169, 72 Pac. 1011.

The prosecuting attorney of a county

§ 115. Deputy Prosecuting Attorneys—Appointment.

The prosecuting attorney of each county may appoint, by and with the consent of the county commissioners, one or more deputies who shall have the same power in all respects as their principal. Such appointment shall be in writing, signed by the prosecuting attorney and filed in the county auditor's office. A deputy prosecuting attorney has the power to subscribe his principal's name to an information: Hammond v. State, 2 Wash. 171, 28 Pac. 334.

It is proper for the deputy in executing papers pertaining to his duties to sign his own name thereto as such, and it is unnecessary that he sign in the name of his principal, by himself as deputy: State v. Devine, 6 Wash. 587, 34 Pac. 154.

An information subscribed by a deputy prosecuting attorney is sufficient, since § 2050, infra, requiring information to be subscribed by the prosecuting attorney, must be read in connection with this section, a later act: State v. Riddell, 33 Wash. 324, 74 Pac. 477.

§ 116. General Powers and Duties of Prosecuting Attorneys.

The prosecuting attorney of each county shall have authority and it shall be his duty, subject to the supervisory control and direction of the attorney general, to appear for and represent the state and the county and all school districts in the county in which he is a prosecuting attorney, in all criminal and civil actions and proceedings in such county in which the state or such county or such school district is a party. § 131. Proceedings When Attorney Appears Without Authority.

If it be alleged by a party for whom an attorney appears that he does so without authority, the court may at any stage of the proceedings relieve the party for whom the attorney has assumed to appear from the consequences of his act; it may also summarily, upon motion, compel the attorney to repair the injury to either party consequent upon his assumption of authority. [L. '69, p. 405, § 7; Cd. '81, § 3281; 2 H. C., § 96.]

Cited in 21 Wash. 436.

Where the question of the authority of an attorney to appear for a party has been raised and passed upon in the original action, it cannot be retried upon a petition to vacate the judgment therein under authority of this section: Roberts v. Shelton Southwestern R. Co., 21 Wash. 427, 58 Pac. 576.

§ 132. Attorney may be Required to Show Authority.

The court or a judge may, on motion of either party, and on showing reasonable grounds therefor, require the attorney for the adverse party, or for any one of several adverse parties, to produce or prove the authority under which he appears, and until he does so, may stay all proceedings by him on behalf of the party for whom he assumes to appear. [L. '63, p. 405, § 8; Cd. '81, § 3282; 2 H. C., § 97.]

Cited in 23 Wash. 305; 27 Wash. 114, 255.

§ 133. Change of Attorneys.

The attorney in an action or special proceeding may be changed at any time before judgment or final determination as follows:—

1. Upon his own consent, filed with the clerk or entered upon the minutes; or

2. Upon the order of the court, or a judge thereof, on the application of the client, or for other sufficient cause; but no such change can be made until the charges of such attorney have been paid by the party asking such change to be made. [L. '63, p. 405, § 9; Cd. '81, § 3283; 2 H. C., § 98.]

Cited in 72 Wash. 519; 78 Wash. 473.

Change and substitution: See Remington's Digest, Atty. & C., §§ 14, 15; Tacoma Mill Co. v. Sherwood, 11 Wash. 492, 39 Pac. 977; Gabrielson v. Gorin, 92 Wash. 408, 159 Pac. 387.

This and the next section governing the substitution of attorneys is confined to changes made before judgment or final determination: Belle City Mfg. Co. v. Kemp, 27 Wash. 111, 67 Pac. 580.

§ 134. Notice of Change and Substitution.

When an attorney is changed, as provided in the last section, written notice of the change, and of the substitution of a new attorney, or of the appearance of the party in person, must be given to the adverse party; until then, he shall be bound to recognize the former attorney. [L. '63, p. 405, § 10; Cd. '81, § 3284; 2 H. C., § 99.]

Cited in 3 Wash. 392; 27 Wash. 114.

Upon an application to the court to change attorneys, notice to the attorney issued by citation is sufficient, provided the attorney is thereby given reasonable notice of the application: Schultheis v. Nash, 27 Wash. 250, 67 Pac. 707.

After judgment, new attorneys may be employed and may serve notice of appeal without notice of the substitution of attorneys to the adverse party, since this section is confined to changes before final judgment: Belle City Mfg. Co. v. Kemp, 27 Wash. 111, 67 Pac. 580.

§ 135. Proceedings on Death or Removal of Attorney.

When an attorney dies, or is removed or suspended, or ceases to act as such, a party to an action for whom he was acting as attorney must, at least twenty days before any further proceedings against him, be required by the adverse party, by written notice, to appoint another attorney, or to appear in person. [L. '63, p. 405, § 11; Cd. '81, § 3285; 2 H. C., § 100.]

Cited in 35 Wash. 387.

This section does not apply to a voluntary withdrawal by the attorney, since a twenty days' delay could thereby be secured by collusion: McInnes v. Sutton, 35 Wash. 384, 77 Pac. 736.

§ 136. Lien of Attorneys.

An attorney has a lien for his compensation, whether specially agreed upon or implied, as hereinafter provided,—

1. Upon the papers of his client, which have come into his possession in the course of his professional employment;

2. Upon money in his hands belonging to his client;

3. Upon money in the hands of the adverse party in an action or proceeding, in which the attorney was employed, from the time of giving notice of the lien to that party;

4. Upon a judgment to the extent of the value of any services performed by him in the action, or if the services were rendered under a special agreement, for the sum due under such agreement, from the time of filing notice of such lien or claim with the clerk of the court in which such judgment is entered, which notice must be filed with the papers in the action in which such judgment was rendered, and an entry made in the execution docket, showing name of claimant, amount claimed, and date of filing notice. [L. '63, p. 406, § 12; Cd. '81, § 3286; 2 H. C., § 101.]

An attorney's lien on a judgment cannot attach upon the oral announcement of the decision at the conclusion of the trial, but a written judgment must be formally entered, under this section: Cline Piano Co. v. Sherwood, 57 Wash. 239, 106 Pac. 742.

Waiver, loss or discharge: See Remington's Digest, Atty. & C., § 47; Wooding v. Crain, 11 Wash. 207, 39 Pac. 442; Gottstein v. Harrington, 25 Wash. 508, 65 Pac. 753; Plummer v. Great Northern R. The summary method provided by this section for the adjustment of excessive attorney's charges is not exclusive, and a trustee of a corporation appointed by stipulation may maintain an action to enforce the agreement against the parties, including an attorney withholding an excessive fee: Jensen v. Kohler, 93 Wash. 8, 159 Pac. 978.

§ 143. Common Law, How Far Prevails.

The common law, so far as it is not inconsistent with the constitution and laws of the United States, or of the state of Washington, nor incompatible with the institutions and condition of society in this state, shall be the rule of decision in all the courts of this state. [Cf. L. '63, p. 88, § 1; Cd. '81, § 1; L. '91, p. 31, § 1; 2 H. C., § 108.]

Cited in 3 Wash. 226; 14 Wash. 78; 17 Wash. 281; 19 Wash. 252; 23 Wash. 355; 29 Wash. 638; 30 Wash. 279; 33 Wash. 388; 58 Wash. 181; 78 Wash. 696; 80 Wash. 572; 81 Wash. 543, 544, 553; 82 Wash. 534; 104 Wash. 273; 107 Wash. 102.

The common law of England including the English statutes in force at the date of the Declaration of Independence, as adopted by the territorial law of 1863, continues to be the law of this state, except so far as modified by statute: See Remington's Digest, Com. Law, §§ 1—3; Wagner v. Law, 3 Wash. 500, 28 Pac. 1109, 29 Pac. 927, 28 Am. St. Rep. 56, 15 L. R. A. 784; Bates v. Drake, 28 Wash. 447, 68 Pac. 961; Richards v. Common-law rules of procedure having been abolished by section 153, infra, our common law, preserved only when not inconsistent with the laws of the state by this section, is a rule of decision and not a rule of practice, and common-law rules of practice as to venue cannot be allowed to defeat a right of action: State ex rel. King County v. Superior Court, Pierce County, 104 Wash. 268, 176 Pac. 352.

Whenever any term indicating an officer is used it shall be construed, when required, to mean any person authorized by law to discharge the duties of such officer. [L. '54, p. 221, § 501; Cd. '81, § 755; 2 H. C., § 1710.]

§ 149. Word "Month" Defined.

The word "month" or "months," whenever the same occurs in the statutes of this state now in force, or in statutes hereinafter enacted, or in any contract made in this state, shall be taken and construed to mean "calendar month." [L. '77, p. 333; Cd. '81, § 759; L. '91, p. 40, § 1; 2 H. C., § 1712.]

It was intimated in Hale v. Finch, 1 W. T. 566, that when in the statute the word "month" is used a lunar month is meant, unless the contrary is indicated. The above section was, however, enacted subsequent to this ruling.

When the last day falls upon Sunday, the notice may be filed on the next day, under this section: Spokane Falls v. Browne, 3 Wash. 84, 27 Pac. 1077.

The statute relating to the exclusion of Sunday applies to the computation of time for the maturity of a note: Perkins v. Jennings, 27 Wash. 145, 67 Pac. 590.

A tenant under a lease reserving a monthly rental payable in advance on the first of the month is entitled to the second day of the month to make payment, where the first day falls on Sunday, and suit cannot be commenced by the landlord until such second day: Byers v. Rothschild, 11 Wash. 296, 39 Pac. 688.

§ 151. Adoption of Ballinger's Code.

The compilation arranged by R. A. Ballinger and known as Ballinger's Annotated Codes and Statutes of Washington, two volumes, is hereby adopted as an official compilation of existing statutes of the state, up to and including the year 1897, but of no greater authority than all other existing official compilations or session laws of the state. [L. '99, p. 109, § 1.]

The code of 1881 is a valid and binding body of laws, arranged and consecutively sectionized under authority of the legislature of 1881, from laws revised and re-enacted by the body, and ratified by subsequent legislatures by constant reference thereto as the code of 1881:

Marston v. Humes, 3 Wash. 267, 28 Pac. 520.

The code of 1881 must be construed as continuations of existing statutes, and not new enactments: Littell & Smythe Mfg. Co. v. Miller, 3 Wash. 480, 28 Pac. 1035.

§ 152. Amendments to Code.

It shall be proper for the legislature in amending or repealing existing statutes, and for the courts in referring to existing statutes, to refer to or cite Ballinger's Annotated Codes and Statutes of Washington, containing such law. [L. '99, p. 110, § 2.]

§ 152-5. Official Codes of State Laws.

The compilation of the Session Laws of the state of Washington, arranged and compiled by Richard A. Ballinger and Arthur Remington, and known as Remington & Ballinger's Annotated Codes and Statutes of Washington, and supplement thereto, and the compilation of the Session Laws of the state of Washington arranged and compiled by Frank Pierce, and known as Pierce's Washington Code, are hereby respectively adopted as the official compilations of the existing statutes of the state up to and including the year 1913. [L. 1915, p. 18, § 1. Cf. L. '11, p. 8, § 1; L. '13, p. 276, § 1.]

§ 152-6. Citations of Codes.

It shall be proper for the legislature in amending or repealing existing statutes, and for the courts in referring to existing or repealed statutes, to refer to or cite Remington & Ballinger's Annotated Codes and Statutes of Washington, containing such law, and in any such references and citations to abbreviate the same to Rem. & Bal. Code, or refer to and cite Pierce's Washington Code containing such law. [L. 1915, p. 19, § 2.]

§ 152-7. Adoption of Pierce Code.

The compilation by Frank Pierce of the Session Laws of the state of Washington, known as Pierce's Washington Code, is hereby adopted as an official compilation of the existing statutes up to and including the year 1919. [L. '21, p. 75, § 1.]

§ 152-8. Reference and Abbreviation.

It shall be proper for the legislature, in amending or repealing existing statutes, or for the courts in referring to existing statutes, to refer to or cite Pierce's Washington Code containing such law, and in any such references or citations to abbreviate the same as Pierce's Code. [L. '21, p. 75, § 2.]

§ 152-9. Certifying Session Laws.

CHAPTER II.FORMS OF ACTIONS.*§ 153. Only One Form of Action.

There shall be in this state hereafter but one form of action for the enforcement or protection of private rights and the redress of private wrongs, which shall be called a civil action. [L. '54, p. 131, § 1; L. '60, p. 5, § 1; L. '71, p. 3, § 1; L. '73, p. 4, § 2; Cd. '81, § 2; 2 H. C., § 109.]

Abolition of Distinction as to Form: See Remington's Digest, Action, §§ 12, 15, 16; Garrison v. Cheeney, 1 W. T. 489; Meeker v. Gilbert, 3 W. T. 369, 19 Pac. 18; McLeod v. Seattle etc. Ry. Co., 28 Wash. 179, 68 Pac. 442; Browder v. Phinney, 30 Wash. 74, 70 Pac. 264.

Includes Both Legal and Equitable: See Remington's Digest, Action, § 20; Garrison v. Cheeney, 1 W. T. 489; Thompson v. Caton, 3 W. T. 31, 13 Pac. 185; Washington Iron Works v. Jensen, 3 Wash.

An application for a writ of certiorari under this section is an "action" within the meaning of the statute relating to the taxation of costs: State ex rel. Spokane Terminal Co. v. Superior Court, 40 Wash. 453, 82 Pac. 878.

The statutory abolition of the distinction between actions at law and in equity does not relieve the courts of the necessity of recognizing the inherent distinctions as an aid in the determination of the rights of a party: Montesano v. Carr, 80 Wash. 384, 141 Pac. 894.

An action to compel the specific performance of a contract whereby defendant agreed to purchase and pay for a certificate of sale is not an action for damages in the sense of excluding equitable jurisdiction: Lindholm v. Patrick, 107 Wash. 243, 181 Pac. 876.

§ 154. Parties, How Designated.

The party commencing the action shall be known as the plaintiff, and the opposite party the defendant. [L. '54, p. 131, § 2; Cd. '81, § 3; 2 H. C., § 110.]

CHAPTER III.

§ 155. Limitations Prescribed—Objections, How Taken.

Actions can only be commenced within the periods herein prescribed after the cause of action shall have accrued, except when in special cases a different limitation is prescribed by statute; but the objection that the action was not commenced within the time limited can only be taken by answer or demurrer. [Cf. L. '54, p. 362, § 1; L. '60, p. 289, § 1; L. '63, p. 85, § 16; L. '69, p. 8, § 25; L. '73, p. 8, § 25; Cd. '81, § 25; L. '85, p. 74, § 1; L. '91, p. 90, § 1; 2 H. C., § 111.]

The statute of limitations is not an unconscionable defense: Morgan v. Morgan, 10 Wash. 99, 38 Pac. 1054; Deering v. Holcomb, 26 Wash. 588, 67 Pac. 240, 561; Liberman v. Gurensky, 27 Wash. 410, 67 Pac. 398; Arthur & Co. v. Burke, 83 Wash. 690, 145 Pac. 974.

Nor is to be viewed with disfavor

McClaine v. Fairchild, 23 Wash. 758, 63 Pac. 517.

The statute of limitations is a statute of repose: Wickham v. Sprague, 18 Wash. 466, 51 Pac. 1055; Bettman v. Cowley, 19 Wash. 207, 53 Pac. 53, 40 L. R. A. 815; Northern Pacific R. Co. v. Ely, 25 Wash. 384, 65 Pac. 555, 87 Am. St. Rep. 766, 54 L. R. A. 526; Northern Pac. R. Co. v. Hasse, 28 Wash. 353, 68 Pac. 882, 92 Am. St. Rep. 840.

"Arose" and "arisen," in the statute of limitations, should be defined not to have been used in the sense of "originated," but rather in the sense of the right of action having "accrued": Freundt v. Hahn, 24 Wash. 8, 63 Pac. 1107, 85 Am. St. Rep. 939.

This section is inapplicable to actions by the city of Port Townsend to foreclose tax liens, when it contains no specific provision in regard to actions of that character, in view of the special charter of 1881 of Port Townsend, providing that the taxes levied thereunder should have the effect of a judgment, etc.: Port Townsend v. Eisenbeis, 28 Wash. 533, 68 Pac. 1045.

Rem. Code, § 183 being in derogation of the common law is to be strictly construed in determining the persons entitled to sue, but liberally in applying the statute in their favor: Whittlesey v. Seattle, 94 Wash. 645, 163 Pac. 193, L. R. A. 1917D, 1084.

Rem. Code, § 183 being the later declaration of the legislative will must stand, and impliedly repeals section 717 of the Code of 1881: Graetz v. McKenzie, 3 Wash. 194, 28 Pac. 331; Northern Pac. R. Co. v. Ellison, 3 Wash. 225, 28 Pac. 333, 29 Pac. 263; Dahl v. Tibbals, 5 Wash. 259, 31 Pac. 868.

The general statutes giving a right of action for wrongful death are not superseded or impliedly repealed by the fireman's pension act, Rem. & Bal. Code, section 8068, providing a pension for certain dependents, equal to one-half of the salary of a fireman killed while in the service of the city: Longfellow v. Seattle, 76 Wash. 509, 136 Pac. 855.

The code of 1881, which includes the wrongful death act rewritten as an independent enactment, having been duly passed as appears from the council and house journals, although no mention thereof was made in the session laws of 1881, it cannot be argued that the various subdivisions of the wrongful death act are separate enactments erroneously arranged or combined by the compiler of the code as one act: Whittlesey v. Seattle.

The basis of the cause of action for wrongful death originally given by Rem. Code, § 183, to the heirs or personal representatives of the deceased, is distinct from the basis of the cause of action given by section 184 to a father or mother for the wrongful death of a child; hence the amendment in 1909 of section 183, extending that cause of action to the "parents, sisters or minor brothers dependent" upon the deceased for support, and of section 194, extending the provision for survival of such causes to such dependents, did not impliedly repeal section 184; the one being for loss of support, and the other being for loss of service: Mesher v. Osborne, 75 Wash. 439, 134 Pac. 1092, 48 L. R. A. (N. S.) 917.

Rem. Code, § 183, is not limited to killing in a duel, but may be had where one kills another wrongfully or by some neglect amounting to a tort, as in the case of shooting in supposed self-defense without warranted justification: Welch v. Creech, 88 Wash. 429, 153 Pac. 355, L. R. A. 1918A, 353.

Under Rem. Code, § 183, and section 967, providing that all other causes of action by one person against another survive to the personal representatives of the former against the personal representatives of the latter, a cause of action for wrongful death survives only against the wrongdoer and abates upon his death: Rinker v. If there be no wife or husband or child or children, such action may be maintained for the benefit of the parents, sisters or minor brothers, who may be dependent upon the deceased person for support, and who are resident within the United States at the time of his death. In every such action the jury may give such damages as, under all circumstances of the case, may to them seem just. [L. '17, p. 495, § 2.]

When an infant is a party he shall appear by guardian, or if he has no guardian, or in the opinion of the court the guardian is an improper person, the court shall appoint one to act. Said guardian shall be appointed as follows:—

Baeder v. Blake*, 107 Wash. 294, 181 Pac. 685.

A judgment rescinding a trade and imposing reciprocal and concurrent obligations of reconveyance, with an alternative of a future money judgment, is not in its practical effect a final judgment; and upon death of a party plaintiff more than one year prior to final judgment, the action abates, unless revived by substitution of her personal representative within one year, under this section: Gordon v. Hillman, 109 Wash. 223, 186 Pac. 651.

The right of survivors to substitution on the death of a party is limited to one year: Gordon v. Hillman, 109 Wash. 223, 186 Pac. 651.

§ 194. Action for Personal Injury Survives to Wife, Child, or Heirs.

No action for a personal injury to any person occasioning his death shall abate, nor shall such right of action determine, by reason of such death, if he have a wife or child living, or leaving no wife or issue, if he have dependent upon him for support and resident within the United States at the time of his death, parents, sisters or minor brothers; but such action may be prosecuted, or commenced and prosecuted, in favor of such wife or in favor of the wife and children, or if no wife, in favor of such child or children, or if no wife or child or children, then in favor of his parents, sisters, or minor brothers who may be dependent upon him for support, and resident in the United States at the time of his death. [L. '09, p. 566, § 1; Cf. L. '54, p. 220, § 495; Cd. '81, § 18; 2 H. C., § 148.]

This section was not restricted to mean that no action commenced for wrongful death shall abate, by reason of the enactment at the same session of section 183, as originally enacted, giving a widow and children an independent right of action for the wrongful death of the husband and father; but these sections are independent of each other: Swanson v. Pacific Shipping Co., 60 Wash. 87, 110 Pac. 795.

A release and satisfaction by the person injured of his right of action for the injuries sustained, bars the right of the beneficiaries to maintain an action for damages for wrongful death under either section 194 or section 183, providing that an action for damages may be maintained by heirs or representatives for wrongful death; notwithstanding the two acts create distinct causes of action: *Brodie v. § 195. Parties and Judgment in Actions for Purchase Price of Land.

In an action brought for the recovery of the purchase money against any person holding a contract for the purchase of lands, the party bound to perform the contract, if not the plaintiff, may be made a party, and the court in a final judgment may order the interest of purchaser to be sold or transferred to the plaintiff upon such terms as may be just, and may also order a specific performance of the contract in favor of the complainant, or the purchaser in case a sale be ordered. Where the vendor of real estate retains the legal title, and afterward mortgages his interest to a third person, and also assigns to such person the purchaser's notes given for the purchase price, such mortgagee and assignee may maintain an action against the vendee on the notes, and the contract lien is secured thereby. In such case the vendor is a proper though not a necessary party: Shelton v. Jones, 4 Wash. 692, 30 Pac. 1061.

Where a party sells all the timber upon a tract of land, and subsequently makes another bill of sale of all the cedar timber on the same land, he is a proper party defendant to an action by his first grantees, brought to quiet title to the timber: Larson v. Allen 34 Wash. 113, 74 Pac. 1069.

§ 196. Bringing in New Parties.

The court may determine any controversy between parties before it when it can be done without prejudice to the rights of others, or by saving their rights; but when a complete determination of the controversy cannot be had without the presence of other parties, the court shall cause them to be brought in. Right to bring in new parties by cross-bill. 20 Ann. Cas. 1151.

§ 197. New Party Entitled to Service of Summons.

When a new party is introduced into an action as a representative or successor of a former party, such new party is entitled to the same summons, to be served in the same manner, as required for defendants in the commencement of an action. [L. '54, p. 219, § 485; L. '60, p. 99, § 477; L. '63, p. 194, § 524; L. '69, p. 172, § 684; L. '73, p. 176, § 682; L. '77, p. 151, § 747; Cd. '81, §§ 21, 742; 2 H. C., §§ 151, 793.]

In receivership proceedings, upon petition for an accounting and to discharge the receiver, parties other than the receiver cannot be cited to show cause on ten days' notice why they should not be brought in as parties defendants, as such substitute for summons would ignore section 220, infra: Nevin v. Pacific Coast & Norway Packing Co., 105 Wash. 192, 177 Pac. 739.

§ 198. Substitution and Interpleader.

A defendant against whom an action is pending upon a contract, or for specific real or personal property, at any time before answer, upon affidavit that a person not a party to the action, and without collusion with him, makes against him a demand for the same debt or property, upon due notice to such person and the adverse party, may apply to the court for an order to substitute such person in his place, and discharge him from liability to either party on his depositing in court the amount of the debt, or delivering the property or its value to such person as the court may direct; and the court may in its discretion make the order. An action of interpleader under sections 199—201, being of an equitable nature, findings of fact are not necessary to sustain the judgment: Smith v. Dement Bros. Co., 100 Wash. 139, 170 Pac. 555.

A petition charging fraud and collusion in a receivership and seeking to bring in new parties is too late as a petition for intervention, when it was not filed until three years after appointment of the receiver and final judgment on plaintiff's claim: *Nevin v. § 199. Actions to Determine Conflicting Claims to Property.

Anyone having in his possession, or under his control, any property or money, or being indebted, where more than one person claims to be the owner of, entitled to, interested in, or to have a lien on such property, money or indebtedness, or any part thereof, may commence an action in the superior court against all or any of such persons, and have their rights, claims, interest, or liens adjudged, determined and adjusted in such action. Where a garnishee had suffered a default, and claimed he had no notice of the defense that his debt had been assigned, his action to bring all parties before the court to determine to whom he should pay the judgment, under this section, is a collateral attack upon the garnishee judgment, which can only be held void for reasons affirmatively appearing upon the record: Benjamin v. Ernst, 83 Wash. 59, 145 Pac. 79.

Right of sheriff or other officer to file bill of interpleader to determine conflicting claims to proceeds of judgment. Ann. Cas. 1913B, 231.

§ 200. Plaintiff may Disclaim and Deposit Property.

In all actions commenced under the preceding section, the plaintiff may disclaim any interest in the money, property, or indebtedness, and deposit with the clerk of the court the full amount of such money or indebtedness, or other property, and he shall not be liable for any costs accruing in said action. And the clerks of the various courts shall receive and file such complaint, and all other officers shall execute the necessary processes to carry out the purposes of this section, and also sections 199 and 201, of this code, free from all charge to said plaintiff, and the court, in its discretion, shall determine the liability for costs of the action. A payment by a garnishee defendant of moneys in dispute to the clerk of the court will not discharge the garnishee from liability when the payment is made in satisfaction of a judgment against the garnishee in favor of the principal debtor, and the money is not deposited with the clerk for the purpose of disclaiming any interest therein, as provided by sections 199 and 200: Ward v. Ward, 14 Wash. 640, 45 Pac. 312.

§ 201. Court may Protect Interest of Claimants.

Either of the defendants may set up or show any claim or lien he may have to such property, money or indebtedness, or any part thereof, and the superior right, title, or lien, whether legal or equitable, shall prevail. The court or judge thereof, may make all necessary orders, during the pendency of said action, for the preservation and protection of the rights, interests, or liens of the several parties. [L. '90, p. 94, § 3; 2 H. C., § 155.]

§ 202. Intervention.

Any person may, before the trial, intervene in an action or proceeding, who has an interest in the matter in litigation, in the success of either party, or an interest against both. An intervention takes place when a third person is permitted to become a party to an action or proceeding between other persons, either by joining the plaintiff in claiming what is sought by the complaint, or by uniting with the defendant in resisting the claims of the plaintiff, or by demanding anything adversely to both the plaintiff and the defendant, and is made by a complaint setting forth the grounds upon which the intervention rests, filed by leave of the court or judge on the ex parte motion of the party desiring to intervene. A third party may intervene in supplemental proceedings: Murne v. Schwabacher, 2 W. T. 191, 3 Pac. 270.

In an action against the husband on his promissory note, the wife has a right to intervene, for the purpose of having any judgment that may be rendered against the husband adjudged that the debt was not a community debt and that it should not be satisfied out of the community real property: Gund v. Parke, 15 Wash. 393, 46 Pac. 408.

In an action by a councilman to enjoin the city clerk from certifying to an elector's petition for his recall, a taxpayer has no interest entitling him to intervene under this section; it not being alleged that the clerk would not defend the action: Hilzinger v. Gillman, 56 Wash. 228, 105 Pac. 471, 21 Ann. Cas. 305.

Under this section, the receiver of an insolvent bank is entitled to intervene in an action by the trustee of a pledgee of such insolvent bank, instituted for the purpose of establishing the validity of certain city warrants, which were the subject of the pledge, and which the receiver claims had been fraudulently and collusively sold by the pledgee to itself: *Muhlenberg v. All questions involving the rights to the possession or title to any specific article of personal property; in which last mentioned class of cases damages may also be awarded for the detention and for injury to such personal property. [L. '54, p. 133, § 13; L. '60, p. 7, § 15; L. '69, p. 12, § 48; L. '77, p. 11, § 48; Cd. '81, § 47; 2 H. C., § 158.]

This section is general, applying to actions against counties; hence such an action against two counties is local and properly brought in the county where the land was situated, notwithstanding that neither the common law, nor any express statute, authorized an action against a county beyond its limits: State ex rel. King County v. Superior Court, 104 Wash. 268, 176 Pac. 352.

Actions Relating to Real Property, When Local: See Remington's Digest, Venue, § 3; Wood v. Mastick, 2 W. T. 64, 3 Pac. 612; McLeod v. Ellis, 2 Wash. 117, 26 Pac. 76; Reese v. Two mortgages securing the same debt, but covering land in different counties, may properly be foreclosed in either county: Commercial Nat. Bank of Seattle v. Johnson, 16 Wash. 536, 48 Pac. 267.

When the superior court may have jurisdiction of a lien foreclosure filed in another county, where there was no demand for a removal of the trial in view of sections 204, 208: Barbour v. Hodge, 99 Wash. 578, 170 Pac. 115.

An action by a tenant in common to recover an interest in land in possession of her cotenant holding adversely involves the title and right of possession, and must be tried in the state in which the property is situated: Daniel v. Daniel, 106 Wash. 659, 181 Pac. 215.

Any superior court of the state has general jurisdiction over the subject matter of an action to foreclose a lien for the construction of a ship, regardless of the situs of the ship, and notwithstanding this section, provides that actions involving the title to any specific personal property shall be commenced in the county in which the property is situated; since the venue may be changed by consent, or the objection waived by a general appearance:

This section does not require the fact to be affirmatively alleged, nor make a complaint demurrable for want of jurisdiction, where the fact does not appear on its face, since jurisdiction will in such case be presumed: Peterson v. Pantheon Lumber Co., 62 Wash. 189, 113 Pac. 562.

Under this section, the court has no jurisdiction to enter judgment where the action was brought in the wrong county: Richman v. Wenaha Co., 74 Wash. 370, 133 Pac. 467.

The fact that a foreign corporation has personal property in this state cannot be considered in aid of jurisdiction by service of summons in an action to recover a judgment in personam: Macario v. Alaska Gastineau Mining Co., 96 Wash. 458, 165 Pac. 73, L. R. A. 1917E, 1152.

Under this section, the superior court has no jurisdiction of the subject matter of an action against a foreign corporation commenced in a county wherein the company has no agent, by service upon a statutory agent in another county: Hammel v. Fidelity Mutual Aid Assn., 42 Wash. 448, 85 Pac. 35.

§ 207. Venue in Cases not Before Specified.

In all other cases the action must be tried in the county in which the defendants, or some of them, reside at the time of the commencement of the action, or may be served with process, subject, however, to the power of the court to change the place of trial, as provided in the next two succeeding sections. [Cf. L. '54, p. 133, § 15; L. '60, p. 7, § 17; L. '69, p. 13, § 51; L. '75, p. 5, § 6; L. '77, p. 11, § 51; Cd. '81, § 50; L. '91, p. 71, § 1; 2 H. C., § 161.]

Upon application for a change of venue on the ground that the action is not commenced in the county of the defendant's residence, under these sections the plaintiff may controvert the defendant's allegations as to their residence: Critler v. Jacobson & Lindstrom, 66 Wash. 322, 119 Pac. 819; Agens v. Powell, 79 Wash. 131, 139 Pac. 873.

dents of the state: Kennedy v. Derrickson, 5 Wash. 289, 31 Pac. 766.

This, and section 208, have no application to actions against corporations, such actions being governed by the provisions of section 206 prescribing in what counties actions against corporations may be commenced: McMaster v. Advance Thresher Co., 10 Wash. 147, 38 Pac. 670.

§ 208. Proceeding When Action Commenced in Wrong County.

If the county in which the action is commenced is not the proper county for the trial thereof, the action may, notwithstanding, be tried therein, unless the defendant, at the time he appears and demurs or answers, files an affidavit of merits, and demands that the trial be had in the proper county. [Cf. L. '75, p. 5, § 7; L. '77, p. 11, § 51; Cd. '81, § 50; L. '91, p. 71, § 1; 2 H. C., § 162.]

Under sections 207 and 208, where suit is commenced in one county and service had upon defendant there, he may, upon filing an affidavit of merits and showing that he is a resident of another county, have the place of trial changed to the county of his residence: Kennedy v. Derrickson, 5 Wash. 289, 31 Pac. 766.

A defendant is not entitled to a change of venue under this section, on a mere showing that, being a newcomer in the state, he intended to reside in another county without ever having declared a residence or engaged in business therein: Carr v. Remele, 74 Wash. 380, 133 Pac. 593.

Sections 207—209, grant a right independent of the merits, the assertion of which, under undisputed facts, ousts the court of jurisdiction to hear and determine the cause: State ex rel. Martin v. Superior Court, 97 Wash. 358, 166 Pac. 630, L. R. A. 1917F, 905.

Defendant's motion for a change of venue to the county of his residence, as a matter of right under section 208, is not affected by a further motion for the change on the ground of convenience of witnesses, under section 209, and there being no dispute as to his residence, the change should be granted without passing on the controverted facts as to convenience of witnesses: State ex rel. Owen v. Superior Court, 110 Wash. 49, 187 Pac. 708.

§ 209-1. Prejudice of Judge—Change of Venue.

No judge of a superior court of the state of Washington shall sit to hear or try any action or proceeding when it shall be established, as hereinafter provided, that such judge is prejudiced against any party or attorney, or the interest of any party or attorney appearing in such cause. In such case the presiding judge shall forthwith transfer the action to another department of the same court, or call in a judge from some other court, or apply to the governor to send a judge, to try the case; or, if the convenience of witnesses or the ends of justice will not be interfered with by such course, and the action is of such a character that a change of venue thereof may be ordered, he may send the case for trial to the most convenient court. Any party to or any attorney appearing in any action or proceeding in a superior court may establish such prejudice by motion supported by affidavit that the judge before whom the action is pending is prejudiced against such party or attorney, so that such party or attorney cannot, or believes that he cannot, have a fair and impartial trial before such judge: Provided, further, that no party or attorney shall be permitted to make more than one application in any action or proceeding under this act. Where a motion for change of venue, granted without notice, was vacated, a Dunham v. Superior Court*, 106 Wash. 507, 180 Pac. 481.

§ 210. To What Venue Changed—Only One Allowed.

If a motion for a change of the place of trial be allowed, the change shall be made to the county where the action ought to have been commenced, if it be for the cause mentioned in subdivision 1 of section 209, and in other cases to the most convenient county where the cause alleged does not exist. Neither party shall be entitled to more than one change of the place of trial, except for causes not in existence when the first change was allowed. [L. '69, p. 14, § 53; L. '77, p. 12, § 53; Cd. § 211. Change to Newly Created County.

Any party in a civil action pending in the superior court in a county out of whose limits a new county, in whole or in part, has been created, may file with the clerk of such superior court an affidavit setting forth that he is a resident of such newly created county, and that the venue of such action is transitory, or that the venue of such action is local, and that it ought properly to be tried in such newly created county; and thereupon the clerk shall make out a transcript of the proceedings already had in such action in such superior court, and certify it under the seal of the court, and transmit such transcript, together with the papers on file in his office connected with such action, to the clerk of the superior court of such newly created county, wherein it shall be proceeded with as in other cases. [Cf. L. '54, p. 377, § 2; L. '69, p. 14, § 54; L. '77, p. 12, § 54; Cd. '81, § 53; L. '91, p. 72, § 2; 2 H. C., § 165.]

§ 215. Transmission of Record on Change—Costs.

When an order is made transferring an action or proceeding for trial the clerk of the court must transmit the pleadings and papers therein to the court to which it is transferred. The costs and fees thereof, and of filing the papers anew, must be paid by the party at whose instance the order was made, except in the cases mentioned in subdivision 1, section 209, in which case the plaintiff shall pay costs of transfer. The court to which an action or proceeding is transferred has and exercises over the same the like jurisdiction as if it had been originally commenced therein. [L. '69, p. 14, §§ 55, 56; L. '75, p. 7, § 10; L. '77, p. 12, § 55; Cd. '81, § 54; 2 H. C., § 166.]

As to sufficient stipulation showing parties had agreed to change of venue, see Kane v. Kane, 35 Wash. 517, 77 Pac. 842.

§ 216. Change by Stipulation.

Notwithstanding the provisions of section 209, all the parties to the action by stipulation in writing or by consent in open court entered in the records may agree that the place of trial be changed to any county of the state, and thereupon the court must order the change agreed upon. § 217. Effect of Neglect of Moving Party.

If such papers be not transmitted to the clerk of the proper court within the time prescribed in the order allowing the change, and the delay be caused by the act or omission of the party procuring the change, the adverse party, on motion to the court or judge thereof, may have the order vacated, and thereafter no other change of the place of trial shall be allowed to such party. See notes to § 208, supra.

§ 218. When Change Deemed Complete.

Upon the filing of the papers with the clerk of the court to which the cause is transferred, the change of venue shall be deemed complete, and thereafter the action shall proceed as though it had been commenced in that court. § 219. Clerk must Certify Entries With Transcript.

The clerk of the court must also transmit with the original papers, where an order is made changing the place of trial, a certified transcript of all record entries up to and including the order for such change. [L. '77, p. 13, § 59; Cd. '81, § 58; 2 H. C., § 170.]

CHAPTER VI.

MANNER OF COMMENCING ACTIONS.

§ 220. Service of Summons.

Civil actions in the several superior courts of this state shall be commenced by the service of a summons, as hereinafter provided, or by filing a complaint with the county clerk as clerk of the court: Provided, that unless service has been had on the defendant prior to the filing of the complaint, the plaintiff shall cause one or more of the defendants to be served personally, or commence service by publication within ninety days from the date of filing the complaint. [L. '93, p. 407, § 1; L. '95, p. 170, § 1.]

This act entitled "An act to provide for the manner of commencing civil actions in the superior courts, and bringing the same to trial," does not violate the constitutional inhibition against more than one subject being embraced in any bill: McMaster v. Advance Thresher Co., 10 Wash. 147, 38 Pac. 670.

Under this section a delay of three years in filing the complaint after commencement of the action by the service of summons and copy of the complaint does not deprive the court of jurisdiction to enter a default judgment: First National Bank v. Dudley, 80 Wash. 376, 141 Pac. 884.

A cause is pending after service of summons and after answer served and filed, even if the complaint is not filed, under this section and section 238, providing that a court acquires jurisdiction from the time of the commencement of the action by service of summons or by the filing of a complaint: Longmore v. Puget Sound Traction, L. & P. Co., 78 Wash. 468, 139 Pac. 191.

Laws of 1893, page 407, repeals all former laws providing for the commencement of actions by the filing of a complaint: McMaster v. Advance Thresher Co., 10 Wash. 147, 38 Pac. 760.

But it does not repeal section 171, volume 2, Hill's Code, in so far as concerns writs of attachment to be issued after the commencement of the action, by filing of the complaint: Cosh-Murray Co. v. Tut-tich, 10 Wash. 449, 38 Pac. 1134; Schwabacher Bros. & Co. v. Abrahams Grocery Co., 14 Wash. 225, 44 Pac. 257.

This section does not apply to special proceedings authorized by section 1015, infra; Smith v. Ormsby, 20 Wash. 396, 55 Pac. 570, 72 Am. St. Rep. 110.

Immunity of a nonresident from the service of summons, claimed by him on the ground that he was temporarily in this state, not established when: Groundwater v. Town, 93 Wash. 384, 160 Pac. 1055.

Nature and Necessity, in General: See Remington's Digest, Process, § 11; Osborne & Co. v. Columbia etc. Corporation, 9 Wash. 666, 38 Pac. 160; Neff v. Neff, 32 Wash. 82, 72 Pac. 1011; Interior Warehouse Co. v. Hays, 91 Wash. 507, 158 Pac. 99.

A court cannot acquire jurisdiction of the person of a defendant by reason of his having personal knowledge of the suit, when he was not served with process, and made no appearance: Bennett v. Supreme Tent etc. Maccabees, 40 Wash. 431, 82 Pac. 744, 2 L. R. A. (N. S.) 389.

An accrual after commencement of the action will not avail to prevent dismissal: Commercial Bank of Tacoma v. Hart, 10 Wash. 303, 38 Pac. 1114; Augir v. Foreman, 23 Wash. 595, 63 Pac. 201.

A supplemental complaint for further damages arising since the action was commenced is not barred because not filed within six months after the original breach of the bond: Pacific Bridge Co. v. United States Fidelity Co., 33 Wash. 47, 73 Pac. 772.

§ 221. Summons, How Issued.

The summons must be subscribed by the plaintiff or his attorney, and directed to the defendant requiring him to answer the complaint, and serve a copy of his answer on the person whose name is subscribed to the summons, at a place within the state therein specified in which there is a postoffice, within twenty days after the service of the summons, exclusive of the day of service. Cited in 31 Wash. 345; 35 Wash. 280; 92 Wash. 526; 99 Wash. 675.

The act of 1893, embraced in this chapter, repeals and supersedes all former laws on the subject, and fixes the time for answer in response to summons as twenty days in all cases: McMaster v. Advance Thresher Co., 10 Wash. 147, 38 Pac. 670. See, also, Merritt v. Corey, 22 Wash. 444, 61 Pac. 171.

Nonresident attorneys who have been admitted to the bar of this state are authorized to issue summons in actions in this state, and may perform this act outside of the state as well as within its borders, provided the summons specifies a place within the state where an answer thereto may be served: Wagnitz v. Ritter, 31 Wash. 343, 71 Pac. 1035.

Alias and Pluries Writs: See Remington's Digest, Process, § 10-1; Roznik v. Becker, 68 Wash. 63, 122 Pac. 593.

§ 222. Contents of Summons.

The summons shall also contain,—

1. The title of the cause, specifying the name of the court in which the action is brought, the name of the county designated by the plaintiff as the place of trial, and the names of the parties to the action, plaintiff and defendant;

2. A direction to the defendants summoning them to appear within twenty days after service of the summons, exclusive of the day of service, and defend the action;

3. A notice that, in case of failure so to do, judgment will be rendered against them, according to the demand of the complaint. It shall be subscribed by the plaintiff, or his attorney, with the addition of his postoffice address, at which the papers in the action may be served on him by mail. There may, at the option of the plaintiff, be added at the foot, when the complaint is not served with the summons, and the only relief sought is the recovery of the money, whether upon tort or contract, a brief notice specifying the sum to be demanded by the complaint. A summons which substantially follows the sections enumerating the necessary contents of the summons is good as against a general objection raised for the first time on appeal: Wagnitz v. Ritter, 31 Wash. 343, 71 Pac. 1035.

Under section 7044, relating to the service of summons on insurance companies, the ordinary form of summons requiring appearance within twenty days is proper, under this section: State ex rel. National Surety Co. v. Superior Court, 99 Wash. 573, 170 Pac. 120.

§ 224. Summons to be Accompanied by Copy of Complaint, When.

A copy of the complaint must be served upon the defendant with the summons unless the complaint itself be filed in the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the action is commenced within five days after service of such summons, in which case the service of the copy may be omitted; but the summons in such case must notify the defendant that the complaint will be filed with the clerk of said court; and if the defendant appear within ten days after the service of the summons, the plaintiff must serve a copy of the complaint on the defendant or his attorney within ten days after the notice of such appearance, and the defendant shall have at least ten days thereafter to answer the same; and no judgment shall be entered against him for want of an answer in such case till the expiration of the time. § 225. Who shall Serve Summons—Exception.

In all cases, except when service is made by publication, as hereinafter provided, the summons shall be served by the sheriff of the county wherein the service is made or by his deputy, or by any person over twenty-one years of age, who is competent to be a witness in the action, other than the plaintiff. § 227. Service of Summons on Corporation.

Whenever any corporation, created by the laws of this state, or late territory of Washington, does not have an officer in this state upon whom legal service of process can be made, an action or proceeding against such corporation may be commenced in any county where the cause of action may arise, or said corporation may have property, and service may be made upon such corporation by depositing a copy of the summons, writ, or other process, in the office of the secretary of state, which shall be taken, deemed and treated as personal service on such corporation: Provided, a copy of said summons, writ, or other process, shall be deposited in the postoffice, postage paid, directed to the secretary or other proper officer of such corporation, at the place where the main business of such corporation is transacted, when such place of business is known to the plaintiff, and be published at least once a week for six weeks in some newspaper printed and published at the seat of government of this state, before such service shall be deemed perfect. Service of summons upon an officer of a foreign corporation, who is temporarily present in the state, will not confer jurisdiction over the corporation, when the latter has never done any business in the state, nor maintained an office for that purpose nor appointed an officer or agent in the state for any purpose whatever: Carstens & Earles v. Leidigh & Haven Lbr. Co., 18 Wash. 450, 51 Pac. 1051, 63 Am. St. Rep. 906, 39 L. R. A. 548.

Service on a soliciting agent of a foreign railway is not service on the company: Rich v. Chicago B. & Q. R. Co., 34 Wash. 14, 74 Pac. 1008.

A tax foreclosure being a proceeding in rem, service of summons upon a corporation appearing upon the tax-rolls as owner of the property, and also by publication in accordance with this section when such company disclaimed interest, is sufficient without service of process upon the actual owner of the property: Dabney v. Stearns, 73 Wash. 583, 132 Pac. 400.

A service upon the statutory agent of a foreign corporation by mail is insufficient: Bennett v. Supreme Tent etc. Maccabees, 40 Wash. 431, 82 Pac. 744, 2 L. R. A. (N. S.) 389.

§ 228. Service of Summons by Publication.

When the defendant cannot be found within the state (of which the return of the sheriff of the county in which the action is brought, that the defendant cannot be found in the county, is prima facie evidence), and upon the filing of an affidavit of the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, with the clerk of the court, stating that he believes that the defendant is not a resident of the state, or cannot be found therein, and that he has deposited a copy of the summons (substantially in the form prescribed in section 233 of said [these] codes and statutes) and complaint in the postoffice, directed to the defendant at his place of residence, unless it is stated in the affidavit that such residence is not known to the affiant, and stating the existence of one of the cases hereinafter specified, the service may be made by publication of the summons, by the plaintiff or his attorney in either of the following cases:

1. When the defendant is a foreign corporation, and has property within the state;
2. When the defendant, being a resident of this state, has departed therefrom with intent to defraud his creditors, or to avoid the service of a summons, or keeps himself concealed therein with like intent;
3. When the defendant is not a resident of the state, but has property therein and the court has jurisdiction of the subject of the action;
4. When the action is for divorce in the cases prescribed by law;
5. When the subject of the action is real or personal property in this state, and the defendant has or claims a lien or interest, actual or contingent, therein, or the relief demanded consists wholly, or partly, in excluding the defendant from any interest or lien therein;

6. When the action is to foreclose, satisfy, or redeem from a mortgage, or to enforce a lien of any kind on real estate in the county where the action is brought, or satisfy or redeem from the same;

7. When the action is against any corporation, whether private or municipal, organized under the laws of the state and the proper officers on whom to make service do not exist or cannot be found. [L. 1915, p. 146, § 1. Cf. L. '93, p. 410, § 9.]

Jurisdiction in an action where summons is served by publication depends upon a strict compliance with the terms of the statute: State ex rel. Boyd v. Superior Court, 6 Wash. 352, 33 Pac. 827.

The direction requiring that service by mailing be "directed to the defendant" must be strictly followed: Yarbrough v. Pugh, 63 Wash. 140, 114 Pac. 918, 33 L. R. A. (N. S.) 351.

Under this section, subdivision 4, the affidavit in support of service by publication is sufficient to authorize a decree disposing of the property described in the summons, although it states conclusions instead of probative facts, and although it makes no reference to the property of the parties: Goore v. Goore, 24 Wash. 139, 63 Pac. 1092.

§ 229. Process Against "Unknown Heirs."

§ 230. Affidavit as to Unknown Heirs—Publication of Summons.

Upon presenting an affidavit to the court or judge, showing to his satisfaction that the heirs of such deceased person are proper parties to the action, and that their names and residences cannot with use of reasonable diligence be ascertained, such court or judge may grant an order that service of the summons in such action be made on such "Unknown heirs" by publication thereof in the same manner as in actions against nonresident defendants. [L. '03, p. 278, § 2.]

§ 231. Title of Cause—Unknown Claimants—Service of Summons.

In any action brought to determine any adverse claim, estate, lien, or interest in real property, or to quiet title to real property, the plaintiff may include as a defendant in such action and insert in the title thereof, in addition to the names of such persons or parties as appear of record to have, and other persons or parties who are known to have, some title, claim, estate, lien, or interest in the lands in controversy, the following, viz.: "Also all other persons or parties unknown claiming any right, title, estate, lien, or interest in the real estate described in the complaint herein." real estate is located, in the manner provided by law, before commencing the publication of said summons. [L. '03, p. 278, § 4.]

Where judgment was rendered against unknown heirs in an action to quiet title, it will be presumed in an action attacking the judgment that a lis pendens was filed in the action to quiet title, as re-

Right to Defend After Judgment on Service by Publication or Other Constructive Service: See Remington's Digest, Judgm., § 39; Sander-Bowman Co. v. Yesler's Estate, 2 Wash. 429, 27 Pac. 269; Whitney v. Knowlton, 33 Wash. 319, 74 Pac. 469; Strunz v. Hood, 44 Wash. 99, 87 Pac. 45.

See, also, Bruhn v. Pasco Land Co., 67 Wash. 490, 121 Pac. 981.

Under this section, a nonresident defendant, served by publication, in a tax lien foreclosure, is not entitled to the vacation of a default judgment within one year as a matter of right, but good cause must be shown: Whitney v. Knowlton, 33 Wash. 319, 74 Pac. 469.

Necessity for showing sufficient cause and for an application containing traversible allegations of fact: McCaffrey v. Snapp, 95 Wash. 202, 163 Pac. 406.

Where a defendant seeks to have a judgment vacated because it appears on the face of the record that no service of summons was made upon him, his application therefor is governed by this section and may properly be made by motion and served in the manner prescribed for the service of motions: Sturgiss v. Dart, 23 Wash. 244, 62 Pac. 858.

The court has no power to vacate a decree of divorce, under this section, where there was no want of jurisdiction, nor fraud practiced in the procurement of the decree: Metler v. Metler, 32 Wash. 494, 73 Pac. 535.

Under this section, an order setting aside a default and vacating a judgment entered in such a case is not the grant of a new trial under section 1716, or appeal-able as such: Thompson v. Robbins, 32 Wash. 149, 72 Pac. 1043.

The provisions of this section do not apply to an appeal from an order refusing to vacate a judgment of foreclosure, but they only apply to an appeal from the judgment of foreclosure: Owen v. Owen, 41 Wash. 642, 84 Pac. 606.

A petition to vacate a judgment for fraud, under section 464, where there was no personal service on the defendant, is limited to one year under this section, although an independent suit in equity to vacate for fraud might be maintained after the expiration of two years: Bruhn v. Pasco Land Co., 67 Wash. 490, 121 Pac. 981.

An action to forfeit a land contract and remove the cloud upon the title, the complaint alleging that the defendants were nonresidents and not seeking any award of possession, is barred after one year, under the provisions of sections 235, 464, 466, providing for the vacation of judgments in other cases within one year: Smith v. Stiles, 68 Wash. 345, 123 Pac. 448.

§ 236. Service on Joint Defendants.

When the action is against two or more defendants and the summons is served on one or more but not on all of them, the plaintiff may proceed as follows:—

1. If the action is against the defendants jointly indebted upon a contract, he may proceed against the defendants served unless the court otherwise directs; and if he recovers judgment it may be entered against all the defendants thus jointly indebted so far only as it may be enforced against the joint property of all and the separate property of the defendants served;

2. If the action is against defendants severally liable, he may proceed against the defendants served in the same manner as if they were the only defendants;

3. Though all the defendants may have been served with the summons, judgment may be taken against any of them severally, when the plaintiff would be entitled to judgment against such defendants if the action had been against them alone. [L. '93, p. 411, § 13.]

Cited in 27 Wash. 108; 63 Wash. 89; 82 Wash. 587, 588; 89 Wash. 549.

The subsequent appearance of another defendant after issues joined and the case set for trial as to some of the defendants, upon whom prior service had been had, will not entitle the latter, under this section, to have the case delayed for the making up of issues as to the defendant subsequently appearing: National Bank of Commerce v. Galland, 14 Wash. 502, 45 Pac. 35.

Under this section, in an action against defendants jointly indebted upon a contract, plaintiff may proceed against the defendants served and have judgment entered against all the defendants jointly indebted, "so far only as it may be enforced against the joint property of all and the separate property of the defendant served": Livingstone v. Lovgren, 27 Wash. 102, 67 Pac. 599.

Error cannot be urged in that a judgment for rent in an action against joint tenants was not entered against one of the joint debtors, nor against the defendants jointly indebted as provided by this section, where such joint debtor was a nonresident, and there was no evidence that the defendants had any joint property in this state: Brownfield v. Holland, 63 Wash. 86, 114 Pac. 890.

Provisions for the enforcement of joint judgments against persons not served are in the nature of an exclusive and statutory action on the judgment, which must be in the form provided in this section: Nolan v. McNamee, 82 Wash. 585, 144 Pac. 904.

In case of the failure of the plaintiff, suing the members of an association, to enter a judgment enforceable against the joint property of all the defendants, as required by this section, his only remedy against members not served is by way of an independent proceeding in which all existing defenses may be urged: Nolan v. McNamee, 82 Wash. 585, 144 Pac. 904.

After judgment, the burden is upon the person attacking the service to show by clear and convincing evidence that the same was irregular: Allen v. Starr, 104 Wash. 246, 176 Pac. 2.

§ 237. Proof of Service.

Proof of service shall be as follows:—

1. If served by the sheriff or his deputy, the return of such sheriff or his deputy indorsed upon or attached to the summons;

2. If by any other person, his affidavit thereof indorsed upon or attached to the summons; or

3. In case of publication, the affidavit of the printer, publisher, foreman, principal clerk or business manager of the newspaper showing the same, together with a printed copy of the summons as published; or

4. The written admission of the defendant;

5. In case of personal service out of the state, the affidavit of the person making the service, sworn to before a notary public, with a seal attached, or a clerk of a court of record. In case of service otherwise than by publication, the return, admission or affidavit must state the time, place and manner of service. [L. '93, p. 412, § 14.]

Cited in 27 Wash. 330, 347; 29 Wash. 701, 702; 89 Wash. 361.

Under this section, the original summons for publication in a tax foreclosure is sufficiently "subscribed" by the attorney for the plaintiff although the signature is printed: Warner v. Miner, 41 Wash. 98, 82 Pac. 1033.

Proof of publication of the summons in a tax foreclosure made by the "cashier" of a newspaper is insufficient to confer jurisdiction to enter judgment, in view of this section, subdivision 3: Rockwood v. Turner, 89 Wash. 356, 154 Pac. 465.

The original summons for publication need not be filed, but jurisdiction is conferred by the publication and proof of service, under this section: Security Sav. Soc. v. Collins, 6 Wash. 455, 105 Pac. 1034.

§ 238. Jurisdiction Acquired, When.

From the time of the commencement of the action by service of summons, or by the filing of a complaint, or as otherwise provided, the court is deemed to have acquired jurisdiction and to have control of all subsequent proceedings. A voluntary appearance of a defendant is equivalent to a personal service of the summons upon him. [L. '93, p. 412, § 15; L. '95, p. 172, § 4.]

The question of the sufficiency of the summons to confer jurisdiction would be determined by the law in force at the time of its issuance: Woodham v. Anderson, 32 Wash. 500, 73 Pac. 536.

Waiver of Defects and Objections by Appearance: See Remington's Digest, Process, § 48; Williams v. Miller, 1 W. T. 88; Meigs v. Keach, 1 W. T. 305; Schwabacher v. Wells, 1 W. § 239. Publication of Notice in Exercise of Eminent Domain.

If a party having or claiming a share or interest in or lien upon any property sought to be appropriated for public use be unknown, and such fact be made to appear by affidavit filed in the office of the clerk of the court, the notice required by law in such cases may be served by publication as in the case of nonresident owners, and such notice shall be directed by name to every owner of a share or interest in or lien upon the property sought to be so appropriated, and generally to all persons unknown having or claiming an interest or estate in the property or any portion thereof, and all such unknown parties shall in all papers and proceedings be designated as "unknown owners," and shall be bound by the provisions and be entitled to the benefits of the judgment the same as if they had been known and duly named. [L. '95, p. 352, § 1.]

§ 240. Selection of Newspaper—Evidence of Payment.

In any suit or proceeding, in any court of this state, requiring a legal publication, said publication shall be made in any newspaper of general circulation in the county, designated by the party or his attorney, at whose instance the said publication is made. A tender of a receipt from the publisher of the said newspaper, as full payment for said publication shall be accepted by the sheriff, or court, as payment in lieu of the cash payment of fees for same. [L. '93, p. 62, § 1.]

§ 241. Appearance, What Constitutes.

A defendant appears in an action when he answers, demurs, makes any application for an order therein, or gives the plaintiff written notice of his appearance. After appearance a defendant is entitled to notice of all subsequent proceedings; but when a defendant has not appeared, service of notice or papers in the ordinary proceedings in an action need not be made upon him. Every such appearance made in an action shall be deemed a general appearance, unless the defendant in making the same states that the same is a special appearance. [Cf. 2 H. C., § 181; L. '93, p. 412, § 16.]

In an action to foreclose liens upon a ship, brought in the wrong county, a general appearance and participation in a trial without objection to the venue precludes any right to question the court's jurisdiction and creates the same situation as though the party had consented to a change of venue: *State ex rel. § 242. Notice—Service by Mail, etc.

When a party to an action has appeared in the same, he shall be entitled to at least three days' notice of any trial, hearing, motion, application, sale or proceeding therein; which notice shall be in writing specifying the time and place where the same will be had or made, and which shall be served on him or his attorney, but if neither such party nor his attorney reside in the county in which the action or proceeding is pending or where such application or motion is made, then service by mail may be had on such party or his attorney by mailing to either of them a copy of such notice, properly addressed with postage thereon fully prepaid, at least ten days before the time appointed for such hearing, application or sale. Necessity of notice under this section: Garvey v. Skamser, 69 Wash. 259, 124 Pac. 688.

§ 243. Actions Affecting Title to Real Estate—Lis Pendens.

In an action affecting the title to real property the plaintiff, at the time of filing the complaint, or at any time afterwards, or whenever a writ of attachment of property shall be issued, or at any time afterwards, the plaintiff or a defendant, when he sets up an affirmative cause of action in his answer, and demands substantive relief at the time of filing his answer, or at any time afterwards, if the same be intended to affect real property, may file with the auditor of each county in which the property is situated a notice of the pendency of the action, containing the names of the parties, the object of the action, and a description of the real property in that county affected thereby. From the time of the filing only shall the pendency of the action be constructive notice to a purchaser or encumbrancer of the property affected thereby, and every person whose conveyance or encumbrance is subsequently executed or subsequently recorded shall be deemed a subsequent purchaser or encumbrancer, and shall be bound by all proceedings taken after the filing of such notice to the same extent as if he were a party to the action. For the purpose of this section an action shall be deemed to be pending from the time of filing such notice: Provided, however, that such notice shall be of no avail unless it shall be followed by the first publication of the summons, or by the personal service thereof on a defendant within sixty days after such filing. And the court in which the said action was commenced may, in its discretion, at any time after the action shall be settled, discontinued or abated, on application of any person aggrieved and on good cause shown and on such notice as shall be directed or approved by the court, order the notice authorized in this section to be canceled of record, in whole or in part, by the county auditor of any county in whose office the same may have been filed or recorded, and such cancellation shall be made by an indorsement to that effect on the margin of the record. The filing of notice of the pendency of an action to foreclose a mortgage, under this section, is notice to the holder of an unrecorded conveyance which is junior and inferior to the mortgage, and such holder is bound absolutely by the judgment the same as though he had been made a party to the action, although the mortgagee had actual notice of the conveyance prior to the commencement of the action: Payson v. Jacobs, 38 Wash. 203, 80 Pac. 429.

The meaning is that the purchaser is bound by the judgment rendered and not merely by the judgment that might have been rendered had he appeared and defended: Ellis v. McCoy, 99 Wash. 457, 169 Pac. 973.

A lis pendens notice may properly be signed by the attorney as well as by the party himself: Eldridge v. Stenger, 19 Wash. 697, 54 Pac. 541.

The provision in this section for cancellation of the notice is cumulative of the remedy provided by section 809, in so far as it is applicable to persons not parties to the action in which the notice was filed: King v. Branscheid, 32 Wash. 634, 73 Pac. 668.

§ 245. Manner of Making Service of Notice.

The services may be personal or by delivery to the party or attorney on whom service is required to be made, or it may be as follows:—

1. If upon an attorney, it may be made during his absence from his office by leaving the papers with his clerk therein, or with a person having charge thereof; or, when there is no person in the office, by leaving it between the hours of six in the morning and nine in the evening in a conspicuous place in the office; or, if it is not open to admit of such service then by leaving it at the attorney's residence with some person of suitable age and discretion;

2. If upon a party, it may be made by leaving the papers at his residence between the hours of six in the morning and nine in the evening, with some person of suitable age and discretion. [L. '93, p. 413, § 19.]

Cited in 25 Wash. 155; 27 Wash. 331; 54 Wash. 260, 262.

Service of a proposed statement made upon a lawyer's clerk, under this section, is insufficient when the attorney himself is present in the office: Times Printing Co. v. Seattle, 25 Wash. 149, 64 Pac. 940.

Under this section a service is good when made by dropping a copy through the transom on the floor of the office in front of the front door, which was locked, no one being in the office: Spencer v. Arlington, 54 Wash. 259, 103 Pac. 30.

§ 246. Service by Mail, When may be Made.

Service by mail may be made when the person making the service and the person on whom it is to be made reside in different places between which there is a regular communication by mail. [L. '93, p. 414, § 20.]

§ 248. Service When No Attorney Appears.

Where a plaintiff or defendant who has appeared resides out of the state and has no attorney in the action, the service may be made by mail if his residence is known; if not known, on the clerk for him. But where a party, whether resident or nonresident, has an attorney in the action, the service of papers shall be upon the attorney instead of the party. But if the attorney shall have removed from the state, such service may be made upon him personally either within or without the state, or by mail to him at his place of residence, if known, and if not known, then by mail upon the party, if his residence is known, whether within or without the state. And if the residence of neither the party or attorney are known, the service may be made upon the clerk for the attorney. [L. '93, p. 414, § 22.]

§ 250. Effect of Imperfect Paper—Amendments.

A notice or other paper is valid and effectual though the title of the action in which it is made is omitted, or it is defective either in respect to the court or parties, if it intelligently refers to such action or proceedings; and in furtherance of justice upon proper terms, any other defect or error in any notice or other paper or proceeding may be amended by the court, and any mischance, omission or defect relieved within one year thereafter; and the court may enlarge or extend the time, for good cause shown, within which by statute any act is to be done, proceeding had or taken, notice of paper filed or served, or may, on such terms as are just, permit the same to be done or supplied after the time therefor has expired, except that the time for bringing a writ of error or appeal shall in no case be enlarged, or a party permitted to bring such writ of error or appeal after the time therefor has expired. [L. '93, p. 414, § 24.]

is published at the time of the publication of such official document, for at least six months prior to the date of such publication, and shall be printed either in whole or in part in an office maintained at the place of publication: Provided, that in case of the consolidation of two or more newspapers such consolidated newspaper shall be considered a legal newspaper if either or any of the papers so consolidated would be a legal newspaper at the date of such legal publication, had not such consolidation taken place: Provided, further, that nothing in this section shall be construed to invalidate any publication in a foreign language prior to the taking effect of this act. [L. '21, p. 293, § 1. Cf. L. '17, p. 219, § 1.]

If the objection that the complaint does not state a cause of action is presented by demurrer, which is withdrawn or not prosecuted, it is thereby waived, and will not be considered in the supreme court notwithstanding this section: Mosher v. Bruhn, 15 Wash. 332, 46 Pac. 397; Hardin v. Mullen, 16 Wash. 647, 48 Pac. 349.

Where the answer in quo warranto is, in effect, a demurrer on the ground that the complaint fails to state facts constituting a cause of action, such objection under this section can be urged in the supreme court although no ruling thereon was had in the superior court: State ex rel. Attorney General v. Seattle Gas etc. Co., 28 Wash. 488, 68 Pac. 946, 70 Pac. 114.

After trial on the merits under a defective complaint, capable of amendment, all amendments will, on appeal, be considered as made, as required by section 1752, which is a later statute and controls this section, providing that objection that the complaint fails to state a cause of action may be made at any time: Messick v. National Council of Knights & Ladies of Security, 103 Wash. 143, 173 Pac. 940.

Objection to Jurisdiction.—An objection that the court has no jurisdiction, first raised by demurrer, is not waived by failing to except to the order overruling the demurrer, where the answer expressly reserved the point and at the trial the evidence was objected to for the same reason, this section providing that objection to the jurisdiction can be made at any time: West v. Martin, 47 Wash. 417, 92 Pac. 334.

§ 265. Counterclaim Defined.

The counterclaim mentioned in the preceding section must be one existing in favor of a defendant, and against a plaintiff between whom a several judgment might be had in the action, and arising out of one of the following causes of action:—

1. A cause of action arising out of the contract, or transaction set forth in the complaint, as the foundation of the plaintiff's claim, or connected with the subject of the action;

2. In an action arising on contract, any other cause of action arising also on contract, and existing at the commencement of the action. [Cf. L. '54, p. 140, § 45; L. '69, p. 21, § 81; L. '77, p. 19, § 83; Cd. '81, § 83; 2 H. C., § 195.]

Matter Available Under Special Plea: See Remington's Digest, Plead., § 60; Scott v. Hallock, 16 Wash. 439, 47 Pac. 968.

Under this section, if a counterclaim be not barred by the statute of limitations at the commencement of the action in which it is pleaded, it does not become so afterward during the pendency of that action: Shelton v. Conant, 10 Wash. 193, 38 Pac. 1013.

The statute of limitations as to actions does not bar defenses against a party who was not seeking any affirmative relief during the lapse of time: Buck v. Equitable Life Assur. Soc., 96 Wash. 683, 165 Pac. 878.

And in all such actions, other than upon a negotiable promissory note or bill of exchange, negotiated in good faith and without notice before due, which has been assigned to the plaintiff, he may also set off a demand of a like nature existing against the person to whom he was originally liable, or any assignee prior to the plaintiff, of such contract, provided such demand existed at the time of the assignment thereof, and belonging to the defendant in good faith, before notice of such assignment, and was such a demand as might have been set off against such person to whom he was originally liable, or such assignee while the contract belonged to him. [Cd. '81, § 499; 2 H. C., § 808.]

§ 270. Setoff in Action Against Executor.

In actions against executors and administrators and against trustees and others, sued in their representative character, the defendants may set off demands belonging to their testators or intestates or those whom they represent, in the same manner as the person so represented would have been entitled to set off the same, in an action against them. § 274. Demur to One or More Causes and Answer the Residue.

The defendant may demur to one or more of several causes of action stated in the complaint, and answer the residue. [L. '54, p. 140, § 46; Cd. '81, § 84; 2 H. C., § 196.]

§ 275. Answer may be Stricken.

Sham, frivolous, and irrelevant answers and defenses may be stricken out on motion, and upon such terms as the court may in its discretion impose. [Cf. L. '54, p. 140, § 47; L. '69, p. 21, § 83; Cd. '81, § 85; 2 H. C., § 197.]

Cited in 4 Wash. 59.

Where the answer contains superfluous matter, this defect can only be reached by motion, and not by demurrer: Isaacs v. Holland, 4 Wash. 54, 29 Pac. 976.

In the particular case, held error to strike certain paragraphs from answer: Distler v. Dabney, 7 Wash. 431, 35 Pac. 138, 1119.

In an action for breach of contract to clear land, an answer which admits the contract, but denies a breach thereof, and shows affirmatively the defendants were proceeding with due performance thereof until requested by plaintiff to desist, cannot be said to be either sham, frivolous or immaterial: Brown v. Porter, 7 Wash. 327, 34 Pac. 1105.

A general denial of the material allegations of a complaint cannot be stricken out on the ground that it is a sham or frivolous pleading: Larsen v. Winder, 14 Wash. 647, 45 Pac. 315.

A sham pleading is one good in form but false in fact: Brown v. Porter, 7 Wash. 327, 34 Pac. 1105.

A denial of payment on certain particular dates is sham: Distler v. Dabney, 7 Wash. 431, 35 Pac. 138, 1119.

Motion to strike a motion will not be allowed: Mann v. Young, 1 W. T. 454.

A refusal to strike out a pleading cannot be reviewed where a new pleading was filed and no exception taken: Kratz v. Dawson, 3 W. T. 100, 13 Pac. 663.

Where a party refuses to answer interrogatories, the only judgment authorized is one of dismissal of his action, where no default is taken for his failure to reply to an affirmative defense, and no proof is introduced in support of the matters alleged in such defense: Waite v. Wingate, 4 Wash. 324, 30 Pac. 81.

The failure of a defendant in a divorce case to comply with an order for the payment of alimony and suit money to the plaintiff will not warrant the court in striking the defendant's answer: Bachelor v. Bachelor, 30 Wash. 639, 71 Pac. 193.

It is not error to strike an answer in a proceeding in which none is required to be filed: State ex rel. Ami Co. v. Superior Court, 42 Wash. 675, 85 Pac. 669.

Insufficient allegations or denials are not grounds for striking an answer: See Hatch v. Tacoma etc. R. Co., 6 Wash. 1, 32 Pac. 1063; Silsby v. Tacoma etc. R. Co., 6 Wash. 295, 32 Pac. 1067.

It is proper to strike an amended answer containing the same matters as the original answer held bad on demurrer: See Noyes v. Longhead, 9 Wash. 325, 37 Pac. 452. See, also, Rochford v. Doty, 37 Wash. 232, 79 Pac. 782.

Striking out general denial as sham or frivolous. Ann. Cas. 1917D, 1177.

§ 276. Demur to Answer—Reply.

The plaintiff may demur to an answer containing new matter, when it appears upon the face thereof that such new matter does not constitute a defense or counterclaim, or he may for like cause demur to one or more of such defenses or counterclaims, and reply to the residue. [L. '54, p. 140, § 48; L. '69, p. 22, § 85; Cd. '81, § 87; 2 H. C., § 198.]

Since the enactment of this section in 1854 the grounds of demurrer extended to defendant by section 259 supra, have been enlarged, but the grounds open to plaintiff are confined to this section: See on this subject, Pom. Rem., §§ 586, 595.

If an answer to a complaint raises material issues upon the matters alleged therein, it is not demurrable for want of facts: Bennett v. Tacoma L. & W. Co., 3 Wash. 337, 28 Pac. 520.

An objection that answer does not state facts sufficient to constitute a defense is more properly raised by demurrer than by an objection to the evidence: Anderson v. Carothers, 18 Wash. 520, 52 Pac. 229.

No reply is necessary where by stipulation the facts are admitted, or where the allegations in an answer amount to mere denials: Fife v. Olson, 5 Wash. 789, 32 Pac. 766; Raymond v. Morrison, 9 Wash. 156, 37 Pac. 318.

A plaintiff is not called upon to reply to an affirmative defense while his demurrer to a special defense remains undetermined: Ewing v. Van Wagenen, 6 Wash. 39, 32 Pac. 1009.

An affirmative defense setting up a different version of a contract than that alleged in the complaint cannot be construed as adding more than a general denial already made, and hence is properly demurrable: Peterson v. Seattle Traction Co., 23 Wash. 615, 63 Pac. 539, 65 Pac. 543, 53 L. R. A. 586.

§ 277. Reply—Contents—New Matter.

When the answer contains new matter constituting a defense or counterclaim, the plaintiff may reply to such new matter, denying generally or specifically each allegation controverted by him, or any knowledge or information thereof sufficient to form a belief; and he may allege in ordinary and concise language, without repetition, any new matter not inconsistent with the complaint, constituting a defense to such new matter in the answer. [Cf. L. '54, p. 140, § 48; L. '69, p. 22, § 84; L. '77, p. 19, § 86; Cd. '81, § 86; 2 H. C., § 199.]

Where plaintiffs, lessors, sued to recover possession of leased premises, alleging that the lease had expired, and defendants answered that they had elected to and were holding under their option to renew the lease for a further term, a reply alleging defendants' breach of conditions of the lease forfeiting their right to a renewal does not constitute a departure in pleadings: Henry v. Under this section, read in connection with other parts of the Practice Act allowing amendments, relief from defaults, and for trial on the merits when justice demands it, a reply admitting the mutual rescission of an executory contract for the sale of lands does not conclusively presume an obligation to return the purchase price so as to entitle defendant to judgment on the pleadings: Strang v. Person, 108 Wash. 503, 185 Pac. 944.

Where defendant set up a mutual rescission of an executory contract, a reply admitting that the contract was "rescinded and forfeited" and denying that defendant was damaged, is not such an unqualified admission of the facts as to entitle plaintiff to judgment on the pleadings, after a trial on the merits, in view of the power of the court to relieve from defaults or consider the pleading amended to conform to proofs: Strang v. Person, 108 Wash. 503, 185 Pac. 944.

If the answer fails to controvert the material allegations of the complaint, plaintiff is entitled to judgment for failure to answer, although plaintiff may have filed a reply to such defective answer: Port v. Parfit, 4 Wash. 369, 30 Pac. 328; such judgment is not technically a judgment on the pleadings, but a judgment authorized by § 411, infra, on failure to answer; Id.; see Dillon v. Spokane Co., 3 W. T. 498, 17 Pac. 889; King v. Ilwaco R. & N. Co., 1 Wash. 127, 23 Pac. 924; Lake v. Steinbach, 5 Wash. 659, 32 Pac. 767.

It is only to new matter, inconsistent with the complaint, that reply is necessary: See Lake v. Steinbach, 5 Wash. 659, 32 Pac. 767; Frank v. Jenkins, 11 Wash. 611, 40 Pac. 220.

An affirmative answer to which there is no reply operates as a finding of the court: Smith v. Ormsby, 20 Wash. 396, 55 Pac. 570, 72 Am. St. Rep. 110.

Judgment on pleadings is erroneous, when grounded on plaintiff's failure to reply to an allegation of the answer which is merely a denial of a corresponding allegation of the complaint: Raymond v. Morrison, 9 Wash. 156, 37 Pac. 318.

Judgment on the pleadings is not authorized where a reply, though insufficient in law, has actually been filed to the affirmative matter in the answer: Davis v. Ford, 15 Wash. 107, 45 Pac. 739, 46 Pac. 393.

Where a plea of another action pending has been interposed, a reply that, subsequent to the filing of the plea, the suit whose pendency was alleged had been dismissed is good against demurrer: Boyle v. Great Northern R. Co., 13 Wash. 383, 43 Pac. 344.

Judgment on insufficient reply: Davis v. Ford, 15 Wash. 107, 45 Pac. 739, 46 Pac. 393.

Where the burden of an issue is on defendant, judgment in his favor on the pleadings is not warranted: Hoshor v. Kautz, 19 Wash. 258, 53 Pac. 51.

A defect in the complaint in failing to state a cause of action does not justify a final judgment for defendant on the merits after plaintiff's opening statement to the jury, and the sufficiency of the complaint will not be considered upon appeal from such a judgment: Redding v. Puget Sound Iron etc. Works, 36 Wash. 642, 79 Pac. 308.

Admissions by plaintiff of affirmative defenses pleaded by defendant warrants a judgment in his favor on the pleadings: Rockford Shoe Co. v. Jacob, 6 Wash. 421, 33 Pac. 1057.

While the sufficiency of pleadings should not generally be tested by motion for judgment thereon, the practice is proper where it is apparent that no technical objection is made and that the pleadings are incapable of amendment, and the parties elect to stand thereon for that reason: Hubenthal v. Spokane etc. R. Co., 43 Wash. 677, 86 Pac. 955.

Immaterial variance between the proof and pleadings does not warrant a judgment in favor of defendant where the pleadings can be amended without prejudice to him: See Ernst v. Fox, 26 Wash. 526, 67 Pac. 258.

On motion for judgment on the pleadings, the allegations of complaint and reply are admitted notwithstanding denials of the answer: Fishburne v. Merchants' Bank, 42 Wash. 473, 85 Pac. 38, 7 Ann. Cas. 848. A claim in the reply of a rescission of a lease set up in the answer is within the issues: Snyder v. Harding, 34 Wash. 286, 75 Pac. 812.

Objections to the sufficiency of denials in the answer will be deemed waived unless seasonably made: Howard v. Hibbs, 22 Wash. 513, 61 Pac. 159.

§ 279. Demurrer or Motion to Reply.

The defendant may demur to any new matter contained in the reply, when it appears upon the face thereof that such new matter is not a sufficient reply to the facts stated in the answer. Sham, frivolous, and irrelevant replies may be stricken out in like manner and on the same terms as like answers and defenses. [Cf. L. '54, p. 140, § 50; L. '69, p. 22, § 87; Cd. '81, § 89; 2 H. C., § 201.]

When one portion of a reply to an affirmative defense set up in the answer, which alleges a contract between the parties authorizing the acts complained of, admits such contract, another portion of the reply denying the contract, on the ground that plaintiff had no power to make it, should be stricken out on motion of the defendant therefor: Davis v. Ford, 15 Wash. 107, 45 Pac. 739, 46 Pac. 393.

It is proper to sustain a demurrer to a reply which does not traverse the affirmative matters of an answer: Hughes v. New York Life Ins. Co., 32 Wash. 1, 72 Pac. 452.

§ 280. Court Rules Fixing Time for Pleading.

The court shall establish the rules prescribing the time in which pleadings subsequent to the complaint shall be filed. [L. '57, p. 10, § 10; Cd. '81, § 90; 2 H. C., § 202; see Const., Art. IV, § 24.]

Cited in 4 Wash. 325.

The appellate court will not take judicial notice of the rules of the superior courts adopted in pursuance of this section: Waite v. Wingate, 4 Wash. 324, 30 Pac. 81.

CHAPTER VIII.

VERIFICATION OF PLEADINGS.

§ 281. Subscription and Verification of Pleadings.

Every pleading shall be subscribed by the party or his attorney, and except a demurrer, shall also be verified by the party, his agent or attorney, to the effect that he believes it to be true. The verification must be made by the affidavit of the party, or if there be several parties united in interest and pleading together, by one at least of such parties, if such party be within the county and capable of making the affidavit; otherwise the affidavit may be made by the agent or attorney of the party. The affidavit may also be made by the agent or attorney if the action or defense be founded on a written instrument for the payment of money only, and such instrument be in the possession of the agent or attorney, or if all the material allegations of the pleading be within the personal knowledge of the agent or attorney. When the affidavit is made by the agent or attorney, it must set forth the reason of his making it. When a corporation is a party, the verification may be made by any officer thereof, upon whom service of a notice [summons] might be made; and when the state, or any officer thereof in its behalf, is a party, the verification may be made by any person to whom all the material allegations of the pleading are known. When the party is absent from or a non-resident of the county in which suit is brought, the verification may be made by the agent or attorney of said party. [Cf. L. '54, p. 141, §§ 53, 54; L. '67, p. 92, § 1; L. '69, p. 23, § 89; Cd. '81, § 91; L. '88, p. 29, § 1; 2 H. C., § 203.]

Cited in 11 Wash. 126; 40 Wash. 212.

VERIFICATION—Sufficiency and Requirements: See Remington's Digest, Plead., §§ 129—131; Burdick v. Burdick, 7 Wash. 533, 35 Pac. 415; Cady v. Case, 11 Wash. 124, 39 Pac. 375; Smith v. Newell, 32 Wash. 369, 73 Pac. 369.

Sufficiency of verification to pleading by person other than party to action. 7 A. L. R. 4.

Necessity of showing authority or qualification of affiant in affidavit made in behalf of corporation. 3 A. L. R. 132.

Waiver of verification of pleading. Ann. Cas. 1918D, 440.

Manner and sufficiency of verification of pleading by corporation. Ann. Cas. 1913A, 212.

§ 282. Verification may be Omitted.

When, in the judgment of the court, an answer to an allegation in any pleading might subject the party answering to a criminal prosecution, the verification of the answer to such allegation may be omitted. No pleading shall be used in a criminal prosecution against the party as evidence of a fact alleged in such pleading. [Cf. L. '54, p. 141, § 54; L. '69, p. 23, § 90; Cd. '81, § 92; 2 H. C., § 204.]

Cited in 13 Wash. 8.

§ 283. Pleadings are not Proof on Trial.

Pleadings sworn to by either party in any case shall not, on the trial, be deemed proof of the facts alleged therein, nor require other or greater proof on the part of the adverse party. [L. '54, p. 219, § 484; Cd. '81, § 741; 2 H. C., § 792.]

Cited in 3 Wash. 237; 54 Wash. 132; 55 Wash. 309.

The pleadings of a party may be introduced in evidence against him and its admissions therein are conclusive unless shown to have been made under a mistake: Oregon R. & N. Co. v. Dacres, 1 Wash. 195, 23 Pac. 415.

While an original complaint does not cease to be a part of the record by reason of the filing of an amended complaint, nevertheless the plaintiff cannot avail himself of any allegations contained in the original complaint, although his adversary may: Sengfelder v. Hill, 16 Wash. 355, 47 Pac. 757, 58 Am. St. Rep. 36.

It is not error to exclude evidence of facts which are admitted: Charlton v. Markland, 36 Wash. 40, 78 Pac. 132.

As to the admissibility of verified pleadings in evidence and their effect, see Bellingham Bay & B. C. R. Co. v. Strand, 1 Wash. 133, 23 Pac. 928; Tingley v. Fairhaven Land Co., 9 Wash. 34, 36 Pac. 1098; Goldwater v. Burnside, 22 Wash. 215, 60 Pac. 409; Stanley v. Stanley, 32 Wash. 489, 73 Pac. 596. As to admissibility of bill of particulars, see American Copper etc. Works v. Galland-Burke B. & M. Co., 30 Wash. 178, 70 Pac. 236.

Where an allegation of an amended complaint is not denied by the answer, it is error to permit the introduction in evidence of the first complaint in the action, which contains an allegation contrary to the allegation of the amended complaint admitted as true by the answer: Goldwater v. Burnside, 22 Wash. 215, 60 Pac. 409.

The rule as to the amount of testimony necessary to overcome a sworn answer in chancery is abrogated by this section: Lee v. Lee, 3 Wash. 236, 28 Pac. 355.

Pleading superseded by amended pleading as admissible in evidence against pleader. Ann. Cas. 1913A, 1132.

Admissibility of abandoned pleading in evidence against pleader. 18 Ann. Cas. 83.

CHAPTER IX.GENERAL RULES OF PLEADING.*§ 284. Pleading Written Instruments and Accounts—Bill of Particulars.

It shall not be necessary for a party to set forth in a pleading a copy of the instrument of writing, or the items of an account therein alleged; but unless he file a verified copy thereof with such pleadings, and serve the same on the adverse party, he shall, within ten days after a demand thereof in writing, deliver to the adverse party a copy of such instrument of writing, or the items of an account, verified by his own oath, or that of his agent or attorney, to the effect that he believes it to be true, or be precluded from giving evidence thereof. The court, or judge thereof, may order a further account, when the one delivered is defective, and the court may, in all cases, order a bill of particulars of the claim of either party to be furnished. [L. '54, p. 142, § 55; Cd. '81, § 93; 2 H. C., § 205.]

Pleading Written Instruments: See Remington's Digest, Plead., § 14; Seal v. Cameron, 24 Wash. 62, 63 Pac. 1103.

Production and Inspection of Written Instrument Referred to in Pleading: This section has no application to a copy of the notice of the time, place, and injury required by the factory act to be given to an employer upon an injury to a servant on unguarded machinery, which is merely a condition precedent to action, and not the basis of the liability: Mathis v. Western Furniture Mfg. Co., 72 Wash. 206, 130 Pac. 94.

A motion for an order requiring defendants to furnish a copy of a written contract pleaded by them is a sufficient "demand in writing" within this section and is "upon notice," within section 1262 infra: Gates v. Herr, 102 Wash. 131, 172 Pac. 912.

Damages for breach of a land contract, claimed upon a cross-complaint, are not "items of account" within this section: Kelly v. Hinkhouse, 108 Wash. 93, 183 Pac. 86.

BILL OF PARTICULARS—Nature and Office: See Remington's Digest, Plead., § 133; Dudley v. Duval, 29 Wash. 528, 70 Pac. 68; Eckhart v. Peterson, 94 Wash. 379, 162 Pac. 551.

The object of a bill of particulars or the items of an account is to apprise the defendant of the nature and extent of the cause of action in order that he may, with greater certainty, plead thereto: Ferry v. King County, 2 Wash. 337, 26 Pac. 537.

Right to Particulars in General: See Remington's Digest, Plead., § 134; Turner v. Great Northern R. Co., 15 Wash. 213, 46 Pac. 243, 55 Am. St. Rep. 883; Blackburn v. Washington Gold Min. Co., 19

§ 285. Pleadings Liberally Construed.

In the construction of a pleading, for the purpose of determining its effect, its allegation [s] shall be liberally construed, with a view to substantial justice between the parties. [L. '54, p. 142, § 56; Cd. '81, § 94; 2 H. C., § 206.]

In an action to recover prospective profits from a contract to furnish hotel garbage for fattening hogs, the defendant cannot claim that the consequences were not within the contemplation of the parties, where his answer admits facts showing notice of the purpose for which the garbage was to be used: Nelson v. If irrelevant or redundant matter be inserted in a pleading, it may be stricken out on motion of any person aggrieved thereby; and when the allegations of a pleading are so indefinite or uncertain that the precise nature of the charge or defense is not apparent, the court may require the pleading to be made definite and certain by amendment, or may dismiss the same. A complaint alleging that a city, "through its duly constituted officers, determined" that plaintiff's place of business constituted a nuisance, will not by inference be considered as alleging that any court of the city, or that the city

§ 293. Answers in Justification and Mitigation.

In an action mentioned in the last section, the defendant may, in his answer, allege both the truth of the matter charged as defamatory, and any mitigating circumstances to reduce the amount of damages; and whether he prove the justification or not; he may give in evidence the mitigating circumstances. [L. '54, p. 143, § 62; Cd. '81, § 100; 2 H. C., § 212.]

Under this section, the truth of the statement of acts and facts may be shown to defeat recovery in an action for libel, although it is pleaded merely in mitigation of damages and not by way of justification: Haynes v. Spokane Chronicle Pub. Co., 11 Wash. 503, 39 Pac. 969.

If matter published is libelous per se, it is not incumbent upon plaintiffs to allege its untruth, but, under this section, that is a matter of defense which must be alleged and proven, in order to be available as such: Wilson v. Sun Publishing Co., 85 Wash. 503, 148 Pac. 774, Ann. Cas. 1917B, 442.

Admissibility of Evidence, Justification: See Remington's Digest, Libel, § 32; Hall v. Elgin Dairy Co., 15 Wash. 542, 46 Pac. 1049; Leghorn v. Review Pub. Co., 31 Wash. 627, 72 Pac. 485; Ott v. Press Pub. Co., 40 Wash. 308, 82 Pac. 403; Reynolds v. Holland, 46 Wash. 537, 90 Pac. 648.

§ 294. Falsely Charging Certain Crime, Actionable.

Every charge of incest, fornication, adultery, or whoredom falsely made by any person against a female, also words falsely spoken of any person charging such person with incest or the infamous crime against nature, either with mankind or the brute creation, shall be [actionable] in the same manner as in the case of slanderous words charging a crime the commission of which would subject the offender to death or other degrading penalties. [L. '54, p. 219, § 487; Cd. '81, § 747; 2 H. C., § 798.]

"Actionable" substituted for "accountable."

Cited in 17 Wash. 239; 71 Wash. 140.

Allegations in a complaint and affidavit in a divorce case charging adultery with a certain person are absolutely privileged if pertinent and relevant to the issue; and the rule of privilege is not changed by this section; hence a complaint by the correspondent for libel is demurrable, though the words are alleged to be false and malicious, where it is not charged that they were not pertinent and relevant to the issue: Miller v. Gust, 71 Wash. 139, 127 Pac. 845.

Under this section, such communications to third parties as: "She is nothing but an old whore," "This woman acknowledges that you sleep with her every night and I have reason to know that you are not the only one," and "She is an objectionable character; that man Adams is keeping her," if false, entitle the woman injured thereby to a right of action for defamation of character: Stewart v. Major, 17 Wash. 238, 49 Pac. 503.

§ 295. Answers in Actions to Recover Property Distrained.

In an action to recover the possession of property distrained doing damage, an answer that the defendant or person by whose command he acted was lawfully possessed of the real property upon which the distress was made, and that the property distrained was at the time doing damage thereon, shall be good without setting forth the title to such real property. [L. '54, p. 143, § 63; Cd. '81, § 101; 2 H. C., § 213.]

§ 296. Joinder of Causes of Action.

The plaintiff may unite several causes of action in the same complaint, when they all arise out of,—

1. Contract, express or implied; or,
2. Injuries, with or without force, to the person; or
3. Injuries, with or without force, to property; or
4. Injuries, to character; or
5. Claims to recover real property, with or without damages for the withholding thereof; or
6. Claims to recover personal property, with or without damages for the withholding thereof; or
7. Claims against a trustee, by virtue of a contract or by operation of law.
8. The same transaction.

But the causes of action so united must affect all the parties to the action, and not require different places of trial, and must be separately stated. [L. '07, p. 172, § 1. Cf. L. '54, p. 143, § 64; L. '61, p. 51, § 5; L. '69, p. 25, § 100; Cd. '81, § 102; 2 H. C., § 214.]

§ 300. Immaterial Variance, Effect of.

When the variance is not material, as provided in the last section, the court may direct the fact to be found according to the evidence, or may order an immediate amendment without costs. [L. '54, p. 144. § 67; Cd. '81, § 106; 2 H. C., § 218.]

AMENDMENT TO CONFORM TO PROOFS.—Upon an immaterial variance, amendments should be considered as made if they could or ought to have been made: Ward v. Moorey, 1 W. T. 104; Murray v. Meade, 5 Wash. 693, 32 Pac. 780; Seward v. Derrickson, 12 Wash. 225, 40 Pac. 939; Olson v. Snake River etc. R. Co., 22 Wash. 139, 60 Pac. 156; Taylor v. After allowance of a trial amendment to the complaint to conform to proof, plaintiff is entitled to the benefits of the proofs which supported the complaint as amended: Hershey v. Hanauer, 108 Wash. 498, 185 Pac. 627.

Where a trial on the merits was entered into and proceeded without objection to the form of a reply containing an admission, upon oral objection at the trial, the court could consider it amended to conform to proofs, and did so in effect by overruling a motion for judgment and determining the case on the merits: Strang v. Person, 108 Wash. 503, 185 Pac. 944.

It is not error to refuse to allow an answer to be amended at the trial, where it is not plain in what respect the answer would have been amended to state a valid defense: Western Farquhar Machinery Co. v. Pierce, 108 Wash. 621, 185 Pac. 570.

§ 301. Failure of Proof.

§ 302. Variance in Action to Recover Personal Property.

Where the plaintiff in an action to recover the possession of personal property, on a claim of being the owner thereof, shall fail to establish on trial such ownership, but shall prove that he is entitled to the possession thereof by virtue of a special property therein, he shall not thereby be defeated of his action, but shall be permitted to amend, on reasonable terms, his complaint, and be entitled to judgment according to the proof in the case. The court may likewise, upon affidavit showing good cause therefor, after notice to the adverse party, allow, upon such terms as may be just, an amendment to any pleading or proceeding in other particulars, and may upon like terms, allow an answer to be made after the time limited by this code, and may, upon such terms as may be just, and upon payment of costs, relieve a party, or his legal representatives, from a judgment, order or other proceeding taken against him through his mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect. Necessity in General: See Remington's Digest, Plead., § 125; Powell v. Nolan, 27 Wash. 318, 67 Pac. 712, 68 Pac. 389.

VACATING JUDGMENTS.—A motion to vacate a judgment is directed to the discretion of the trial court, and its action in passing thereon will not be reversed, unless showing made therefor leaves no room for the exercise of discretion by it: Livesley v. O'Brien, 6 Wash. 553, 34 Pac. 134.

As to vacation of judgments, when taken through mistake, surprise, or inadvertence, see Remington's Digest, Judgment, §§ 110—112, and cases cited.

A court will not open a judgment regularly entered, although it may be through mistake, unless it appears that the judgment was wrongful or oppressive; Northern Pac. & Puget S. Ry. Co. v. Black, 3 Wash. 327, 28 Pac. 538.

Where judgment has been taken against defendant by default for failure to answer, it should be vacated when it appears that he has a meritorious defense and was misled by a statement of plaintiff's attorney, that the cause would be tried several months later than the time at which default was taken: Bast v. Hyson, 6 Wash. 170, 32 Pac. 997.

It is not an abuse of discretion for a trial court to deny a motion to vacate a judgment by default, when the only ground claimed for relief is that defendant's counsel was prevented from answering, on account of absence from the city: Sanborn v. Centralia Furniture Mfg. Co., 5 Wash. 150, 31 Pac. 466; nor to deny a motion to vacate a judgment, when the affidavits in support of the motion show only a want of attention to the case by counsel and client: Myers v. Landrum, 4 Wash. 762, 31 Pac. 33.

Mistake of an attorney in noting the day in which answer must be filed, when a summons is handed him by a client.

owing to which mistake judgment by default is taken against his client for want of answer, will warrant the court in setting aside the default: Reitmeir v. Seigmund, 13 Wash. 624, 43 Pac. 878.

This section authorizes a trial court to vacate its own order denying a new trial, taken against a party through mistake, inadvertence, surprise or excusable neglect: Little Bill v. Dyslin, 51 Wash. 675, 99 Pac. 1026.

An order vacating a judgment will not be reversed on the technical ground that it was granted after denial of a former motion for such order, when on the same grounds, when the first motion should have been granted: Clein v. Wandschneider, 14 Wash. 257, 44 Pac. 272.

Under section 109 of the Code of 1881, of which this section is an amendment, it was held that an order vacating a judgment, whether at the same term or within five months thereafter, is not appealable: Lilienthal v. Wright, 1 Wash. 1, 23 Pac. 801; Gower v. Gower, 1 Wash. 16, 24 Pac. 29; see contra, Northern Pac. & Puget S. Ry. Co. v. Black, 3 Wash. 327, 28 Pac. 538.

In Freeman v. Ambrose, 12 Wash. 1, 40 Pac. 381, it is held that an order setting aside a default is not appealable. See, also, Halter v. Spokane Soap Works Co., 12 Wash. 662, 42 Pac. 126.

This section, authorizing relief from judgments has no application to new trials for newly discovered evidence, in view of other statutes expressly covering that subject: Denny-Renton Clay & Coal Co. v. Sartori, 87 Wash. 545, 151 Pac. 1088.

In proceedings under the statute to set aside a voidable judgment for mistake or surprise under this section, or for irregularity or fraud in obtaining it under section 464, it is necessary to meet in addition the provisions of section 469, requiring an adjudication that there is a valid defense: Chehalis Coal Co. v. Laisure, 97 Wash. 422, 166 Pac. 1158.

An application under this section is properly made by motion, since the procedure by petition for the vacation of judgments is applicable only to the particular cases set forth in section 467, which specially prescribes the procedure to be followed in those cases alone: Spokane & Idaho Lumber Co. v. Stanley, 25 Wash. 653, 66 Pac. 92.

But such fact would not preclude the applicant from presenting by way of petition his demand for relief, based upon a joinder of the causes of action provided for under those two sections of the code: Williams v. Breen, 25 Wash. 666, 66 Pac. 103.

This section authorizes a trial court to review and vacate its own order denying a new trial, taken against a party through mistake, inadvertence, surprise or excusable neglect: Little Bill v. Dyslin, 51 Wash. 675, 99 Pac. 1026.

The court may allow withdrawal of a motion for voluntary nonsuit made upon suggestion of the court, formal judgment of nonsuit not having been signed: Allbin v. Seattle, 98 Wash. 275, 167 Pac. 922.

An order vacating a judgment on the ground of accident and surprise, under this section, after first refusing to vacate the same, on a previous similar motion, will not be reversed if the first motion for the same relief should have been granted: Clein v. Wandschneider, 14 Wash. 257, 44 Pac. 272.

Under this section it is the duty of the court to correct a mistake made by counsel in entering an order confirming a receiver's sale, so that the same will conform to the order and notice of sale: National Bank of Commerce v. Kilsheimer & Co., 59 Wash. 460, 110 Pac. 15.

It is not an abuse of discretion to set aside a default judgment for mistake, under this section, where the defendant had consulted with, and believed in good faith that he had employed a lawyer to defend the action, although the attorney denied the employment: Kain v. Sylvester, 62 Wash. 151, 113 Pac. 573.

Limitations as to Relief from Judgments: Proceedings to vacate a judgment by motion or by petition, under sections 303, 464—466, are limited to one year after entry of the judgment, unless the judgment is void on its face for want of jurisdiction: Denton v. Merchants' Nat. Bank, 18 Wash. 387, 51 Pac. 473; Keith v. Rose, 59 Wash. 197, 109 Pac. 810; State ex rel. Pacific Loan & Investment Co. v. Superior Court, 84 Wash. 392, 146 Pac. 834.

The general statutes on the subject of vacation of judgments, which makes no restriction in the case of divorce decrees, are superseded, in so far as they conflict, by the later enactment of section 235, supra, which forbids the opening up of decrees of divorce: Metler v. Metler, 32 Wash. 494, 73 Pac. 535.

§ 304. Amendments, How Made.

When any pleading or proceeding is amended before trial, mere clerical errors excepted, it shall be done by filing a new pleading, to be called the amended complaint, or otherwise, as the case may be. Such amended pleading shall be complete in itself, without reference to the original, or any preceding amended one. [L. '69, p. 27, § 108; Cd. '81, § 110; 2 H. C., § 222.]

§ 305. Informal Pleadings, Stricken Out—Amendment of.

Any pleading not duly verified and subscribed may, on motion of the adverse party, be stricken out of the case. When any pleading contains more than one cause of action or defense, if the same be not pleaded separately, such pleading may, on motion of the adverse party, be stricken out of the case. When a motion to strike out is allowed, the court may, upon such terms as may be proper, allow the party to file an amended pleading; or if the motion be disallowed, and it appear to have been made in good faith, the court may, upon like terms, allow the party to plead over. Frost, 3 W. T. 388, 17 Pac. 887; Hul-

§ 316. Jury Fee—Advance Deposit—Waiver of Jury.

In all civil actions triable by a jury in the superior court any party to the action may, at or prior to the time the case is called to be set for trial, serve upon the opposite party or his attorney, and file with the clerk of the court a statement of himself, or attorney, that he elects to have such case tried by jury. At the time of filing such statement such party shall also deposit with the clerk of the court twelve dollars, which deposit, in the event that the case is settled out of court prior to the time that such case is called to be heard upon trial, shall be returned to such party by such clerk. Unless such statement is filed and such deposit made, the parties shall be deemed to have waived trial by jury, and consented to a trial by the court: Provided, that, in the superior courts of counties of the first class such parties shall serve and file such statement, in manner herein provided, at any time not later than two days before the time the case is called to be set for trial. The amendment of the act of 1903, providing that the parties "will" be deemed to have waived a jury by this section, to read that they "shall," be deemed to have made such waiver in such event, cannot be construed as intended to make the demand and prepayment of fees mandatory, where the real purpose of the amendment was to insert a provision allowing return of the fee in case of settlement of the suit. § 318. Agreement to Refer.

The [waiver of a jury or] agreement to refer, shall be by stipulation of the parties filed, or the oral consent of parties given in open court and entered in the records: Provided, that nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to restrict the chancery powers of the judges, or to authorize the trial of any issue by a jury, when the complaint alleges an equitable claim, and seeks relief solely upon the ground of the equities of the demand made by the pleadings in the action. § 319. Notice of Trial—Note of Issue—Motion Docket.

At any time after the issues of fact are completed in any case by the service of complaint and answer or reply when necessary, as provided in title three, either party may cause the issues of fact to be brought on for trial, by serving upon the opposite party a notice of trial at least three days before any day provided by rules of court for setting causes for trial, which notice shall give the title of the cause as in the pleadings, and notify the opposite party that the issues in such action will be brought on for trial at the time set by the court; and the party giving such notice of trial shall, at least three days before the day of setting such causes for trial file with the clerk of the court a note of issue containing the title of the action, the names of the attorneys and the date when the last pleading was served; and the clerk shall thereupon enter the cause upon the trial docket according to the date of the issue. In case an issue of law raised upon the pleading is desired to be brought on for argument, either party shall, at least three days before the day set apart by the court under its rules for hearing issues of law, serve upon the opposite party a like notice of trial and furnish the clerk of the court with a note of issue as above provided, which note of issue shall specify that the issue to be tried is an issue of law; and the clerk of the court shall thereupon enter such action upon the motion docket of the court. When a cause has once been placed upon either docket of the court, if not tried or argued at the time for which notice was given, it need not be noticed for a subsequent session or day, but shall remain upon the docket from session to session or from law day to law day until final disposition or stricken off by the court. The party upon whom notice of trial is served may file the note of issue and cause the action to be placed upon the calendar without further notice on his part. [L. '93, p. 416, § 35.]

§ 320. Hearing—Trial of Issue.

Either party, after the notice of trial, whether given by himself or the adverse party, may bring the issue to trial, and, in the absence of the adverse party, unless the court for good cause otherwise directs, may proceed with his case, and take a dismissal of the action, or a verdict or judgment, as the case may require. [L. '93, p. 417, § 36.]

§ 321. Pleadings—Time for Filing.

All pleadings in any civil action shall be filed with the clerk of the court, on or before the day when the case is called for trial, or the day when any application is made to the court for an order therein, and in case the moving party shall fail, or neglect to cause the pleadings to be filed with the clerk of the court as above required, the adverse party may apply to the court, without notice, for an order on such moving party to file such pleadings forthwith, and for a failure to comply with such order the court may order the cause dismissed unless good cause is shown for granting an extension of time within which to file such pleadings. CHAPTER II.

TRIAL OF CIVIL ACTIONS.

§ 322. Motion for Continuance—Allowance—Terms.

A motion to continue a trial on the ground of the absence of evidence shall only be made upon affidavit showing the materiality of the evidence expected to be obtained, and that due diligence has been used to procure it, and also the name and residence of the witness or witnesses. The court may also require the moving party to state, upon affidavit, the evidence which he expects to obtain; and if the adverse party admit that such evidence would be given, and that it be considered as actually given on the trial, or offered and overruled as improper, the trial shall not be continued. The court, upon its allowance of the motion, may impose terms or conditions upon the moving party. [Cf. L. '54, p. 164, § 184; L. '69, p. 50, § 209; Cd. '81, § 205; 2 H. C., § 338.]

The fact that the court compelled the accused in a criminal case to go to trial in the absence of some of his witnesses was not error, where no motion for a continuance was made pursuant to the requirements of this section: State v. Newton, 29 Wash. 373, 70 Pac. 31.

It is not error to refuse a continuance to defendant asked for at 4:30 o'clock until the next day, in order to meet evidence of the plaintiff on reopening the case for the purpose of introducing evidence not proper in rebuttal, where the defendants failed to make any showing pursuant to this section, but merely stated that their witnesses had been excused and it would be necessary to hunt them up and consult with them: Gauthier v. § 323. Impaneling Jury.

When the action is called for trial, the clerk shall prepare separate ballots containing the names of the jurors summoned who have appeared and not been excused, and deposit them in a box. He shall then draw from the box twelve names, and the persons whose names are drawn shall constitute the jury. If the ballots become exhausted before the jury is complete, or if from any cause a juror or jurors be excused or discharged, the sheriff, under the direction of the court, shall summon from the bystanders, citizens of the county, as many qualified persons as may be necessary to complete the jury. Whenever it shall be requisite for the sheriff to summon more than one person at a time from the bystanders or body of the county, the names of the talesmen shall be returned to the clerk, who shall thereupon write the names upon separate ballots and deposit the same in the trial-jury box, and draw such ballots separately therefrom, as in the case of the regular panel. The jury shall consist of twelve persons, unless the parties consent to a less number. The parties may consent to any number not less than three, and such consent shall be entered by the clerk on the minutes of the trial. [Cf. L. '54, p. 164, § 185; L. '69, p. 51, § 210; Cd. '81, § 206; 2 H. C., § 339.]

Under this section, when the jury list has become exhausted before the completion of a jury, jurors may be summoned from the bystanders, even if some of those drawn may have failed to appear: State v. Holmes, 12 Wash. 169, 40 Pac. 735, 41 Pac. 887.

This section does not confer the right to try a criminal case by a jury of less than twelve persons: State v. Ellis, 22 Wash. 129, 60 Pac. 136.

Designation, Identity and Residence: See Remington's Digest, Jury, §§ 27-1, 28; State v. Newcomb, 58 Wash. 414, 109 Pac. 355; Clarke v. Territory, 1 W. T. 68.

Where the court orders the United States marshal to summon a talesman from the bystanders to fill an exhausted panel, the sheriff being present, and, so far as the record shows, not disqualified, and defendant objects, but fails to challenge the juror, and the juror is not shown to be unfit to try the cause, it is error without prejudice: Meeker v. Gardella, 1 Wash. 139, 23 Pac. 837.

Under this section, when the jury list has become exhausted before the completion of a jury, jurors may be summoned from the bystanders, even if some of those drawn may have failed to appear, as the presumption is that they had been properly excused by the court: State v. Holmes, 12 Wash. 169, 40 Pac. 735, 41 Pac. 887.

§ 329. Particular Causes of Challenge.

Particular causes of challenge are of two kinds:—

1. For such a bias as, when the existence of the facts is ascertained, in judgment of law disqualifies the juror, and which is known in this code as implied bias;

2. For the existence of a state of mind on the part of the juror in reference to the action, or to either party, which satisfies the trier, in the exercise of a sound discretion, that he cannot try the issue impartially and without prejudice to the substantial rights of the party challenging, and which is known in this code as actual bias. § 330. Implied Bias, Defined.

1. Consanguinity or affinity within the fourth degree to either party;

2. Standing in the relation of guardian and ward, attorney and client, master and servant, or landlord and tenant, to the adverse party; or being a member of the family of, or a partner in business with, or in the employment for wages of the adverse party; or being surety or bail in the action called for trial, or otherwise, for the adverse party.

3. Having served as a juror on a previous trial in the same action, or in another action between the same parties for the same cause of action, or in a criminal action by the state against either party upon substantially the same facts or transaction;

4. Interest on the part of the juror in the event of the action, or the principal question involved therein, excepting always the interest of the juror as a member or citizen of the county or municipal corporation. [Cf. L. '54, p. 165, 187; L. '69, p. 52, § 216; Cd. '81, § 212; 2 H. C., § 345.]

§ 331. Challenge for Actual Bias.

A challenge for actual bias may be taken for the cause mentioned in the second subdivision of section three hundred and twenty-nine. But on the trial of such challenge, although it should appear that the juror challenged has formed or expressed an opinion upon what he may have heard or read, such opinion shall not of itself be sufficient to sustain the challenge, but the court must be satisfied, from all the circumstances, that the juror cannot disregard such opinion and try the issue impartially. The plaintiff may challenge one, and then the defendant may challenge one, and so alternately until the peremptory challenges shall be exhausted. The panel being filled and passed for cause, after said challenge shall have been made by either party, a refusal to challenge by either party in the said order of alternation shall not defeat the adverse party of his full number of challenges, but such refusal on the part of the plaintiff to exercise his challenge in proper turn shall conclude him as to the jurors once accepted by him, and if his right be not exhausted, his further challenges shall be confined, in his proper turn, to talesmen only. § 336. Trial of Challenge—Rules Governing.

Upon the trial of a challenge, the rules of evidence applicable to testimony offered upon the trial of an ordinary issue of fact shall govern. The juror challenged, or any other person otherwise competent, may be examined as a witness by either party. If a challenge be determined to be sufficient, or found to be true, as the case may be, it shall be allowed, and the juror to whom it was taken excluded; but if determined or found otherwise, it shall be disallowed. [L. '69, p. 54, § 222; Cd. '81, § 218; 2 H. C., § 351.]

§ 337. Challenge, Exception and Denial may be Oral.

The challenge, the exception and the denial may be made orally. The judge of the court shall note the same upon his minutes, and the substance of the testimony on either side. [L. '69, p. 54, § 233; Cd. '81, § 219; 2 H. C., § 352.]

§ 338. Oath of Jurors.

As soon as the number of the jury has been completed, an oath or affirmation shall be administered to the jurors, in substance, that they and each of them will well and truly try the matter in issue between the plaintiff and defendant, and a true verdict give, according to the law and evidence as given them on the trial. [L. '69, p. 54, § 224; Cd. '81, § 220; 2 H. C., § 353.]

See infra, § 2143, oath to jury in criminal cases.

§ 339. Manner of Conducting Trials—Statements of Counsel—Charging Jury—Written Instructions.

When a jury has been sworn, the trial shall proceed in the following manner:—

(1) The plaintiff shall briefly state the cause of action and the evidence by which he expects to sustain it. The defendant may in like manner state the defense, and the evidence he expects to offer in support thereof, but nothing in the nature of comments or argument shall be allowed in opening a case. It shall be optional with the defendant whether he states his case before or after the close of the plaintiff's evidence.

(2) The plaintiff, or the party upon whom rests the burden of proof in the whole action, must first produce his evidence; the adverse party will then produce his evidence.

(3) The parties then will be confined to rebutting evidence, unless the court shall consider that justice requires that evidence in the original case may then be offered.

(4) The court must reduce the charge to be given the jury to writing, and at the conclusion of the evidence he shall read his written charge to the jury. Either party may request such instructions as he deems material to the case, and the court may hear them upon the propriety of the requested instructions before finally settling the charge that he will give. If a stenographer shall be in attendance upon the trial of the cause, the court shall have the right to dictate the charge he desires to give to such stenographer, and to have the stenographer reduce the same to writing for him and a copy for each of the parties plaintiff and defendant. And the cost thereof shall be taxed as other costs in the action. When the charge shall have been given by the court, the plaintiff, or party having the burden of proof, may, by himself, or one counsel, address the court and jury upon the law and facts in the case, after which the adverse party may address the court and jury in like manner, by himself and one counsel or by two counsel, and be followed by the party or counsel of the party first addressing the court. No more than two speeches on behalf of the plaintiff or defendant shall be allowed. After the argument shall have been concluded, the jury shall retire to consider their verdict, and shall take with them to the jury-room, among other matters proper to be taken to their jury-room for further consideration by them, the written charge given them by the court. Either party, at any time before the hearing of a motion for a new trial may except to the instructions given by the court, or any part thereof. [L. '09, p. 184, § 1. Cf. L. '69, p. 54, § 225; Cd. '81, § 221; 2 H. C., § 354; L. '03, p. 119, § 1.]

§ 340. Directing Judgment and Discharging Jury.

In all cases tried in the superior court with a jury in which the legal sufficiency of the evidence shall be challenged, and the court shall decide as a matter of law what verdict should be found, the court shall thereupon discharge the jury from further consideration of the case, and direct judgment to be entered in accordance with its decision. This section changed the common-law rule that plaintiff had an absolute right to a voluntary dismissal at any time before judgment, but only limits such right to the extent that it should be asserted before passing on the challenge: Kosinski v. Hines, 110 Wash. 25, 180 Pac. 125.

A plaintiff has the right to take a voluntary nonsuit after defendant's motion to discharge the jury and for directed judgment under this section; and the motion for voluntary nonsuit is timely if made before the ruling upon the defendant's motion, even though the judge has expressed his views of the law and indicated that he is about to grant defendant's motion: Kosinski v. Hines, 110 Wash. 25, 180 Pac. 125.

Where the court withdraws a case from the jury and enters judgment dismissing the action, it is not required to make findings of fact and conclusions of law: Fidelity Trust Co. v. Palmer, 22 Wash. 473, 61 Pac. 158, 79 Am. St. Rep. 953.

Where the court has granted the motion of defendant to discharge the jury and for judgment in its favor, a motion of plaintiff for a dismissal of his case without prejudice comes too late: Dunkle v. Spokane Falls & N. R. Co., 20 Wash. 254, 55 Pac. 51.

A judgment reciting that the defendants challenged the legal sufficiency of the evidence and moved the court to decide, as a matter of law, that the defendants were entitled to a verdict in their favor, and that the jury be discharged and judgment entered in favor of the defendants upon the ground that the plaintiff failed to prove a sufficient cause for the jury and granting the motion in all things, is a judgment on the merits and a bar to another action, under this section, and not a judgment of nonsuit, under section 408, for plaintiff's failure "to prove a sufficient cause for the jury": McKim v. Porter, 60 Wash. 270, 110 Pac. 1073.

§ 341. Special Findings.

Any party may, when the evidence is closed, submit in distinct and concise propositions the conclusions of fact which he claims to be established, or the conclusions of law which he desires to be adjudged, or both. Where requests for special findings are made the court should, after having determined that the requests are proper, instruct the jury that it is their duty to answer each one of them, and until such requests have been answered by the jury, without any attempt at evasion, the general verdict should not be received: Red-

The jurors [may be kept together in charge of a proper officer, or may, in the discretion of the court, at any time before the submission of the cause to them, be permitted to separate; in either case they] may be admonished by the court that it is their duty not to converse with any other person, or among themselves, on any subject connected with the trial, or to express any opinion thereon, until the case is finally submitted to them. Under this section, the jury in a criminal case could, at any time before the submission of the cause, be allowed to separate: State v. Johnny Tommy, 19 Wash. 270, 53 Pac. 157.

Under this, and section 2159, requiring jurors in criminal cases to be kept together, except in cases of misdemeanors, it is reversible error in a felony case for a juror to separate from his fellows, and it is not permissible for him to excuse his conduct and show that no prejudice resulted: State v. Bennett, 71 Wash. 673, 129 Pac. 409.

§ 347. Proceedings in Case Juror Becomes Ill.

If after the formation of the jury, and before verdict, a juror become sick so as to be unable to perform his duty, the court may order him to be discharged. In that case, unless the parties agree to proceed with the other jurors, a new juror may be sworn and the trial begin anew; or the jury may be discharged and a new jury then or afterward formed. [L. '69, p. 56, § 231; Cd. '81, § 227; 2 H. C., § 360.]

§ 348. Juror as Witness.

A juror may be examined by either party as a witness, if he be otherwise competent. If he be not so examined, he shall not communicate any private knowledge or information that he may have of the matter in controversy to his fellow jurors, nor be governed by the same in giving his verdict. [L. '69, p. 57, § 232; Cd. '81, § 228; 2 H. C., § 361.]

One whose name has been indorsed on an information as a witness for the state is incompetent to serve as a juror on the ground of bias, even though he dis-claims any, when he has knowledge of material controverted facts in the case: State v. Stentz, 30 Wash. 134, 70 Pac. 241, 63 L. R. A. 807.

§ 349. Care of Jury While Deliberating.

After hearing the charge, the jury may either decide in the jury-box or retire for deliberation. If they retire they must be kept together in a room provided for them, or some other convenient place, under the charge of one or more officers, until they agree upon their verdict, or are discharged by the court. The officer shall, to the best of his ability, keep the jury thus separate from other persons, without drink, except water, and without food, except ordered by the court. He must not suffer any communication to be made to them, nor make any himself, unless by order of the court, except to ask them if they have agreed upon their verdict, and he shall not, before the verdict is rendered, communicate to any person the state of their deliberations or the verdict agreed upon. [L. '54, p. 166, § 194; L. '69, p. 57, § 233; Cd. '81, § 229; 2 H. C., § 362.]

Where the judge, after the jury has retired, receives from them through the bailiff the form of verdict submitted for plaintiff in which the jury claim there is a mistake, and returns the same, stating that it is in form as intended, such communication between judge and jury is not prejudicial error: Marine Sav. Bank v. Young, 5 Wash. 394, 31 Pac. 864.

The action of the trial court in leaving the bench and entering the jury-room, at the request of that body while in consultation, is such misconduct as to warrant a reversal: State v. Wroth, 15 Wash. 621, 47 Pac. 106.

Recalling a jury after it had been deliberating and insinuating what its verdict should be is reversible error: State v. Thield, 36 Wash. 365, 78 Pac. 919.

§ 353. Discharge of Jury Without Verdict.

The jury may be discharged by the court on account of the sickness of a juror, or other accident or calamity requiring their discharge, or by consent of both parties, or after they have been kept together until it satisfactorily appears that there is no probability of their agreeing. on a former trial, when there seemed no prospect of their being able to reach an agreement in view of this: State v. Costello, 29 Wash. 366, 69 Pac. 1099.

§ 354. If Jury Discharged, Cause Continued for Trial.

In all cases where a jury are discharged or prevented from giving a verdict, by reason of accident or other cause, during the progress of the trial, or after the cause is submitted to them, the action shall thereafter be for trial anew. § 355. Recess of Court While Jury are Deliberating.

While the jury are absent the court may adjourn from time to time, in respect to other business, but it is nevertheless to be deemed open for every purpose connected with the cause submitted to the jury until a verdict is rendered or the jury discharged. [Cf. L. '54, p. 166, § 197; L. '69, p. 58, § 239; Cd. '81, § 235; 2 H. C., § 368.]

§ 356. Proceedings When Jury have Agreed.

When the jury have agreed upon their verdict they shall be conducted into court by the officer having them in charge. Their names shall then be called, and if all do not appear, the rest shall be discharged without giving a verdict. [L. '69, p. 58, § 240; Cd. '81, § 236; 2 H. C., § 369.]

§ 357. Manner of Giving Verdict.

If the jury appear, they shall be asked by the court or the clerk whether they have agreed upon their verdict, and if the foreman answer in the affirmative, he shall, on being required, declare the same. [L. '69, p. 58, § 241; Cd. '81, § 237; 2 H. C., § 370.]

§ 358. Ten Jurors may Render Verdict in Civil Cases.

In all trials by juries of twelve in the superior court, except criminal trials, when ten of the jurors agree upon a verdict, the verdict so agreed upon shall be signed by the foreman, and the verdict shall stand as the verdict of the whole jury, and have all the force and effect of a verdict agreed to by twelve jurors. Upon receiving a verdict in the absence of counsel pursuant to stipulation, where, upon a poll of the jury, at first but nine agree, it is not error for the court, in the absence of counsel, to repeat the instructions as to the number necessary to agree, and to grant a request of a juror to allow him to change his vote, in case a mistake was made: Rice Fisheries Co. v. Pacific Realty Co., 35 Wash. 535, 77 Pac. 839.

§ 359. Jury may be Polled.

When the verdict is returned into court either party may poll the jury, and if ten of the jurors answer that it is the verdict said verdict shall stand. In case ten of the jurors do not answer in the affirmative the jury shall be returned to the jury-room for further deliberation. [L. '95, p. 59, § 2.]

This section applies to the receipt of a sealed verdict, notwithstanding the jury had been allowed to separate, where they had reassembled to present the verdict: Coughlin v. Weeks, 75 Wash. 568, 135 Pac. 649.

Where, upon polling the jury, a juror answered "either that or a hung jury," and upon being admonished, answered "yes," the verdict should be received and cannot be impeached: State v. Millroy, 103 Wash. 193, 174 Pac. 10.

§ 360. Correction of Informal Verdict.

If the verdict be informal or insufficient, it may be corrected by the jury under the advice of the court, or the jury may again be sent out. [Cf. L. '69, p. 58, § 242; Cd. '81, § 238; 2 H. C., § 371; the first clause of this section is repealed by L. '95, p. 59, § 2.]

Error cannot be assigned on the action of the court in sending the jury back with the pleadings, to cure an oversight in not sending the same to the jury-room, after the verdict had been read but before it was received or filed, where the jury presently returned with the same verdict, which was received and filed: Matthews v. CHAPTER III.THE VERDICT.*§ 362. General and Special Verdict, Defined.

The verdict of a jury is either general or special. A general verdict is that by which the jury pronounces generally upon all or any of the issues either in favor of the plaintiff or defendant. A special verdict is that by which the jury find the facts only, leaving the judgment to the court. [L. '54, p. 167, § 198; Cd. '81, § 240; 2 H. C., § 373.]

In an action for legal services with verdict finding for the plaintiff in a specified sum, the addition of the words "administrator's fees left for court to decide," indicated, under an instruction, that there was no agreement therefor; and at most was merely surplusage: *Martin v. § 363. Verdict in Actions for Specific Personal Property.

In an action for the recovery of specific personal property, if the property has not been delivered to the plaintiff, or the defendant by his answer claim a return thereof, the jury shall assess the value of the property if their verdict be in favor of the plaintiff; or if they find in favor of the defendant, and that he is entitled to a return thereof, they may at the same time assess the damages, if any are claimed in the complaint or answer, which the prevailing party has sustained by reason of the detention or taking and withholding such property. § 364. Rendition of General or Special Verdict, When.

In every action for the recovery of money only, or specific real property, the jury, in their discretion, may render a general or special verdict. In all other cases, the court may direct the jury to find a special verdict in writing upon all or any of the issues, and in all cases may instruct them, if they render a general verdict, to find upon particular questions of fact to be stated in writing, and may direct a written finding thereon. § 392. How Certified upon Change or Death of Judge.

If the judge before whom the cause was pending or tried shall from any cause have ceased to be such judge he shall, notwithstanding, settle and certify, as the late judge, any bill of exceptions or statement of facts that it would be proper for him to settle and certify if he were still such judge, and such acts on his part shall have the same effect as if he were still in office; and he may be compelled by mandate so to do, as if still in office. If such judge shall die or remove from the state while in office or afterward, within the time which a bill of exceptions or statement of facts, in a cause that was pending or tried before him, might be settled and certified under the provisions of this chapter, and before having certified such bill or statement, such bill or statement may be settled by stipulation of the parties with the same effect as if duly settled and certified by such judge while still in office. But if the parties cannot agree, and if such judge, when removed from the state, does not attend within the state and settle and certify a bill of exceptions or statement of facts in case one has been duly proposed, his successor in office shall settle and certify such bill or statement in the manner in this chapter provided, and in so doing he shall be guided, so far as practicable, by the minutes taken by his predecessor in office, or by the stenographer, if one was in attendance on the court or judge, and may, in order to determine any disputed matter not sufficiently appearing upon such minutes, examine under oath the attorneys in the cause who were present at the trial or hearing, or any of them. § 393. When to be Filed—Effect of Irregularity.

A proposed bill of exceptions or statement of facts must be filed and served either before or within thirty days after the time begins to run within which an appeal may be taken from the final judgment in the cause, or (as the case may be), from an order with a view to an appeal from which the bill or statement is proposed: Provided, that the time herein prescribed may be enlarged either before or after its expiration, once or more, but not for more than sixty days additional in all, by stipulation of the parties, or for good cause shown and on such terms as may be just, by an order of the court or judge wherein or before whom the cause is pending or was tried, made on notice to the adverse party. And the certifying of a bill of exceptions or statement of facts provided for by this chapter, and the filing and service of the proposed bill or statement, the notice of application for the settlement thereof, and all other steps and proceedings leading up to the making of the certificate, shall be deemed steps and proceedings in the cause itself, resting upon the jurisdiction originally acquired by the court in the cause, and no irregularity or failure to pursue the steps prescribed by this chapter on the part of any party, or the judge, shall affect the jurisdiction of the judge to settle or certify a proper bill of exceptions or statement of facts. This chapter shall govern proceedings had after it shall take effect, in actions then pending as well as those in actions thereafter begun; but it shall not affect any right acquired or proceeding had prior to the time when it shall take effect, nor restore any right or enlarge any time then already lost or expired. CHAPTER VIII.

NEW TRIALS.

§ 398. New Trial, Defined.

A new trial is a re-examination of an issue [of fact] in the same court after a trial and decision by a jury, court, or referees. [L. '54, p. 170, § 215; Cd. '81, § 275; 2 H. C., § 399.]

§ 399. New Trial—Grounds for Granting.

The former verdict or other decision may be vacated and a new trial granted, on the motion of the party aggrieved, for any of the following causes materially affecting the substantial rights of such party:

1. Irregularity in the proceedings of the court, jury or adverse party, or any order of the court, or abuse of discretion, by which such party was prevented from having a fair trial;

2. Misconduct of prevailing party or jury; and whenever any one or more of the jurors shall have been induced to assent to any general or special verdict to a finding on any question or questions submitted to the jury by the court, other and different from his own conclusions, and arrived at by a resort to the determination of chance or lot, such misconduct may be proved by the affidavits of one or more of the jurors;

3. Accident or surprise which ordinary prudence could not have guarded against;

4. Newly discovered evidence, material for the party making the application, which he could not with reasonable diligence have discovered and produced at the trial;

5. Excessive or inadequate damages appearing to have been given under the influence of passion or prejudice;

6. Error in the assessment of the amount of recovery, whether too large or too small, when the action is upon a contract, or for the injury or detention of property;

7. Insufficiency of the evidence to justify the verdict or the decision, or that it is against law;

8. Error in law occurring at the trial and excepted to at the time by the party making the application. [L. '09, p. 53, § 1. Cf. L. '54, p. 170, § 216; L. '69, p. 67, § 278; Cd. '81, § 276; 2 H. C., § 400.]

Discretion of Court.—The granting of a new trial upon statutory grounds is within the discretionary power of the lower court: See Remington's Digest, New Tr., § 3; Gove v. Moses, 1 W. T. 7; Livesley v. O'Brien, 6 Wash. 553, 34 Pac. 134; Trumbull v. Jackman, 9 Wash. 524, 37 Pac. 680; Rinehart v. Watson, 11 Wash. 526, 40 Pac. 127; Corbitt v. Harrington, 14 Wash. 197, 44 Pac. 132; Seattle Operating Co. v. It is a matter within the discretion of the trial court to grant a new trial on the ground that the damages awarded by the verdict of the jury are excessive: See Remington's Digest, New Tr., § 3; Kohler v. Fairhaven & N. W. R. Co., 8 Wash. 452, 36 Pac. 253, 681; Sharp v. Greene, 22 Wash. 677, 62 Pac. 147; Moylan v. Moylan, 49 Wash. 341, 95 Pac. 271; Brown v. Walla Walla, 76 Wash. 670, 136 Pac. 1166.

An order granting a new trial does not involve the discretion of the trial court when such order is based upon an error of law: See Remington's Digest, New Tr., § 3; Dunkle v. Spokane Falls & N. R. Co., 20 Wash. 254, 55 Pac. 51; Gardner v. Lovergren, 27 Wash. 356, 67 Pac. 615; Gray v. Washington Water etc. Co., 27 Wash. 713, 68 Pac. 360; Doyle v. Great Northern R. CHAPTER XI.

JUDGMENT BY DEFAULT.

§ 411. Judgment for Failure to Answer.

Judgment may be had if the defendant fail to answer to the complaint, as follows:—

1. In any action arising on contract for the recovery of money only, the plaintiff may file with the clerk proof of personal service of the summons and complaint on one or more of the defendants. The court shall thereupon enter judgment for the amount claimed against the defendant or defendants, or against one or more of the several defendants, in the cases provided for in section 236. Where the defendant, by his answer, in any such action, shall not deny the plaintiff's claim, but shall set up a counterclaim amounting to less than the plaintiff's claim, judgment may be had by the plaintiff for the excess of said claim over the said counterclaim;

2. In other actions the plaintiff may, upon the like proof, apply to the court after the expiration of the time for answering, for the relief demanded in the complaint. If the taking of an account or of the proof of any fact be necessary to enable the court to give judgment, or to carry the judgment into effect, the court may take the account or hear the proof, or may, in its discretion, order a reference for that purpose. Where the action is for the recovery of damages, in whole or in part, the court may order the damages to be assessed by a jury; or if to determine the amount of damages the examination of a long account be necessary, by a reference as above provided. If the defendant give notice of appearance in the action before the expiration of the time for answering, he shall be entitled to five days' notice of the time and place of application to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint;

3. In [an] action where the service of the summons was by publication, the plaintiff, upon the expiration of the time for answering, may, upon proof of service by publication, apply for judgment; and the court must thereupon require proof of the demand mentioned in the complaint, and must require the plaintiff or his agent to be examined on oath respecting any payments that have been made to the plaintiff, or to anyone for his use on account of such demand, and may render judgment for the amount which he is entitled to recover, or for such other relief as he may be entitled to. [Cf. L. '54, p. 171, § 225; L. '69, p. 70, § 291; L. '77, p. 59, § 293; Cd. '81, § 289; 2 H. C., § 412.]

§ 431. Time of Entering Judgment—Signing and Filing—Motion Attacking Service and Filing.

In any action tried by jury in which a verdict is returned, judgment in conformity with the verdict may be entered by the court at any time after two days from the return of such verdict. Any motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict, or any motion for a new trial, or any motion attacking the verdict for other causes, shall be served on the adverse party and filed with the clerk of the court within two days after the return of the verdict, and no judgment shall be entered in the cause until after the disposition of such motion. The judgment shall be in writing, signed by the judge of the court in which the action is pending, and shall be filed with the clerk and recorded in the journal of the court. [L. '21, p. 199, § 1. § 431-2. Abstract of Verdict—Transmission to Other County—Cessation of Lien—Certificate.

The clerk shall, on request and at the expense of the party in whose favor the verdict is rendered, or his attorney, prepare an abstract of such verdict in substantially the same form as an abstract of a judgment and transmit such abstract to the clerk of any court in any county in the state as directed, and shall make a note on the execution docket of the name of the county to which each of such abstracts is sent. The clerk receiving such abstract shall, on payment of a fee of fifty cents therefor, enter and index the same in the execution docket in the same manner as an abstract of judgment. On the entry thereof the same shall have the same effect in such county as in the county where rendered.

Whenever the verdict, or any judgment rendered thereon, shall cease to be a lien in the county where rendered, the clerk of the court shall on request of anyone, and the payment of the cost and expense thereof, certify that the lien thereof has ceased, and transmit such certificate to the clerk of any court to which an abstract was forwarded, and such clerk receiving the certificate, on payment of a fee of fifty cents therefor, shall enter the same in the execution docket, and then and thereupon the lien of such verdict or judgment shall cease. Nothing in this act shall be construed as authorizing the issuance of an execution in any other county than that in which the judgment is rendered. [L. '21, p. 200, § 3.]

§ 433. Judgment in Case of Setoff.

If a setoff established at the trial exceed the plaintiff's demand so established, judgment for the defendant shall be given for the excess; or if it appear that the defendant is entitled to any [other] affirmative relief, judgment shall be given accordingly. [L. '54, p. 173, § 231; Cd. '81, § 303; 2 H. C., § 437.]

See supra, §§ 269—272, judgment in case of setoff.

§ 434. Judgment in Actions to Recover Personal Property.

In an action to recover the possession of personal property, judgment for the plaintiff may be for the possession or value thereof, in case a delivery cannot be had, and damages for the detention. If the property has been delivered to the plaintiff, and the defendant claim a return thereof, judgment for the defendant may be for a return of the property, or the value thereof in case a return cannot be had, and damages for taking and withholding the same. § 435. Entry of Judgment.

All judgments shall be entered by the clerk, subject to the direction of the court, in the journal, and shall specify clearly the amount to be recovered, the relief granted, or other determination of the action. [L. '69, p. 75, § 307; Cd. '81, § 305; 2 H. C., § 439.]

Conflict in record and journal entries: See notes to § 431.

The existence of a judgment, though not entered in the court's journal as contemplated by statute, nor having the file-mark of the clerk, may be established by competent proof after the death of the judge rendering it: Eakin v. McCraith, 2 W. T. 112, 3 Pac. 838.

A clerical error of the county clerk in recording a judgment by filling up a blank for the date six days later than the filing date is immaterial, as the date of the judgment was the date of its filing: Warner v. Miner, 41 Wash. 98, 82 Pac. 1033.

An order does not become final until entered: See State ex rel. Brown v. Brown, 31 Wash. 397, 72 Pac. 86, 62 L. R. A. 974.

It is not necessary for the validity of a decree or judgment that it be served upon any party to a cause after it has been filed: See Western Security Co. v. Lafleur, 17 Wash. 406, 49 Pac. 1061; Fisher v. Puget Sound Brick etc. Co., 34 Wash. 578, 76 Pac. 107.

An indorsement of "O. K." will be considered an assent as to form only where exceptions were taken: See Humphries v. Sorenson, 33 Wash. 563, 74 Pac. 690.

§ 436. Summons, After Judgment, to Joint Debtor not Originally Served.

When a judgment is recorded [entered] against one or more of several persons jointly indebted upon an obligation by proceeding as provided in section 236. such defendants who were not originally served with the summons, and did not appear to the action, may be summoned to show cause why they should not be bound by the judgment in the same manner as though they had been originally served with the summons. [L. '77, p. 64, § 318; Cd. '81, § 314; 2 H. C., § 440.]

Cited in 82 Wash. 587, 588.

A plaintiff who did not allege and prove that all its members were liable for the debt and who failed to take judgment against the joint property of all and the separate property of each, as provided in section 236, cannot claim that the judgment is the joint obligation of all and obtain the benefit of this section: Nolan v. McNamee, 82 Wash. 585, 144 Pac. 904.

§ 437. Contents of Such Summons.

The summons as provided in the last section must describe the judgment, and require the person summoned to show cause why he should not be bound by it, and must be served in the same manner and returnable within the same time as the original summons. It is not necessary to file a new complaint. [L. '77, p. 64, § 319; Cd. '81, § 315; 2 H. C., § 441.]

§ 438. Affidavit to Support Summons.

The summons must be accompanied by an affidavit of the plaintiff, his agent, representative, or attorney, that the judgment, or some part thereof, remains unsatisfied, and must specify the amount due thereon. [L. '77, p. 65, § 320; Cd. '81, § 316; 2 H. C., § 442.]

§ 439. Defenses in Such Case.

Upon the service of such summons and affidavit, the defendant may answer within the time specified therein, denying the judgment, or setting up any defense which may have arisen subsequently to the taking of the judgment, or he may deny his liability on the obligation upon which the judgment was rendered, except a discharge from such liability by the statute of limitations. [L. '77, p. 65, § 321; Cd. '81, § 317; 2 H. C., § 443.]

Cited in 82 Wash. 588.

§ 440. Pleadings in Such Case.

If the defendant in his answer deny the judgment, or set up any defense which may have arisen subsequently, the summons, with the affidavit annexed, and the answer, constitute the written allegations in the case; if he deny his liability on the obligation upon which the judgment was rendered, a copy of the original complaint and judgment, the summons with the affidavit annexed, and the answer constitute such written allegations. [L. '77, p. 65, § 322; Cd. '81, § 318; 2 H. C., § 444.]

§ 441. Trial and Entry in Such Cases.

The issues formed may be tried as in other cases, but when the defendant denies in his answer any liability on the obligation upon which the judgment was rendered, if a verdict be found against him, it must not exceed the amount remaining unsatisfied on such original judgment, with interest thereon. [L. '77, p. 65, § 323; Cd. '81, § 319; 2 H. C., § 445.]

Where plaintiff obtained a verdict for a certain sum, "with legal interest," and the court gave judgment for interest from date sixty days after the making of the contract, the judgment is erroneous: Western Mill & Lumber Co. v. Blanchard, 1 Wash. 230, 23 Pac. 839; Meeker v. Gardella, 1 Wash. 139, 23 Pac. 837.

§ 442. Judgment-roll—What Constitutes.

Immediately after entering the judgment, the clerk shall attach the following papers in the case, which shall constitute the judgment-roll:—

1. If the complaint has not been answered by any defendant, and no pleading has been filed by an intervener, he shall attach together, in the order of their filing, issuing, and entry, the complaint, summons, and proof of service, and a copy of the entry of judgment;

2. In all other cases he shall attach together in like manner the summons and proof of service, the pleadings, bill of exceptions, all orders relating to change of parties, together with a copy of the entry of judgment, and all other journal entries or orders in any way involving the merits and necessarily affecting the judgment. [Cf. L. '54, p. 173, § 233; Cd. '81, § 306; L. '91, p. 77, § 3; 2 H. C., § 446.]

§ 443. Judgment-roll—Indorsement and Preservation.

In all cases, the clerk shall attach upon the outside of the judgment-roll a blank sheet of paper, upon which he shall indorse the name of the court, the title of the action, for whom judgment was given, and the amount or nature thereof and the date of its entry. CHAPTER XV.

JUDGMENT LIENS.

§ 444. Execution Docket.

Every clerk shall keep in his office a well-bound book, to be called the execution docket, which shall be a public record, and open during the usual business hours to all persons desirous of inspecting it. [L. '54, p. 173, § 234; Cd. '81, § 307; 2 H. C., § 448.]

See supra, § 75, books to be kept by clerk.

§ 445. Judgment Lien.

The real estate of any judgment debtor and such as he may acquire, shall be held and bound to satisfy any judgment of the district or circuit court of the United States, if rendered in this state, or of the superior or supreme court, or any judgment of a justice of the peace for the period of five years from the day on which said judgment was rendered, and such judgments shall be a lien thereupon to commence as follows: Judgments of the superior court of the county in which real estate of the judgment debtor is situated, from the date of the entry thereof; judgments of the district or circuit courts of the United States, if rendered in this state; judgments of the supreme court; judgments of the superior court of any county other than the county in which said judgment was rendered, and judgments of a justice of the peace, from the time of the filing and indexing of a duly certified transcript or abstract of such judgments, as provided by this chapter, with the county clerk of the county in which said real estate is situated. LIEN.—Laws of 1877, page 66, section 326, providing that parties may continue the lien of a judgment before the expiration of the five-year period, was repealed by the code of 1881: Tacoma Nat. Bank v. Sprague, 33 Wash. 285, 74 Pac. 393.

This act is constitutional as to limiting the time for the commencement and duration of the lien of judgments upon contracts subsequently arising: Seattle Brewing & Malting Co. v. Donofrio, 59 Wash. 98, 109 Pac. 335.

This section providing that the lien of a judgment shall continue for five years from the date of rendition, and section 458, providing that in case of appeal to the supreme court the date of the final judgment in the supreme court shall be the time from which said five years shall commence to run, are impliedly repealed by sections 459—461: Seattle Brewing & Malting Co. v. Donofrio, 59 Wash. 98, 109 Pac. 335.

The possessory right which the locator of a mining claim has under Revised Statutes of the United States, section 2322, is not such an interest as will support the lien of a general judgment within the meaning of this section: Phoenix Min. & Mill Co. v. Scott, 20 Wash. 48, 54 Pac. 777.

§ 448. Entries in Execution Docket.

He shall leave space on the same page, if practicable, with each case, in which he shall enter, in the order in which they occur, all the proceedings subsequent to the judgment in said case until its final satisfaction, including the time when and to what county the execution is issued, and when returned, and the return or the substance thereof. When the execution is levied on personal property which is returned unsold, the entry shall be: "levied (noting the date) on property not sold." When any sheriff shall furnish the clerk with a copy of any levy upon real estate on any judgment the minutes of which are entered in his execution docket, the entry shall be: "levied upon real estate," noting the date, and shall refer to the page upon the book of levies where the same is entered, as is hereinafter provided. When any execution issued to any other county is returned levied upon real estate in such county, the entry in the docket shall be, "levied on real estate of —, in — county," noting the date, county, and defendants whose estate is levied upon; and when the money is made, or any part thereof, the amount and time when made shall be entered; also, when a writ of error has been taken, or the judgment is appealed, modified, discharged, or in any manner satisfied, the facts in respect thereto shall be entered. The parties interested may also assign or discharge such judgment on such execution docket. The clerk shall also keep in his office a well-bound book, to be called a book of levies, which shall be a public record, and open during the usual business hours to all persons desirous of inspecting the same, in which he shall enter all levies upon real estate in his county, when delivered to him by the sheriff, as provided by law. An alphabetical index shall be prefixed to the book of levies, containing the names of all persons upon whose real estate such levies have been made, and when such levies are discharged in any manner, an entry thereof shall be made in the margin of the book of levies where the levy is recorded. [L. '54, p. 174, § 239; Cd. '81, § 313; 2 H. C., § 454.]

§ 450. Transcripts from Justices' Courts.

Any judgment of any justice of the peace of any county in this state, shall become a lien upon any real estate of the judgment debtor, and such as he may acquire in that county wherein said judgment was rendered by the filing of a duly certified transcript from the docket of said justice in the county clerk's office of said county wherein said judgment was rendered, and upon such filing said judgment shall become to all intents and purposes a judgment of said superior court of said county, said judgment of said justice of the peace shall become a lien upon the real estate of the judgment debtor and such as he may acquire in any county other than that in which the same was rendered by the filing in the office of the county clerk of that county a duly certified abstract of the record of said judgment, from the office of the county clerk of that county in which the certified transcript of the said judgment of said justice of the peace was originally filed. § 451. Abstract of Judgment, Contents of.

An abstract of a judgment as provided for in this chapter shall contain:—

1. The name of the party or parties in whose favor the judgment was rendered;

2. The name of the party or parties against whom the judgment was rendered;

3. The date of the rendition of the judgment;

4. The amount for which the judgment was rendered, and in the following manner, viz.: Principal, $—; interest, $—; costs, $—; total, $—. [L. '93, p. 66, § 3.]

Cited in 23 Wash. 545.

Recording and Docketing Judgment—In General.—The provision that the abstract of judgment shall set forth the names, at length, of all the parties, is merely a requirement that the names shall be stated as shown by the judgment entry, and has no other reference to the names of the parties: Lamey v. Coffman, 11 Wash. 301, 39 Pac. 682.

It is necessary to include only the names of parties against whom a money judgment is rendered: Fuller & Co. v. Hull, 19 Wash. 400, 53 Pac. 666.

The fact that the amount of costs to which a judgment creditor is entitled is not shown in the transcript filed in the county auditor's office will not defeat the lien of the principal judgment itself: Lamey v. Coffman, 11 Wash. 301, 39 Pac. 682.

§ 452. Transcript of Justice's Docket.

§ 453. Entry of Abstract or Transcript of Judgment.

It shall be the duty of the county clerk to enter in his execution docket any duly certified abstract or transcript of any judgment of any of the courts mentioned in this chapter, and he shall index the same in the same manner as judgments originally rendered in the superior court of the county of which he is clerk. [L. '93, p. 66, § 5.]

Cited in 23 Wash. 545.

§ 454. Satisfaction of Judgments.

When any judgment shall be paid and satisfied, the satisfaction shall be noted upon the records thereof in the execution docket as satisfied, giving the date of such satisfaction, and when the same shall be signed by the judgment creditor or his attorney the lien thereof against said real estate shall be satisfied and discharged. [L. '93, p. 66, § 7.]

§ 455. Satisfaction of Judgments of Federal Court—Penalty for Failure.

When the amount due on any judgment is paid off or satisfied in full, the plaintiff, or those legally acting for him, must acknowledge satisfaction thereof in the margin of the record of the judgment, or by the execution of an instrument in writing referring to the judgment, acknowledged and filed in the office of the auditor or recorder in every county where the judgment is a lien. If he fail to do so within sixty days after having been requested in writing so to do, he shall forfeit to the defendant the sum of fifty dollars. [L. '90, p. 98, § 3; 2 H. C., § 458.]

§ 457. Interest on Judgments.

Judgments hereafter rendered founded on written contracts, providing for the payment of interest until paid at a specified rate, shall bear interest at the rate specified in such contracts, not in any case, however, to exceed ten per cent per annum: Provided, that said interest rate is set forth in the judgment; and all other judgments shall bear interest at the rate of six per centum per annum from date of entry thereof. An appeal to the supreme court or stay of execution shall not affect any existing lien; and in all cases of an appeal the date of final judgment in the supreme court shall be the time from which said five years shall commence to run. Personal property shall only be held from the time it is actually levied upon. [Cf. '54, p. 175, §§ 240, 241; L. '60, p. 79, § 319; Cd. '81, § 322; 2 H. C., § 461.]

§ 460. Proceedings for Extension Denied.

No suit, action, or other proceedings shall ever be had on any judgment rendered in the state of Washington by which the lien or duration of such judgment, claim or demand, shall be extended or continued in force for any greater or longer period than six years from the date of the entry of the original judgment. A street assessment lien being subject to the statute of limitations, a judgment therefor becomes inoperative for any purpose, under this section, after the lapse of six years, as in the case of other judgment liens: Hinckley v. Seattle, 37 Wash. 269, 79 Pac. 779.

This section does not prohibit actions on domestic judgments, which may be commenced within six years: Lilly-Brackett Co. v. Sonnemann, 50 Wash. 487, 97 Pac. 505.

§ 461. Exceptions.

When the lien of any judgment, as specified in section 459, has run six years, or its duration will be less than one year by reason of this act, then the lien of such judgment shall continue for one year from and after the taking effect of this act. [L. '97, p. 52, § 3.]

"This act" took effect June 9, 1897.

§ 462. Revival—Procedure.

If any judgment shall remain unsatisfied in whole or in part, at the end of five years after the date of its rendition, the lien thereof may be revived and continued, as in this section provided:

(1) The judgment creditor, his assignee, or the party to whom said judgment is due and payable, shall file a motion with the clerk of the court where judgment is entered, to revive and continue the lien of the same, with leave to issue an execution. The motion shall state the names of the parties to the judgment, the date of its entry, the amount claimed to be due thereon, or the particular property, of which the possession was thereby adjudged to such party, remaining undelivered. The motion shall be subscribed and verified in the same manner as an original complaint.

(2) At any time after filing such motion, the party may cause notice to be served on the judgment debtor in like manner and with like effect as a summons; said notice shall be attached to a copy of said motion, by the clerk of the court, and be served by the sheriff or other officer as an original summons. It shall cite the judgment debtor to appear and show cause why the said motion should not be allowed. The time in which the judgment debtor shall be required to appear, shall be the same as is prescribed for answer to a complaint, and the law applicable to service of a summons, shall apply to the service of such notice. In case the judgment debtor be dead, the notice may be served upon his legal representatives.

(3) The judgment debtor, or in case of his death, his representatives, may file an answer or demurrer to such motion within the time allowed by law to answer a complaint, alleging any defense to such motion which may exist. If no answer be filed within the time prescribed, the motion shall be allowed as of course. The moving party may demur or reply to the answer. The pleadings shall be subscribed and verified, and the proceedings concluded as in original actions.

(4) The word "representatives," in this section shall be deemed to include any or all of the persons in whose possession property of the judgment debtor may be which is liable to be taken and sold or delivered in satisfaction of the execution, and not otherwise.

(5) The order shall specify the amount due upon such unsatisfied judgment for which execution is to issue, or the particular property, possession of which is to be delivered; it shall be entered in the journal and docket as a judgment, and a final record shall be made of the proceedings in the same manner as a judgment. [Cd. '81, § 323; 2 H. C., § 462.]

This and the next section were repealed by L. '97, p. 53, § 4, but are retained, as the repeal did not affect any existing contract obligations or judgments recovered thereon.

§ 463. Proof for Revival—No Revival After Six Years.

Such motion shall not be granted unless it be established by oath of the party, or other satisfactory proof, that the judgment, or some part thereof, remains unsatisfied. The order of the court granting such leave shall operate as a revival of the judgment for the amount found due at the time of such revival, and the same shall be and continue a lien upon real estate of the judgment debtor for a period of five years from and after the date of such order, in like manner with the original judgment: Provided, that a transcript thereof shall, within twenty days, be filed in the office of the county auditor of the county where the lands lie of such judgment debtor, or said lien shall be suspended till such transcript be filed. Revived judgments shall bear the same interest and be in all respects similar to original judgments as to lien and enforcement of collection: Provided, however, That no judgment shall be revived or continued unless proceedings for such revival or continuance shall be commenced within six years after the date of its rendition: Provided further, that this act shall not apply to any judgment now in existence until one year from the time this act takes effect. The fact that an order approving an administrator's final account and decree of distribution is appealable as a final order to correct error of law does not limit the force of this section, subdivision 4, authorizing its vacation or modification for irregularities in obtaining it in reciting the approval of claims and payment thereof not then disclosed by the record: Johnston's Estate, In re, 107 Wash. 25, 181 Pac. 209.

Where a garnishee allowed a judgment of default to be obtained by fraud and without notice to him of an assignment or opportunity to defend, his only remedy was to proceed within one year to set aside the judgment of garnishment, under sections 464, 467: Benjamin v. Ernst, 83 Wash. 59, 145 Pac. 79.

An order vacating a judgment and granting a new trial, for fraud, made upon petition filed within one year, under this section, must be treated as a proceeding in the original cause, and is not appealable as a final order: State ex rel. Post v. Superior Court, 31 Wash. 53, 71 Pac. 740; Post v. Spokane, 35 Wash. 114, 76 Pac. 510.

Under subdivision 4, the superior court has jurisdiction to vacate a decree of divorce procured by fraud, regardless of whether the service was personal or by publication; although section 235, supra, authorizing the opening of default judgments for the purpose of defending the action within one year, when secured on service by publication, expressly excepts judgments for divorce: Chaney v. Chaney, 56 Wash. 145, 105 Pac. 229.

— Fraud in Preventing Defense: See Remington's Digest, Judgm., § 114; McDougall v. Walling, 21 Wash. 478, 58 Pac. 669, 75 Am. St. Rep. 849.

See, also, Bennington County Sav. Bank v. France, 111 Wash. 483, 191 Pac. 616.

SUBDIVISION 6.—Under this section, subdivision 6, a judgment may be vacated by a direct attack in the court where the judgment was rendered, on the ground of death of one of the parties before the judgment: Gordon v. Hillman, 109 Wash. 223, 186 Pac. 651.

Under this section, subdivision 8, and section 468, it is not required that the petitioner shall file his motion or petition in the original case, nor is any statutory form of procedure prescribed by such sections which must be strictly pursued: Morrison v. Morrison, 25 Wash. 466, 65 Pac. 779.

A judgment entered against infants upon proper service is not void, but voidable only, and cannot be attacked for fraud or error under this section, unless the proceeding is commenced within one year after the infants attain majority: Wilson v. Hubbard, 39 Wash. 671, 82 Pac. 154.

This section has no application, where an order discharging a guardian and settling the final account was entered without notice to, or knowledge of, his ward, there was no actual settlement and he continued to hold himself out as guardian; since the order is ex parte and void for want of jurisdiction, and may be vacated at any time: Sroufe's Estates, In re, 74 Wash. 639, 134 Pac. 471.

In the absence of statute, extra compensation cannot be taxed as costs for expert witnesses where there was no showing that such evidence could not be procured by subpoena without paying extra compensation: Spokane v. Fisher, 106 Wash. 378, 180 Pac. 139.

It is an abuse of discretion to refuse to tax costs for witnesses who were present and competent to testify although, because of the manner in which the case was tried, they were not called upon to testify: Ham, Yearsley & Ryrie v. Northern Pac. R. Co., 107 Wash. 378, 181 Pac. 898.

§ 483. Fees of Referees.

The fees of referees shall be five dollars to each for every day necessarily spent in the business of the reference, and twenty cents per folio for writing testimony; but the parties may agree in writing upon any rate of compensation, and thereupon such rate shall be allowed. [Cf. L. '54, p. 202, § 376; L. '77, p. 109, § 518; Cd. '81, § 514; 2 H. C., § 831.]

A referee cannot recover as costs more than twenty cents per folio for writing the testimony, although he employs a stenographer to assist him: Park v. Mighell, 3 Wash. 737, 29 Pac. 556.

§ 484. Costs on Postponement of Trial.

When an application shall be made to a court or referees to postpone a trial, the payment to the adverse party of a sum not exceeding ten dollars, besides the fees of witnesses, may be imposed as the condition of granting the postponement. [L. '54, p. 203, § 377; Cd. '81, § 515; 2. H. C., § 832.]

§ 485. Costs Where Tender is Made.

When, in an action for the recovery of money, the defendant alleges in his answer that, before the commencement of the action, he tendered to the plaintiff the full amount to which he is entitled, in such money as by agreement ought to be tendered, and thereupon brings into court, for the plaintiff, the amount tendered, and the allegation be found true, the plaintiff shall not recover costs, but shall pay them to the defendant. [Cf. L. '54, p. 203, § 378; Cd. '81, § 516; 2 H. C., § 833.]

A tender of money paid into court by a defendant in an action to foreclose a lien may, in the discretion of the court, be made liable for the payment of costs taxed in favor of the plaintiff: Kruegel v. Kitchen, 33 Wash. 214, 74 Pac. 373.

The rule at law that a tender must be kept good or paid into court does not apply in equity, as a willingness to pay may alone be sufficient; irrespective of this and the next section: Murray v.

A tender by defendant of a sum admitted to be due on a contract involving items that can be segregated does not bar a counterclaim for a larger sum arising out of the same transaction, this section only requiring a tender of the amount admitted to be due: LaRault v. Palmer, 51 Wash. 664, 99 Pac. 1036, 21 L. R. A. (N. S.) 354.

§ 486. Deposit With Clerk by Defendant of Tender, Effect of.

If the defendant, in any action pending, shall at any time deposit with the clerk of the court, for the plaintiff, the amount which he admits to be due, together with all costs that have accrued, and notify the plaintiff thereof, and such plaintiff shall refuse to accept the same in discharge of the action, and shall not afterwards recover a larger amount than that deposited with the clerk, exclusive of interest and cost, he shall pay all costs that may accrue from the time such money was so deposited. [L. '54, p. 203, § 379; Cd. '81, § 517; 2 H. C., § 834.]

§ 487. Costs in Appeals from Justice's Court.

In all civil actions tried before a justice of the peace, in which an appeal shall be taken to the superior court, and the party appellant shall not recover a more favorable judgment in the superior court than before the justice of the peace, such appellant shall pay all costs. [L. '54, p. 203, § 380; Cd. '81, § 518; 2 H. C., § 835.]

This section does not require that the judgment should have been in his favor in the court below, and whether it is more favorable or not does not depend on the amount, within a few dollars, but is to be left to the discretion of the court under a liberal construction of the code: Baxter v. Scoland, 2 W. T. 86, 3 Pac. 638.

Where plaintiff claims more than $100 and recovers less than that sum in such action, defendant is entitled to costs: Bagley v. Carpenter, 2 W. T. 19, 3 Pac. 193; overruling in part, Ebey v. Engle, 1 W. T. 72.

§ 488. Costs Against Guardian of Infant Plaintiff.

When costs are adjudged against an infant plaintiff, the guardian or person by whom he appeared in the action shall be responsible therefor, and payment may be enforced by execution. [L. '54, p. 203, § 381; Cd. '81, § 519; 2 H. C., § 836.]

Liability of guardian or next friend of infant for costs as affected by latter's attaining majority: Ann. Cas. 1914A, 606.

§ 489. Costs in Cases of Executors, etc.

In [an] action prosecuted or defended by an executor, administrator, trustee of an express trust, or a person expressly authorized by statute, costs shall be recovered as in an action by or against a person prosecuting [or defending] in his own right, but such costs shall be chargeable only upon or collected of the estate of the party represented, unless the court shall direct the same to be paid by the plaintiff or defendant personally for mismanagement or bad faith in such action or defense. [L. '54, p. 203, § 382; Cd. '81, § 520; 2 H. C., § 837.]

§ 490. Assignee Liable for Costs, When.

When the cause of action, after the commencement of the action, by assignment, or in any other manner, becomes the property of a person not a party thereto, and the prosecution or defense is thereafter continued, such person shall be liable to the costs in the same manner as if he were a party, and payment thereof may be enforced by execution. [Cf. L. '54, p. 203, § 383; L. '69, p. 125, § 473; Cd. '81, § 521; 2 H. C., § 838.]

§ 491. Costs Against State or County.

In all actions prosecuted in the name and for the use of the state, or in the name and for the use of any county, the state or county shall be liable for costs in the same case and to the same extent as private parties. [L. '54, p. 203, § 384; Cd. '81, § 522; 2 H. C., § 839.]

§ 492. Costs in Revisory Proceedings.

When the decision of a court of inferior jurisdiction, in an action or special proceeding, is brought before the supreme court or a superior court for review, such proceedings shall, for purpose of costs, be deemed an action at issue upon a question of law from the time the same is brought into the supreme court or superior court, and costs thereon may be awarded and collected in such manner as the court shall direct, according to the nature of the case. [L. '54, p. 204, § 385; Cd. '81, § 523; 2 H. C., § 840.]

Upon a writ of certiorari, where the lower tribunal has no jurisdiction to adjudge costs, the superior court would be without jurisdiction to enter judgment for the costs incurred before such lower tribunal: Bringgold v. Spokane, 19 Wash. 333, 53 Pac. 368.

Upon reversing a judgment in disbarment proceedings for costs in a substantial amount, the defendant is entitled to his costs on appeal, to be taxed against the state, and not against the relators: State ex rel. Dill v. Martin, 45 Wash. 76, 87 Pac. 1054.

In all actions and proceedings other than those mentioned in this chapter, where no provision is made for the recovery of costs, they may be allowed or not; and if allowed, may be apportioned between the parties, in the discretion of the court. The apportionment of costs in an equitable suit rests in the discretion of the court: Wiffenbach v. Puget Sound Bridge & Dredging Co., 108 Wash. 455, 184 Pac. 321.

A subcontractor's action on a contract for a county building is an equitable one, in which costs may be apportioned, where it seeks a restraining order against the county and involved a long accounting between the parties, and the complaint on its face was in the nature of a lien foreclosure: Wiffenbach v. Puget Sound Bridge & Dredging Co., 108 Wash. 455, 184 Pac. 321.

§ 494. Retaxation of Costs.

Any party aggrieved by the taxation of costs by the clerk of the court may, upon application, have the same retaxed by the court in which § 495. Security for Costs—Demand—Bond—Deposit.

When a plaintiff in an action resides out of the county, or is a foreign corporation, security for the costs and charges which may be awarded against such plaintiff may be required by the defendant. When required, all proceedings in the action shall be stayed until a bond, executed by two or more persons, be filed with the clerk, conditioned that they will pay such costs and charges as may be awarded against the plaintiff by judgment, or in the progress of the action, not exceeding the sum of two hundred dollars. A new or additional bond may be ordered by the court or judge, upon proof that the original bond is insufficient security, and proceedings in the action stayed until such new or additional bond be executed and filed. The plaintiff may deposit with the clerk the sum of two hundred dollars in lieu of a bond. [L. '54, p. 204, § 389; Cd. '81, § 527; 2 H. C., § 844.]

The fact that defendants had demanded a cost bond from a nonresident plaintiff, under this section, would not operate as a stay against a voluntary dismissal by plaintiff of the action, where she had failed to file the bond: Dane v. Daniel, 28 Wash. 155, 68 Pac. 446.

Compensation and Fees of Clerks: See Remington's Digest, Clerks of C., § 3; Soules v. McLean, 7 Wash. 451, 35 Pac. 364, 1082; State ex rel. Bittencouer v. Gordon, 8 Wash. 488, 36 Pac. 498; Kelly v. Case, 39 Wash. 177, 81 Pac. 554, 109 Am. St. Rep. 874, 1 L. R. A. (N. S.) 152.

A garnishment proceeding being auxiliary to the principal action does not fall within the provision requiring the plaintiff to pay the clerk's fee of four dollars for instituting an action: Kelly v. Ryan, 8 Wash. 536, 36 Pac. 478.

As the federal constitution gives congress power to establish a uniform rule of naturalization, the act of June 29, 1906, fixing the fees to be charged by all clerks of courts exercising jurisdiction in naturalization cases, applies to state courts where the state constitution confers such jurisdiction; and the fee authorized by a state statute cannot be collected: State ex rel. Newman v. Libby, 47 Wash. 481, 92 Pac. 350.

Failure to collect clerk's fees does not affect the finality of the judgment for the purposes of an appeal: Chilcott v.

Globe Nav. Co., 49 Wash. 302, 95 Pac. 264.

Under this section, jurors are not entitled to compensation for Saturdays, where the court has excused them from Friday evening until Monday morning, for the purpose of hearing motions, although such jurors were unable to reach home and return during the time for which they were excused: State ex rel. Hastie v. Lamping, 25 Wash. 278, 65 Pac. 537.

Filing a transcript of a judgment from a justice court with the clerk of the superior court is not the commencement of an action for which the county clerk can collect a four dollar appearance fee, under this section: State ex rel. Bittencouer v. Gordon, 8 Wash. 488, 36 Pac. 498.

Under this section, prior to amendment, a sheriff was not entitled to commissions upon the sale of mortgaged premises under decree of foreclosure, where the property is bid in by the plaintiff for the amount of the mortgage debt, and no moneys pass through the sheriff's hands: State ex rel. Thompson v. Prince, 9 Wash. 107, 37 Pac. 291; State ex rel. Sutter v. O'Loughlin, 9 Wash. 529, 37 Pac. 669; State ex rel. Cannon v. Pugh, 9 Wash. 694, 38 Pac. 79; Spinning v. Pierce County, 20 Wash. 126, 54 Pac. 1006.

§ 498. Witnesses and Jurors in Criminal Cases.

No fees shall be allowed to witnesses in criminal causes unless they shall have reported their attendance at the close of each day's session to the clerk in attendance thereon. No allowance of mileage shall be made to a juror or witness who has not verified his claim of mileage under oath before the clerk of the court on which he is in attendance. [L. '95, p. 15, §§ 1, 2.]

Cited in 14 Wash. 373.

§ 499. Salaried Officers not to Receive Fees.

No state, county, municipal or other public officer within the state of Washington, who receives from the state, or from any county or municipality therein, a fixed and stated salary as compensation for services rendered as such public officer, shall be allowed or paid any per diem for attending or testifying on behalf of the state of Washington, or any county or municipality therein, at any trial or other judicial proceeding, in any state, county or municipal court within this state; nor shall such officer, in any case, be allowed nor paid any per diem for attending or testifying in any state or municipal court of this state, in regard to matters and information that have come to his knowledge in connection with and as a result of the performance of his duties as a public officer as aforesaid: Provided, this act shall not apply when any deduction shall be made from the regular salary of such officer by reason of his being in attendance upon the superior court, but in such cases regular witness fees shall be paid; and further, that if a public officer be subpoenaed and required to appear or testify in judicial proceedings in a county other than that in which he resides, then said public officer shall be entitled to receive per diem and mileage as provided by statute in other cases; and, provided further, that this act shall not apply to police officers when called as witnesses in the superior courts during hours when they are off duty as such officers. [L. '01, p. 212, § 1; L. '03, p. 10, § 1.]

§ 500. "Folio" Defined, and Matters Concerning.

The term "folio" when used as a measure for computing fees or compensation, shall be construed to mean one hundred words, counting every two figures necessarily used as a word. Any portion of a folio, when in the whole draft or paper there should not be a complete folio, and when there shall be an excess over the last folio exceeding a quarter, it shall be computed as a folio. The filing of a paper shall be construed to include the certificate of the same. [L. '69, p. 373, § 5; Cd. '81, § 2093; 1 H. C., § 3022.]

§ 501. Mileage in Certain Cases.

When any sheriff, constable, or coroner serves more than one process in the same cause, or on the same person, not requiring more than one journey from his office, he shall receive mileage only for the most distant service. [L. '69, p. 373, § 16; Cd. '81, § 2094; 1 H. C., § 3023.]

§ 502. Witness Fee not Allowed to Attorney.

No attorney in any case shall be allowed any fees as a witness in such case. [L. '69, p. 374, § 17; Cd. '81, § 2095; 1 H. C., § 3024.]

§ 504. Costs of Publication to be Paid in Advance.

When, by law, any publication is required to be made by an officer of any suit, process, notice, order, or other papers, the costs of such publication shall, if demanded, be tendered by the party procuring such publication before such officer shall be compelled to make publication thereof. [L. '69, p. 373, § 14; Cd. '81, § 2092; 1 H. C., § 3021.]

§ 505. Fees Payable in Advance.

All fees are invariably due in advance where demanded by the officer required to perform any official act, and no officer shall be required to perform any official act unless his fees are paid when he demands the same: Provided, this section shall not apply when the officer performs any official act for his county, or for the state. [L. '69, p. § 374, § 21; Cd. '81, § 2099; 1 H. C., § 3028.]

Cited in 1 Wash. 96.

Under section 4172, infra, and this section, it is no defense for the sheriff against an action for damages for failure to levy an execution to allege that his fees were not tendered him, where he has made no demand therefor in advance of service: Haas v. Gaddis, 1 Wash. 89, 23 Pac. 1010.

§ 506. Officers not to Serve Until Fees are Paid—Liability Afterwards.

The officers mentioned in this act shall not, in any case except for the state or county, perform any official services unless the fees prescribed for such service are paid in advance, and on such payment the officer must perform the services required. For every failure or refusal to perform official duty when the fees are tendered, the officer is liable on his official bond. [L. '90, p. 315, § 39; 1 H. C., § 3009.]

Cited in 8 Wash. 260.

§ 507. Fees of Witness are to be Paid in Advance—Waiver.

Witnesses in civil cases shall be entitled to receive upon demand their fees for one day's attendance, together with mileage going to the place where they are required to attend, if such demand is made to the officer or person serving the subpoena at the time of service. [L. '69, p. 374, § 22; Cd. '81, § 2100; 1 H. C., § 3029.]

§ 508. County to Pay Certain Costs.

Each county shall be liable to pay the per diem and mileage, or other compensation in lieu thereof, to jurors of the county attending the district court; the fees of the sheriff for maintaining prisoners, charged with crimes, and his costs in conveying them to and from the district court, as well as their board while there; the per diem and mileage, or such other compensation as is allowed in lieu thereof, of the sheriff of the county, when in criminal cases he is required to attend or travel to the superior court out of the limits of his own county; the costs in criminal cases taken from the county to the district court: Provided, that none shall be so paid by the treasurer unless the particular items shall be approved by the judge and certified by the clerk under the seal of the court: And provided further, that for the time or travel which may be paid by the parties or United States, no payment from the county fund shall be allowed, and no officer, juror, or witness shall receive from the county double pay as a per diem for the same time, or as traveling expenses or mileage for the same travel, in how many different capacities or in however many different causes they may be summoned, notified, or called upon to testify or attend in. [Cf. L. '57, p. 22, § 10; L. '63, p. 425, § 10; L. '69, p. 420, § 9; Cd. '81, § 2103; 1 H. C., § 3050.]

See supra, § 491, costs against state or county.

This and the next following section are for the most part incompatible with the organization of the courts under the state constitution. There being a doubt as to what portions thereof survive, they are given as they appeared in the code of 1881.

§ 509. Expenses in Lieu of Mileage.

Whenever a juror, witness, or officer is required to attend a court, or travel on official business out of the limits of his own county, and entitled to mileage, in lieu thereof he may at his option receive his actual and necessary traveling expenses by the usually traveled route in going to and returning from the place where the court is held, or where the business is discharged. [Cf. L. '63, p. 424, §§ 6, 8; L. '69, p. 419, § 7; Cd. '81, § 2109; 1 H. C., § 3049.]

§ 511. Four Kinds of Executions.

There shall be four kinds of executions; one against the property of the judgment debtor; another against his person; the third for the delivery of the possession of real or personal property, or such delivery with damages for withholding the same; and the fourth, commanding the enforcement of or obedience to any special order of the court. And in all cases there shall be an order to collect the costs. [L. '54, p. 176, § 245; Cd. '81, § 327; 2 H. C., § 465.]

§ 512. Enforcement in Particular Cases.

When a judgment requires the payment of money, or the delivery of real or personal property, the same may be enforced in those respects by execution, as provided in this chapter. When it requires the performance of any other act, a certified copy of the judgment may be served on the party against whom it is given, or the person or officer who is required thereby, or by law, to obey the same, and a writ shall be issued commanding him to obey or enforce the same. If he refuses, he may be punished by the court as for a contempt. [L. '54, p. 176, § 244; Cd. '81, § 326; 2 H. C., § 466.]

§ 513. Form and Contents of Writ.

The writ of execution shall be issued in the name of the state of Washington, sealed with the seal of the court, and subscribed by the clerk, and shall be directed to the sheriff of the county in which the property is situated, or coroner when the sheriff is a party or interested, and shall intelligibly refer to the judgment, stating the court, the county where judgment was rendered, the names of the parties, the amount of the judgment if it be for money, and the amount actually due thereon, and shall require substantially as follows:—

1. If it be against the property of the judgment debtor, it shall require the sheriff to satisfy the judgment, with interest, out of the personal property of the debtor, and if sufficient personal property cannot be found, out of his real property upon which the judgment is a lien;

2. If it be against real or personal property in the hands of personal representatives, heirs, devisees, legatees, tenants of real property, or trustees, it shall require the sheriff to satisfy the judgment, with interest, out of such property;

3. If it be against the person of the judgment debtor, it shall require the sheriff to arrest such debtor, and commit him to the jail of the county until he shall pay the judgment, with interest, or be discharged according to law;

4. If it be for the delivery of the possession of real or personal property, it shall require the sheriff to deliver the possession of the same, particularly describing it, to the party entitled thereto, and may, at the same time, require the sheriff to satisfy any charges, damages, or rents and profits recovered by the same judgment, out of the personal property of the party against whom it was rendered, and the value of the property for which the judgment was recovered, shall be specified therein. If a delivery thereof cannot be had, and if sufficient personal property cannot be found, then out of his real property. When it is to enforce obedience to any special order, it shall particularly command what is required to be done or to be omitted. When the nature of the case shall require it, the execution may embrace one or more of the requirements above mentioned. And in all cases the execution shall require the collection of all interest, costs, and increased costs thereon. [Cf. L. '54, p. 176, § 246; L. '69, p. 81, § 324; Cd. '81, § 328; 2 H. C., § 467.]

§ 524. Judgment may be Entered Against Sureties.

CHAPTER III.HOMESTEADS AND EXEMPTIONS.*§ 528. Homestead, of What Consists.

The homestead consists of the dwelling-house, in which the claimant resides, and the land on which the same is situated, selected as in this chapter provided. [L. '95, p. 109, § 1.]

For former laws on this subject see: L. '54, p. 178; L. '61, pp. 42, 52; L. '69, p. 85; Cd. '81, §§ 341-348; 2 H. C., §§ 480-490.

This act did not impliedly repeal Rem. 1915 Code, section 1464, providing for the setting aside of the whole of estates of less than $1,000 for the use and support of the widow and children of the deceased, since the acts are not repugnant and repeals by implication are not favored: Scott v. Stark, 75 Wash. 610, 135 Pac. 643.

Rem. 1915 Code, sections 1465 and 1468, contemplating the vesting of title to the homestead in the widow and minor children on the death of the husband was in that respect repealed by sections 528-561, requiring the selection of specific property: Bloor's Estate, In re, 109 Wash. 554, 187 Pac. 396.

Under sections 528-561, no right of homestead existed in any specific property until it was selected and the selection recorded; and prior residence upon the land lends no support to the claim of homestead rights: Bloor's Estate, In re, 109 Wash. 554, 187 Pac. 396.

§ 529. Exemption of Homestead—Time for Selection.

There shall be also exempt from execution and attachment to every householder, being the head of the family, a homestead not exceeding in value the sum of one thousand dollars, while occupied as such by the owner thereof, or his or her family. Said homestead may consist of a house and lot or lots in any city, or of a farm consisting of any number of acres, so that the value of the same shall not exceed the aforesaid sum of one thousand dollars. Such homestead may be selected at any time before sale. [Cd. '81, § 342; 2 H. C., § 481.]

A mortgagee, proceeding at law to enforce a deficiency judgment, by a sale of the homestead, is estopped from claiming an equitable lien on the homestead by reason of its purchase with the proceeds of waste committed upon the mortgaged premises: Harding v. Atlantic Trust Co., 26 Wash. 536, 67 Pac. 222.

A mortgage need not expressly mention the homestead: See Brown v. Elwell, 17 Wash. 442, 49 Pac. 1068.

§ 536. Declaration, When Effectual.

A declaration of abandonment is effectual only from the time it is filed in the office in which the homestead was recorded. [L. '95, p. 110, § 8.]

Cited in 94 Wash. 112, 113; 96 Wash. 484.

§ 537. Proceedings on Execution Against Homestead.

When the execution for the enforcement of a judgment obtained in a case not within the classes enumerated in section 533 is levied upon the homestead, the judgment creditor may apply to the superior court of the county in which the homestead is situated for the appointment of persons to appraise the value thereof. [L. '95, p. 110, § 9.]

Cited in 44 Wash. 169.

§ 538. Verified Petition.

The application must be made upon verified petition, showing,—

1. The fact that an execution has been levied upon the homestead;
2. The name of the claimant;
3. That the value of the homestead exceeds the amount of the homestead exemption. [L. '95, p. 110, § 10.]

§ 539. Petition, Where Filed.

The petition must be filed with the clerk of the superior court. [L. '95, p. 110, § 11.]

§ 540. Notice.

A copy of the petition, with a notice of the time and place of hearing, must be served upon the claimant at least ten days before the hearing. [L. '95, p. 110, § 12.]

§ 541. Hearing and Appointment of Appraisers.

At the hearing the judge may, upon the proof of the service of a copy of the petition and notice and of the fact stated in the petition, appoint three disinterested resident freeholders of the county to appraise the value of the homestead. [L. '95, p. 110, § 13.]

§ 542. Oath of Appraisers.

The persons appointed, before entering upon the performance of their duties, must take an oath to faithfully perform the same. [L. '95, p. 111, § 14.]

§ 543. View of Premises.

They must view the premises and appraise the value thereof, and if the appraised value exceeds the homestead exemption, they must determine whether the land claimed can be divided without material injury. [L. '95, p. 111, § 15.]

§ 544. Report of Appraisers.

Within fifteen days after their appointment they must make to the court a report in writing, which report must show the appraised value and their determination upon the matter of a division of the land claimed. [L. '95, p. 111, § 16.]

§ 545. Division of Property.

If, from the report, it appears to the court that the land claimed can be divided without material injury the court must, by an order, direct the appraisers to set off to the claimant so much of the land including the residence, as will amount in value to the homestead exemption, and the execution may be enforced against the remainder of the land. [L. '95, p. 111, § 17.]

§ 546. Sale, if not Divisible.

If, from the report, it appears to the court that the land claimed exceeds in value the amount of the homestead exemption and that it cannot be divided, the court must make an order directing its sale under the execution. [L. '95, p. 111, § 18.]

Sale of Homestead, Validity: See Remington's Digest, Home., § 34; Philbrick v. Andrews, 8 Wash. 7, 35 Pac. 358; Asher v. Sekofsky, 10 Wash. 379, 38 Pac. 1133; Traders' Nat. Bank. v. Schorr, 20 Wash. 1, 54 Pac. 543, 72 Am. St. Rep. 17; Whitworth v. McKee, 32 Wash. 83, 72 Pac. 1046.

Where the law respecting the sale of homesteads was not complied with and no exemption at all allowed, an execution sale of premises that have been duly selected as a homestead cannot be sustained on the theory that since the judgment was obtained the exemption for a homestead was increased from $1,000 to $2,000, and premises were worth more than $1,000: Lewis v. Maurer, 35 Wash. 156, 76 Pac. 737.

A wife may maintain an action in her own name to restrain the sale of the community realty in which she and her husband claim the right of homestead: Ross v. Howard, 25 Wash. 1, 64 Pac. 794.

§ 547. Bids.

§ 548. Application of Proceeds.

If the sale is made, the proceeds thereof, to the amount of the homestead exemption, must be paid to the claimant and the balance applied to the satisfaction of the execution. [L. '95, p. 111, § 20.]

§ 549. Money from Sale Protected.

The money paid to the claimant is entitled to the same protection against legal process and the voluntary disposition of the husband which the law gives to the homestead. [L. '95, p. 111, § 21.]

§ 550. Compensation of Appraisers.

§ 551. Costs.

The execution creditor must pay the costs of these proceedings in the first instance; but in the case provided for in sections 545 and 546 the amount so paid must be added as costs on execution, and collected accordingly. [L. '95, p. 111, § 23.]

§ 552. Selection and Value of Homestead.

Homesteads may be selected and claimed in lands and tenements with the improvements thereon, not exceeding in value the sum of two thousand dollars. The premises thus included in the homestead must be actually intended and used for a home for the claimants, and shall not be devoted exclusively to any other purposes. [L. '95, p. 112, § 24.]

§ 553. Head of a Family Defined.

The phrase "head of the family," as used in this chapter, includes within this meaning,—

1. The husband or wife, when the claimant is a married person;
2. Every person who has residing on the premises with him or her, and under his or her care and maintenance, either,—
 - (1.) His or her minor child or the minor child of his or her deceased wife or husband;
 - (2.) A minor brother or sister or the minor child of a deceased brother or sister;
 - (3.) A father, mother, grandmother or grandfather;
 - (4.) The father, mother, grandfather or grandmother of deceased husband or wife;
 - (5.) An unmarried sister, or any other of the relatives mentioned in this section who has attained the age of majority, and are unable to take care of or support themselves. [L. '95, p. 112, § 25.]

Cited in 90 Wash. 223; 96 Wash. 103, 104; 109 Wash. 105, 556, 558.

A man living on the premises with his illegitimate minor child cannot claim a homestead exemption as the head of a family, within this section: Peerless Pacific Co. v. Burekhard, 90 Wash. 221, 155 Pac. 1037, Ann. Cas. 1918B, 247, L. R. A. 1917C, 353.

A widower when not the "head of a family" as defined by this section: Borrow's Estate, In re, 92 Wash. 143, 158 Pac. 735.

A widow is not entitled to claim a homestead, as having residing with her a minor son under her care and "maintenance," within this section, where the son had been emancipated by his marriage and was himself the head of a family and was contributing to the support of the combined family rather than being maintained by his mother: Morgan v. Cunningham, 109 Wash. 105, 186 Pac. 309.

Neither the surviving husband nor wife who was not the "head of a family" within the meaning of this section, could acquire a homestead in community property when homestead rights had not been perfected prior to the death of the other spouse: Bloor's Estate, In re, 109 Wash. 554, 187 Pac. 396.

§ 554. Alienation in Case of Insanity.

In case of a homestead, if either the husband or wife shall become hopelessly insane, upon application of the husband or wife not insane to the superior court of the county in which the homestead is situated, and upon due proof of such insanity, the court may make an order permitting the husband or wife not insane to sell and convey or mortgage such homestead. [L. '95, p. 112, § 26.]

Cited in 45 Wash. 23.

Prior to this act, there was no statutory authority for the mortgage of the homestead of an insane husband or wife, and a mortgage by a husband, for himself and as guardian for his insane wife, under authority of the probate court, was void: Curry v. Wilson, 45 Wash. 19, 87 Pac. 1065.

§ 555. Notice of Application.

Notice of the application for such order shall be given by publication of the same in a newspaper published in the county in which such homestead is situated, if there be a newspaper published therein, once each week for three successive weeks prior to the hearing of such application, and a copy of such notice shall be served upon the nearest male relative of such insane husband or wife, resident in this state, at least three weeks prior to such application, and in case there be no such male relative known to the applicant, a copy of such notice shall be served upon the prosecuting attorney of the county in which such homestead is situated; and it is hereby made the duty of such prosecuting attorney, upon being served with a copy of such notice, to appear in court and see that such application is made in good faith, and that the proceedings therein are fairly conducted. [L. '95, p. 112, § 27.]

§ 556. Petition.

Thirty days before the hearing of any application under the provisions of this chapter, the applicant shall present and file in the court in which such application is to be heard a petition for the order mentioned, subscribed and sworn to by the applicant, setting forth the name and age of the insane husband or wife; a description of the premises constituting the homestead; the value of the same; the county in which it is situated; and such facts in addition to that of the insanity of the husband or wife relating to the circumstances and necessities of the applicant and his or her family as he or she may rely upon in support of the petition. [L. '95, p. 113, § 28.]

§ 557. Order and Effect.

If the court shall make the order provided for in section 554, the same shall be entered upon the minutes of the court; and thereafter any sale, conveyance [or] mortgage made in pursuance of such order shall be as valid and effectual as if the property affected thereby was the absolute property of the person making such sale, conveyance or mortgage in fee simple. [L. '95, p. 113, § 29.]

§ 558. Mode of Selection.

In order to select a homestead the husband or other head of a family, or in case the husband has not made such selection, the wife must execute and acknowledge, in the same manner as a grant of real property is acknowledged, a declaration of homestead, and file the same for record. [L. '95, p. 113, § 30.]

Selection by a husband out of the community property vests title in him in fee; and this section supersedes that part of Rem. 1915, Code, § 1465, requiring a "setting aside" of a homestead by the probate court where none had been claimed by "the head of a family in his lifetime": Stewart v. Fitzsimmons, 86 Wash. 55, 149 Pac. 659.

§ 559. Declaration of Homestead—Contents.

The declaration of homestead must contain,—

1. A statement showing that the person making it is the head of a family; or when the declaration is made by the wife, showing that her husband has not made such declaration, and that she therefore makes the declaration for their joint benefit;

2. A statement that the person making it is residing on the premises or has purchased the same for a homestead and intends to reside thereon and claims them as a homestead;

3. A description of the premises;

4. An estimate of their actual cash value. [L. '95, p. 113, § 31.]

§ 560. Recording Declaration.

Cited in 30 Wash. 39; 87 Wash. 359, 365; 96 Wash. 482.

The original declaration, showing indorsement of county auditor of filing and recording, is admissible in evidence: See Smith v. Veysey, 30 Wash. 18, 70 Pac. 94.

There is no homestead right in property acquired since the passage of this act unless a declaration of homestead is executed and filed as therein required: Donaldson v. Winningham, 48 Wash. 374, 93 Pac. 534, 125 Am. St. Rep. 937.

§ 561. Tenure by Which Homestead is Held.

From and after the time the declaration is filed for record the premises therein described constitute a homestead. If the selection was made by a married person from the community property, the land, on the death of either of the spouses, vests in the survivor, subject to no other liability than such as exists or has been created under the provisions of this chapter; in other cases, upon the death of the person whose property was selected as a homestead, it shall go to his heirs or devisees, subject to the power of the superior court to assign the same for a limited period to the family of the decedent; but in no case shall it be held liable for the debts of the owner, except as provided in this act. The widow cannot select a permanent homestead from the unselected separate estate of her husband to the exclusion of the other heirs, but the same descends to the heirs at law, under this section, and Rem. 1915 Code, §§ 1465 and 1468: Lloyd's Estate, In re, 34 Wash. 84, 74 Pac. 1061.

Claim by Minor.—The denial of a minor's claim to have the use of his mother's portion of community real property assigned to him upon her death, as permitted by this section, will not be reversed when it appears he was within sixteen days of the age of majority, and there is no showing that the use of the property for that limited period would have been of value to him: Stewin v. Thrift, 30 Wash. 36, 70 Pac. 116.

§ 562. Subsequent Homestead Acquired by Proceeds of Former.

In case of the sale of said homestead, any subsequent homestead acquired by the proceeds thereof shall also be exempt from attachment and execution; nor shall any judgment or other claim against the owner of such homestead be a lien against the same in the hands of a bona fide purchaser for a valuable consideration. The proceeds of a federal homestead are not exempt from execution, under a claim that the homesteader is the head of a family and intends to use the proceeds in the acquisition of a new homestead to be owned and occupied by him under the laws of the state; since this section applies only to the state exemptions of a certain value: Ritzville Hardware Co. v. Bennington, 50 Wash. 111, 96 Pac. 826, 126 Am. St. Rep. 894.

Exemption of proceeds of voluntary sale of homestead. 1 A. L. R. 483.

13. To a person engaged in the business of logging for his support or that of his family, three yoke of work cattle and their yokes, and axes, chains, implements for the business, and camp equipments, not exceeding three hundred dollars, coin in value;

14. A sufficient quantity of hay, grain, or feed to keep the animals mentioned in the several subdivisions of this chapter for six weeks. But no property shall be exempt from an execution issued upon a judgment for the price thereof, or any part of the price thereof, or for any tax levied thereon.

Each person shall be entitled to select the property to which he is entitled under the several subdivisions of this section. [Cf. L. '54, p. 178, § 253; L. '69, p. 87, § 343; L. '79, p. 157, § 1; Cd. '81, § 347; L. '83, p. 36, § 1; L. '86, p. 96, § 1; 2 H. C., § 486.]

PROPERTY AND RIGHTS EXEMPT—Amount of Exemption and Value of Property: See Remington's Digest, Exemp., § 10; Whitworth v. McKee, 32 Wash. 83, 72 Pac. 1046.

SUBDIVISION 3.—Under this section, subdivision 3, authorizing the selection of certain specified articles and other "household goods, utensils and furniture" not exceeding $500 in value, the debtor has no right to select the proceeds of livestock sold, in lieu of goods of the exempt class: Carter v. Davis, 6 Wash. 327, 33 Pac. 833.

SUBDIVISION 4.—The proviso to this section, subdivision 4, authorizes a lieu selection of any other kind of property, as shares of stock; the rule of ejusdem generis having no application: Lemagie v. Acme Stamp Works, 98 Wash. 34, 167 Pac. 60.

The "other property" to be selected must be property of a like nature, under the rule of ejusdem generis; hence money cannot be selected in lieu of such exempt property: Creditors' Collection Assn. v. Bisbee, 80 Wash. 358, 141 Pac. 886.

SUBDIVISION 5—Vehicles and Teams: See Remington's Digest, Exemp., § 12; Mikkleson v. Parker, 3 W. T. 527, 19 Pac. 31; Zelinsky v. Price, 8 Wash. 256, 36 Pac. 28.

Under a liberal construction of this section, subdivision 5, a team, harness and wagon need not be actually used about the farm or the farmer living thereon; it is sufficient if farming has been his principal occupation for years: State ex rel. McKee v. McNeill, 58 Wash. 47, 107 Pac. 1028, 137 Am. St. Rep. 1038.

SUBDIVISION 6—Tools and Implements of Trade: See Remington's Digest, Exemp., § 13; State ex rel. Achey v. Creech, 18 Wash. 186, 51 Pac. 363; American Paper Co. v. Sullivan, 34 Wash. 391, 75 Pac. 991.

§ 564. No Exemption Against Wages.

No property shall be exempt from execution for clerk's, laborer's or mechanic's wages earned within this state, nor for actual necessities, not exceeding fifty dollars in value or amount furnished to the defendant or his family within sixty days preceding the beginning of an action to recover therefor, nor shall any property be exempt from execution issued upon a judgment against an attorney or agent on account of any liability incurred by such attorney or agent to his client or principal on account of any moneys or other property coming into his hands from or belonging to his client or principal: Provided, that nothing herein shall be construed as repealing or in any wise affecting section 703, infra. Laws of 1897, page 93, section 1 (superseded by this section), providing that there shall be exempt from execution and attachment to every householder in the state of Washington personal property to the amount and value of $1,000 in addition to the property exempt under section 563, is unconstitutional, in that it includes an additional provision which alters its scope and effect, and fails to set forth the statute in full as amended: Copland v. Pirie, 26 Wash. 481, 67 Pac. 227, 90 Am. St. Rep. 769.

This section has no application to homestead exemptions: Ervay v. Hill, 46 Wash. 457, 90 Pac. 590.

Under this section, an execution sale of a homestead upon a judgment for $645 is not validated by the fact that $32.79 of the sum received was for necessities furnished within the time limited, there being no allegation in the complaint that part was for necessities: *Byam v. A householder, as designated in all statutes relating to exemptions, is defined to be:—

1. The husband and wife, or either;
2. Every person who has residing with him or her, and under his or her care and maintenance, either,—
 - (a) His or her minor child, or the minor child of his or her deceased wife or husband;

§ 566. Pension Money Exempt.

§ 568. Fire Insurance Money Exempt.

Whenever property, which by the laws of this state is exempt from execution or attachment, is insured and the same is destroyed by fire, then the insurance money coming to or belonging to the person thus insured, to an amount equal to the exempt property thus destroyed, shall be exempt from execution and attachment. § 569. Proceeds of Life Insurance Exempt.

A decision of the federal court that the national bankruptcy act subjects life insurance policies to the payment of debts, notwithstanding this section expressly exempting the same, does not affect such exemption when an attempt is made to enforce a debt under the state law: Flood v. Libby, 38 Wash. 366, 80 Pac. 533, 107 Am. St. Rep. 851.

Retroactive Operation.—This section has no application to policies of insurance issued, or debts contracted by the beneficiary, prior to its enactment: Heilbron's

But it applies to a judgment founded upon a note dated September 10, 1896: Flood v. Libby, 38 Wash. 366, 80 Pac. 533, 107 Am. St. Rep. 851.

Exemption of Proceeds of Life Insurance: See Remington's Digest, Exemp., § 15; Heilbron's Estate, In re, 14 Wash. 536, 45 Pac. 153, 35 L. R. A. 602; Flood v. Libby, 38 Wash. 366, 80 Pac. 533, 107 Am. Construed together as in pari materia with this section, section 6158, Rem. 1915 Code, was intended to modify the sweeping provisions of this section, providing that the proceeds or avails of all life and accident insurance shall be exempt from all liability for any debt; hence, to claim the exemption, the insurance must be payable to some beneficiary "other than the assured or his legal representatives": Elsom v. Gadd, 93 Wash. 603, 161 Pac. 483, 162 Pac. 867.

The repealing clause of the Insurance Code (section 7292, infra), repealing all prior acts "on the subject of the organization and government of insurance companies and insurance business," was not intended to repeal this section: Elsom v. Gadd, 93 Wash. 603, 161 Pac. 483, 162 Pac. 867.

§ 570. Separate Property of Wife Exempt.

All real and personal estate belonging to any married woman at the time of her marriage, and all which she may have acquired subsequently to such marriage, or to which she shall hereafter become entitled in her own right, and all her personal earnings, and all the issues, rents and profits of such real estate, shall be exempt from attachment and execution upon any liability or judgment against the husband, so long as she or any minor heir of her body shall be living: Provided, that her separate property shall be liable for debts owing by her at the time of her marriage. § 571. Waiver of Exemption—Absconding Debtors.

This chapter shall not be so construed as to prevent any single man, or married man, his wife joining him, from waiving, by agreement in writing, the benefit of this chapter: Provided, that any agreement of waiver made by a husband and wife shall be witnessed and acknowledged as required in case of a deed conveying real estate: And provided also, that nothing in this chapter shall be construed to exempt from attachment or execution the property, real or personal, of non-residents, or a person who has left or is about to leave the state with the intent to defraud his creditors. Where a person has left the state with intent to defraud his creditors his property is not exempt from attachment and his wife cannot claim the statutory exemption in his behalf: Carter v. Davis, 6 Wash. 327, 33 Pac. 833.

By this section, absconding debtors are not entitled to return and claim a homestead: Gullickson v. Fenlon, 48 Wash. 503, 93 Pac. 1074.

This section providing that nothing in this "chapter" shall be construed to exempt from attachment or execution the property of nonresidents, applies only to the Code of 1881, and not to the subsequent act of 1895; and hence does not prevent persons removing from the state from claiming homestead rights in lands acquired under the act of 1895: Byam v. Albright, 94 Wash. 108, 162 Pac. 10.

WAIVER OR FORFEITURE.—This section providing that a mortgagor may waive the benefit of all his exemptions, is repugnant to and annulled by constitution, article XIX, providing that the legislature shall protect from sale a portion of the homestead and other property of all heads of families and making any such waiver in a mortgage void: Slyfield v. Willard, 43 Wash. 179, 86 Pac. 392.

Estoppel to Claim Exemption: See Remington's Digest, Exemp., § 21; State ex rel. Hill v. Gardner, 32 Wash. 550, 73 Pac. 690, 98 Am. St. Rep. 858; Shell v. Svennson, 93 Wash. 40, 159 Pac. 1076.

§ 572. Claim of Exemption and Proceedings Thereon.

When a debtor claims personal property as exempt, he shall deliver to the officer making the levy an itemized list of all the personal property owned or claimed by him, including money, bonds, bills, notes, claims and demands, with the residence of the person indebted upon the said bonds, bills, notes, claims and demands, and shall verify such list by affidavit. He shall also deliver to such officer a list, by separate items, of the property he claims as exempt. If the husband be absent or incapable of acting, the claim may be made, the list delivered and verified, by the wife. If the creditor, his agent or attorney, demand an appraisement thereof, two disinterested householders of the neighborhood shall be chosen, one by the debtor and the other by the creditor, his agent or attorney, and these two, if they cannot agree, shall select a third; [but if either party fail to choose an appraiser, or the two fail to select a third, or] if one or more of the appraisers fail to act, the officer shall appoint one. The appraisers shall forthwith proceed to make a list, by separate items, of the personal property selected by the debtor as exempt, which they shall decide as exempt, stating the value of each article, and annexing to the list their affidavit to the following effect: "We solemnly swear that, to the best of our judgment, the above is a fair cash valuation of the property therein described," which affidavit shall be signed by two appraisers at least, and be certified by the officer administering the oaths. The list shall be delivered to the officer holding the execution or other process, and be by him annexed to and made part of his return, and the property therein specified shall be exempt from levy and sale, and the other personal estate of the debtor shall remain subject thereto. In case no appraisement be required, the officer shall return with the process the list of the property claimed as exempt by the debtor. The appraisers shall each be entitled to one dollar, to be paid by the creditor, if all the property claimed by the debtor shall be exempt; otherwise, to be paid by the debtor. [L. Under this section a sheriff is bound to return upon demand exempt goods which he had levied upon, where the creditor has not demanded an appraisal thereof within a reasonable time: State ex rel. Hill v. Gardner, 32 Wash. 550, 73 Pac. 690, 98 Am. St. Rep. 858.

CHAPTER IV.

ADVERSE CLAIMS TO PROPERTY LEVIED UPON.

§ 573. Claim by Third Person to Property Levied on or Attached.

When any other person than the judgment debtor shall claim property levied upon or attached, he may have the right to demand and receive the same from the sheriff or other officer making the attachment or levy, upon his making an affidavit that the property is his, or that he has a right to the immediate possession thereof, stating on oath the value thereof, and giving to the sheriff or officer a bond, with sureties in double the value of such property, conditioned that he will appear in the superior court of the county in which the property was seized within ten days after the bond is accepted by the sheriff or other officer, and make good his title to the same, or that he will return the property or pay its value to the said sheriff or other officer. § 574. Justification of Sureties.

If the sheriff or other officer require it, the sureties shall justify as in other cases, and in case they do not so justify when required, the sheriff or officer shall retain the property; if the sheriff or officer do not require the bail to justify, he shall stand good for their sufficiency. He shall date and indorse his acceptance upon the bond. [Cf. L. '54, p. 179, § 256; Cd. '81, § 351; 2 H. C., § 492.]

The officer shall return the affidavit, bond and justification, if any, to the office of the clerk of the superior court, and this [the] case shall stand for trial in said court. [Cf. L. '54, p. 179, § 257; Cd. '81, § 352; L. '91, p. 80, § 2; 2 H. C., § 493.]

Sheriff's duty as to adverse claims to proceeds of judgments in his hands except in cases of rival executions. 47 L. R. A. 737.

Where property seized by the sheriff under execution or attachment against a debtor is claimed by a third person, who files his affidavit and bond as required, such proceeding is a new and independent action, which must be placed on the trial docket of the court in the county where the property was seized, and the court of no other county has jurisdiction of the subject matter of the action: State ex rel. Peterson v. Superior Court, 5 Wash. 639, 32 Pac. 553.

The affidavit and bond mentioned in this section shall be placed upon the trial docket, with claimant as plaintiff and the sheriff and plaintiff in execution as defendants, and no other pleadings are necessary: Chapin v. Bokee, 4 Wash. 1, 29 Pac. 936.

Plaintiff is not entitled to a directed verdict in his favor, upon a trial of the right of ownership to property, attached as the property of another, but which was claimed by plaintiff under a bill of sale, when there is any testimony tending to show that the transfer to plaintiff was made with intent to hinder, delay or defraud creditors: Burns v. Woolery, 15 Wash. 134, 45 Pac. 894.

§ 576. Parties.

§ 577. Judgment and Costs.

If the claimant makes good his title to the property, the bond shall be canceled; if to a portion thereof, a like proportion of the bond shall be canceled; but if he shall not maintain his title, judgment shall be rendered against him and his sureties for the value of the property, or for such less amount as shall not exceed the amount due on the original execution or attachment. When the judgment is in favor of the sheriff for the entire property, the claimant shall pay the costs; when the claimant recovers all the property, judgment shall be given in favor of the claimant for costs; when the claimant recovers a portion of the property only, the costs shall be apportioned. When the plaintiff prevails, the costs may be taxed against the defendant who was plaintiff in the execution or attachment, or the court may, if it shall be of opinion that the sheriff attached or levied upon said property without the exercise of due caution, adjudge him to pay the costs, or any portion thereof. CHAPTER V.

SALE OF PROPERTY UNDER EXECUTION AND REDEMPTION.

§ 578. Writ, How Executed.

When the writ of execution is against the property of the judgment debtor, it shall be executed by the sheriff as follows:—

1. If property has been attached, he shall indorse on the execution and pay to the clerk forthwith the amount of the proceeds of sales of perishable property or debts due the defendant received by him sufficient to satisfy the judgment;

2. If the judgment is not then satisfied, and property has been attached and remains in his custody, he shall sell the same, or sufficient thereof to satisfy the judgment;

3. If then any portion of the judgment remains unsatisfied, or if no property has been attached, or the same has been discharged, he shall levy on the property of the judgment debtor sufficient to satisfy the judgment;

4. Property shall be levied on in like manner and with like effect as similar property is attached;

5. Until a levy, personal property shall not be affected by the execution. When property has been sold or debts received by the sheriff on execution, he shall pay the proceeds thereof, or sufficient to satisfy the judgment, as commanded in the writ;

6. When property has been attached, and it is probable that such property will not be sufficient to satisfy the judgment, the execution may be levied on other property of the judgment debtor without delay. If after satisfying the judgment any property, or the proceeds thereof, remain in the custody of the sheriff, he shall deliver the same to the judgment debtor. [L. '69, p. 91, § 351; Cd. § 579. Levy on Joint Realty.

When a defendant in execution owns real estate subject to execution jointly or in common with any other person, the judgment shall be a lien, and the execution be levied upon the interest of the defendant only. [L. '54, p. 220, § 499; Cd. '81, § 751; 2 H. C., § 802.]

§ 580. Levy on Joint Personalty.

When he owns personal property jointly or in copartnership with any other person, and the interest cannot be separately attached, the sheriff shall take possession of the property, unless the other person having an interest therein shall give the sheriff a sufficient bond, with surety, to hold and manage the property according to law; and the sheriff shall then proceed to sell the interest of the defendant in such property, describing such interest in his advertisement as nearly as may be, and the purchaser shall acquire all the interest of such defendant therein; but nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to deprive the copartner of any such defendant of his interest in any such property. [L. '54, p. 220, § 499; Cd. '81, § 752; 2 H. C., § 802.]

§ 581. Retention of Property by Judgment Debtor.

When the sheriff shall levy upon personal property by virtue of an execution, he may permit the judgment debtor to retain the same, or any part thereof, in his possession until the day of sale, upon the defendant executing a written bond to the sheriff, with sufficient surety, in double the value of such property, to the effect that it shall be delivered to the sheriff at the time and place of sale; and for nondelivery thereof, an action may be maintained upon such bond by the sheriff or the plaintiff in the execution; but the sheriff shall not thereby be discharged from his liability to the plaintiff for such property. [Cf. L. '54, p. 182, § 268; L. '69, p. 92, § 354; Cd. '81, § 358; 2 H. C., § 499.]

§ 582. Notice of Sale.

1. In case of personal property, by posting written or printed notice of the time and place of sale in three (3) public places in the county where the sale is to take place, for a period of not less than ten (10) days prior to the day of sale.

2. In case of real property, by posting a similar notice, particularly describing the property for a period of not less than four (4) weeks prior to the day of sale, in three (3) public places in the county, one of which shall be at the courthouse door, where the property is to be sold, and publishing a copy thereof once a week, consecutively, for the same period, in a newspaper of general circulation published in the county.

3. All notices of sales of property on execution or order of sale required by law to be published in any newspaper shall be so published in a newspaper of the county which shall be selected by the sheriff, and if there is no newspaper published in the county, then such notice shall be published in the newspaper published in this state nearest to the place of sale: Provided, that if the person at whose instance the execution or order of sale is issued, or his attorney, shall present to the sheriff a receipt of the publisher of any newspaper, showing full payment for the publication, then the notice shall be published in that newspaper: And provided, further, that the charge for any such publication shall not exceed seventy-five cents per square for first insertion, and thirty-seven and one-half cents per square for each subsequent insertion. The judgment debtor cannot, prior to default, waive by stipulation the provisions of this section before amendment declaring that sales of real property under execution shall be made one year after the filing of the levy: Dennis v. Moses, 18 Wash. 537, 52 Pac. 333, 40 L. R. A. 302.

§ 583. Sale, How Conducted.

All sales of property under execution, orders of sale or decree, shall be made by auction between nine o'clock in the morning and four o'clock in the afternoon. After sufficient property has been sold to satisfy the execution, no more shall be sold. Neither the officer holding the execution, nor his deputy, shall become a purchaser, or be interested in any purchase at such sale. When the sale is of personal property capable of manual delivery, and not in the possession of a third person, association or corporation, it shall be within view of those who attend the sale, and be sold in such parcels as are likely to bring the highest price; and when the sale is of real property, consisting of several known lots or parcels, they shall be sold separately or otherwise as is likely to bring the highest price, or when a portion of such real property is claimed by a third person, and he requires it to be sold separately, such portion shall be sold separately. This section and section 587 do not abrogate the equitable power of the court to order a sale in parcels, and in the inverse order of alienation, on the foreclosure of a mortgage covering the entire tract, part of which had been conveyed by the mortgagor to a third party, where the equities of the parties will be subserved thereby, and without impairing the security of the mortgagee: Black v. Suydam, 81 Wash. 279, 142 Pac. 700, Ann. Cas. 1916D, 1113.

§ 584. Sale of Leasehold Absolute.

Upon the sale of real property under execution, decree or order of sale, when the estate is less than a leasehold of two years unexpired term, the sale shall be absolute. In all other cases such property shall be subject to redemption, as hereinafter provided. At the time of the sale the sheriff shall give to the purchaser a certificate of the sale, containing a particular description of the property sold, the price bid for each distinct lot, or parcel, the whole price paid, and when subject to redemption, it shall be so stated. The matters contained in such certificate shall be substantially stated in the sheriff's return of his proceedings upon the writ. [L. '99, p. 87, § 5.]

§ 585. Postponement of Sale.

If, at the time appointed for the sale, the sheriff should be prevented from attending at the place appointed, or, being present, should deem it for the advantage of all concerned to postpone the sale for want of purchasers, or other sufficient cause, he may postpone the sale not exceeding one week next after the day appointed, and so from time to time, for the like cause, giving notice of every adjournment by public proclamation made at the same time, and by posting written notices of such adjournment under the notices of sale originally posted by him. The sheriff, for like causes, may also adjourn the sale from time to time, not exceeding thirty days beyond the day at which the writ is made returnable, with the consent of the plaintiff indorsed upon the writ. [Cf. L. '54, p. 182, § 269; L. '69, p. 93, § 357; Cd. '81, § 361; 2 H. C., § 502.]

§ 586. Bill of Sale by Sheriff.

When the purchaser of any personal property, capable of manual delivery, and not in the possession of a third person, association or corporation, shall pay the purchase money, the sheriff shall deliver to him the property, and if desired shall give him a bill of sale containing an acknowledgment of the payment. In all other sales of personal property the sheriff shall give the purchaser a bill of sale with the like acknowledgment. [Cf. L. '54, p. 183, § 270; L. '69, p. 94, § 358; Cd. '81, § 362; 2 H. C., § 503.]

§ 587. Manner of Selling Real Estate.

The form and manner of sale of real estate by execution shall be as follows: The sheriff shall proclaim aloud at the place of sale, in the hearing of all the bystanders: "I am about to sell the following tracts of real estate (here reading the description) upon the following execution" (here reading the execution). He shall also state the amount which he is required to make upon the execution, which shall include damages, interests, and costs up to the day of sale, and increased costs. He shall then offer the land for sale, the lots and parcels separately or together, as he shall deem most advantageous. All land, except town lots, shall be sold by the acre. [Cf. L. '54, p. 181, § 262; L. '69, p. 94, § 359; Cd. '81, § 363; 2 H. C., § 504.]

§ 588. Allotment When Sold by Acre.

When the land is sold by the acre, and any less number of acres than the whole tract or parcel is sold, it shall be measured off to the purchaser in a square form, from the northeast corner of the tract or parcel, unless some person having an interest in the land shall, at the sale, or prior thereto, and before the bidding is made, request that the land sold shall be taken from some other part, or in some other form; in such case, if such request is reasonable, the officer making the sale shall sell accordingly. § 589. Sale by Acre not to be Measured.

When an entire tract or parcel of land is sold by the acre, it shall not be measured, but shall be deemed and taken to contain the number of acres named in the description, and be paid for accordingly; and when the number of acres is not contained in the description, the officer shall declare, according to his judgment, how many acres are contained therein, which shall be deemed and taken to be the true number of acres. [L. '54, p. 182, § 264; Cd. '81, § 365; 2 H. C., § 506.]

§ 590. Striking Off, Return and Payment.

The officer shall strike off the land to the highest bidder, who shall forthwith pay the money bid to the officer, who shall return the money with his execution and his doings thereon to the clerk of the court from which the execution issued, according to the order thereof: Provided, however, that when final judgment shall have been entered in the supreme court, and the execution upon which sale has been made issued from said court, the proceedings on execution and return shall be docketed for confirmation in the superior court in which the action was originally commenced, and like proceedings shall be had as though said execution had issued from the said superior court. See, also, Osner & Mehlhorn v. Loewe, 111 Wash. 550, 191 Pac. 746.

The sheriff's certificate of sale does not pass title and is only evidence of an inchoate estate: Singly v. Warren, 18 Wash. 434, 51 Pac. 1066, 63 Am. St. Rep. 896; De Roberts v. Stiles, 24 Wash. 611, 64 Pac. 795; Hays v. Merchants' Bank, 14 Wash. 192, 44 Pac. 137.

A sheriff cannot maintain a civil action to correct his erroneous return on execution, which showed he had received a

§ 591. Confirmation of Sale of Land—Disposition of Proceeds.

Upon the return of any sale of real estate as aforesaid, the clerk shall enter the cause, on which the execution or order of sale issued, by its title, on the motion docket, and mark opposite the same: "Sale of land for confirmation," and the following proceedings shall be had:

(1.) The plaintiff at any time after ten days from the filing of such return shall be entitled, on motion therefor, to have an order confirming the sale, unless the judgment debtor, or in case of his death, his representative, shall file with the clerk within ten days after the filing of such return, his objections thereto.

(2.) If such objections be filed the court shall, notwithstanding, allow the order confirming the sale, unless on the hearing of the motion, it shall satisfactorily appear that there were substantial irregularities in the proceedings concerning the sale, to the probable loss or injury of the party objecting. In the latter case, the court shall disallow the motion and direct that the property be resold, in whole or in part, as the case may be as upon an execution received of that date.

(3.) Upon the return of the execution, the sheriff shall pay the proceeds of sale to the clerk, who shall then apply the same, or so much thereof as may be necessary, in satisfaction of the judgment. If an order of resale be afterwards made, and the property sell for a greater amount to any person other than the former purchaser, the clerk shall first repay to such purchaser the amount of his bid out of the proceeds of the latter sale.

(4.) Upon a resale, the bid of the purchaser at the former sale shall be deemed to be renewed and continue in force, and no bid shall be taken, except for a greater amount. An order confirming a sale shall be a conclusive determination of the regularity of the proceedings concerning such sale as to all persons in any other action, suit or proceeding whatever.

(5.) The property may be again, and as often as a redemptioner is so disposed, redeemed from any previous redemptioner within sixty days after the last redemption, on paying the sum paid on the last previous redemption with interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent per annum, and the amount of any assessments or taxes which the last previous redemptioner paid after the redemption by him, with like interest thereon, and the amount of any liens by judgment, decree or mortgage, other than the judgment under which the property was sold, held by the last redemptioner, previous to his own, with interest. If the purchaser or redemptioner shall pay any taxes or assessments, or have or acquire any such lien as herein mentioned, he must file a statement thereof with the auditor of the county where said property is situate before the property shall have been redeemed from him, otherwise the property may be redeemed without paying such tax, assessment or lien. Such statement shall be recorded by such auditor. [L. '99, p. 89, § 9.]

§ 597. Certificate of Redemption.

If the judgment debtor redeem he must make the same payments as are required to effect a redemption by the redemptioner. If the judgment debtor redeem, the effect of the sale is terminated and he is restored to his estate. A certificate of redemption must be filed and recorded in the office of the auditor of the county in which the property is situated, and the auditor must note the record thereof in the margin of the record of the certificate of sale. The sheriff shall immediately pay the money over to the person from whom the property is redeemed, if he attend at the redemption; or if not, at any time thereafter when demanded. When a sheriff shall wrongfully refuse to allow any person to redeem, his right to redeem shall not be prejudiced thereby, and the sheriff may be required, by order of the court, to allow such redemption. [L. '99, p. 91, § 11.]

§ 599. Notice of Redemption—Certificate.

The mode of redeeming shall be as provided in this section. The person seeking to redeem shall give the sheriff at least five days written notice of his intention to apply to the sheriff for that purpose. It shall be the duty of the sheriff to notify the purchaser or redemptioner, as the case may be, or his attorney, of the receipt of such notice, if such person be within such county. At the time and place specified in such notice the person seeking to redeem may do so by paying to the sheriff the sum required. The sheriff shall give the person redeeming a certificate stating therein the sum paid on redemption, from whom redeemed, the date thereof and a description of the property redeemed. A person seeking to redeem shall submit to the sheriff the evidence of his right thereto, as follows:—

(1) If he be a lien creditor, a copy of the docket of the judgment or decree under which he claims the right to redeem, certified by the clerk of the court where such judgment or decree is docketed; or if he seeks to redeem upon mortgage, the certificate of the record thereof; also an affidavit, verified by himself or agent, showing the amount then actually due thereon.

(2) A copy of any assignment necessary to establish his claim, verified by the affidavit of himself or agent, showing the amount then actually due on the judgment, decree or mortgage.

(3) If the redemptioner or purchaser has a lien prior to that of the lien creditor seeking to redeem, such redemptioner or purchaser shall submit to the sheriff the evidence thereof, and the amount due thereon, or the same may be disregarded. [L. '99, p. 91, § 12.]

§ 600. Rents and Profits During Period of Redemption.

The purchaser, from the time of the sale until the redemption, and the redemptioner from the time of his redemption until another redemption, except as hereinafter provided, is entitled to receive from the tenant in possession the rents of the property sold, or the value of the use and occupation thereof. But when any rents or profits have been received by such person or persons thus entitled thereto, from the property thus sold, preceding the redemption thereof from him, the amount of such rents and profits, over and above the expenses paid for operating, caring for, protecting and insuring the property, shall be a credit upon the redemption money to be paid; and if the redemptioner or other person entitled to make such redemption, before the expiration of the time allowed for such redemption, files with the sheriff a demand in writing for a written and verified statement of the amounts of such rents and profits thus received, and expenses paid and incurred, the period for redemption is extended five (5) days after such sworn statement is given by such person thus receiving such rents and profits, or by his agent, to the person making such demand, or to the sheriff. It shall be the duty of the sheriff to serve a copy of such demand upon the person receiving such rents and profits, his agent or his attorney, if such service can be made in the county where the property is situate. If such person shall, for a period of ten days after such demand has been given to the sheriff, fail or refuse to give such statement, such redemptioner or other person entitled to redeem from such sale, making such demand, may bring an action within sixty days after making such demand, but not later, in any court of competent jurisdiction, to compel an accounting and disclosure of such rents, profits and expenses, and until fifteen days from and after the final determination of such action the right of redemption is extended to such redemptioner or other person making such demand who shall be entitled to redeem. If a sworn statement is given by the purchaser or other person receiving such rents and profits, and such redemptioner or other person entitled to redeem, who makes such demand, desires to contest the correctness of the same, he must first redeem in accordance with such sworn statement, and if he desires to bring an action for an accounting thereafter he may do so within thirty days after such redemption, but not later: Provided, that if such property be farming or agricultural property and be in possession of any purchaser or any redemptioner and is redeemed after the first day of April and before the first day of December, and the purchaser or his tenant has performed any work in preparing such property for crops, or planted crops, he shall be entitled to reimbursement for such work and labor or the right to retain possession of such property until the first day of December following, and the redemptioner shall be entitled to collect the reasonable rental value thereof during such farming year, unless such reasonable rental shall have been collected by such purchaser and accounted for to the redemptioner. A purchaser at mortgage foreclosure sale could not be required at the suit of a mortgagor to account for rents and profits while in possession prior to redemption under 2 Hill's Code, 519, providing that the purchaser is entitled to possession from the day of sale until redemption: Hardy v. Herriott, 11 Wash. 460, 39 Pac. 958; Knipe v. Austin, 13 Wash. 189, 43 Pac. 25, 44 Pac. 531.

The making of an unsworn statement of rents and profits received by the purchaser will not affect the extension of time given by the statute in case of a failure to make the statement demanded by the redemptioner: Kennedy v. Trumble, 32 Wash. 614, 73 Pac. 698.

§ 601. Restraining Waste During Redemption Period.

Until the expiration of the time allowed for redemption the court may restrain the commission of waste on the property. But it is not waste for the person in possession of the property at the time of the sale or entitled to possession afterward during the period allowed for redemption to continue to use it in the same manner in which it was previously used, or to use it in the ordinary course of husbandry, or to make the necessary repairs of buildings thereon, or to use wood or timber on the property therefor, or for the repairs of fences, or for fuel in his family while he occupies the property. [L. '99, p. 93, § 14.]

A purchaser at a mortgage foreclosure sale, upon receiving a certificate of sale and before receiving his deed, was entitled to the possession and to the title of the mortgagor, subject to redemption, under this section, and hence has a "valid subsisting interest in real property and the right to the possession thereof": McManus v. Morgan, 38 Wash. 528, 80 Pac. 786.

§ 602. Possession During Period of Redemption.

The purchaser from the day of sale until a resale or redemption, and the redemptioner from the day of his redemption until another redemption, shall be entitled to the possession of the property purchased or redeemed, unless the same be in the possession of a tenant holding under an unexpired lease, and in such case shall be entitled to receive from such tenant the rents or the value of the use and occupation thereof during the period of redemption: Provided, that when a mortgage contains a stipulation that in case of foreclosure the mortgagor may remain in possession of the mortgaged premises after sale and until the period of redemption has expired the court shall make its decree to that effect and the mortgagor have such right: Provided further, that as to any land so sold which is at the time of the sale used for farming purposes, or which is a part of a farm used at the time of sale for farming purposes the judgment debtor shall be entitled to retain possession thereof during the period of redemption and the purchaser or his successor in interest shall if the judgment debtor do not redeem have a lien upon the crops raised or harvested thereon during the period of such possession for interest on the purchase price at the rate of six per cent per annum during the period of possession and for any taxes with interest: And, provided further, that in case of any homestead occupied for that purpose at the time of sale, the judgment debtor shall have the right to retain possession thereof during the period of redemption without accounting for issues or value of occupation. Cramer*, 29 Wash. 40, 69 Pac. 501; Murray v. Briggs, 29 Wash. 245, 69 Pac. 765.

Possession of Homestead.—Covenants of warranty in a mortgage do not prevent the mortgagors from claiming the right to occupy the homestead during the period of redemption, under this section: North Pacific Loan & Trust Co. v. Bennett, 49 Wash. 34, 94 Pac. 664.

Since this section is to be liberally construed as an exemption law, a homestead claim is in time if asserted after sale while the mortgagors are still in possession of the property: North Pacific Loan & Trust Co. v. Bennett, 49 Wash. 34, 94 Pac. 664.

The filing of a lis pendens in an action to foreclose a mortgage bars a declaration of homestead by a subsequent purchaser from the mortgagors; since the right to claim a homestead under this section is a right reserved "to the judgment debtor" during the period of redemption, and cannot be transferred to one who had neither possession nor right of homestead at the time the lis pendens was filed: Skinner v. Hunter, 95 Wash. 607, 164 Pac. 244.

§ 603. Sheriff's Deed.

In all cases where real estate has been, or may hereafter be sold in pursuance of law by virtue of an execution or other process, issued upon an ordinary money judgment, or by virtue of an execution or other process, issued upon a decree for the foreclosure of a mortgage or other lien it shall be the duty of the sheriff or other officer making such sale to execute and deliver to the purchaser, or other person entitled to the same a deed of conveyance of the real estate so sold immediately after the time for redemption from such sale has expired; Provided, such sale has been duly confirmed by order of the court. In case the term of office of the sheriff or other officer making such sale shall have expired before a sufficient deed has been executed, then the successor in office of such sheriff shall, within the time specified in this act, execute and deliver to the purchaser or other person entitled to the same a deed of the premises so sold, and such deeds shall be as valid and effectual to convey to the grantee the lands or premises so sold, as if the deed had been made by the sheriff or other officer who made the sale. v. Moses, 18 Wash. 537, 52 Pac. 333, 40 L. R. A. 302.

A certificate of purchase and confirmation of sale passes the substantial title of defendant upon an execution sale, and the fact that a deed in pursuance thereof was executed to the purchaser thereof after his death will not defeat the title of those claiming under him: Diamond v. Turner, 11 Wash. 189, 39 Pac. 379.

The fact that a judgment debtor, after a void execution sale of his homestead, and the execution of a sheriff's deed thereto, sells the land to a third party and removes therefrom, will not cure the invalidity of the sheriff's deed: Asher v. Sekofsky, 10 Wash. 379, 38 Pac. 1133.

In an action by a redemptioner to set aside a sheriff's deed as having been made before the right of redemption had expired, the complaint does not state a cause of action when it nowhere alleges how long it was after the execution sale when the deed was made nor when there is no sufficient allegation as to any offer to redeem within the time provided by statute after the confirmation of sale: Bryant v. Stetson & Post Mill Co., 13 Wash. 692, 43 Pac. 931.

The title of the purchaser relates back to the time the lien of the judgment attached: See Pennsylvania Mtg. Inv. Co. v. Gilbert, 13 Wash. 684, 43 Pac. 941, 45 Pac. 43.

§ 604. Entry of Deed.

The party to whom such sheriff's deed is given shall, upon receipt thereof, take the same to the clerk of the superior court, who shall enter in his book of levies, where the levy is recorded, the sale of real estate therein conveyed, and shall indorse the fact upon the deed, with the date when presented to him and when made. And no county auditor shall record any such deed without such indorsement. [L. '99, p. 95, § 17.]

CHAPTER VI.

COMMISSIONERS TO CONVEY REAL ESTATE.

§ 605. Court may Appoint, When.

The several superior courts may, whenever it is necessary, appoint a commissioner to convey real estate,—

1. When, by a judgment in an action, a party is ordered to convey real property to another, or any interest therein;

2. When real property, or any interest therein, has been sold under a special order of the court, and the purchase money paid therefor. [L. '54, p. 205, § 390; Cd. '81, § 528; 2 H. C., § 814.]

Cited in 79 Wash. 557.

The fact that the court may, under this section, whenever necessary, appoint a commissioner to convey real estate, does not prevent judgment in contempt proceedings requiring the defendant to execute a deed in compliance with a judgment, within five days or be committed: Wright v. Suydam, 79 Wash. 550, 140 Pac. 578.

§ 606. Contents of Deed.

The deed of the commissioner shall so refer to the judgment authorizing the conveyance that the same may be readily found, but need not recite the record in the case generally. [L. '54, p. 205, § 391; Cd. '81, § 529; 2 H. C., § 815.]

§ 607. Conveyance Made in Pursuance of Judgment—Effect of.

§ 608. Conveyance Made in Pursuance of a Sale—Effect of.

A conveyance made in pursuance of a sale ordered by the court shall pass to the grantee the title of all the parties to the action or proceeding. [L. '54, p. 205, § 393; Cd. '81, § 531; 2 H. C., § 817.]

§ 609. Approval by Court Necessary.

A conveyance by a commissioner shall not pass any right until it has been examined and approved by the court, which approval shall be indorsed on the conveyance, and recorded with it. [L. '54, p. 205, § 394; Cd. '81, § 532; 2 H. C., § 818.]

§ 610. Execution of Conveyance.

It shall be sufficient for the conveyance to be signed by the commissioner only, without affixing the name of the parties whose title is conveyed, but the names of the parties shall be recited in the body of the conveyance. [L. '54, p. 205, § 395; Cd. '81, § 533; 2 H. C., § 819.]

§ 611. Recording.

The conveyance shall be recorded in the office in which by law it should have been recorded had it been made by the parties whose title is conveyed by it. [L. '54, p. 205, § 396; Cd. '81, § 534; 2 H. C., § 820.]

§ 612. Conveyance, How Enforced.

In case of a judgment to compel a party to execute a conveyance of real estate, the court may enforce the judgment by attachment or sequestration, or appoint a commissioner to make the conveyance. [L. '54, p. 205, § 397; Cd. '81, § 535; 2 H. C., § 821.]

CHAPTER VII.

§ 613. Order to Examine Judgment Debtor.

At any time within six years after entry of a judgment for the sum of twenty-five ($25) dollars or over, and after the return of an execution against property wholly or partially unsatisfied upon proof thereof, by affidavit or other competent written evidence satisfactory to the judge or after the issuing of an execution against property and upon proof by the affidavit of a party or otherwise to the satisfaction of the court or a judge thereof judgment debtor has property which he unjustly refuses to apply towards the satisfaction of the judgment, such court or judge may, by an order, require the judgment debtor to appear at a specified time and place before the judge granting the order, or a referee appointed by him, to answer concerning the same; and the judge to whom application is made under this act may, if it is made to appear to him by the affidavit of the judgment creditor, his agent or attorney that there is danger of the debtor absconding, order the sheriff to arrest the debtor and bring him before the judge granting the order. Upon being brought before the judge he may be ordered to enter into a bond, with sufficient sureties, that he will attend from time to time before the judge or referee, as shall be directed, during the pendency of the proceedings and until the final termination thereof. [L. '93, p. 435, § 1; L. '99, p. 146, § 1.]

This act does not warrant the citation and examination of officers of an insolvent corporation for which a receiver has been appointed: Allen v. Stallcup, 13 Wash. 631, 43 Pac. 884.

The provisions of this act do not afford an adequate remedy for the purpose of canceling and setting aside a fraudulent conveyance of real estate, and resort may consequently be had to a court of equity for relief: Klosterman v. Mason County R. Co., 8 Wash. 281, 36 Pac. 136.

A warrant issued as prescribed in the last section may be vacated or modified by the judge making the same, or by the court out of which the execution was issued, upon giving three days' notice to the opposite party. [L. '93, p. 435, § 2.]

§ 615. Order to Discover Property, etc., of Judgment Debtor.

Upon proof by affidavit or otherwise, to the satisfaction of the judge, that execution has been issued as prescribed by section 613 of this chapter, and also that any person or corporation has personal property of the judgment debtor of the value of twenty-five dollars or over, or is indebted to him in said amount, the judge may make an order requiring such person or corporation, or an officer thereof, to appear at a specified time and place before him, or a referee appointed by him, and answer concerning the same. [L. '93, p. 436, § 3.]

Cited in 20 Wash. 460.

An order in supplemental proceedings "to appear before S., court commissioner," for examination will be considered as an order of reference to a court commissioner especially where the court of original jurisdiction construed the same to have that effect; since the journal entry is only evidence of the court's action, and on appeal will be given the same interpretation as given by the lower court: Howard v. Hanson, 49 Wash. 314, 95 Pac. 265.

§ 616. Before Whom Examined—Referee to Certify Evidence.

An order requiring a person to attend and be examined, made pursuant to any provision of this chapter, must require him so to attend and be examined either before the judge to whom the order is returnable or before a referee designated therein. Where the examination is taken before a referee, he must certify to the judge to whom the order is returnable all of the evidence and other proceedings taken before him. [L. '03, p. 436, § 4.]

§ 617. Proceedings upon Examination—Adjournment.

Upon an examination made under this chapter, the answer of the party or witness examined must be under oath. A corporation must attend by and answer under the oath of an officer thereof, and the judge may, in his discretion, specify the officer. Either party may be examined as a witness in his own behalf, and may produce and examine other witnesses as upon the trial of an action. The judge or referee may adjourn any proceedings under this chapter, from time to time, as he thinks proper. [L. '93, p. 436, § 5.]

— Privilege of Party or Witness:

§ 618. Referee to be Sworn.

Unless the parties expressly waive the referee's oath, a referee appointed as prescribed in this chapter must, before entering upon an examination or taking testimony, subscribe and take an oath that he will faithfully and fairly discharge his duty upon the reference, and make a just and true report according to the best of his understanding. The oath must be returned to the judge with the report of the testimony. [L. '93, p. 436, § 6.]

§ 619. Order Authorizing Payment to Sheriff.

At any time after the commencement of a special proceeding authorized by this chapter, and before the appointment of a receiver therein, or the extension of a receivership thereto, the judge by whom the order or warrant was granted or to whom it is made returnable, may, in his discretion upon proof by affidavit to his satisfaction that a person or corporation is indebted to the judgment debtor, and upon such notice given to such person or corporation as he deems just, or without notice make an order permitting the person or corporation to pay the sheriff designated in the order a sum on account of the alleged indebtedness not exceeding the sum which will satisfy the execution. A payment thus made is to the extent thereof a discharge of the indebtedness except as against a transferee from the judgment debtor in good faith, and for a valuable consideration, of whose rights the person or corporation had actual or constructive notice when the payment was made. [L. '93, p. 436, § 7.]

§ 620. Order Requiring Delivery of Money, etc., to Sheriff or Receiver.

Where it appears from the examination or testimony taken in the special proceedings authorized by this chapter that the judgment debtor has in his possession or under his control money or other personal property belonging to him, or that one or more articles of personal property capable of manual delivery, his right to the possession whereof is not substantially disputed, are in the possession or under the control of another person, the judge by whom the order or warrant was granted, or to whom it is returnable, may in his discretion, and upon such notice given to such persons as he deems just, or without notice, make an order directing the judgment debtor, or other person, immediately to pay the money or deliver the articles of personal property to a sheriff designated in the order, unless a receiver has been appointed or a receivership has been extended to the special proceedings, and in that case to the receiver. [L. '93, p. 437, § 8.]

Cited in 38 Wash. 375; 75 Wash. 459.

"Substantially disputed," has reference to property claimed by third persons not parties to the suit as to whom a trial of the title would be without due process: Smith v. Weed, 75 Wash. 452, 134 Pac. 1070.

Order for Payment or Delivery of Property: See Remington's Digest, Execution, §§ 101, 102; Klepsch v. Donald, 18 Wash. 150, 51 Pac. 352; Belknap v. Platter, 54 Wash. 1, 103 Pac. 432, 132 Am. St. Rep. 1097. Against third persons:

Murne v. Schwabacher, 2 W. T. 191, 3 Pac. 270; Timm v. Stegman, 6 Wash. 13, 32 Pac. 1004.

The finding in supplemental proceedings that certain realty is liable to execution and an order for its sale to satisfy a judgment, creates no special lien against the property, and where such property is claimed as a homestead it is entitled to exemption to the extent allowed under the statute granting a judgment debtor exemption of his homestead premises: Field v. Greiner, 11 Wash. 8, 39 Pac. 259.

§ 621. Duty of Sheriff.

If the sheriff to whom money is paid or other property is delivered, pursuant to an order made as prescribed in the last section of this chapter, does not then hold an execution upon the judgment against the property of the judgment debtor, he has the same rights and power, and is subject to the same duties and liabilities with respect to the money or property, as if the money had been collected or the property had been levied upon by him by virtue of such an execution, except as provided in the next section. [L. '93, p. 437, § 9.]

§ 622. How Money or Property Applied.

After a receiver has been appointed or a receivership has been extended to the special proceedings, the judge must, by order, direct the sheriff to pay the money, or the proceeds of the property, deducting his fees, to the receiver; or if the case so requires to deliver to the receiver the property in his hands. But if it appears to the satisfaction of the judge that an order appointing a receiver or extending a receivership is not necessary, he may, by an order reciting that fact, direct the sheriff to apply the money so paid, or the proceeds of the property so delivered, upon an execution in favor of the judgment creditor issued either before or after the payment or delivery to the sheriff. [L. '93, p. 438, § 10.]

§ 623. Balance, How Disposed of.

Where money is paid or property is delivered as prescribed in the last four sections and afterwards the special proceeding is discontinued or dismissed, or the judgment is satisfied without resorting to the money or property, or a balance of the money or of the proceeds of the property, or a part of the property remains in the sheriff's or receiver's hands after satisfying the judgment and the costs and expenses of the special proceeding, the judge must make an order directing the sheriff or receiver to pay the money or deliver the property so remaining in his hands to the debtor, or to such other person as appears to be entitled thereto, upon payment of his fees and all other sums legally chargeable against the same. [L. '93, p. 438, § 11.]

§ 624. Transfer of Property may be Enjoined, etc.

The judge by whom the order or warrant was granted or to whom it is returnable may make an injunction order restraining any person or corporation, whether a party or not a party to the special proceeding, from making or suffering any transfer or other disposition of or interference with the property of the judgment debtor or the property or debt concerning which any person is required to attend and be examined, until further direction in the premises. Such an injunction may be made simultaneously with the order or warrant by which the special proceeding is instituted, and upon the same papers or afterwards, upon an affidavit showing sufficient grounds therefor. The judge or court may, as a condition of granting an application to vacate or modify the injunction order require the applicant to give security in such sum and in such manner as justice requires. [L. '93, p. 438, § 12.]

Cited in 75 Wash. 465.

The court may by injunction restrain all persons having notice from conveying or interfering with the property involved: Smith v. Weed, 75 Wash. 452, 134 Pac. 1070.

§ 625. Mode of Service of Certain Orders.

An injunction order or an order requiring a person to attend and be examined made as prescribed in this chapter must be served,—

1. By delivering to the person to be served a certified copy of the original order and a copy of the affidavit on which it was made;

2. Service upon a corporation is sufficient if made upon an officer, to whom a copy of a summons must be delivered. Where a summons is personally served upon a corporation, unless the officer to be served is specially designated in the order, the order may be served by any person who can serve a summons in an action. [L. '93, p. 439, § 13.]

§ 626. Service of Warrant.

The sheriff, when he arrests a judgment debtor by virtue of a warrant issued as prescribed in this chapter, must deliver to him a copy of the warrant and of the affidavit upon which it was granted. [L. '93, p. 439, § 14.]

§ 627. Discontinuance or Dismissal of Proceedings.

A special proceeding instituted as prescribed in this chapter may be discontinued at any time upon such terms as justice requires, by an order of the judge made upon the application of the judgment creditor. Where the judgment creditor unreasonably delays or neglects to proceed, or where it appears that his judgment has been satisfied, his proceedings may be dismissed upon like terms by a like order made upon the application of the judgment debtor, or of plaintiff in a judgment creditor's action against the debtor, or of a judgment creditor who has instituted either of the special proceeding[s] authorized by this chapter. Where an order appointing a receiver or extending a receivership has been made in the course of the special proceeding, notice of the application for an order specified in this section must be given in such manner as the judge deems proper, to all persons interested in the receivership as far as they can conveniently be ascertained. [L. '93, p. 439, § 15.]

§ 628. Costs to Judgment Creditor.

The judge may make an order allowing to the judgment creditor a fixed sum as costs, consisting of his witness fees and referee's fees and other disbursements, and of a sum in addition thereto not exceeding twenty-five dollars, and directing the payment thereof out of any money which has come or may come to the hands of the receiver or of the sheriff within a time specified in the order. [L. '93, p. 439, § 16.]

Costs: See Remington's Digest, Execution, § 103-1; Howard v. Hanson, 49

§ 629. Costs to Judgment Debtor.

Where the judgment debtor or other person against whom the special proceeding is instituted has been examined, and property applicable to the payment of the judgment has not been discovered, the judge may make an order allowing him a like sum as costs, and directing the payment thereof within a time specified in the order by the judgment creditor. [L. '93, p. 440, § 17.]

§ 630. Disobedience of Order, How Punished.

A person who refuses, or without sufficient excuse neglects, to obey an order of a judge or referee made pursuant to any of the provisions of this chapter, and duly served upon him, or an oral direction given directly to him by a judge or referee in the course of the special proceeding, or to attend before a judge or referee according to the command of a subpoena duly served upon him, may be punished by the judge of the court out of which the execution issued, as for contempt. [L. '93, p. 440, § 18.]

Disobedience to Order or Subpoena as Contempt: See Remington's Digest, Execution, §§ 104—106; Murne v. Schwabacher, 2 W. T. 191, 3 Pac. 270; State ex rel. Timm v. Trounce, 5 Wash. 804, 32 Pac. 750; Van Alstine, In re, 21 Wash. 194, 57 Pac. 348.

§ 631. Attendance of Judgment Debtor—Corporations.

A judgment debtor who resides or does business in the state cannot be compelled to attend pursuant to an order made under the provisions of this chapter at a place without the county where his residence or place of business is situated. Where the judgment debtor to be examined under this chapter is a corporation the court may cause such corporation to appear and be examined by making like order or orders as are prescribed in this chapter, directed to any officer or officers thereof. [L. '93, p. 440, § 19.]

§ 632. Not Excused from Answering.

A party or witness examined in a special proceeding authorized by this chapter is not excused from answering a question on the ground that his examination will tend to convict him of a commission of a fraud, or to prove that he has been a party to or privy to or knowing of a conveyance, assignment, transfer or other disposition of property for any purpose; or that he or another person claims to be entitled as against the judgment creditor or receiver appointed or to be appointed in the special proceeding to hold property derived from or through the judgment debtor, or to be discharged from the payment of a debt which was due to the judgment debtor or to a person in his behalf. But an answer cannot be used as evidence against the person so answering in a criminal action or criminal proceeding. [L. '93, p. 440, § 20.]

§ 633. Proceedings in Case of Joint Debtors.

When, in proceedings under this chapter, personal service of the summons in the action was not made on all of the defendants, a debt due to, or other personal property owned by, one or more of the defendants not summoned jointly with the defendants summoned, or with any of them, may be reached by proceedings under this chapter. [L. '93, p. 441, § 21.]

§ 634. Continuance.

A special proceeding under this chapter instituted before one judge may be continued from time to time before another judge of the same court with like effect as if it had been instituted or commenced before the judge who last heard the same. [L. '93, p. 441, § 22.]

§ 635. Proceedings Applicable to Judgments of Justices' Courts.

This chapter shall apply to judgments recovered in justice court upon which a transcript has been issued and filed with the clerk of the superior court. [L. '93, p. 441, § 23.]

§ 636. Proceedings, Before Whom Instituted.

Special proceedings under this chapter may be instituted and prosecuted before the superior court of the county in which the judgment was entered or any judge thereof, or before the superior court of any county to the sheriff of which an execution has been issued or in which a transcript of said judgment has been filed in the office of the clerk of said court or before any judge thereof. [L. '99, p. 146, § 2; Cf. L. '93, p. 441, § 24.]

§ 637. Property Exempt from Seizure.

This chapter does not authorize the seizure of, or other interference with any property which is expressly exempt by law from levy and sale by virtue of an execution, or any money, thing in action or other property held in trust for a judgment debtor where the trust has been created by, or the fund so held in trust has proceeded from, a person other than the judgment debtor; or the earnings of the judgment debtor for his personal services rendered within sixty days next before the institution of the special proceeding, where it is made to appear by his oath or otherwise that those earnings are necessary for the use of a family wholly or partly supported by his labor. [L. '93, p. 441, § 25.]

Cited in 38 Wash. 371.

§ 638. Proceedings are Special—To be Heard Without Jury.

Proceedings under this chapter are special proceedings, and shall be heard by the judge or referee before whom the same are returnable without a jury. [L. '93, p. 441, § 26.]

§ 639. Fees of Referee.

The fees of referees appointed in proceedings under this chapter shall be five dollars per day. [L. '93, p. 441, § 27.]

§ 640. Receiver, Appointment—Notice.

At any time after making an order requiring the judgment debtor or any other person to attend and be examined, or the issuing of a warrant, as prescribed in this chapter, the judge to whom the order or warrant is returnable, or the court out of which the order was issued, may make an order appointing a receiver of the property of the judgment debtor. At least two days' notice of the application for the order appointing a receiver must be given personally to the judgment debtor, unless the judge or court is satisfied that he cannot, with reasonable diligence, be found within the state, in which case the order must recite that fact and may dispense with the notice, or may direct notice to be given in any manner which the judge thinks proper. But where the order to attend and be examined or the warrant has been served upon the judgment debtor, a receiver may be appointed upon the return day thereof, or at the close of the examination, without further notice to him. [L. '93, p. 441, § 28.]

Cited in 75 Wash. 460, 464.

Receivers: See Remington's Digest, Execution, § 103; Flood v. Libby, 38 Wash. 366, 80 Pac. 533, 107 Am. St. Rep. 851; Smith v. Weed, 75 Wash. 452, 134 Pac. 1070.

Necessity of return of supplementary proceedings as condition of right of judgment creditor to procure a receivership. 33 L. R. A. 546.

§ 641. Notice to Other Creditors.

The judge must ascertain, if practicable, by the oath of the judgment debtor or otherwise, whether any other special proceeding authorized by this chapter is pending against the judgment debtor, or if a receiver has been appointed or application has been made for the appointment of a receiver of the property of the judgment debtor in any other action by a judgment creditor. If either is pending, and a receiver has not been appointed therein, notice of the application for the appointment of a receiver, and of all of the subsequent proceedings respecting the receivership, must be given in such manner as the judge directs to the judgment creditor prosecuting it. [L. '93, p. 442, § 29.]

§ 642. Only One Receiver Appointed—Extending Receivership.

Only one receiver of the property of the judgment debtor shall be appointed. Where a receiver thereof has already been appointed the judge, instead of making the order prescribed in the last section, must make an order extending the receivership to the special proceedings before him. Such an order gives to the judgment creditor the same rights as if a receiver were appointed upon his application, including the right to apply to the court to control, direct or remove the receiver, or to subordinate the proceedings in or by which the receiver was appointed to those taken under his judgment. [L. '93, p. 442, § 30.]

§ 643. Order to be Filed.

An order appointing a receiver or extending a receivership must be filed in the office of the county clerk wherein the judgment-roll in the action is filed; or if the special proceeding is founded upon an execution issued out of a court other than that in which the judgment was rendered, in the office of the clerk of the county wherein the transcript of the judgment is filed. [L. '93, p. 442, § 31.]

§ 644. Property Vests in Receiver.

The property of the judgment debtor is vested in a receiver, who has duly qualified, from the time of filing the order appointing him or extending his receivership, as the case may be, subject to the following exceptions:—

1. Real property is vested in the receiver only from the time when the order, or a certified copy thereof, as the case may be, is filed with the auditor of the county where it is situated;

2. When the judgment debtor, at the time when the order is filed, resides in another county of the state, his personal property is vested in the receiver only from the time when a copy of the order, certified by the auditor in whose office it is recorded, is filed with the auditor of the county where he resides. [L. '93, p. 443, § 32.]

Cited in 75 Wash. 460.

§ 645. Receiver's Title, How Extended by Relation.

Where the receiver's title to personal property has become vested, as prescribed in the last section, it also extends back by relation, for the benefit of the judgment creditor, in whose behalf the special proceeding was instituted as follows:—

1. When an order requiring the judgment debtor to attend and be examined, or a warrant requiring the sheriff to arrest him and bring him before the judge, has been served, before the appointment of the receiver, or the extension of the receivership, the receiver's title extends back so as to include the personal property of the judgment debtor at the time of the service of the order or warrant;

2. Where an order or warrant has not been served as specified in the foregoing subdivision, but an order has been made requiring a person to attend and be examined concerning property belonging or a debt due to the judgment debtor, the receiver's title extends to the personal property belonging to the judgment debtor, which was in the hands or under the control of the person or corporation thus required to attend at the time of the service of the order, and to a debt then due to him from that person or corporation;

3. In every other case where notice of application for the appointment of a receiver was given to the judgment debtor, the receiver's title extends to the personal property of the judgment debtor at the time when the notice was served, either personally or by complying with the requirements or [of] an order prescribing a substitute for personal service;

4. Where the case is within two or more of the foregoing subdivisions of this section, the rule most favorable to the judgment creditor must be adopted. But this section does not affect the title of a purchaser in good faith without notice, and for a valuable consideration; or the payment of a debt in good faith and without notice. [L. '93, p. 443, § 33.]

§ 646. Records to be Kept by Clerk.

Each county clerk must keep in his office a book indexed to the names of the judgment debtors, styled "book of orders appointing receivers of judgment debtors." A county clerk in whose office an order or a certified copy of an order is filed, as prescribed in this chapter, must immediately note thereupon the time of filing it, and as soon as practicable, must record it in the book so kept by him. He must also, upon request, furnish forthwith to any party or person interested, one or more certified copies thereof. For each omission to comply with any provision of this section, a county clerk forfeits to the party aggrieved two hundred and fifty dollars, in addition to all damages sustained by reason of the omission. [L. '93, p. 444, § 34.]

§ 649. Attachment on Debt not Due.

An action may be commenced and the property of a debtor may be attached previous to the time when the debt becomes due, when nothing but time is wanting to fix an absolute indebtedness, and when the affidavit, in addition to that fact, states,—

1. That the defendant is about to dispose of his property with intent to defraud his creditors; or

2. That the defendant is about to remove from the state, and refuses to make any arrangements for securing the payment of the debt when it falls due, and which contemplated removal was not known to the plaintiff at the time the debt was contracted; or

3. That the defendant has disposed of his property, in whole or in part, with intent to defraud his creditors; or

4. That the debt was incurred for property obtained under false pretenses. [L. '86, p. 39, § 3; 2 H. C., § 290.]

§ 650. Answer, in Case Debt not Due.

If the debt or demand for which the attachment is sued out is not due at the time of the commencement of the action, the defendant is not required to file any pleadings until the maturity of such debt or demand, but he may, in his discretion, do so, and go to trial as early as the cause is reached. [L. '86, p. 40, § 4; 2 H. C., § 291.]

§ 651. Judgment Suspended.

No final judgment shall be rendered in such action, unless the party consents, as in the last section, until the debt or demand upon which it is based becomes due. But property of a perishable nature may be sold as in other cases of attachment. [L. '86, p. 40, § 5; 2 H. C., § 292.]

See references to § 647.

§ 652. Bond for Attachment—Sureties—Qualifications—Conditions.

Before the writ of attachment shall issue the plaintiff, or someone in his behalf, shall execute and file with the clerk a bond or undertaking, with two or more sureties, in the sum in no case less than three hundred dollars, in the superior court, nor less than fifty dollars in the justice court, and double the amount for which plaintiff demands judgment, conditional that the plaintiff will prosecute his action without delay and will pay all costs that may be adjudged to the defendant, and all damages which he may sustain by reason of the attachment, not exceeding the amount specified in such bond or undertaking, as the penalty thereof, should the same be wrongfully, oppressively or maliciously sued out. With said bond or undertaking there shall also be filed the affidavit of the sureties, from which it must appear that such sureties are qualified and that they are, taken together, worth the sum specified in the bond or undertaking, over and above all debts and liabilities, and property exempt from execution. No person not qualified to become bail upon arrest shall be qualified to become surety upon a bond or undertaking for an attachment: Provided, that when it is desired to attach real estate only, and such fact is stated in the affidavit for attachment and the ground of attachment is that the defendant is a foreign corporation or is not a resident of the state, or conceals himself or that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon him, or has absconded or absented himself from his usual place of abode, so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon him, the writ of attachment shall issue without bond or undertaking by or on behalf of the plaintiff: And provided further, that when the claim, debt or obligation, whether in contract or tort, upon which plaintiff's cause of action is based, shall have been assigned to him, and his immediate or any other assignor thereof retains or has any interest therein, then the plaintiff and every assignor of said claim, debt or obligation who retains or has any interest therein, shall be jointly and severally liable to the defendant for all costs that may be adjudged to him and for all damages which he may sustain by reason of the attachment, should the same be wrongfully, oppressively or maliciously sued out. The defendant may, at any time before judgment, move the court or judge for additional security on the part of the plaintiff, and if, on such motion, the court or judge is satisfied that the surety in the plaintiff's bond has removed from this state, or is not sufficient, the attachment may be vacated, and restitution directed of any property taken under it, unless in a reasonable time, to be fixed by the court or judge, further security is given by the plaintiff in form as provided in the preceding section. § 654. Action on Bond—Damages.

In an action on such bond, the plaintiff therein may recover, if he shows that the attachment was wrongfully sued out, and that there was no reasonable cause to believe the ground upon which the same was issued to be true, the actual damages sustained and reasonable attorney's fees to be fixed by the court; and if it be shown that such attachment was sued out maliciously, he may recover exemplary damages, nor need he wait until the principal suit is determined before suing on the bond. § 655. Contents of Writ—Levy.

The writ of attachment shall be directed to the sheriff of any county in which property of the defendant may be, and shall require him to attach and safely keep the property of such defendant within his county, to the requisite amount, which shall be stated in conformity with the affidavit. The sheriff shall in all cases attach the amount of property directed, if sufficient not exempt from execution be found in his county, giving that in which the defendant has a legal and unquestionable title a preference over that in which his title is doubtful or only equitable, and he shall, as nearly as the circumstances of the case will permit, levy upon property fifty per cent greater in valuation than the amount which plaintiff in his affidavit claims to be due. When property is seized on attachment, the court may allow to the officer having charge thereof such compensation for his trouble and expenses in keeping the same as shall be reasonable and just. [L. Writs of attachment may be issued from the superior courts to different counties, and several may, at the option of the plaintiff, be issued at the same time, or in succession and subsequently, until sufficient property has been attached; but only those executed shall be taxed in the costs, unless otherwise ordered by the court, and if more property is attached in the aggregate than the plaintiff is entitled to have held, the surplus must be abandoned and the plaintiff pay all costs incurred in relation to such surplus. After the first writ shall have issued, it shall not be necessary for the plaintiff to file any further affidavit or bond, but he shall be entitled to as many writs as may be necessary to secure the amount claimed. And provided further, that nothing contained in this chapter shall be construed or held to authorize the attachment of real estate, or of any interest therein, under a writ of attachment issued out of any justice's court. CHAPTER II. GARNISHMENTS.

§ 680. Writ, Grounds for Issuance of.

The clerks of the superior courts in the various counties in the state may issue writs of garnishment returnable to their respective courts in the following cases:—

1. Where an original attachment has been issued in accordance with the statutes in relation to attachments;

2. Where the plaintiff sues for a debt and makes affidavit that such debt is just, due and unpaid, and that the garnishment applied for is not sued out to injure either the defendant or the garnishee;

3. Where the plaintiff has a judgment wholly or partially unsatisfied in the court from which he seeks to have a writ of garnishment issued. [L. '93, p. 95, § 1.]

For former laws on the subject of garnishment, see 2 Hill's Code, §§ 497, 498, and notes to §§ 647 and 659, supra.

Cited in 8 Wash. 537; 10 Wash. 162; 16 Wash. 127; 17 Wash. 369; 30 Wash. 273; 105 Wash. 677; 107 Wash. 467; 108 Wash. 184.

NATURE AND GROUNDS: See Remington's Digest, Garn., §§ 1—4. Nature and purpose of remedy: Coombs v. Davis, 2 W. T. 466, 7 Pac. 860; Kelly v. Ryan, 8 Wash. 536, 36 Pac. 478; Seattle Trust Co. v. Pitner, 17 Wash. 365, 49 Pac. 505; Title Guarantee & Trust Co. v. Seattle Theater Co., 23 Wash. 517, 63 Pac. 212; Tatum v. Geist, 40 Wash. 575, 82 Pac. 912; Continental Distributing Co. v. Swanson, 79 Wash. 128, 139 Pac. 865; Morris & Co. v. Canadian Bank of Commerce, 95 Wash. 418, 163 Pac. 1139.

Under this section authorizing a garnishment (1) where an original attachment has been issued, and (2) where plaintiff sues for a "debt," the term "debt" is not limited to sums due on express contract, but is as broad as the term "indebtedness" in the attachment law, construing the statutes as in pari materia and tracing the history of legislation on the subject. State ex rel. American

Piano Co. v. Superior Court, 105 Wash. 676, 178 Pac. 827.

Actions in Which Garnishment is Authorized: Rothchild Bros. v. Trewella, 36 Wash. 679, 79 Pac. 480, 104 Am. St. Rep. 973, 68 L. R. A. 281.

Garnishment lies in an action to set aside a preference under the bankruptcy act, since the tort may be waived and the action based upon implied contract to repay the money obtained, the taking of which was a conversion: State ex rel. American Piano Co. v. Superior Court, 105 Wash. 676, 178 Pac. 827.

Return of Execution Unsatisfied: Timm v. Stegman, 6 Wash. 13, 32 Pac. 1004. Existence of or resort to other remedy: Gaffney v. McGrath, 23 Wash. 476, 63 Pac. 520.

A garnishment is merely an ancillary proceeding which immediately dies on termination of the original action: State ex rel. Pioneer Mining & Ditch Co. v. Superior Court, 108 Wash. 183, 183 Pac. 74.

For text treatment of "Garnishment," see 12 B. C. L. 771.

§ 680-1. Municipal Corporations Subject to After Judgment.

Counties, cities, towns, school districts and other municipal corporations shall be subject to garnishment in the superior and justice courts, but only after judgment shall have been entered against the defendant in the main action. [L. '15, p. 357, § 1.]

Cited in 92 Wash. 426, 429.

§ 680-2. Enforcement Against Municipal Corporations.

No regular judgment in garnishment shall be entered against any municipal corporation, but the judge of the superior court, or justice of the peace shall by written order command the auditing officer, or body of such municipal corporation to audit and pay to the judgment creditor the amount due from the garnishee to the principal defendant, not exceeding the amount of the judgment in the main action, whereupon the same shall be paid by the garnishee, provided, nothing in this act shall be construed to impair the rights of defendants to claim exemptions of wages as provided by law. [L. '15, p. 357, § 2.]

§ 681. Bond to be Executed.

In the case mentioned in subdivision two of the preceding section the plaintiff shall execute a bond with two or more good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the clerk issuing the writ, payable to the defendant in the suit, in double the amount of the debt claimed therein, conditioned that he will prosecute his suit and pay all damages and costs that may be adjudged against him for wrongfully suing out such garnishment. [L. '93, p. 95, § 2.]

"Preceding section," refers to § 680.

Cited in 107 Wash. 467; 108 Wash. 184.

A writ of garnishment is properly quashed where it was sued out to collect unpaid alimony, for which there was no judgment in any specific amount, and the plaintiff failed to give any bond, as required by this section, in case the garnishment was based on Id., § 680, subdiv. 2: Liebig v. Liebig, 107 Wash. 464, 182 Pac. 605.

§ 682. Application for Writ—Affidavit.

Before the issuance of the writ of garnishment the plaintiff or someone in his behalf shall make application therefor by affidavit, stating the facts authorizing the issuance of the writ, and that the plaintiff has reason to believe, and does believe, that the garnishee, stating his name and residence, is indebted to the defendant, or that he has in his possession, or under his control, personal property or effects belonging to the defendant, or that the garnishee is an incorporated or joint stock company, and that the defendant is the owner of shares in such company or has an interest therein. § 695. Decree to Deliver Effects.

Should it appear from the garnishee's answer or otherwise that the garnishee has in his possession or under his control, or had when the writ was served any personal property or effects of the defendant liable to execution, the court shall render a decree requiring the garnishee to deliver up to the sheriff on demand such personal property or effects or so much of them as may be necessary to satisfy the plaintiff's claim. In cases where a judgment has been rendered in favor of the plaintiff against the defendant, such personal property or effects may be sold in like manner as any other property is sold upon an execution issued on said judgment. In cases where judgment has not been rendered in the principal action, the sheriff shall retain said personal property or effects in his possession until the rendition of judgment therein, and in case judgment is rendered in said principal action in favor of the plaintiff, said goods or effects, or sufficient of them to satisfy such judgment, may be sold in like manner as other property is sold on execution, by virtue of an execution issuing on said judgment. In case judgment shall be rendered in said action against the plaintiff and in favor of the defendant, such effects and personal property shall be by the sheriff returned to the defendant: Provided, however, that in cases where such effects or personal property are of a perishable nature, or the interests of the parties will be subserved by making a sale thereof before judgment, the court may order a sale thereof by the sheriff in like manner as sales upon execution are made and the proceeds of such sale shall be paid to the clerk of the superior court, and like disposition shall be made of such proceeds at the termination of the action as would have been made of such personal property or effects under the provisions of this section, in case such sale had not been made. Spinning, 23 Wash. 48, 62 Pac. 125, 83 Am. St. Rep. 806, 54 L. R. A. 204.

§ 696. Procedure on Failure of Garnishee to Surrender Effects.

Should the garnishee adjudged to have effects or personal property of the defendant in his possession or under his control as provided in the [last] preceding article [section], fail or refuse to deliver them to the sheriff on such demand, the officer shall immediately make return of such failure or refusal, whereupon, on motion of the plaintiff, the garnishee shall be cited to show cause why he should not be attached for contempt of court for such failure or refusal, and should the garnishee fail to show some good and sufficient excuse for such failure and refusal, he shall be fined for such contempt and imprisoned until he shall deliver such personal property or effects. § 697. Sale of Shares of Stock.

Where the garnishee is an incorporated or joint stock company, and it appears by the answer or otherwise that the defendant is or was, when the writ of garnishment was served, the owner of any shares of stock in such company or any interest therein, the court shall render a decree ordering the sale under execution in favor of the plaintiff, against the defendant, of such shares or interest of the defendant in such company, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy such execution. Shares may be sold on execution to the extent of the judgment debtor's interest, although held either under a pledge or a pooling agreement: Hardin v. White Swan Min. etc. Co., 26 Wash. 583, 67 Pac. 236.

§ 698. Sale, How Made.

The sale so ordered shall be conducted in all respects as other sales of personal property under execution, and the sheriff making such sales shall execute a transfer of such shares or interest to the purchaser with a brief recital of the judgment of the court under which the same was sold. [L. '93, p. 101, § 18.]

§ 699. Effect of Sale.

Such sale shall be valid and effectual to pass to the purchaser all the right, title and interest which the defendant had in such shares of stock, or in such company, and the proper officers of such company shall enter such sale and transfer on the books of the company in the same manner as if the sale had been made by the defendant himself. [L. '93, p. 101, § 19.]

§ 700. Answer Controverted by Plaintiff.

If the plaintiff should not be satisfied with the answer of the garnishee he may controvert the same by affidavit in writing signed by him, stating that he has good reason to believe and does believe that the answer of the garnishee is incorrect, stating in what particulars he believes the same is incorrect. § 702. Issue and Trial.

If the answer of the garnishee is controverted, as provided in the two preceding sections, an issue shall be formed, under the direction of the court, and tried as other cases: Provided, however, no pleadings shall be necessary on such issue other than the affidavit of the plaintiff, the answer of the garnishee and the reply of the plaintiff or defendant controverting such answer, unless otherwise ordered by the court. answered alleging fraud and collusion between the plaintiff and the maker of the note to obtain an unfair sale at public auction to the debtor's loss; and it is error to order a sale before the issue is tried and the offset of the maker is determined: *Gordon v. § 703. Exemption of Wages and Family Necessaries.

Current wages or salary to the amount of one hundred dollars ($100) for personal services rendered by any person having a family dependent upon him for support, shall be exempt from garnishment, and where it appears upon the trial, or by answer of the garnishee, when not controverted as hereinafter provided, that the garnishee is indebted to the defendant for such current wages or salary for an amount not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100), the garnishee shall be discharged as to such indebtedness: Provided, that if the garnishment be founded upon a debt for actual necessities furnished to the defendant or his family or his dependents, no exemption shall be allowed in excess of ten dollars ($10) out of each week's wages or salary, whether said wages or salary are paid, or to be paid, weekly, bi-weekly, monthly or at other intervals, and whether there be due the defendant wages for one week or a longer period: Provided, however, that said exemption shall in no event be allowed out of wages or salary for a longer period than four (4) consecutive weeks: And provided further, that no money due or earned as wages or salary shall be exempt from garnishment in lieu of any other property. § 710. Objections to Bond—Justification of Sureties.

The defendant may, within three days after the service of a copy of the affidavit and bond, give notice to the sheriff that he excepts to the sufficiency of the sureties; if he fail to do so he shall be deemed to have waived all objections to them. When the defendant excepts, the sureties shall justify on notice in like manner as bail on arrest, and the sheriff shall be responsible for the sufficiency of the sureties until the objection to them is either waived as above provided, or until they shall justify, or new sureties shall be substituted and justify. If the defendant except to the sureties, he cannot reclaim the property, as provided in the next section. [Cf. L. '54, p. 150, § 103; L. '69, p. 36, § 143; Cd. '81, § 145; 2 H. C., § 258.]

§ 711. Redelivery Bond.

At any time before the delivery of the property to the plaintiff, the defendant may, if he do not except to the sureties of the plaintiff, require the return thereof, upon giving to the sheriff a bond, executed by one or more sufficient sureties, to the effect that they are bound in double the value of the property, as stated in the affidavit of the plaintiff, for the delivery thereof to the plaintiff, if such delivery be adjudged, and for the payment to him of such sum as may, for any cause, be recovered against the defendant. If a return of the property be not so required within three days after the taking and service of notice to the defendant, it shall be delivered to the plaintiff, except as provided in section 716. [Cf. L. '54, p. 151, § 104; L. '69, p. 36, § 144; Cd. '81, § 146; 2 H. C., § 259.]

§ 712. Justification of Defendant's Sureties.

The defendant's sureties, upon a notice to the plaintiff or his attorney of not less than two nor more than six days, shall justify in the same manner as bail upon arrest; upon such justification, the sheriff shall deliver the property to the defendant. The sheriff shall be responsible for the defendant's sureties until they justify, or until justification is completed or expressly waived, and may retain the property until that time; but if they, or others in their place, fail to justify at the time and place appointed, he shall deliver the property to the plaintiff. [Cf. L. '54, p. 151, § 105; L. '69, p. 36, § 145; Cd. '81, § 147; 2 H. C., § 260.]
